

JUDGE BURNETT PRAISES LIBRARY

of the law school," he said. "The faculty has been seeking a means of increasing the present inadequate number of volumes, and now this gift comes to solve the problem. It will mean an increased opportunity for thousands of students in years to come."

Memory Will Be Perpetuated.

In making the address of acceptance on the part of the board, Judge J. W. Hamilton, of Roseburg, president of the board of regents, said: "It is a pleasurable thing to the people of this state to receive this gift in the cause of education. The memory of Kenneth Lucas Fenton will be forever perpetuated by this magnificent gift. Judge Fenton has given to the University that which he prized most highly. His act is one of pure unselfishness. I hope that, on behalf of the state, those who are its beneficiaries will recognize its value. I hope that his great sacrifice shall prove not to have been made in vain. This library carries with it the thoughts and high ideals of Judge Fenton." It has more than a monetary value, according to Judge Hamilton.

Dean Hale, in accepting the gift on the part of the University, said that he accepted this in a position of trust. "We have received the result of years of labor overnight. It is a fine spirit that placed this library in the hands of generations of lawyers to come, and it should cause them to go forth and diffuse the ideas of the honor throughout the state."

Lawyers Will Use Books.

Fred E. Smith, of the local bar association, who took the place of Louis E. Bean, accepted the gift on the part of the local bar association. "Most lawyers are unable to enjoy a large library," he said. "The lawyer who succeeds best is the one who prepares his cases best for presentation to the court. To do this he must have ready access to the truths of his profession." The act of the University in throwing open the free use of this library to the local bar will solve this problem. "It is a gift the local bar will gladly avail themselves of," concluded the speaker, "and with the gift they will be able to enlarge their opportunities."

Music for the assembly was furnished by the University orchestra, which gave the selection, "Morning, Noon and Night," in a most delightful fashion. An unusually large number of students were out for the assembly.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE OPEN FOR FIVE MEN

1923 from every state in the Union except the following sixteen: Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Louisiana, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming. The qualifying examination formerly required has been abandoned.

Opportunities Are Many.

The opportunities that are open to Rhodes scholars at Oxford are boundless. Normally he becomes a member of one of the twenty odd colleges which make up the university. The average college has only two hundred members; so he finds himself in a social group that is small enough to assure him the opportunity of gaining a personal acquaintance with his fellows. The bulk of these will naturally be English and Scotch, but he will find among them students from the British colonies, and many others from the continent of Europe and the Orient.

Educationally, too, Oxford has much to offer him. Most Americans who enter as undergraduates are excused from the work of the first year and begin at once on an "Honor School" a broad course of reading and study in some branch of learning carried on for two full years under the personal direction of a "tutor." Among these schools the oldest and most famous is Literae Humaniores (Classics and Philosophy). Others are Modern History, Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, Theology, English and Modern Languages.

After two years at one of these the student is tested by a series of comprehensive examinations, and placed as a "first," "second," "third," or "fourth," according to his attainment or ability. All these lead to the B. A. degree. For those who wish to do graduate work there are the degrees of B.C.L., B.Sc., and B.Litt., in law, science, and history and literature, respectively, and recently the Ph.D. has been established as well.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS TO MEET.

The executive council of Christian workers met last night to outline policies for religious work on the campus next year. The entire council composed of the advisory boards of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., the religious and morals committee of the faculty, and the pastors of the city, will meet next Monday evening to finish making plans. This is really a conference of the active religious groups on the campus.

ORCHESTRA ADDS FOUR

Will Next Appear at Dedication of Woman's Building.

Four members have been added to the personnel of the University orchestra since its return from the spring tour, and work has begun on music to be presented later in the term. The new members are: Bob Scearce and Audrey Perkins, violins; George York, drums, and Frank Dorman, clarinet. York takes the place left by Fred Buck, who accepted a position with the Macy-Baird Tent Show company last week.

The next appearance of the orchestra will be at the dedication of the Woman's Building. At that time "Phedre" Overture, by Massenet, and "Egyptian Ballet," by Luigini, will be played. Preparations are now being made for a home concert to be given in May.

GLEE CLUB TRAVELS.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, April 21.—(P. I. N. S.)—The Whitman College men's glee club has completed an extensive tour of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. A total of 18 concerts were given, before approximately 8000 people. Two concerts were also given at the state penitentiaries of Washington and Idaho. One thousand twenty-two miles were travelled in the spring tour.

