SALEM, CORVALLIS AND EUGENE LEFT IN DEBATE FINALS

Grants Pass, Lostine and Knappa Eliminated From Race.

LAST OF SERIES TO BE THIS AFTERNOON

Win Would Give Cup to the Capital City Team Permanently.

Salem, Corvallis and Eugene were the three high teams in the high school debate league semi-finals held yesterday afternoon. The teams from Grants Pass, Lostine and Knappa were eliminated from the race for the championship cup by yesterday's results.

The Salem negative won from the Corvallis affirmative and their affirmative from the Grants Pass negative, gaining a two to one decision from the judges in each case, and had a high total of seven points. The Corvallis negative won from the Knappa affirmative, 3-0, and their affirmative lost to Salem 2-1, making their total number of points 4. Eugene took a 2-1 decision from the Lostine negative and lost by 2-1 to the Grants Pass affirmative team.

All Are Previous Winners.

Each of the three teams now remaining in the contest has won the cup at least once and Salem has won the trophy twice in previous years. The cup will become the permanent property of the Salem school if it is won by them again. Corvallis won the series last year and the Eugene team captured the prize several years ago. The finals of this series will be tomorrow afternoon.

The members of the Salem debate team are Robert Littler, Don Worden, Ralph Bailey, Ward Southworth, and Harry Savage, coach. Corvallis is represented by Robert Kerr, Helen Humphrey, Howard Hammer, Blair Stewart, and W. P. Black, coach. Irish Riots Tame Alongside '97 Junior Week-End Doings

The history of Junior Week-end may be divided into two periods; the period of destruction (1897-1903) and the period of construction which began in 1903 and continues up to the present time. The period of destruction gets its name from the battles staged between the juniors and the sophomores on the event of the raising of the junior flag. The latter period, or period of construction, came about when the two fighting factions agreed to a truce and determined to devote the time they had hitherto given to fighting, to cleaning up and improving the campus.

What we know now as Junior Week-end was known in the eighties and the early nineties as Junior Day, and was founded by Professor Luella Clay Carson. This day was generally held on the third Friday in May, and the program for several years consisted in orations made by the members of the junior class, some musical selections and perchance a banquet. In order to give a deeper significance to the day, the juniors determined to raise, on the flagpole which was situated close to the northwest corner of Villard hall, a flag bearing their class colors. Thus one more attraction was added to Junior Day, namely, the flag raising ceremony which generally took place in the morning.

This ceremony, however, did not long

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA AND A. T. O. WIN CANOE FETE

With "Forest Fantasy" as the title of their canoe, the Kappa Kappa Gamma girls won the women's cup in the canoe fete last night on the mill race. Alpha Tau Omega won the men's cup, with the float, "The Spirit of the Sea."

COME AND LAUGH, IS SENIOR PLAY MOTTO

Humor Plentiful In "Nothing But the Truth."

Two performances of the senior class play, "Nothing But the Truth," will be given tomorrow night at the Eugene theatre. The firsts how will begin at 7:45 and the "Midnight Matinee" will be staged at 10:15. The permission of the faculty has been secured to stage the second show in order that all of the students, guests and Eugene citizens who wish to see the show may have the opportunity.

The line for tickets started this morning at 10 o'clock and late this afternoon, with several houses in line, it was decided that the best way to award tickets was to stage a lottery. In the drawing this afternoon each campus organization and the halls of residence were represented. Each was allowed 25 tickets. It was then decided that two shows would be put on in order that the entire campus and others wishing tickets could be accommodated. There will be no reserved seats for the second show. First come, first served. From the interest manifested today there will be capacity houses for both performances.

Dress Rehearsal Good.

Dress rehearsal was held last night and the lines went very well. It is expected that the production tomorrow night will surpass previous plays of this nature in both humor of the plot and in production.

A sincere effort has been made to allow all those wishing to see the play, do so. It is suggested that houses having a great many guests divide them between the two performances. Kappa Theta Chi, which held first place in the line this morning, was dropped to 28th, next to the bottom in the drawing this afternoon.

