RESOLUTION CHANGES TIME OF PLEDGE DAY IN WOMEN'S HOUSES

Sorority "Rushing" for Fall Term Will Come During Registration Week.

TUESDAY, INSTEAD OF SATURDAY IS CHANGE

Present "System Interferes With Work During First Week of School.

Pledge Day in women's fraternities for the fall term will hereafter be the last day of matriculation instead of the Saturday following, according to a resolution adopted by the social affairs committee. This day will be the Tuesday preceding the calendar date for the opening of class work and the remainder of the week will be subject to the rules at present governing the mid-week dates, the resolution states.

This action was taken, according to the committee, to ameliorate some of the problems which have attended "rushing" in women's fraternities at the opening of the fall term, evils which are recognized by "all parties concerned, sororities, 'rushes,' Pan Hellenic, faculty, student body."

"Unquestionably, under the program as now followed, the first week of the fall term is lamentable epoch of dissipated energies, of frantic ambitions working at cross purposes, and of regrettable forfeiture of the more serious ethics that should have uninterrupted opportunity at the opening of the student's university career," states the committee.

This ruling will entail a radical change for it will mean that all "rushing" must take place before the beginning of class work.

"One natural sequence of the new legislation," says the committee, "is the necessity of early arrival on the campus of both 'rushers' and 'rushes' and the probable opening of the 'rushing season' on the Thursday or Friday preceding matriculation days."

KERBY MILLER TO GO TO FAMOUS COLLEGE

Oregon Rhodes Scholar To Be Admitted To Balliol, Oxford, Next Fall.

Kerby S. Miller, Oregon graduate with the class of 1920, winner of the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford University, has just received word that he will be admitted to Balliol College, one of the three oldest and probably the most famous of all the colleges which make up the great English college. Information to this effect is contained in a letter received from him yesterday by his mother Mrs. K. S. Miller, 1833 Fairmount boulevard.

Mr. Miller is at present in New York studying toward his masters' degree in philosophy at Columbia University. He is expecting to enter Oxford next fall. Friends here say that the entrance to Balliol will be particularly pleasing to him, since this was his first choice of all the Oxford colleges.

Balliol dates back to the Thirteenth century, and some of its buildings now standing were erected in the Fifteenth. Its tradition of scholarship has ranked high through the ages and its graduates have been among the most illustrious of English intellectual leaders.

PRESIDENT BEST MAN

P. L. Campbell To Participate at Wedding of Lewis R. Alderman.

President Campbell will take a few days off about spring vacation and go to Vancouver, B. C., where he is to serve as best man at the wedding of Lewis R. Alderman, who is an old classmate of his. The marriage will take place March 28. The bride is Mrs. Irene Moody, of Vancouver, and was formerly chairman of the board of school trustees at that place.

Mr. Alderman is the father of Fannie Ruth Alderman, a freshman in the University. He was graduated with the class of 1908, and later became associate professor of education at the University. For several years he was superintendent of public instruction for Oregon and at present is the educational adviser to the United States navy, bureau of navigation, Washington, D. C.

CHARGES VIOLATION OF CONFERENCE RULE

Coach Mathews, of Willamette, Scores Richardson and Keene of O. A. C. for Alleged Scouting.

Salem, Oregon, March 14.—(Special)—Charging that James J. Richardson, general manager of student activities at Oregon Agricultural College, and Roy "Spec" Keene, president of the student body of the Corvallis institution violated rules of the Pacific coast conference which prohibit "scouting" by conference members for high school athletes, Coach R. L. Mathews, of Willamette University in a statement issued this morning scores the two men for their action in coming to Salem and taking the members of the Baker high school basketball team to Corvallis with an alleged view toward inducing the players to choose the Corvallis school for their college courses.

Richardson and Keene, along with other persons connected with athletics at O. A. C., came to Salem Friday evening to witness the games of the state high school tournament staged here under the auspices of Willamette University. Saturday evening, following the tournament, Richardson and Keene returned to Corvallis by automobile, taking with them the entire Baker high school team, entries in the basketball tournament.

"There is no reasonable room for doubt as to the intention of Richardson and his party in taking the boys over to Corvallis," said Coach Mathews. "They were seeking to induce them to select O. A. C. as a place to go to college and taking advantage of the tournament staged at the expense of Willamette University to do their scouting. Aside from the fact that scouting is expressly prohibited by the rules of the Pacific coast conference, of which O. A. C. is a member, Richardson and his party showed poor sportsmanship by their conduct in coming to the tournament and stealing Willamette's guests."

"We welcomed the presence of Richardson and other college representatives at the tournament," said Mathews, "and tried to show them every courtesy, but we did not expect them to take advantage of our party in circulating their propaganda. In contrast to the actions of Richardson are those of Coach Bohler, of the University of Oregon, who attended the games and aided in the officiating, but did not utter so much as one word to any of the visiting high school students regarding their college plans or the University of Oregon."

"We shall be glad to have them," he says, "and the students will appreciate the reading matter."

The University infirmary is in need of good light reading material for the patients, according to John F. Bovard of the student health committee. He is asking that members of the faculty who have good books, which they have read and are willing to give away, make a gift to the infirmary.

