

WOMEN'S DORMITORY PRAISED BY REGENT

Mrs. George Gerlinger Says New Hall Is Fine

DRAPERY IS ADMIRER Hangings Are Designed And Made In London

"What I hope for all the girls is that they will be very happy in Susan Campbell Hall, and will fit into the spirit of it," said Mrs. George Gerlinger, woman regent of the University, who is a guest at the new hall of residence for a few days. "It is a fine experience for a girl to live with others, and learn to adapt herself to many different temperaments."

"I feel that the hall is a very beautiful home for the girls," she continued. "It does not have the characteristics of an institution, which is so often true of dormitories, but has the quiet dignity and charm of a real home."

Imported Draperies Used.
"Have you seen the chintz hangings?" Mrs. Gerlinger asked. "They are William Morris chintz, designed by Morris himself, and made in the William Morris shop in London. All of the Morris hangings are named, and this one is called 'The Berry Thief,' the motif being a bird with a berry in its mouth." The ground color of the chintz is a deep rich blue, and the design is put in with brighter colors.

"The dominant note of all the Morris hangings," the woman regent went on, "is blue. First of all, they are dyed blue, and then the design is put in, in gay, contrasting colors." The chintz is now hung in the living room of the Hall, and will be up in other parts of the house within a few days.

"The piano arrived today, too," continued Mrs. Gerlinger, "a beautiful grand piano for the living room. We have still a console table to be placed in the entrance hall. It is here but not unpacked," she said. "The furniture is walnut, and mostly of English design. The rugs, you know, were all woven here in Eugene—fluff rugs, made from old carpets, in subdued tones of brown and gray."

Recreation Room Feature.
"One feature of the Hall that we like very much," she continued, "is the recreation room in the basement. It has a fireplace and chairs, and is for good time parties when the girls want to pop corn and play informally. The room has a hardwood floor so they can dance, and they have rented a piano themselves. We could not afford just now to buy a piano for the recreation room. The fireplace is to be fitted with a crane so the girls may make tea if they wish."

"We are so glad that half of the women's quadrangle is finished," Mrs. Gerlinger said. "It is unusual for a state university to have its women's quarters in this way. Some private schools have given much thought to planning their women's section, but state schools in the west have not adopted generally the plan of having a women's quadrangle."

"I think it helps to solve some of the problems of the University to have the women's living quarters, their gymnasium, and the departments that belong particularly to them, all together in this way. I hope," smiled the regent, "that it will not be very long before we can have the other half of the quadrangle, which will be more halls of residence and a building for home economics."

FORMER GOVERNORS MAY HUNT IN OREGON

Lowden and Goodrich Plan On Bear Hunt In the Cascades This Year.

Ex-Governors Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Goodrich of Indiana may be in Eugene this summer to enjoy fishing on the McKenzie and a bear hunt in the Cascades, if the negotiations now being conducted by Swartz brothers, McKenzie hunters and guides, are successful. Both of these middle western governors have evinced a desire to take a trip into the Cascades in Oregon, according to Swartz brothers.

Both Mr. Lowden and Mr. Goodrich belong to a hunting club of 26 who have spent the last several summers in Maine woods. The last two years they have not had the best success so they have decided to come west, and 16 of their party want to come with them, according to their correspondence.

Mr. Goodrich has hunted with the Swartz boys before. If they come west it is probable the party will make their headquarters at the Swartz brothers' ranch on the upper McKenzie and enjoy a royal hunt as well as numerous fishing parties in Oregon's most famous stream.

CHAMBER WILL AID LEGION CONVENTION

Street Decorations and Band Decided Upon; No Regular Celebration.

That the Eugene Chamber of Commerce would cooperate in every way with Lane County Post No. 4, American Legion, in staging the state convention of the Legion here next July 1, 2, and 3, was the promise given the local post last night by the board of directors of the Chamber.

The board decided to put up the street decorations, and to also hire a band for July 2. They frowned on the idea of any regular Fourth of July celebration that would in any way count as a counter attraction. Those days will be for the state convention, they promised. This will prevent of other cities in Lane county, planning for a celebration, to do so without fear of competition from Eugene.

Ben Dorris was spokesman for the Legion committee, which included Dr. O. A. Waller, C. S. Dillon, and Guy Moshier, that appeared before the board.

EUNICE ZIMMERMAN DOES PUBLICITY WORK

Oregon Student Is With Chautauqua; Soon to Be Junior Supervisor; Santa Fe Now.

Eunice Zimmerman, a senior in fine arts, is at present in Santa Fe, New Mexico, where for the past week she has been doing advance publicity work for the Ellison-White Chautauqua Company. She writes that her work consists of meeting the promoters of the Chautauqua in Santa Fe, talking with the ministers, speaking before the women's clubs, and obtaining publicity for the Ellison-White Company.

"I wish I had taken some business courses, and some public speaking," writes Miss Zimmerman, "they would certainly help me now."

The advance work is only secondary with Miss Zimmerman, as her real work, that of Junior Supervisor, begins April 19. This work will consist of play-ground management, story-telling, and the directing of a demonstration which will be given by the children of each town at the close of the engagement there. Miss Zimmerman formerly majored in physical education, which she finds a great help to her in her play-ground management.

During her engagement with the Ellison-White people, which will last until the latter part of August, Miss Zimmerman will travel through New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming. In each town she will stay five days. While in Arizona she will visit the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

In Santa Fe she will visit the famous art museum, which is one of the largest in the Southwest, containing many examples of Indian art.

According to present plans she will go through Eugene on her way to Washington the latter part of May.

KILPATRICK TO SPEAK.
Earl Kilpatrick, director of the extension division, will go to Portland Friday to deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of the Knights of Columbus evening school. Mr. Kilpatrick is going up on the personal request of John P. O'Hara, principal of the school, and one-time professor of history on the Oregon campus.

One Great Handicap!

Faulty vision is one of the greatest handicaps that could befall one, but it is one of the easiest to remedy. Whether you are 17 or 70, we can correct your eyesight if it is in need of attention. If you are subject to headaches, or if traveling has no pleasures for you and seems to nauseate you, if you have twitching muscles or quivering eyelids—after reading or sewing—then you need glasses. An when you need glasses you should get them at once.

Delay means more inconvenience and suffering than you can imagine.