There are so many clever situations in the action that it would be useless to try to tell about them, however it is sufficient to quote the motto which has been adopted by the publicity agents of the play, "If you don't want to laugh, stay away."

One of the best features of the play is that the parts are so well balanced, practically all of the so-called "minor characters" showing up in as good shape

BRITAIN DOES MUCH TO AID INDIA, SAYS BISHOP TO STUDENTS

Alleged Oppression Said to Be Nothing Compared With Pre-English Regime.

STUNTZ HAS CRITICISM FOR SHALLOW CRITICS

Methodist Authority Points to Christianization of Millions In Orient.

"Governments are just as divine as churches," declared Bishop Homer Clyde Stuntz in his dynamic talk to the students at student assembly yesterday, in which he praised England for bringing to India a state of "absolute order."

To carry out God's program as laid down by Christ, said the bishop, is the biggest contract human mind ever conceived of, a gigantic undertaking, beside which all man-made plans sink into infantile proportions. Involving as it does not only the Christianizing of heathen peoples, but the convincing of millions of the pagan faith, Buddhism and others, it is a stupendous task into which comes much that may at first appear like cruelty and oppression. As an example of this, he cited Leopold of Belgium, in Africa. Leopold is said to have been a cruel tyrant, said the speaker, but he was like a Sunday school teacher compared with what went before him. By his rule, he did away with many superstitious beliefs and cruelties of the worst kind, and left an improved condition.

Mogul Rule Assailed.

"God has to move in big ways, and move slowly," said the bishop. He pointed out other instances in the world's history which are sometimes referred to as conquests and oppressions, when in reality, the conditions following them have been great improvements on the preceding state. This, he declared, is the case with England's control of India. He reviewed briefly the history of India, pointing out the 800-year rule of the Mogul empire which he characterized as a "carnival of cruelty."

"Over against these centuries of unimaginable cruelty, oppression and waste," he said, "stands 62 years of absolute order under British rule." The greatest thing we have to be thankful

EVERYBODY WORK, IS CAMPUS DAY SLOGAN

Senior Cops Will Duck All Local Bolsheviks.

The rumor that only freshmen were to work during the occasion of campus cleanup this morning was very unofficial, according to Art Campbell, who is in charge. According to time-honored traditions, "everybody works," either voluntarily or under compulsion, as a force of some 60 senior cops, under the experienced leadership of "Slim" Crandall, will be on the job with paddles and with a fountain full of water. Any campus I. W. W. or other dissenter will be subjected to the cooling effects of this much-used piece of campus furniture.

Work starts promptly at 9 o'clock, and all men are to be at the designated meeting places at that time. Anyone in doubt as to where to go can find out by referring to Wednesday's Emerald. Due to the large number of laborers available, and the efficient application of them which has been planned, the campus will be completely rejuvenated in time for everyone to take part in the campus luncheon at noon.

The work planned for this morning includes tearing down the old track shed, and moving the bleachers from Kincaid field to Hayward field. New walks will be constructed around Hayward. The old bath houses, dressing rooms, and tank at the Anchorage will be cleaned up.

Donald Shepard, superintendent of grounds, will have a man with each committee in order to see that all the work is carried out properly, and according to general plan.

Various men of the junior class have been appointed to take charge of groups of the student laborers. These men will oversee the work and report any absences to the senior cops, who will administer punishment, as has been done in years past.

PRELIMINARY HEATS IN BOTH DASHES AND HURDLES OFF TODAY

Washington Team Arrived Yesterday, Others Come Today.

LARGE CROWDS FROM O. A. C. ARE EXPECTED

Changes In Officials For Meet Are Necessary at the Last Moment.

The preliminaries in the two dashes and the two hurdle races of the Pacific Coast Conference track meet will be run off this afternoon at 3 o'clock. These are the only events in which the preliminaries will be required. The Washington track team arrived yesterday at noon and the O. A. C. and W. S. C. teams will arrive today about the same time.

Graduate Manager Jack Benefiel has had his men working on the track constantly during the past few days and it is in the best possible shape for the preliminaries this afternoon. Seven men are entered for the 100 yard dash and nine in the 220 yard dash by the four colleges. The hurdles are also pretty well filled, and the preliminaries should be good.

