OREGON'S 10 ENTRIES IN CONFERENCE MEET LEAVE FOR PULLMAN

No Hope of Winning Held Out For Lemon-Yellow Track Team.

WASHINGTON IS HELD AS PROBABLE WINNER

Smaller Schools to Split the Points; More Letters May Be Made.

Oregon's 10 entries, accompanied by Coach Bill Hayward, left yesterday to enter the northwest track meet, which is to be held at Pullman Saturday. Graduate Manager Jack Benefield and Manager John Palmer also made the trip.

The 10 who are to enter are Hemenway in the sprints, Sundeleaf and Collins in the quarter, Wyatt and Peltier in the 850, Walkley in the distance, Tuck and Strachan in the weights, Kuhnhausen in the hurdles, and Ingle in the pole vault and javelin.

Oregon is not conceded a chance to win the northwest meet, as the team lacks the individual point-getters of last season. Hank Foster and Leith Abbott made a pair last season that were able to amass nearly enough points between them to take the contest.

U. of W. Probable Winner.

The entrance of the University of Washington in the meet leaves little doubt as to the ultimate winner. The Sun Dodgers showed their strength at the Pacific coast meet at Eugene recently when they amassed a total of 60 points against a field composed of Oregon, O. A. C. and W. S. C. The Aggies placed second in this meet with 48 points, while Oregon took third with 36½. W. S. C. was only able to make 18½.

The fact that there will be a number of other smaller colleges entered in the meet will make a difference in the standings of the four teams who met here probably. Four places are to be counted in the meet, and these are sure to be split up between all entrants. Washington will be able to win in first if that team can do as well as in the former contest. Eight firsts out of a possible 15 was the record of the Sun Dodgers before O. A. C. took four firsts, Oregon two, W. S. C. one, W. S. C. claims to have a two miler who is a record breaker and who may be able to take one of the first places away from the Aggies this time.

Three May Get Letter.

Three men will have a chance to make their letters in the meet Saturday. Peltier has been sick considerably this season, and has not been in the best of shape, but in this meet he will have a chance to show his metal. Kuhnhausen will also get another chance to make his "O." Kuhnhausen has worked here all season, and has been in several meets, but has failed to make it as yet. He will have a good chance in the low hurdles Saturday. In the Pacific coast meet he fell at the start of the race and was unable to finish. The third man is Ingle. He will enter the pole vault and the javelin throw. Ingle jumps better than 11 feet which should place in the meet. Any point or fraction of a point is good for a letter in this contest.

The Oregon team will arrive in Seattle tomorrow and will work out on the track in the afternoon. The meet will be held Saturday, with possibly the Coach Hayward refused to prophesy preliminaries tomorrow.

SENIORS PLAY TONIGHT

"Nothing But the Truth" to Be Presented Before Salem Audience.

With Lyle Bartholomew, Everett Pixley and William Raiston as advance agents to conduct the advertising campaign, the senior class will present "Nothing But the Truth," the annual class play, in the Grand theatre in Salem, tonight.

The advance agents left yesterday afternoon and a report from them by telephone indicates that the ticket sale is going strong. The Salem alumni are behind the activity.

John Houston, director, reports that two rehearsals have been held this week and the play is in better shape for production than before. A new idea or two have been worked out for the setting. The players will leave this afternoon for the capital city.

FINAL EMERALD MAY BE LATE IN DELIVERY

Tomorrow morning the last Emerald of the year will go to press. Not only will it be the last, but it will be the largest of the year. Twenty pages, divided into five four-page sections—the largest Emerald ever issued—will comprise the final bow of the first year of the Oregon Daily Emerald.

Students are urged to make good use of their copies. It will readily be seen that such an edition is good advertising for the University of Oregon and its students. Send your copy home or to a friend.

Unavoidable delays may make it impossible for tomorrow's Emerald to be delivered on time. The full number of copies will be delivered to each organization as early as possible, and the usual number left for campus distribution at the Co-op.

ORCHESTRA PLEASES AT LAST REHEARSAL

Director Prophesies Good Concert Tonight.

The dress rehearsal by the University orchestra at the Eugene theater yesterday evening gives every indication of a successful program for tonight. Director Rex Underwood arranged the music for the jazz numbers and the violin quartet and he expressed himself as well satisfied with the results after last night's performance. "I am sure that the concert will measure up to the highest expectations of our audience," was Mr. Underwood's opinion at the conclusion of the rehearsal.

When the curtain rolls up tonight there will be something stirring in the way of music until the final curtain goes down. The program is arranged in such a way that no two similar numbers follow each other and no portion of the concert will be over-burdened with heavy or light compositions. There will be something for everyone who likes music.

