SIGMA DELTA PHI IS FIRST IN GRADE LIST WITH 2.66 AVERAGE

Phi Delta Phi Second For Winter Term With 2.80 Record

RISE IN SCHOLARSHIP GENERAL ON CAMPUS

Highest House Rose Eight Places Over Standing For First Term

Sigma Delta Phi local sorority won first place for scholarship last term, according to the comparative grade list of the registrar. Phi Delta Phi law fraternity stood first among the men's organizations, with Friendly Hall, men's dormitory, taking best place in the list of men's general houses. Alpha Phi was first among women's national sororities, and third in the entire field; Alpha Tau Omega first of the men's nationals, and twelfth in the field. The general average for women's houses was 3.25, and for men's houses 3.64.

In compiling the grades, authorities averaged all the marks for each house student by hours of work taken, and then averaged all the student standings for each house. House in which honors count zero, marks from one to five are passing, conditions are counted as six, and failures at seven. In the race for scholastic honors for the term, former records have availed little, and many houses noted for good grades have fallen far below their competitors, while others have been spurred on by failure to higher achievement. Sigma Delta Phi, the winner of the past term, rose from eighth place during the first term, with an average of 3.16, to first with 2.66.

Tightening of scholastic standards at the University has been accompanied by a general raising of grades on the part of the students, a result which has been confidently expected. Thus, while last term there was only one house with an average of less than 3.00, there are five this term which have made an average better than that.

Alpha Phi, Delta Gamma, and Alpha Delta Pi, women's nationals, which stood first, second, and third in their present list during the first term, fell during the past term to third, thirteenth, and fifth, respectively. Chi Psi, Sigma Nu, and Delta Tau Delta, which were first, second, and third the first term, among men's nationals, are now fourth, seventh, and ninth, respectively. The complete list of organizations follows:

1.—Sigma Delta Phi	2.66

PULLMAN SCHOOL SURVEY MADE.

State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash., April 27.—A comprehensive educational survey of the Pullman public school system has recently been completed by Dr. C. W. Stone, assisted by other members of the faculty of the department of education, members of advanced classes, and several professors from other departments. This survey extended over a school year and included an investigation of the heating, lighting, humidity, and playground facilities of the different buildings, as well as of the scholastic workings of the schools.

INVITATIONS READY FOR MOTHER'S DAY

Fare and One-half Secured For Week-end.

Invitations for Mother's Day exercises at the University are out today and will be distributed on the campus at the various houses before noon. People living outside of living organizations will be able to get invitations at the rear door of Villard hall before assembly or at the office of the alumni secretary.

Lyle Bartholomew, chairman of the committee for Mother's Day, urges that the invitations be sent at once in order that the approximate number of guests may be known and provided for. Invitations to the number of 1600 have been printed, so that everyone will be enabled to send one to his mother. The invitations bear a program of the week-end and an announcement of the fare and one-half rates which have been secured from all railways.

A box will be placed in the library for the answers, which every student is expected to report on as soon as possible.

LOYAL OREGON CLUB MEETS IN FAR BOSTON

U. of O. Grads Hold Reunion At Nan's Kitchen.

At Boston, Massachusetts, on April 30, Nan's Kitchen will hear the glory of old Oregon. Nan's Kitchen—it is down on Oxford terrace—a little alley off of Huntington avenue. But they are going to know that in the east there is a group of men and women, loyal still to the days spent at the U. of O. For it is at Nan's Kitchen that the Oregon Club, made up of Oregon students in the east, is to give its reunion dinner party this year.

Lamar Tooze, '16, whose present address is Cambridge, Mass., is in charge of the arrangements. The story of the coming dinner party is brief—and it is told on the announcement cards. Several of them have been received on the campus. They read:

The Oregon Club will give a dinner party, Saturday evening, April 30, at Nan's Kitchen, 10 Oxford Terrace, Boston. Dinner will be served promptly at 7 p. m. To reach Nan's Kitchen, take Huntington Avenue car and get off at Public Library. Oxford Terrace is a small street leading off Huntington Avenue between the Hotel Oxford and Huntington Chambers.

Tax $1.50 a plate. Election of officers for 1921-22. Please notify Lamar Tooze not later than Thursday, April 28, if you will be there. Plates will be reserved only for those from whom notifications are received.

BOYS' AND GIRL'S CLUBS BELIEVE IN ADVERTISING

"Stop! See My Turkeys." Say Posters Being Sent Out By State Club Leader.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, April 26.—Boys' and girls' club members in the state believe in advertising.

"Stop! Club members live here. See my turkeys."

This is the type of invitation being placed in conspicuous places inviting travelers to see cooking, sheep, sewing girls or any of the 15 projects carried on by boy and girl club members in Oregon. In a few days such posters will be placed in all sections of the state, according to H. C. Seymour, state club leader, who is now mailing the posters.

"These posters aid club leaders in finding homes of club workers," said Mr. Seymour, "and put the country boys and girls in touch with the outer world, for many persons are interested in the projects and will stop to see the workers. Club members delight in showing their results of their efforts to visitors."

