HOME RUN KNUDSEN MAY NOT MIX WITH AGGIES IN CONTESTS

Team Will be Weakened by Absence of Steller Outfielder

BOHLER IS SILENT, AS USUAL, ABOUT TOSSERS

Art Berg Is Most Likely Man For Box; Has Pitched Two Straight.

With "Home Run" Knudsen on the sick list and his appearance uncertain in the varsity lineup which meets the Oregon Agricultural College nine in a two-game series Friday and Saturday of this week, prospects do not seem overly bright for the Lemon-Yellow ball tossers.

At present Knudsen has poison oak, and unless his condition mends speedily he will probably not make the trip. His loss will be keenly felt by the team, as Carl is not only one of the best gardeners in the conference, but he is also a mighty son of "Swat" and leads the Oregon sluggers in hitting. If Knudsen doesn't play either "Bill" Collins or "Hube" Jacobberger will have a chance to show their wares in right field.

Coach Bohler is noncommittal in regard to the lineup he intends to send against the Aggies but the positions will probably be held down by the same men with the possible exception of Knudsen that performed against the collegians on the Right last Saturday. Base, Beller, Rheinhardt and Svarverud in the infield, and Gamble, Zimmerman, Knudsen, Collins or Jacobberger in the gardens.

Pitchers Not Announced.

Bohler wouldn't pick his pitchers in advance, but if the weather remains fair Art Berg will, in all probability mount the mound for the varsity in the initial contest with either "Jake" Jacobson or Rollo Gray at the helm in the final session while "Spike" Leslie will handle the receiving end. There is of course a possibility that Berg will do the twirling in both games at Corvallis. Art pitched them both last year on the enemy's soil, winning his first start and losing his second on errors. In any event it will be Berg's last appearance under the Lemon-Yellow banner and judging from the way he mowed the Aggies batsmen last week he should pitch some mighty smooth ball. In sixteen innings, last Saturday, the star portwheeler retired seventeen batsmen on strikes, allowed eight hits and issued but two free trips to first.

O.A.C. Lineup Same

"Slippery Jim" Richardson's aggregation is billed to line up about as they did in Eugene, with "Spec" Keene, Hubbard, McKenna and Taste cavorting around the sacks and Moonan, Hartman, Summers and Parkinson working in the field. Gill and Duffy will handle the receiving, while "Bert" Babb, "Lefty" Miller and Emmett Huges are slated for the heaving. Babb seems almost sure to be in the box Friday as he has a good record against the varsity last week. Babb allowed but five hits and struck out eight of the University swatters. He also is credited with a one hit, eleven inning contest against the slugging Cougars which the Aggies took over 2-1.

It's a tossup between Hughes and Miller for Saturday's game, both are good men with lots of stuff on the ball and both of them worked against the locals Saturday.

Dope Is Even.

The series on the home lot which the teams split, the varsity taking over the first 3-2 and the Aggies coming out on top in the second 5-4, didn't help the dope any and the most favorable prediction would be for an even break in games at Corvallis. Both teams have practically the same record against the strong northern nines, each team having succeeded in defeating Washington State and the University of Washington once in a four game series. While Coach Bohler is not optimistic over the outcome of the games, even with the possible absence of the hardhitting Knudsen, hopes to take at least one of the contests from the collegians.

PLEDGING IS ANNOUNCED.

Delta Zeta announces the pledging of Gertrude Andrae, of Portland.

George Hug Refuses To Accept Position As Graduate Manager

George Hug will not be graduate manager here next year. Definite information to that effect was received by Carlton Savage, student president, yesterday afternoon by phone from Salem. Hug will return the contract tendered him unsigned, and will remain at Salem as superintendent of public schools.

Reasons for the refusal of the offer are lacking, according to Savage, except that Hug said that the school board at Salem refused to accept his resignation which was to take effect on June 1, and requested that he fill out his term until September, as his original contract with the Salem authorities stipulated. Other reasons were that Hug preferred his present position to that of graduate manager here, and that it was practically impossible for him to make arrangements to move to Eugene.

According to present plans, another graduate manager will be elected next week by the old athletic council and executive committees. A call will probably be issued for next Tuesday, according to Savage. There are still several candidates for the position he declares.

DELTS PASS OUT BIG DEFEAT TO PHI SIGS

Base Running is Tiresome; Score 26 to 9

Delta Tau Delta nearly duplicated the feat of Friendly hall yesterday evening by handing the Phi Sigma Pi aggregation a drubbing to the tune of 26 to 9. The entire game was unmarred by any perfect fielding, and was continued but five innings due to the boys getting tired running down passed balls. All attempts by the Phi Sigs to tire out the Deltas by allowing them to exhaust themselves running around the sacks were frustrated by substitutions. The Phi Sigs might have used substitutes, but he was out of town.

The scores still resemble the latest tax reports, and unless something is done before the sand lot series end, or a house turns out a real team, the games must be started after lunch in order that the schedule of seven innings may be maintained. It has been suggested that no inning be permitted to last over an hour, thus helping to eliminate the necessity of purchasing an adding machine. The lineup follows:

Beaverc..... Cooper
Kearns1b..... Allen
Smith2b..... Lapham
Woodruffss..... Gregg
Twinning3f..... Anderson

INSTRUCTOR ADDED TO MILITARY STAFF

Captain Lewis, of Army of Occupation, Is Member; Experience Is Wide.

