

WOMEN TO RECEIVE LETTERS ON MAY 28

Winning Teams In Two Baseball Leagues to Play.

TROPHIES ARE READY

Canoe Race Victors and Tennis Champions Get Awards.

Woman's field day, Saturday, May 28, will see the awarding of the trophies and letters by the Woman's Athletic association to the champions in the final games and tournaments which will be played on that day. All arrangements for the day's program have not yet been completed, according to Ollie Stoltenberg, president of the Woman's Athletic association, but a number of final games are scheduled to take place.

The two winning baseball teams from the doughnut league will play for the cup. There are so many entries for the doughnut games that the teams were divided into two leagues, the winning team of each to compete in the finals. The preliminaries are being played off at present. The Woman's Athletic association will award letters on Field Day to the winning teams, and it is probable that the varsity team will be picked at that time. The association is trying to arrange for a game with O. A. C., according to its president.

Canoe Races Plan.

The preliminaries in the canoe races will be run off by field day, and the winning teams will race for the championship. Paddles will be awarded to the victorious team. The competition for the championship is unusually keen this year, Miss Stoltenberg says.

A bow will be awarded to the victor in the archery tournament. The contestants will be the class winners.

The tennis elimination tournaments are being played off, and the two winners in the preliminaries will compete for the trophy, a racquet, in the final championship tournament.

The Woman's Athletic association will award letters on field day to the champion basketball and hockey teams. The sweaters which the student body awarded to the girls' varsity basketball team, Miss Stoltenberg says, have not yet arrived.

Woman's Assembly.

There will be a woman's assembly, at which the various letters and trophies will be awarded. The nominations committee for next year's Woman's Athletic association will probably make its report at this assembly. "Officers will be appointed on their merits only," says Miss Stoltenberg. "Each must have the number of points prescribed by the constitution of the W. A. A." These points are given for athletic ability, posture, work in class teams, etc.

Field day activities are all under the direction of the association. Heads of the different sports, who have charge of the games are: Basketball, Charlotte Howells; baseball, Alice Evans; track, Emily Perry; archery, Vivian Chandler; canoeing, Phoebe Gage; hockey, Carolyn Cannon.

Little Ty Kept Busy Recording Records In Red

The dean of liberal arts has a penchant for odd things: He likes very old ladies, musical instruments, and doves. As to doves he does indeed, spend all his leisure hours with some African ones that he imported from a San Francisco zoo to his barn on Eleventh street.

His newest treasure is kept in his office. It is called Tycoos, which, translated, means a recording thermometer. The dean winds Ty up, dips her little finger into red ink, and away she goes, painting her face with an ineffaceable record.

Little Ty has at least two points of interest. First she records the same heat day and night, Sunday and week days. But her perverseness, rather pleases the dean than not. He is said to like a woman of spirit.

Secondly, little Ty is to be lent out to other offices and classrooms for a week's time each to help discover whether heat is needlessly wasted in University buildings. A subsidiary point, under number two, is that little Ty must now distinguish between natural and artificial heat, since the onrush of spring makes the artificial kind a little scarce until next October. But she can do it. Let no one suppose that she will have to lay off uselessly for six months.

Last week the discipline committee met in Dean Dymont's room. Two hours later it was discovered that little Ty had recorded a great, red, gory smear instead of her usual trim line.

MRS. GERLINGER IS GUEST.

Mrs. George Gerlinger, woman regent of the University, is the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Colin V. Dymont for the week-end.
