A REAL VICTORY.

Clean sportsmanlike Oregon fight won last night's game for Oregon. Not only did the varsity play clean ball, but the stands gave the Beavers a sample of good sportsmanship. No "crabbin' the referee" marred the game, and every possible courtesy was shown the visitors. Oregon won by the largest score made so far this season, and the so-called "fighting Aggies" were only able to gather together 13 points, the lowest score made by them all season.

All of which makes Oregon look like a real title contender. With seven wins and no losses the Lemon-Yellow is leading the northwest conference handily. Five wins and two defeats in the coast conference places Oregon in third place with Stanford and California ahead. It is to be regretted that Oregon will be unable to meet Stanford this season, for judging by the way the team went last night, no conference five could lay a safe claim to the title before meeting Oregon. As it is, Oregon plays a great many more games than does Stanford, although the championship is decided on a percentage basis. The varsity meets California here, and there is a strong chance that Oregon will win over the Bruins. The past week has seen Oregon pass Washington in the percentage column. Washington is the only team which has defeated the varsity.

Since all of the remaining games will be played in Eugene, it might be well to remember last night's game as an indication of what clean sportsmanship can accomplish. We are all proud of that game, not only because of the score and the fact that we won over our traditional rival, but because it was a clean game, not marred by discourtesy or unsportsmanlike participation by the stands. It was a real victory.

STATE OFFERED FREE USE 250,000 FT. OF FILM

University of Wisconsin. Copies of the films, fresh from the laboratory have been purchased outright, this being made possible by a special appropriation on the part of the University of a revolving fund of a thousand dollars. The special film dramatizations are: "The Mill on the Floss," "The Children's Hour," "King Lear," "Robin Hood," and "Egypt As It Was in the Time of Moses."

Geologists Provide Material. Rock collections and mineral and ore sets arranged by the department of geology of the University are now ready for the use of Oregon high school classes in geology, physical geography and general science, being circulated like other material free by the extension division. Twenty-four sets of microscopic slides on the subject of biology, and 26 sets on botany, are now ready for use in biology, zoology, physiology and botany classes.

The following description is one of 36 films dealing with industry, manufacture, and technical subjects:

"Making of Hats — Tells the whole story of the hat from the animals that furnish the fur materials, through the various manufacturing stages to the finished hat."

Two reels on the University of Oregon activities show Junior Week-end, and a football game between the University of Oregon and the University of Washington.

"Horses of War," "Gas and Gas Masks," "Making of 8-inch Shells," are the titles taken from 20 films dealing with the war. "Pershing's Crusaders," shows particularly how America performed the wonderful feat of getting ready.

Beauty of Oregon Featured. "Canadian Pacific," "Women of all Countries," "Houses in Many Lands," are a few of the slide titles listed under the topic head of geography, scenery and travel. Scenery of Alaska and Oregon is a special feature of this group.

"Birds of Oregon," "Oregon Wild Flowers," "Ruined Churches of France," "Early Days in Oregon," "The American Negro," is only a beginning of the many varieties of slides listed in the pamphlet as offerings of the extension division. Each subject varies in the number of slides from 25 to 61.

In the pamphlet of educational slides and films are also pictures and descriptions of four good slide lanterns, showing their uses, price and where they can be obtained.

There are in Oregon 215 slide lanterns, 98 being in the schools, 35 in the Portland schools, 16 in the universities and colleges, and the rest in the churches of the state. The schools of the state possess 35 educational moving picture machines; the Portland schools have 10, the universities, colleges and state schools have 11, the churches 16, and communities, 30.

WINNING TEAMS TO PLAY

Kappa Sigs and O. A. C. Doughnut Champs Will Mix In Eugene.

The champion Kappa Sigma doughnut basketball quintet has challenged the doughnut champions of O. A. C. under the management of Jummie Richardson, to a game of basketball, and the challenge has been accepted. The championship team at O. A. C. will not be known until the windup of the season there, which will not be for several days, although the dope now stands in favor of the Phi Delt.

No definite arrangements can be made until the O. A. C. victors are known. However it is probable that in the event of one game it will be played here, and likely a return game will be played at Corvallis.

WISCONSIN TO MEET CALIFORNIA. An invitation to meet the University of California's track team at Berkeley, has been extended to the Wisconsin track squad winner of the 1920 Big Ten Track meet.

bling down the floor. Stinson scored a free throw when "Hunk" Latham was fouled, bringing the Aggie score up to 9 against the varsity tally of 19. Durno added another point, making it 20 to 9, when the whistle blew at the end of the first period.

The Aggies started a defensive game at the beginning of the second half, Stinson getting the first point for the visitors on a foul by Latham. Reinhart dropped another field basket in from a difficult angle immediately afterwards, making the score 22 to 10. Marc Latham followed with one from the floor, and Stinson added another point for the Aggies by the free throw route. Durno converted another free throw, making the score 25 to 12, when "Nish" Chapman threw another field basket.

Coach Rutherford of the Aggies attempted to pull his team together at this juncture of the game by running in two substitutes, McCart going in for Sanders at center and S. Ross being substituted for A. Ross. Durno and "Hunk" Latham opened up again on the Aggies and each dropped a basket adding four more points. Durno then brought the total score up to 33 to 12 when he converted two free throws from fouls called on Stinson and Ross. Durno and Stinson each hooped a free throw on a foul called on each team. Eddie then dropped another long field basket through for two more counters.

Coach Bohler sent Bellar back into the fray at this point in the game, substituting him for "Bill" Reinhart at guard while "Bill" was shifted to forward to fill Marc Latham's place. Sanders was sent back into McCart's position. Stinson converted another foul and Reinhart scored a long basket as the battle was resumed, the score being 38 to 13. Eddie Durno finished the scoring by hooping two more excellent field goals just before the finish of the game, one with his guard hanging on to him.