Arrangements have been completed with the war department to detail Captain Francis C. Lewis as assistant instructor in military science and tactics at the University of Oregon. Captain Lewis has recently returned from overseas, where he has been with the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine.

Captain Lewis has had a great deal of military experience. He began as a private in the national guard of California, and worked up through corporalship to the officer of battalion sergeant-major. Upon graduating from the first officers' training camp at the Presidio of San Francisco, he was commissioned as second lieutenant. He was attached to the 63rd infantry for duty at once, was commissioned as second lieutenant in the regular army October 26, 1917, and promoted to the grade of first lieutenant on the same date. After remaining on duty with the 63rd infantry until August 28, 1919, he was then transferred to the 5th infantry, which regiment he accompanied to Germany.

Captain Lewis was born in North Dakota and is now 29 years old.

TWO DEPARTMENTS OFFER PH. D. WORK TO MEET NEW NEED

Graduate School Standards Placed On High Plane In Past Year.

69 NOW ENROLLED IN SPECIAL COURSES

Summer Term to Emphasize Advanced Work In Eugene Division.

There is an increasing demand for graduate work in all lines because of the fact that high schools are asking that their teachers have some graduate training. A college education is becoming so common that it is losing its former prestige and now one must have some graduate work in order to be considered distinctive in the educational world.

To meet this demand, the University of Oregon has done much during the past year in the way of systematizing its work, regulating graduate requirements and making the graduate school an essential part of the University. One notable achievement has been that the departments of psychology and physics have been authorized to offer graduate work leading to the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Must Meet Requirements.

Any department wishing to offer work above the master's degree must meet certain very definite requirements, these including a department staff large enough to allow ample time to be devoted to both graduate and undergraduate work the training of the department staff as well as a history of its scientific productivity both as to books and articles. The department must show that there is sufficient literature in the library to cover the needs of graduate work in that department and also, in cases of laboratory work, that there is sufficient laboratory equipment to carry on graduate work in the department. In addition to this, the department must present a comparison of the facilities of the department and the staff training with similar departments in other institutions that have been offering graduate work for some time.

Education Is Studied.

Another notable achievement of the graduate school has been the careful study of higher education in Oregon and the northwest, and familiarizing students in the school with the graduate and undergraduate work being done in other colleges and universities.

Beginning this summer, a change will be noted in the summer school work. There will be no graduate work offered in Portland and emphasis will be placed on graduate work in the Eugene division.

The University now offers between 20 and 25 graduate assistantships and many applications have already been received for these from students in other colleges. Several students of the University this year will remain for graduate work next year.

During the present year a total of 69 students have been doing graduate work under the direction of the University and a marked increase in the number is expected for next year.

AIRPLANE FILLS GAP IN TRAIN SCHEDULE

W. D. Whitcomb Would Not Be Late to Installation Banquet of Beta Alpha Psi.

Impossible train schedules mean nothing to W. D. Whitcomb, of Portland, when it comes to getting to a banquet in time. Business in his home town detained him until 4 o'clock, three hours before he was to aid in the installation of Beta Alpha Psi, accounting fraternity in Eugene.

Rather than cause his hosts any inconvenience by delaying the banquet, Mr. Whitcomb proceeded to charter an airplane, and dropped in on his friends in time for the dinner.

Mr. Whitcomb is a member of the Oregon state board of accountants, and of Beta Alpha Psi. Arthur Berridge, another practicing accountant who participated in the installation last night, drove down from Portland during the day.

A special luncheon will be served at a joint meeting of all the commerce fraternities will be held this noon, with members of Phi Theta Kappa, women's commerce fraternity, as hostesses.

Colonel Leader Strong for Oregon; Likes Girls Best and Treats Reporters Fine

It isn't often that an ex-doughboy receives a friendly slap on the back from the hand of a colonel or is allowed the somewhat unusual privilege of quizzing the C. O. concerning his opinions, but it can happen—not with many of these regimental chiefs but a rare exception appears now and then, such as Colonel John Leader, popular and genial campus commandant during the war days, who yesterday was stalked and corralled in the "Ad" building by a campus news gatherer.

Knowing the ex-British colonel of infantry only by verbal description and printed war record, and expecting to see an O. D. color-scheme and Sam Browne belt and perhaps a monocle, the reporter nearly lost his quarry when he failed to connect the laughing and debonaire gentleman issuing from the President's office with the fighting colonel of the Royal Irish Rifles and the strict disciplinarian of the Oregon cadet battalion.

"The Oregon Daily Emerald? Sure, I've heard of the bally sheet," was the colonel's stentorian reply to the interviewer's statement of his mission, and the answer was accompanied by an iron hand grasp, the previously mentioned slap on the back and the winning smile that needs no description to those of the faculty or students who were on the campus during the training period.

