

ARTICLES TELL HOW TO KNOW FLOWERS

Appreciation of Native Plants Is Aim of Sweetser.

In the last two issues of the Sunday Oregonian have appeared the first articles of a series by Professor A. R. Sweetser of the University department of botany, as part of a statewide campaign to preserve and transplant native shrubs and wild flowers. The purpose of the campaign is to create sufficient love for the beauty of Oregon's native plants to induce motor parties and other travelers to get their enjoyment of the blossoms largely from viewing them in their natural setting rather than cutting them wastefully.

The emphasis in Professor's sweetser's articles is laid on the recognition of the shrubs at this time of the year, which is the time to transplant. Reproductions of photographs of bloom stalks and seed pods are given.

Professor Sweetser advocates not only preserving the shrubs where they are, but transplanting to parks, school yards, along highways, etc. where conditions are favorable to their growth.

The series of articles in the Oregonian will continue for several weeks, taking up the annuals and other flowering plants after the shrubs. The two papers which have come out illustrate and describe various varieties of the wild rose, spirea, spirea, rhododendron, ocean spray, Oregon grape, and other flowering shrubs native to the state.

At a luncheon in Portland last Tuesday, Professor Sweetser spoke to eighty members of the Portland Business Women's club as part of the lecture campaign for flower preservation that is being carried on by the University extension division. Four sections of the Lincoln high school botany class were addressed also last week. The extension division has dated Professor Sweetser for next week in some southern Oregon towns, and later he will speak to other organizations in Portland.

Little printed cards bearing pictures of shrub blossoms are used to get names of persons who care to join a society, the object of which will be the protection and spreading of native flowering plants. Professor Sweetser hopes to effect the organization in April.

GIRLS FORCED TO TAKE MILKY WAY TO HEALTH

Milk for Breakfast, Milk for Lunch, Milk for Dinner, Daily; Five Meals Insisted On.

How long will one remain slender if one consumes six glasses of milk, three luncheons, dinner and breakfast, all in one day? This menu which has been planned for underweight girls and worked out in concrete form by girls in the food economics classes, is on exhibition in Mary Spiller hall.

According to this menu, the girl who is of insufficient avoirdupois will start the day with a substantial breakfast, consisting of cereal, toast, fruit, an egg and of course one of the six glasses of milk. The next meal is the mid-morning luncheon which accounts for another glass of milk, the noon luncheon is a substantial meal and including another glass of milk. Next comes the mid-afternoon luncheon—and another glass of milk. Then before retiring the too-slender maid must drink a glass of milk. These menus have been planned according to the necessary number of calories.

FROSH LAW-BREAKERS BEWARE,—IS WARNING

Open Season On Violators Is Declared By Sophomore Vigilantes and Order of the "O."

Oregon game laws don't contain the information, but there is an open season on all frosh that roam the University campus without the distinguishing green velvet which covers the place where a deer's horns grow. The sophomore vigilance committee and the Order of the "O" are now stalking the uncovered collegiate babes.

One of the 1924 model students was ambushed on the campus last week without headgear and with a cigarette. Uniformed in pajamas, spiral leggings, and overseas cap, the culprit was led behind an automobile through the streets of Eugene and later given a ride out to the Country Club, from whence he had to walk home.

The Order of the "O" holds a public execution in front of the library each Thursday. Punishment is meted out with the assistance of an abbreviated, but stout paddle. Last week a camera fiend attempting to record the sufferings of a brother frosh for posterity, was summarily indicted for contempt of environment and forced to suffer the imprint of an oar while kneeling over in acknowledgement of the powers that be.

It is understood that the open season will remain in effect until late in June this year.

SCHAFER TO LECTURE

Former History Head to Spend Summer Week Ends on Campus.

Dr. Joseph Schafer, formerly head of the department of history at the University of Oregon and now superintendent of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin has written to Dean Colin V. Dymont regarding his acceptance of an appointment as instructor of history in the Portland summer term of the University.