Large Crowds Expected.

Large crowds are expected in from Corvallis today. The teams are evenly balanced and any one of the four has a chance to win. O. A. C. stands strong with Powell, Draper and Hobart in the lineup. The Aggies also have a lot of men good for second, third and fourth places. Washington figures high with her sprinters and Gus Pope to use in the weights. W. S. C. has Jenne in the pole vault and the high jump, and Oregon has Walkley in the mile, Tuck in the javelin and Bowles in the broad jump. The team which is able to put over the smaller places will win with the firsts split as they are.

Two changes in the list of officials have been made. Robert Johnson and J. M. Reynolds will not be able to be present and their places have been filled by Hal Donnelly and George Bates. The officials will be the only ones allowed on the oval, according to Coach Bill Hayward, of the Oregon team, who is director of the meet. All the officials will wear white flannel trousers as is the custom of the officials during the Olympic meets.

Tickets Going Fast.

The tickets are going in good shape for the meet and the stands will be filled. Men in all of the campus organizations are selling and all are reporting favorably. The Y. M. C. A. will carry tickets for those men not living in organizations, and they will be on sale there today. Walter Cofoid is in charge of selling. The men handling them in the various houses are: A. T. O., Ralph Couch; Bachelor, Dan Welch; Beta, Walter Cofoid; Chi Psi, George Shirley; Delta Tau, Kenneth Smith; Delta Theta Phi, Maurice Eben; Friendly Hall, Clyde Davis; Kappa Sig, Al Krohn; Kappa Theta Chi, James Say; Phi Delta Theta, Wilbur Hoyt; Fiji, Harry Hollister; Phi Sigma Pi, Carlton Logan; S. A. E., Harry Mayer; Sigma Chi, Vic Bradson; Sigma Nu, Bob Sheppard.

Records May Be Broken.

There is a good chance that a number of Pacific Coast Conference track records will be broken in the Saturday events. Tuck is sure to break the javelin record, and Pope, of Washington, looks good to break the discus event. In the two mile contest will be between Hobert, of O. A. C., and Washburn, of W. S. C., both of these are fast and one is nearly sure to lower the two mile record. Hurley, of Washington, may knock off a few notches in the low hurdles also. Jenne, of W. S. C., will make a try at the pole vault record.

A press stand is being placed at the finish mark in order that the various newspaper representatives will have good positions. The Portland newspapers are sending down special men and the meet will get plenty of publicity.

The rain of the last few days has not damaged the track, and rain will not call off the meet, although it may slow up the events. The weight men usually go better on a warm day, and the runners loosen up easier. The rain may prevent the participants from breaking the records that are now expected to go.

Coach Bill Hayward has not determined his list of entries as yet. He still has 15 men to cut down to 12. The other teams have not sent word as yet which men they will use.

LEADING CHARACTERS IN SENIOR PLAY TONIGHT

Marian Taylor, as Gwen, leading woman.

Johnny Houston, as Bob, leading man.

The first show for "Nothing But the Truth" will start tonight at 7:45 at the Eugene theatre. The midnight matinee will start at 10:15 p. m. Reserved seats are being sold for the first show only. The second show is a case of "first come, first served." Houses have drawn for places in line at the ticket window, which opens at 10 this morning. The two shows will be given so that both guests and students can be accommodated at the theatre.

TWO SINGLES WON BY OREGON FROM W.S.C.

Smith and Westerman Take Matches Yesterday.

Just after Smith and Westerman, of Oregon, succeeded in beating Bates and Levy, of California, in the first game of the first doubles set in the Pacific Coast Conference tennis meet yesterday afternoon, the rain began to fall and the set was postponed until today.

The tournament started with a number of fast single sets, in which the Lemon-Yellow was victorious. Harry Westerman, Oregon, took Webber, W. S. C. star, into camp in two sets, score 6-4, and 6-3, while Kep Smith, Oregon, also took a couple from the Cougars when he defeated Heald, 6-2 and 6-3.