The former soldier who, as a British attache, has served in the armies of six nations and has seen active service in many of England's wars in various parts of the world, and today is forced to walk with the aid of a cane as a result of his work on the battlefields of France, modestly declined to discuss his own exploits, but insisted upon speaking in glowing and enthusiastic terms of his last command, the Oregon cadet battalion of 1918.

"There were just 300 male students at this University when I arrived here," declared the colonel, "and every last one of them was in training; we had 100 per cent turn-out and this original group was directly responsible for the thorough training of over 4000 men in the state of Oregon."

This was the longest connected statement of the colonel's half-hour talk, as he frequently interrupted his running comment upon campus war days to leap up and greet some member of the administration staff, and this meeting generally took the form of the one received by the reporter. This friendly salutation was somewhat modified in the case of a feminine member of the staff who approached but it was none the less enthusiastic and as she left the former commandant declared himself as an ardent admirer of the Oregon co-ed.

"Do you know what those girl students did for us here on the campus while we were getting into war condition?" he questioned. "Our battalion

MUSICAL TRIO TO PLAY FOR ASSEMBLY TODAY

Cello, Piano and Violin Make Up Group; Gertrude Hoerber Back From Chautauqua Tour.

Preceding the address of Colonel John Leader who will talk to the assembled student body this morning on "An Oregonian in Europe," a musical program of unusual merit has been announced for the first part of the assembly period. A string trio consisting of Gertrude Hoerber, of Portland, Ralph Hoerber, and Reuben C. Goffreiere will entertain with several selections.

Gertrude Hoerber, sister of Ralph Hoerber, senior in economics, has but recently returned from an extended trip through New Zealand under the auspices of the Ellison-White chautauqua circuit and reports from the antipodes speak in glowing terms of her talent and technique with the violin. Ralph Hoerber will play the cello and Reuben Goffreiere will be at the piano.

The address of Colonel Leader will concern his recent trip to Europe, and numerous intimate views of the situation in Ireland and the present civil conflict will form part of his talk to the students. The colonel, an Irishman himself and deeply interested in conditions that somewhat involved his own estate, during his investigations had unusual opportunity to see and hear many things that shed light on the reasons for the present state of strife.

OFFICERS NOMINATED BY WOMAN'S LEAGUE; ELECTION ON TODAY

Voting From 2 to 5, Helen Nelson and Ella Rawlings Out for President.

NEW CLUB ROOMS ARE USED FOR FIRST TIME

Invitation to Use Woman's Building is Extended by Dean Fox

NOMINATIONS.

President—Ella Rawlings, Helen Casey.
Vice-president, — Margaret Smith, Mae Ballack.
Secretary—Marion Gillis, Margaret Jackson.
Treasurer—Charlotte Howe, Bernice Altstock.
Editor—Nancy Wilson, Iantha Smith.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Mary Alexander, La Verne Spitzenberg.

At the last meeting of the year, and the first meeting of the Woman's League in their new club rooms in the Woman's building, nominations for officers for next year were made. The nominating committee submitted the names of the candidates chosen, no one was nominated from the floor. The polls will be open on this afternoon from 2 to 5 in Villard hall.

Vivian Chandler, retiring president, called the meeting to order and thanked the girls for their splendid co-operation in making the opening of the Woman's building such a success.

President Campbell Speaker.

President Campbell attended this "history-making event," as Dean Fox termed it, and spoke to the girls. "This first meeting in your new club rooms is a sort of dedication of future service by the Woman's League. I am glad to see that the gathering is so informal. This habit of drinking tea at meetings is either making us English, Russian or Bolshevik," he said.

The Mary Spiller scholarship maintained by the alumni of the University was the thing that the president wished to present to the girls. Mrs. Spiller was formerly preceptress at Oregon and this memorial was founded by graduates who remembered her. First as a memorial, and secondly to offer an opportunity for worthy young women to make their way through college. Each senior girl is urged to join the alumni association by paying a fee of $1 and thus do her share to help the fund along. Miss Chandler appointed a committee to attend to this. They are Edna Hyde, Helen Casey, Irene Whitfield, Alice Lightner.

Building May Be Used.

Dean Fox then outlined some suggestions that she had to make in regard to the use of the Woman's building. The women's club rooms may be used informally at any time by notifying Mrs. Wilson, hostess of the building, she said. The alumni rooms are to be open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., but are to be used only for formal things. Any organization wishing to obtain the sun parlor and small dancing room to entertain in may do so. They may use the alumni rooms to receive in, but other people will not be kept out.

The two rooms on the ground floor are for the use of the faculty men and women, however the students may feel free to use them all. On Sundays the building will be open from 2 to 5 and will be in charge of a student hostess. Arrangements have been made for girls to relieve Mrs. Wilson for a portion of every day. These girls will be hostess for the time she is there and will be responsible for the conduct of people visiting.

Dean Fox read parts of a letter from Miss Louise Ehrmann, former acting dean of women, congratulating the students and faculty upon the completion of the Woman's building.

PLAY SCHEDULE IS OFF

One-act Guild Productions Discontinued For Season.

The series of one-act plays scheduled for Friday night in Guild theatre will not be given at that time, according to an announcement from the department, and due to the lateness of the season it is hardly possible that a schedule will be found for their production this spring.