Women's Building Dedication, Marking 50 Years' Progress, Will Surpass Those of Past

Portland Symphony Orchestra Will Give Extensive Program in Women's Building as Part of Opening Exercises; Organization 11 Years Old.

Turn to your calendars and your date books. Encircle the first Saturday in May in red or some other conspicuous sign of reservation, for that is going to be a memorable day on the campus.

It's like this. The University of Oregon doesn't often have a chance to dedicate a $300,000 building. The one such opportunity that has come in nearly a half a century of growth and progress will be marked by an all-day program that is fitting in every way.

It was a great day for the pioneers when Deady was dedicated back in the seventies. Old-timers still talk about the cornerstone and the dedication of Villard. When The Pioneer was unveiled Scribners Magazine in New York took note of it. Just a week ago the University was presented with a great law library.

But the crowning occasion of all will be May 7, when the Women's building will be dedicated and formally turned over to the public.

Lije Applegate, whittling by the grocery store stove and subscribing generously to Deady, has come down in history. But there is a tablet in the Women's building holding the names of a large number of Oregon citizens, many of whom have outdone Lije Applegate in generosity.

There will be three parts to the all-day program. The morning program will begin at 10 o'clock and continue till 12. The afternoon program will start at 2:30. Then there will be the evening program, beginning at 8:30.

When the committee was considering what would be the very best thing for the evening, there was unanimity of choice that the Portland Symphony Orchestra provide the musical entertainment. And the Portland Symphony Orchestra, with Carl Denton, conductor, and David Campbell, soloist, is coming. The faculty and students of the University, the people of Eugene, and the numerous guests of the day, will have the opportunity of enjoying the following program:

- 1.—Adagio, Allegro Molto.
 - 2.—Largo.
 - 3.—Scherzo.
 - 4.—Allegro con Fuoco.
- Intermission.
- Valse Trieste, (Sibelius).
Preludium, (Jarnfeldt).
Concerto for Piano, Op. 1, in B Flat Minor, Opus 23, (Tschaiikowsky).
Allegro non Troppo e Molto Maestoso.
Allegro con Spirito.
Andantino Semplice.
Allegro con Fuoco.
Symphonic Poem, "Les Preludes," (Liszt).

The concert will be held in the Women's building. Tickets are already on sale at the Co-Op, Kuykendall's Drug Store, the office of the alumni secretary and by representatives of various campus organizations. General admission will be one dollar, and reserved seats a dollar and a half and two dollars. These low prices are made possible by the fact that the orchestra itself is paying $1000 toward the expenses of the concert.

The Portland Symphony Orchestra, which is rightly called Oregon's own orchestra, is now the only one in the northwest. It was organized in 1910. Of the original 54 men who were members at its inception, 19 are still playing with the orchestra. This is an unusual record, for in many of the larger and older orchestras the members varies to quite an extent. Naturally this extended association tends toward an understanding that makes for an ensemble that could not be acquired in a shorter interval.

GIRLS' SWIMMING MEET CANCELLED

O. A. C. Too Busy to Arrange For Contest.

The girls' swimming meet with O. A. C., which was to have taken place in May, has been cancelled, according to Miss Winslow, swimming instructor, owing to the fact that O. A. C. is too busy with other sports to arrange for such a contest.

There will, however, be an exhibition toward the latter part of May, when those who are taking swimming will give a program including fancy diving, various strokes and even an exhibition showing how hard it is to drown, that is, with a life guard near who knows the proper method of rescuing drowning persons.

There are not enough people taking swimming, says Miss Winslow. There is lots of room, a fine new pool and only about 180 students who are taking advantage of it, and she says it is a shame to waste the pool in that way.

The pool is open every Tuesday and Thursday from 3 to 5:30 to everyone who has paid their $1.25 gymnasium fee, which pays for the laundry of the suits and towels. Those who are not registered for credits in swimming must pay their fee at the business office and present the receipt to the swimming instructor.

Besides Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, there is room for advanced swimmers on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:40 a. m. and 4:50 p. m., for beginners on the same days at 11:10 and 2:10, and for intermediates at 2:50.

Miss Frances Moore, assistant instructor and life guard, and Miss Marion Nicolli, life guard, are on duty at the tank on these days.

OREGON BEATS WHITMAN IN YESTERDAY'S GAME

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., April 27.—(P. I. N. S.)—The University of Oregon baseball team defeated the Whitman aggregation here today by the score of 9 to 3.

106 DOZEN DOUGHNUTS DEVoured BY STUDENTS

Theta Sigma Phi's Score Hit With Novel Sale; $40 Netted for Register Fund.

"Yum, Yum! Give me two more please."

"Aren't they just the best you ever tasted?"

"Yes, just like mother used to make."

"Lend me a dime, can't you? I want some more doughnuts."

Such were the comments of University students who were so fortunate as to get one or more (and many got six), of those wonderful doughnuts that the Theta Sigma Phi girls sold yesterday.

Never have such doughnuts appeared on the Oregon campus and never have such sunny smiles accompanied them. "We had the most fun out of it," is the way the girls reported their venture.

