JACK BENEFIEL.

The election of Jack Benefiel as graduate manager should prove satisfactory to everyone. Natural differences of opinion should not prevent everyone from realizing that the election of Benefiel means that out of a list of several candidates, he was picked as the most capable of filling the position.

The Emerald cannot but feel that the election of Benefiel, coming after many other possible candidates were considered, is ample proof that Benefiel is the best man. It will be remembered that when the matter of electing a new graduate manager first came up, the Emerald requested that an effort on the part of the athletic council be made to seek candidates for the position rather than vote the office to one candidate because his was the only name which was presented or to have only a small list of men who had little qualifications for the office except that they needed the job.

Benefiel has the qualifications which the Emerald deems important. He is familiar with the routine duties of the position, and will thus be able to save the associated students money in the conduct of its affairs during his first year. He is familiar with the new constitution and is thus able to help work out the changes in the student government by that pact.

Like every student who has been prominent in student activities while in school, Benefiel is not popular with some few students. But the reasons for this apparent unpopularity are not based on things which make him unfit for graduate manager, and they will be forgotten before he has finished his first year in the new office.

More than any of the other candidates for the office, Benefiel is a believer in publicity. He is much the same type as Darwin Meisnest, of Washington, and Jimmy Richardson, of O. A. C.—young and aggressive. He is now more popular with publicity channels in the northwest than any graduate manager here has been for many years. And that qualification counts for a great deal.

The spirit of fair competition, based upon only the most honorable principles will be fostered by Benefiel. Given his chance, he is sure to make good.

The last Emerald of the year, out June 4, to be known as the "Thirty" edition, will contain 20 pages—the largest Emerald ever issued. Five four-page sections, devoted to general news, editorial, activities, administration and sports, enlivened by pictures and features, will be included. Take a copy home or send it to a friend.

SIGMA NUS NOT ABLE TO FATHOM PITCHING

Kappa Theta Chi Twirler Has Opposing Players at His Mercy; Score Ends 20-2.

The Sigma Nu baseball nine was treated to a 20-2 defeat by the Kappa Theta Chi team yesterday afternoon on the varsity diamond. Evans, the Kappa Chi twirler, baffled the opposing sluggers with his hot delivery, but Dudley, his adversary in the box, was not so fortunate. Several free rides were issued by him to first sack, the rest of the team getting on through bingles and short hits. The winners managed to score in five innings out of the seven played, their highest number of runs at one time being seven, which they annexed in the first canto.

The Sigma Nu aggregation scored their first run in the fourth when Morfitt stole home on the pitcher's windup. Their second and last score was made in the sixth when Dudley winged out a three-bagger into right field, bringing Parsons home. Not to be outdone by this three-bagger the Kappa Chis staged a comeback the next inning. Say came to bat and knocked out a home run into left field and Bell followed with another into the right garden.

WEDDING CAKE ORDERED

Household Arts Class Has Request; Time of Delivery Indefinite.

The cooking class of the household arts department has received an order for a wedding cake. It is not yet known exactly when this is to be used, but according to Miss Lillian Tingle, "a well-regulated wedding cake gets itself made about the time that a well-regulated engagement is announced. A cake can be made about six months or a year and gets better all the time." According to rumor this cake will be used a little before it has reached its height of perfection.

The girls of this class have also been taking advantage of the low price of eggs and are making sunshine and angel-food cakes, some of them to fill orders.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED FOR NEWMAN CLUB

Father O'Hara Raising $10,000 For Campus Center.

A state-wide campaign to raise $10,000 has been started by Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara to pay for the Phi Delta Theta house which was recently purchased by the Newman club, a campus organization of Catholic students, for their club rooms.

Father O'Hara has distributed through committees, one thousand booklets containing ten subscription blanks of one dollar each, and it is in this way that he expects to raise the money.

One of the main features of the building will be a library of several thousand books. Lists are being compiled now of books that will cover all the subjects taught in the University and the books will be for the use of the students. Besides these, there will be books of reference, history, fiction and all the fine arts.

A course of lectures will be given next winter in religious education for Catholic students and any others who are interested, and an additional course in history and literature which will be opened to all folks.

The University is the first college in Oregon to have a Newman hall. They were first organized at the University of California and are named after Cardinal Newman. The purpose of these clubs is to afford a meeting place for various organizations and social affairs.

It is expected that the club will be ready for use in the late summer.

WOMEN'S BASEBALL TEAM TO PLAY O. A. C.

Varsity Game Scheduled For Saturday Morning

The final women's baseball game of the season will be played here next Saturday morning, June 4, when the Oregon varsity meets the Oregon Agricultural College. The team has not been chosen as yet and will not be finally decided upon until the last of the week. Three or four candidates for each position are practicing every evening this week at 5 o'clock and competition for places on the team will undoubtedly be keen.

The game with O. A. C. will be the only intercollegiate game played this spring, but Miss Waterman, baseball coach, is highly pleased with the interest shown in the sport. More than 230 girls have taken part in the doughnut and class games. The class teams were chosen from the material brought out in the doughnut series and the varsity will be chosen from players who have been taking part in the games throughout the entire season.

"I think that baseball has had the most successful season of any sport this year," said Miss Waterman. "The girls were all interested in it and really played."

Florence Jagger is chairman of the committee to provide entertainment for the visiting team next Saturday. At present, the plans are to have a special luncheon in honor of the visitors and they will be special guests at the swimming program scheduled for next Saturday.

STATE AID BLANKS READY.

All state aid men must submit their attendance and scholarship reports (R. Form 61) on or before June 4 in order to have their claims paid before the close of the college year, according to notice issued yesterday at the registrar's office, and instructions have been sent to all instructors as to means of getting a full supply of blanks so that there will be no unnecessary delay in filing the state claims.