INFIRMARY NEEDS BOOKS

Dr. Bovard Asks for Gifts of Reading Matter for Patients.

"We shall be glad to have them," he says, "and the students will appreciate the reading matter."

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERTS IN TOWNS IN SOUTHERN OREGON

Six Places Will Be Visited In Spring Vacation Starting On Monday Evening.

MME. M'GREW WILL BE "ARTIST GUEST"

Trip To Be Biggest Thing Yet Attempted By Musical Organization.

The University orchestra is carrying twenty-five pieces, including Rex Underwood, director and Madame Rose McGrew, guest artist, on its tour of Southern Oregon towns during spring vacation. The towns in which concerts will be given are Yoncalla, Oakland, Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland, and Roseburg.

The organization will leave Eugene on Monday, March 28, playing in Yoncalla on the same evening. The concerts will be given in the other towns in the order listed.

Orchestra Has Varied Features.

As a result of consistent practice during the whole year, under the guidance of Mr. Underwood, the orchestra has developed into an entertaining organization containing a rather varied number of features, to add to the full orchestra work in making up interesting programs. The fullest was in the Cottage Grove concert given some weeks ago. In that program Alberta Potter played a violin solo which was received with great enthusiasm. Frank Jue's tenor solo was received in like manner. A violoncello quartet composed of Carpenter Staples, Agnes Kennedy, John Anderson and Ralph Hoerber made one rather unusual feature. A bass sextet gave jazz to season the program. All these are to be used in the Southern Oregon tour.

Madame McGrew to Accompany.

The decision of Madame McGrew to accept the invitation of the orchestra to accompany them on their tour has caused some little exultation on their part.

The Southern Oregon tour will be the most extended one as yet attempted by the organization. Its first year as a student activity is almost at a close now. During that time it has been quite active, both on and off the campus. Last spring, shortly after becoming a student body activity, a tour of Coos County towns was made which was quite successful financially. Later a large part was taken in the staging of the Music Festival, and in the graduation exercises.

The largest entertainment given so far this year by the organization was the orchestra concert and dance given in the fall. Another campus appearance has been a recital in Villard hall at which time John Stark Evans, assistant dean of the school of music, and Jane Thacher, instructor of piano in the school of music played concertos accompanied by the orchestra.

Bishop Sumner Pleased by Growth of University; Will Speak at Assembly Thursday

Bishop Walter Taylor Sumner, head of the Episcopal church in Oregon, arrived on the campus Sunday for his annual visit to the University. Always a booster for Oregon, the Bishop has expressed himself as being much gratified over the growth of the school since his last visit.

While on the campus Bishop Sumner's program is being cared for by Dean Fox, working in conjunction with the Reverend Mr. Jennings, of the Eugene Episcopal church, and Karl Onthank, secretary to the president.

Since his arrival last week-end the bishop has spoken at the Episcopal church and at a meeting of the Eugene Kiwanis club. He was entertained at the Delta Delta Delta sorority house Monday evening.

Today he will talk to a vocational guidance class in Villard hall, at 11 a. m. and will have luncheon at the Beta house. Kappa Alpha Theta will entertain him at dinner tonight.

One of the principal addresses of his stay will be made at the Y. M. C. A. hut tonight at 7:15, when the bishop will address Episcopalians, both students and others.

Wednesday will also be a busy day for the bishop. At 9 he speaks at the Eugene high school and at 11 at the University high school. He will be entertained for the noon meal at the Chi Omega house and for dinner at Friendly hall. At 5 in the afternoon he will address the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. Mrs. P. L. Campbell and Dean Fox will give a tea in his honor at four.

Bishop Sumner's most important address will be made at Thursday morning's assembly, when he will speak on "Self Government." This topic is considered especially timely, coming as it does when the new student body constitution is being considered.

Following luncheon at the Phi Theta house, Thursday, Bishop Sumner will spend the afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., allowing some time for conferences and some for a final address. Dinner at Hendricks hall will be the last even on his campus program.

STUDENTS' RELIEF WORK SUCCESSFUL

"Jimmy" Price Engaged In Raising Funds.

"Jimmy" Price, formerly campus Y. M. C. A. secretary and special student in the department of sociology, who left the University a few months ago to join in the Near East Relief campaign, spent Sunday and Monday on the campus.

Most of his work since leaving college has been in Wyoming, where in six weeks he secured maintenance for 250 Armenian orphans.

In the little town of Graybull, Wyoming, he visited the high school and secured $360 from the freshman class of thirty members, and $120 from the ten juniors.

After leaving Wyoming, Mr. Price spent a short time in Billings, Mont., then a few days in Seattle visiting with his parents, and came on to Portland last week. Monday afternoon he left Eugene for Salem to speak at a "Father and Son" banquet. He is not yet advised where he will be sent from there.

Jimmy seems to be making a great success in this work. While in Wyoming he received a letter from the Near East Relief headquarters offering to send him to Armenia as head of an orphanage of 10,000 children; but the next day he received a letter countermanding this offer and stating that as long as he continued to raise money at such a rate in America, that he was of more value in this country than he could possibly be in Armenia.