They got more fun out of it, however, because they sold 106 dozen. Can you imagine 106 dozen doughnuts all in one great pile? That is what they started with and they were out before 12, with many hungry students clamoring for more.

Theta chapter of Theta Sigma Phi cleared nearly $40 for their Register Fund through the doughnut sale, but they did more than that. They most certainly "started something" because University students are demanding that they "do it again." The girls have made no promises, but the demand for more doughnuts is growing rapidly.

Those who aided with the sale were Annamay Bronaugh, chairman; Lyle Bryson, Velma Rupert, Mary Ellen Bailey, Mary Lou Burton, Wanna McKinney, Mrs. Lynn McCready, Mrs. Thomas Larremore, Eleanor Spall and Pauline Coad.

GIRL TOSSERS PLAY 2 GAMES OF SERIES

Sigma Delta Phi and Susan Campbell Hall Win.

Sigma Delta Phi and Delta Gamma defied the wetherman Tuesday afternoon and played their first game in the doughnut baseball series out on the new diamond. Sigma Delta Phi won the game 31 to 7. Susan Campbell hall had little difficulty in running up 39 points against Chi Omega's 22, in the outdoor gymnasium.

The Susan Campbell Chi Omega game was fairly close until the last innings when the former forged ahead, by means of several hits which would have been good for home runs had not the southern wall of the outdoor gymnasium sent them bounding back into the hands of the fielders. The Sigma Delta Phi team kept consistently ahead of the Delta Gammas and the score was not close at any point in the game. Although the teams have not been organized very long, they show a fair degree of team work and the series promises to be one of the most interesting ever played.

The line-ups were as follows:

Chi Omega	Susan Campbell
M. Byrom	p O. Pederson
M. Lauderdale	c A. Harkness
M. Schwartz	1b S. Martin
M. Mathisen	2b V. Hughes

W. S. C. STANDINGS PUBLISHED.

At Washington State College the official first semester scholarship standings for the campus groups was completed Saturday, March 26. Thirty-one group houses, all with standings above 75.17, were listed. The Spanish house heads the complete roll, while Ferry hall, the men's dormitory, is the highest men's group.

SOUTHERN SCHOOLS TO PASS UP EUGENE FOR EASTERN MEET

California and Stanford Out of Pacific Conference, Indications Say.

CHANGE WANTED IN DATE OF TOURNAMENT

Offer to Send Second Team Meets With Disfavor From Northerners.

From the present indications, it appears that the Pacific Coast Conference Track and Field meet will be run off this year without the presence of competing teams from either California or Stanford. A communication from L. A. Nichols, graduate manager of the University of California, to the graduate manager's office here appears to confirm the rumor, for Nichols states that the Bears have decided to send their team east to compete in the I. C. A. A. A. on May 21. Word to that effect is also expected from Stanford within the near future, for although Stanford has not communicated with the athletic officials at Oregon yet, it is generally known that the Cardinals expect to send their team east to compete in the intercollegiate meet.

Suggestions Made.

Nichols offers the suggestions that California might be able to send their second team to Eugene for the meet, but they will not receive any encouragement along that line, according to indications in official circles here. California was invited to participate in the meet as all the other teams of the coast, belonging to the conference were, and it is hardly probable that any of the northern teams would consent to meeting a second team from the southern institution. It is certain that no expense guarantee would be given them, as was included in the contract.

Manager Nichols does not state as to whether or not a tennis team from the U. of C. will be entered in the conference meet, here on May 21. He was of the opinion in his communication, however, that it was possible that California would send a two-man team, providing the inducements were large enough in the way of entries.

Action Regretted.

California and Stanford would have both proved good drawing cards for the Pacific coast conference meet, and it is to be regretted that they can not see fit to send their teams to the meet, but it appears that the two California institutions have practically withdrawn from the Pacific coast conference, to the extent that when other games or meets interfere they immediately cancel their Pacific coast conference dates.

As one member of the athletic council said last night, "It appears that California is attempting to join an Atlantic coast conference, rather than to keep the scheduled dates with the Pacific coast conference, of which she is a member."

The communication from Nichols is the result of a controversy between the Oregon and California graduate managers, in which California desired to have the date of the Pacific coast conference meet at Eugene placed ahead one week so that their teams might get back from the east. As the date of the meet was decided at the meeting of the conference in San Francisco last winter, it was impossible to put the date ahead.

REED ARRANGES DEBATE

Contest Scheduled With University of Wisconsin For May 30.

Portland, April 27.—(P. I. N. S.)—Debate interest at Reed College advanced a notch today when Coach George L. Koehn wired acceptance of the University of Wisconsin's debate challenge for May 30. Two intercollegiate contests are already scheduled for May, the first being the Reed-California debate, and the second a debate with the University of British Columbia in which Reed argues that the Japanese alliance with Great Britain is inimical to British-American interests. The California debate is a co-ed contest, Reed's speakers opposing Irish independence.

The subject Wisconsin is debating on its western trip concerns recognition of the soviet government of Russia, Reed arguing the negative. Reed's entry into intercollegiate forensics on a large scale follows a dual victory over the University of Oregon and O. A. C. last December. Coach Koehn is in charge of all three contests.