Following true to predictions both of the Bear players are showing up well. They played several exhibition games before the contests opened and their driving ability was almost lightning-like. Local dopsters have given them the meet, with Stanford coming up about second. More conservative prophets say that the Sun Dodgers may figure in the finals.

In his match with Taylor, of Washington, Bates, of California, took the first set from the northerner without allowing him a game and also grabbed off the second by a score of 6-3. His partner, Levy, raked Joy, of the Aggie pair, over the coals to a tune of 6-1 in a couple of sets.

No definite schedule has been planned for today and weather conditions will determine the time of the meet.

OREGON STUDENTS WIN

Walter Church and John Stanton Get Prizes at Boston Tech.

Walter Church, '16, and John Stanton, formerly of the University's extension class in architecture in Portland, both students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, were winners of two prizes offered recently by the Boston Society of Architects, according to a letter received by Dean Ellis Lawrence, of the school of agriculture.

The prizes of $50 each, were offered to students of the Institute of Technology for the best designs for a pulpit suited to a highly ornamented church interior, one prize to be given to the work of a regular student, the other to that of a special student. Church won the former, Stanton the latter. Irving Smith, Oregon, 1920, offered so good a design that the faculty of the institute voted him a second place.

DOPE ON AGGIE GAME HERE THIS AFTERNOON SHOWS EVEN CHANCE

W. S. C. and Washington Both Beaten By Each Opposing Team.

RICHARDSON HAS MANY TWIRLERS UP SLEEVE

Second Contest Is Scheduled For 10 o'Clock Friday Morning.

It's an absolute tossup as to who'll win the game this afternoon on Cemetery Ridge, when Bohler's diamond dusters rattle with Jimmy Richardson's aggregation of pill handlers in the first game of the two-game series between Oregon and O. A. C., which will feature the week-end.

At present indications, if there be indications, the umpire of the game will be none other than old Jupe Pluvius, he who squelches such championship games by turning in the cold water. Old Sol may not even get a look-in on the series unless he breaks forth early today with a few good streaks. At that, however, most baseball devotees are willing to wager that the mist won't get so heavy as to prohibit nine innings of clouts and catches.

Dope Even.

As to the dope which always precedes such events as annual Oregon-O. A. C. mixes, there isn't a great deal, and what there is doesn't get one anywhere. O. A. C. took one game from the University of Washington. But so did Bohler's crew. O. A. C. took one game from W. S. C. But so did Bohler's crew. All told, dope points to a close mixup this afternoon and again tomorrow morning at ten bells.

As to the lineups of the two teams, indications are that Bohler will use much the same combination as he used against the sluggers from up Pullman way. "Jake" Jacobson, Rolla Gray, Art Berg, and Carl (Homerun) Knudsen—one of these flingers will feature in the box this afternoon when the umpire announces who throws the ball to the catcher.

Richardson Has Twirlers.

As for Slippery Jimmy Richardson, he has several husky twirlers up his sleeve, either one of whom he may slip into the box. Bert Babb, Emmett Hughes and "Lefty" Miller are the heavies whom Jimmy has in store, any of whom are ready to start the initial game. The twirler to be used by Richardson depends a great deal on which flinger Bohler starts. Also vice versa. The same for tomorrow's game.

Today's matinee is the first of a four-game series between Oregon and O. A. C. The second is tomorrow at 10, and the remaining duo will be played at Corvallis next week-end.

Next baseball fans who delight in ragging the umps will be provided with a duet of officials today on whom to exercise their voices. Leo (Frisco) Edwards, he of the weak shin fame, will wear the mask behind the bat, while one Childers, said to have won fame in pro circles, will play tag around the bases.

Oregon Outfield Safe.

Zimmerman, Gamble and Knudsen seem safe for the Oregon outfield, while Base, Beller or Collins, Reinhart, and Jacobberger or Svarverud will handle the infield, according to the non-committal press reports emanating from Coach Bohler's headquarters. Leslie, of course, will jerk the fast ones off the bat.

For the Aggies, Duffy or Gill will handle the receiving end, with Keene on first, Hubbard at second, McKenna at short, and Kasberger on third. Jimmy will name his outfield from Summers, Noonan, Hartman and Shade. Play ball!
