JUNIOR WEEK-END.

Junior Week-end is at hand. The big event of the year seems certain to go off with all the zip and good fun of previous years. If the weather is pleasant, there is no doubt that Junior Week-end this year will far surpass that of any previous year, as the program outlined is one of the most complete ever assembled.

The chief purpose of Junior Week-end is to show the best side of student life to our guests, and to provide a spring outlet for a big good time. The only way to put the thing over big is to have a good time and in doing so be sure that everyone else is having as much fun and pleasure as we are.

During the week-end we are on parade before our guests, and it is up to us to make good. Oregon hospitality, cooperation, democracy and good sportsmanship should be the keynote of the actions of all of us. Let's get some good old Oregon out on parade for the week-end!

It is well that the new Executive Council has named the manager of next year's Emerald. There is a great deal of work connected with the management of a daily paper, and it would be unfortunate to delay the appointment and thus delay the next manager in his plans for the coming year.

The annual costume parade, usually a feature of Junior Week-end, will not be held this year. The social affairs committee declined to permit it except when other events conflicted. So put back the costumes for some other time.

The Campus Day committees were published yesterday. Look up your name, dig out the old clothes, and get ready to do something for Oregon.

One of the big features of the week-end should be the last issue of Lemon Punch. It was planned especially for this time.

Welcome, preppers!

Varsity's Chance Good Against O.A.C.

Oregon Has Even Break In Four-Game Series

Oregon's baseball squad has an excellent chance for an even break or better in the four-game series coming up with the Aggies in the next two weeks. The series starts on the home lot Friday afternoon at 3:30, with the second game of the tournament due to come off Saturday morning. The final contests will be played on alien soil, when Bohler's proteges journey to Corvallis a week later to take on the collegians.

The dope points to an even break. Both the varsity and O. A. C. dropped three out of four in their series with the Cougars and the Sundoggers. In the games played last week-end between Washington State and the Agricultural College at Corvallis, the Beavers dropped the first one 12-10 when the Staters knocked "Lefty" Miller all over the lot, but came back strong in the final game when "Bert" Babb held the northerners to one hit in 11 frames and won the game 2-1.

Coach Bohler stated that while the odds pointed in O. A. C.'s favor, the team was going in with lots of fight, and said, "We hope to put up a decent showing and ought to get an even break with the collegians in a four-game series."

Though no definite assurance has been given out by the coach, the following will probably be the lineup used: Base on first, Collins or Beller on second, Billy Reinhart at short, Svarverud on third. The outfield will probably line up with Zimmerman in left, Gamble in center and Knudsen in right. "Spike" Leslie is billed to perform behind the plate, and Bohler will pick his hurlers from Berg, Jacobson, Gray, M. Latham and Knudsen. If the weather turns warm Berg will probably work in the opener, with Bohler using one of his right-handers Saturday. In the event of rain Friday, the big portsider may not start, as he is not at his best on cold days.

For O. A. C., Hughes, Babb or Miller are slated to do the heaving, with the odds strongly in favor of Babb mounting the mound on Friday. Gill or Duffy will work on the receiving end. The infield will line up with "Spec" Keene on first, Hubbard at second, McKenna at short and Kasberger third. Richardson will pick his outfield from the following: Summers, Noonan, Hartman, Shade and Parkinson.

C. F. LUCAS WITHDRAWS

Ex-Soldier Going to California Hospital For Cure.

Charles F. Lucas, a freshman in the school of journalism, is withdrawing from the University this week to enter the United States army hospital at Los Angeles. Lucas, who is a war veteran, is suffering from the effects of gas taken into his lungs while he was in the service in France. He was ordered by the federal board for vocational education to drop his University work until his health is restored. Lucas is hopeful of being able to re-enter the University next fall.

making strong bids to swim against the clubmen.

Swimming Gains Recognition. It is only this year that swimming has come to be recognized at Oregon as one of the strong minor sports. Before this year it has been on a more or less "on-again, off-again" basis. The development of a polo team places this sport upon a basis equal to that which it occupies at other universities on the coast such as California and Stanford.

The meet with Multnomah is the only big event to be staged this year, but with the recognition of swimming as being here to stay, prospects for meets here and participation throughout the coast loom good for next year.