When Jimmy stepped off the train at Eugene Saturday night a gentle rain was falling. "This is absolutely the first rain I have seen since leaving Eugene," he said, "although there was one small snowfall in Cheyenne."

DANCE BAN IS PENALTY

Faculty Rule Forbids Women Students Too Much Social Activity.

Heads of schools and departments who have reason to believe that any major woman student is falling seriously behind in general university work because of excessive social or other or other outside activity, and who wish in consequence to have the student barred from all dances, and perhaps from other activities, until scholastic status is raised, are invited to report name and circumstances, with a recommendation, to the office of the dean of women. A case in point occurred last week in the college of literature, science, and the arts, the woman in question being prohibited from any dancing whatsoever until a certificate from the department of physical education for women should show that she was able to dance and at the same time keep up her work, without disabling herself.

U. OF C. GETS LAND BY WILL.

In accordance with the will of Dennis Sears, former University of California regent, $1,000,000 worth of Alameda marsh land comes into the possession of the university.

NEWMAN CLUB WILL HAVE CAMPUS HOME

Phi Delt House Will Be New Meeting Place.

The Newman club of the University of Oregon will take over the building adjoining the campus across from the Co-op store, at present occupied by Phi Delta Theta fraternity, during the summer vacation, according to plans made known to members of the local Newman club by Father Edwin V. O'Hara last Sunday morning. When addressing the Catholic students following their communion breakfast, Father O'Hara told of the materialization of his plans and the purpose of the Newman club at the University.

A five thousand dollar religious library is to be one of the features of Newman hall. "Every department of knowledge has its corresponding religious literature," stated Father O'Hara to the 70 students and faculty members present at the meeting. "As people study more deeply they find more need of religious instruction. The Newman hall library will be accessible both to students and faculty. I have no desire to conflict with the work of the 'Y' on the campus, but I feel that a Newman hall is needed to symbolize the Catholic church in the University life."

No financial assistance will be asked from members of the Newman club for the purchase of the building, said Father O'Hara when outlining his plans for obtaining the $15,000 needed for the purchase of the house and the proposed library. He told the students that immediately after Easter he would tour the state in behalf of the organization, and that he hoped to have the necessary funds raised by July. "I will need the co-operation of the Newman club and its alumni," said Father O'Hara. "Only upon your assured co-operation can I go forward with the work."

The upper floor of the hall will be rented in order to take care of the incidental expenses in the maintenance of the club.

Father O'Hara spoke to the students on the advantages of higher education they would be the leaders in their community life when they returned home, and therefore that they should not neglect religious ideals while at Oregon.

Father J. P. Towey, Paulist missionary and Newman club worker, addressed the students briefly. Father Towey has been connected with the Newman clubs at the Universities of Minnesota and California. Genevieve Clancy sang a solo preceding the addresses. Francis Kern, president of the Newman club, presided at the meeting.

DANCERS BORROW MUSIC.

"Borrowing" the music from a nearby fraternity dance, one Stanford couple solved the problem of the high cost of dancing by using the deserted bandstand which is being moved from its original location. The rising moon completed the setting and the resourceful couple found an evening's entertainment which may prove popular while the stand remains on its present site.

DURNO BEST FORWARD IN TWO CONFERENCES SAYS "DOC" BOHLER

Hugh Latham Rated as Center on All-Northwest Team of W. S. C. Coach.

STANFORD HAS TWO MEN ON COAST FIVE

Judgment of Other Coaches Consulted Before Choice Was Made.

(By J. Fred ("Doc") Bohler.) (Director of Athletics at the State College of Washington and Advisory member of the basketball rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, representing the western district.)

(Pacific Interscholastic News Service) Washington State College, Pullman, March 14.—(Special)—The following all-coast and all-northwest teams are officially named for the 1921 season:

All-coast Team.	Pos.	All-Northwest Team.
Durno, Oregon....F...		Durno, Oregon
Righter, Stanford..F...		Rich, Whitman
Sielk, Wash.....C...		H. Latham, Ore.
Eggleston, Calif...G...		Hunter, Idaho
Adams, Stanford...G...		McIvor, W. S. C.

In picking these teams, considerable consideration has been given the judgment of the other coaches of the two conferences, and their choices were collected and compiled before the final selections were made.

Durno Unanimous Choice.
In the coast conference, Durno of Oregon is the unanimous choice of all the coaches for the first forward position. He is small, but makes up for this handicap with his speed, and clever dodging and dribbling. He makes long shots as well as short ones from any angle on the floor, besides converting a high percentage of his free throws. This is his third year on the all-Coast team.

The second forward choice must go to Righter of Stanford. Although he cannot come up to Durno in cleverness, he has been a big factor in the strength of the Stanford team through his ability to locate the basket. He is large and rangy and has the knack of breaking through his guards and scoring when anywhere near the basket. Righter was another unanimous choice of the conference coaches. This is his second year on the all-Coast team.

Sielk is All-Coast Center.

For the center position, first choice must be accorded to Sielk of Washington. Although he has been a member of the Sun Dodger squad for several years, he did not reach his stride until this season. He is an exceptionally
