

IRENE STEWART TO STAR IN IBSEN PLAY

"Lady From the Sea" to be Given by Company Apr. 14

Irene Stewart will take the title role in Henrik Ibsen's "Lady from the Sea," which will be given as the Company's first production this term, in Guild theatre, April 14 and 15. Darrell Larsen will play opposite her as Dr. Wangel.

This play is a mysterious and odd study of psychological reactions. Ibsen has woven into the story the weird fancies of Elida, the Lady from the Sea, using the firds of the Scandinavian peninsula. However, Larsen, who has found ample room for characterization, from the serious character of the town doctor to the comedy of the jack-of-all-trades.

Parts for the play have been in the hands of the cast for some time, and rehearsals will be staged both afternoon and evening for the next two weeks to get the cast in shape for the production. Vern Fudge, formerly cast as Dr. Wangel, has been unable to return to school. However, Larsen, who has been given his place, promises to take the role in a creditable manner.

Members of the cast are:
Elida, The Lady from the Sea..... Irene Stewart
Dr. Wangel.....Darrell Larsen
Arnholm.....John Canoles
Bolletta.....Dorothy Wooton
Hilda.....Doris Pittenger
Lyngstrand.....Harold Brown
Stranger.....de Ford Wallace
Ballestad.....Renel Moore

2 INFIRMARY NURSES GIVE UP POSITIONS

Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Sibbald Will Leave for Seattle; Mrs. Sinner and Miss Blake Will Have Charge.

Mrs. M. Sinclair and Miss E. Mae Sibbald, who have been nurses of the University infirmary for the past two years, have resigned their positions and will leave in a few days for their home in Seattle.

The infirmary will be in charge of Mrs. Letha G. Sinner and Miss Agnes Blake. Mrs. Sinner has been here for the past year and is well known by University students. Miss Blake is from St. Paul, Minnesota, but has been nursing in Portland for a year. A slight change has been made in the work of supervision at the infirmary, as there will no longer be a head nurse. Mrs. Sinner and Miss Blake will both be responsible for the supervisory work.

DEFICIENCY CASES FEW

Irregularities Among Students From Other Colleges Numerous.

Cases of irregularities and deficiencies in graduate requirements due to war conditions are on the decrease, but a larger number of cases of irregularities among students entering as upperclassmen from other universities are now before the committee on graduation deficiencies, according to the annual report of that body, published yesterday.

Language, physical education, and group requirements are the causes of a great majority of the cases that appear before the committee and the difference in entrance and graduation requirements between the University of Oregon and other institutions formerly attended by the students is also a factor, says the report.

SPRING FOOTBALL WORK WILL BEGIN FRIDAY 8TH

Shy Huntington to Give Training in Kicking, Passing and Other Fundamentals.

Football togs, pigskins, and all the other necessary paraphernalia of the great American sport will be brought forth into the spring sunlight Friday when Shy Huntington starts the 1921 football season for Oregon by staging a term of "spring football."

It is Shy's plan to stage a practice every night for varsity men and an additional class three times a week for gym students who desire to learn the game and who may have possibilities as football material. The mentor hopes to find several "diamonds in the rough" and polish them into real football players.

Kicking, passing, running and the elements of the game will be tried at first. A number of new plays which Huntington has worked out during the winter months will also be tried out.

The elementary class will meet at 3 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Men are asked to appear in uniform on Hayward field Friday afternoon.

FENTON LAW LIBRARY AMONG LARGEST GIFTS

Judge Fenton has given so many useful years," said Dean Hale. "It is a great contribution to legal education in the state of Oregon. It has the effect of placing the law school in the front rank of the law schools on the Pacific coast. This one gift more than doubles the size of the law library and brings the total number of volumes up to approximately 20,000," said the dean.

"The nature of the gift and the character of the giver serve to impress upon us the large responsibilities and the splendid opportunity which we have to properly train and equip the men and women who are to assume positions of influence and power in the profession and in the state," continued Dean Hale.

Dignity and Courtesy Impress.
"I make special mention of the character of the donor because when I first entered the practice of law in Portland in 1906 Judge Fenton was one of the leaders of the bar in that city who first attracted my attention. He made a great impression on me and I considered him the finest example of what I thought a lawyer should be. I was especially impressed by the dignity of his bearing in the courtroom and the uniform courtesy that he showed to the court, to the jury, to the witnesses, whether on his side of the case or not, and also to the opposing attorneys.

"This gift to the law school will become the occasion of frequent reference for the coming generation of lawyers, and the life and work of the donor will serve as an example which they should strive to emulate," said the dean.

Present Library Supplemented.

A remarkable thing about the memorial library is that it in no substantial way duplicates any portion of the present library but rather supplements it and gives strength to it where the need was greatest, according to Dean Hale. The decisions of the various states have been previously acquired by the school through what is called the reporter system, an economical but rather less useful and complete form, he said. "Judge Fenton's gift brings us the reports of all the states in their complete and original single volume editions," said Dean Hale. "Many of these sets are almost unobtainable today and when available can be purchased only at an excessive price."

The books arrived in Eugene Tuesday and were yesterday moved to the basement of the commerce building where they will be stored until a permanent place can be made available. The volumes will probably be housed in the present law library if there is room and the building is deemed strong enough to support the great weight of the 10,000 or so books in the collection, according to W. K. Newell, superintendent of properties. It has been estimated that some 1400 feet of shelf space will be needed for the volumes.

The Southern Pacific company donated the freight charges on the shipment, weighing 10 tons, a courtesy which, according to Mr. Newell, was greatly appreciated by University officials.

Butter-Krust BREAD

Insist on the Genuine

There are all kinds of imitations of this popular bread.

But the title or the shape of the loaf is all they can imitate. They can't approach the delicate, appetizing flavor.

So, for your own protection, look for the label like that shown in the left-hand lower corner of this advertisement.

For that label marks perfect bread from ordinary bread.

A single loaf, ordered from your grocer today, will prove it.