The club was composed of 16 voices, accompanied by a 10-piece jazz orchestra. Singing, jazz and vaudeville skits composed the program. The tour was a financial success, a neat sum being netted.

PIONEER HAS EXTRA.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, April 21.—(P. I. N. S.)—A special edition of the Pioneer, student newspaper, edited by five neophytes of the Whitman Press Club made a successful appearance on the campus. Garbed in green dress, and modeled after the Seattle Times in make-up and features, it created much favorable comment.

PULLMAN SCIENTIST HONORED.

State College of Washington, April 21.—Professor William Shaw has recently been elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. This honor can come only to those who are professionally interested in science or have made some noteworthy contribution to it.

TALKS ARE SCHEDULED.

Earl Kilpatrick, director of the extension division, will be in Alfred Saturday to deliver a talk on the consolidation of schools. Monday, Miss Mozelle Hair will talk in Creswell to the Civics Club, and on April 26, Alfred Powers will speak in Drain, and Professor Sweetser in Springfield.

MAJOURIE RAMBEAU COMING WEDNESDAY

"The Sign On the Door" Gives Actress Wide Range in Which to Portray Part.

An event of unusual interest in the local dramatic season will take place when Marjorie Rambeau in "The Sign On the Door" will take possession of the Eugene Theatre Wednesday, April 27.

Miss Rambeau is appearing under the direction of A. H. Woods and this is her first venture away from Broadway for six years. It was not Miss Rambeau's desire that has kept her in New York—it was the insistent demand of the play-going public. Her engagement in "The Sign On the Door" might easily have been extended into the present season, and doubtless would have been carried along if Miss Rambeau herself had not insisted upon a tour of the principal cities. In "The Sign On the Door" Miss Rambeau appears in a role that gives her a wide range of freedom in the display of her art. That she has given force and power to the play and at the same time added to her own prestige as an emotional actress is shown by the unanimous verdict of critics and playgoers that her dramatic efforts in Channing Pollock's play mark a new achievement in the American drama. "The Sign On the Door" is a thrilling play of the hour—crowded with tense moments, softened with delicious comedy and entertaining from start to finish. Miss Rambeau is supported by a company of recognized ability.

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED

Phi Theta Kappa to Give $50 Yearly As Women's Commerce Prize.

The first organization on the campus to offer any sort of a scholarship to departmental students is Phi Theta Kappa, women's commerce fraternity, which will award a $50 scholarship to the junior or senior girl in the school of commerce who has the highest standard of work to her credit.

This scholarship is to be presented during the spring term, and the first one will be given next year. Aspirants for the award must be actively interested in commerce work at the time they are under consideration.

WOMEN TO GIVE PROGRAM.

State College of Washington, April 21.—Women's day will be held June 4, according to the plans of Miss Mary McKee, head of the women's physical education department. There will be a full program of all physical educational work for women; a feature will be a "sport clothes style show," featuring appropriate and attractive dress for the different sports for women.

CARNIVAL IS PLANNED

University High School to Entertain Students Friday Evening.

The students of the University high school are looking forward to a good time Friday evening when a carnival will be staged by members of the high school for the entertainment of the students.

A program featuring a mock orchestra and a minstrel show will be given in the assembly and side shows will be offered for amusement in the gymnasium and other rooms in the building.

This entertainment is being planned and carried out by the students for the purpose of encouraging administration and leadership, according to Rollien Dickerson, principal of the school. Programs will be given later in the year for the benefit of the patrons of the school.

WHITMAN PLANS IMPROVEMENTS.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, April 20.—P. I. N. S.—Two new tennis courts, an outdoor handball court, and a concrete retaining wall for the base of the outdoor amphitheatre are among major improvements planned for the campus when the annual Campus Day occurs this month, Wednesday, April 27. A part of the day's entertainment will be furnished by the University of Oregon baseball nine meeting Whitman here in the opening conference play of the season. The program calls for work from 8 to 12 in the morning, noonday luncheon on the campus, crowning of May Queen and ball game in the afternoon, with the annual Campus Day all-college dance in the evening.

STUDENTS' TERM SHORTENED.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, April 20.—(P. I. N. S.)—Student officers at Whitman will hold offices for only half a year, instead of for an entire year, as a result of an amendment to the associated student constitution passed recently. Elections will be held in January and June, instead of in April.

ANNUAL OUT MAY 15.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, April 21.—(P. I. N. S.)—Delivery of the college annual, the Waialatu, has been announced for May 15.
