THE A. S. U. O. ASSEMBLY.

This morning's assembly will be the most important meeting of the Associated Students held this year. It is unnecessary to urge every student to be there. It is essential that they are there, if they pretend to take any interest in their own affairs and those of their fellow-students.

The meeting itself will likely concern itself with two principal matters. First will be the presentation of the new revised A. S. U. O. constitution by the committee which has been working on the pact for several months. Time will limit the arguments on the revised constitution, and it is likely that only the major changes will be discussed.

Second, there will be presented several more or less meritorious amendments to the by-laws of the present constitution. These amendments are concerned with awards for different student activities. If passed, these amendments will be included in the new revised constitution, should the latter be adopted, a clause in the new pact stipulating such action.

The new constitution and the amendments of the by-laws are in no way related. The new constitution will be voted on at a special meeting of the Associated Students one week from today. The amendments to the by-laws will be voted on today, probably by a rising vote of the students present. The by-laws will become effective immediately if they are passed. The new constitution will not take effect until next year.

In order to get through with all the business it will be necessary to limit the discussion on new constitution today. Take your copy of today's Emerald with you to assembly so that you may become familiar with every part of the new pact. It will be explained rather than discussed. Then, if any questions remain unanswered, address your questions to the Emerald. Arrangements have been made to have the revision committee, the group which drew up the new constitution, answer any question through the columns of the Emerald.

As the amendments to the by-laws will be decided at today's meeting, it is necessary that all questions concerning them be brought out at meeting today. If you are opposed to any amendment—get up and say why you think it should not be adopted. Don't be afraid to oppose any amendment. Some of them should be opposed.

Remember:—on the revised constitution, address all questions to the Emerald and have them answered before the matter is voted on; on the amendments to the by-laws, if you have any objections, speak today or forever hold your peace.

With perhaps as big a crew of track aspirants as in any year previous, and baseball candidates getting an early start, spring athletic prospects look anything but dreary.

NATIONAL SECRETARY IS GUEST.

Miss Amy Dummis giving a tea at the Anchorage this afternoon for Miss Ruth Benson, one of the national secretaries of the Y. W. C. ## COL. LEADER TO BE HERE FOR WEEK-END

Former Faculty Member Just Back From Ireland.

Colonel John Leader, well known and popular campus military commandant during the summer and fall of 1918, will be a University visitor over the week-end and President Campbell and other faculty members are planning for the entertainment of the distinguished soldier.

Colonel Leader during the war held rank of Lieutenant-Colonel of infantry in the English army and recruited, organized and commanded the regiment known as the Royal Irish Rifles. Forced by disability to relinquish his command in Europe he came to the United States and as a member of the University of Oregon faculty continued to do his bit in the conflict.

In addition to his duties in connection with the training of the University cadet battalion and his work with the campus R. O. T. C. camps, Colonel Leader planned and organized the home guard companies throughout the state and had a large share in the credit for the efficient and practical training of the resident troops.

Military commands in China, Japan and many of the British possessions, at-tache at several English embassies in Europe and his work in the late war are a few of the Colonel's experiences during a long army career.

The colonel has returned but recently from Ireland where he went in the interests of his estate which had suffered during the civil strife. Colonel Leader at present is in business in Portland in connection with the Atlantic and Pacific Exporting Company.

OREGON IS CHOSEN FOR SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

Tribe of Ben Hur Announces Plans for $500 Annual Allowance Based On Merit.

In a communication received by the president's office from the headquarters of the Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur, fraternal benefit society, the University of Oregon was announced as one of the institutions selected for the awarding of scholarships which the order plans to give to its members.

These scholarships carrying an annual allowance of $500 are awarded strictly on merit, says the announcement, and are tendered in commemoration of David W. Gerard, founder of the society who organized the first unit of the order at Crawfordsville, Indiana, in 1893.

Believing that a college education holds more lasting benefit than any other form of beneficial award that can be given to members, officials of the supreme order, according to the communication, hereafter will devote a portion of the annual revenue of the society toward the fund for higher education.

NEW ZEALAND TO BE TOPIC.

Frank Purnell, a native of New Zealand, now a student in the University, will give an illustrated lecture on the mountain and river scenery and native life, customs and costumes, in Dr. DeBusk's room tonight as the feature of the meeting of the Cosmopolitan club. The meeting will open at 7:30. All interested in the subject are invited to attend.

NEW ART BOOKS RECEIVED.

The following books, just received at the library, will be of interest to architectural students: Volte e Soffitti Italiani, concerning mural decorations, etc. for ceilings; and Modelli d'Arte Decorative, decorative art as applied to architecture.