Dr. Schafer says, "You may have learned from Rebee that I shall be at Portland during the summer school and of course I must spend several week-ends in Eugene. That will give me the opportunity I covet to visit old friends."

Dr. Schafer will spend each week-end of the summer term, which runs from June 20 to July 19, giving lectures on the campus.

PLAN LIBRARY CLASS

Miss Mary Humphrey to Have Charge of Course During Summer

Courses in Library Methods for high schools will be given in the summer session by Miss Mary Humphrey, at present, reference librarian of Washington State College, at Pullman.

Miss Humphrey is a graduate of the Pratt Institute School of Library Science and previous to coming west, had library experience in the reference department of the Louisville, Ky. public library, and was for two years librarian with the Girls High School at Louisville. Two courses will probably be offered, one in general methods of administering school libraries, and the other in classification and cataloging.

Hope to Teach at Illinois.

E. W. Hope, former dean of the school of law and professor of law, has taken a position as professor of law at the University of Illinois. Mr. Hope earned his A. B. at the University of Pennsylvania in 1898. He took graduate work at the University of Berlin and also at the University of Munich in 1901 and 1902. He was awarded an M. A. at Stanford in 1903 and a Ph. D. at Johns Hopkins University in 1905.

ANTIQUE FURNISHINGS SOUGHT FOR BUILDING

Interesting Curios to Deck Women's Structure.

Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, the only woman member of the board of regents, who is personally supervising the furnishing of the new women's building, plans to have as many articles of educational value as possible. Mrs. Gerlinger has friends and curio dealers in San Francisco, Victoria, B. C., and in Portland, looking for suitable articles in the way of furnishings.

In the main hall there will be an exact duplicate of a refectory table. These tables, which correspond in purpose to our dining room tables, were used in monasteries by the monks. This one which is six and one-half feet long, and thirty-three inches wide, was purchased in Victoria. A long board, much worn, serving as a foot-rest, makes up a part of the table. It is said that these foot-rests were necessary because of the damp floors in the refectory rooms.

Four Canton jars with electric light fixtures of copper attached to the brim, will be placed on the table. These two pairs of vases are exceptionally beautiful and will have flame-colored lamp shades. There will also be a Russian Samovar, for the making of tea, on the table. The samovar is a gift from Mrs. P. L. Campbell.

A large oval embossed copper tray completes the furnishings for this table. The tray came originally from India, was brought to England, and later bought by Miss Marker, a dealer in antiques. The tray is very finely wrought and is unique. It is a gift from the girls of Hendricks hall.

The other rooms are to be furnished along similar lines. Mrs. Gerlinger is on the campus frequently, studying the building and making suggestions as to its furnishings.

Y. W. TO ADD MEMBERS

Banquet March 9th to Include all Who Belong at That Time.

Girls who are not members of the Y. W. C. A. are urged to join the association as soon as possible so that they will be sure to be included in the annual banquet which will be held at the Hotel Osburn, March 9th. This drive might be referred to as a second-term drive for membership, according to Miss Dinsdale, secretary of the organization.

Every girl on the campus is eligible for membership and is asked to join. The cabinet is going to try to reach girls not already members, but they would appreciate it if the girls would just stop in at the Bungalow sometime and hand in their names.

PARTY VIEWS BUILDING

Decorations and Rooms Chosen For Dances in Women's Gymnasium.

A tour of the women's building to decide which rooms, and what form of decorations may be used for parties to be held there, was made recently by Dean Elizabeth Fox, Miss Mabel L. Cummings, of the department of physical education, Mrs. Edna Datson, Professor and Mrs. W. E. Milne, H. Snook from the department of buildings and grounds, and representatives from the men's and women's Oregon clubs.

The policy will be adopted of having a minimum amount of decorations and of using nothing which will require the driving of tacks or nails. Vases of greens and flowers will be the principal decorative form.