The Roseburg News-Review comments on the spring concert of the orchestra in that city as follows:

"Each number rendered was greeted with prolonged applause. The special numbers were particularly pleasing, and brought forth as many encores as the performers would stand for. Among those were the tenor solo rendered by Frank Jue, the young Chinese singer. He is a real artist. The trombone solo was very pleasing, as was also the jazz sextette. The performance of the Potter sextette on the piano and violin was certainly worth the price of admission alone. The high school was very lucky in securing the orchestra and the whole community is hoping they may come again soon."

IMPORTANT MEN SPEAK TO COMMERCE MAJORS

Exceptional Opportunities As Offered By Salesmanship, Pointed Out to Students.

Two speakers of considerable importance made addresses at the school of commerce building yesterday, and brought important messages to the groups which they addressed, according to Dean E. C. Robbins.

R. Denny, of the Travelers Life Insurance Company, spoke on "Selling As a Profession." He said that salesmanship ranked with all other standard professions and that a good salesman was as much of an expert as a good doctor or lawyer. He was especially optimistic over the future of the insurance business.

H. M. Durston, of Portland, a representative of the Pacific Telephone Company, spoke to a half a hundred senior men in the school of business administration, telling them of the opportunities which are open to workers in the telephone business. Following his talk he consulted privately with individual students in regard to work with his company.

TO GIVE BACCALAUREATE.

Colin V. Dymont, dean of the college of literature, science and the arts, will deliver the baccalaureate address at Reed College in Portland on Sunday, June 5. Following the Reed commencement exercises next week, Dr. Richard Scholz will be formally inaugurated as the president of the college on Thursday, June 9.

NEW OFFICERS TAKE OATH; LAST MEETING OF A. S. U. O. HELD

Graduate Manager Makes Talk On Athletic Situa- tion For Next Year.

OREGANA GOOD MONEY MAKER, REPORT SHOWS

Schedule For Coming Sport Season Given; President Campbell Speaks.

The A. S. U. O. officers for the year 1921-22 took their oath of office yesterday morning at the last student body meeting of the year.

Lyle Bartholomew, the new president, in a short address, told of the plans for a Greater Oregon. Owing to the raising scholastic standards, there will be a natural tendency for the University to decrease in size, instead of growing, as it has done in the past. The only way to offset this effect, said the speaker, is to get in touch with graduating high school students, find out what courses they are interested in, and explain to them what Oregon has to offer in that particular line.

Students Wanted.

President Campbell also emphasized this point. "Just as the football men try to find the best football prospects, and track men are on the lookout for good track material; when you see a fine student, don't let him escape to some other institution. We need him here at Oregon."

The graduate manager's report by Jack Benefield, contained some interesting facts. The Oregana will clear between $500 and $900, it states. This is very encouraging, because for the past few years the annual has been losing money.

Football shows a balance in our favor of about $7000, the report continued, and basketball about $1600. Mr. Benefield states that the football schedule for next year is going to be poor as far as finances and students in general are concerned, although the team itself will get plenty of traveling. The game with O. A. C. will be the only big game on the home gridiron.

Schedule Given.

The games scheduled are as follows: Willamette University, at Salem; University of Idaho, at Portland; University of California, at Berkeley; Washington State College, at Pullman; Oregon Agricultural College, Eugene, and the game in the Hawaiian Islands. Several dates are still open, and a few minor games will be staged in Eugene.

The basketball schedule is practically the same as that of football, except that the University of Washington will play here, and possibly some California team.

It was announced that a bronze tablet had been placed in the new building of the school of business administration, and that each year the name of the student having the highest grades in that department would be inscribed on this tablet. The name of Elwyn Craven is to be the first one.

Harris Ellsworth asked the students to back up the Y. M. C. A. drive that is taking place on the campus this week; and Ralph Hoerber urged attendance at the orchestra concert at the Eugene theatre Friday night.

SECOND LIEUTENANTS WANTED FOR ARMY

From Twenty to Thirty Oregon Men Expected By Major Baird to Take Examination.

Major Raymond C. Baird, assisted by Major Rowland, will conduct examinations for second lieutenantcy in the regular army, according to a statement issued by the commandant yesterday.

"It is the desire of the government that as many college men as possible enroll in the army and we expect from 25 to 30 Oregon men to respond to the call," said Major Baird in discussing the situation.

The examinations will be conducted between now and June 12, when the majors will leave for Camp Lewis. Men are required to be citizens of the United States, 21 years of age and a member of the state militia, a reserve officer or a graduate of a university. Appointments will be made August 22 and those receiving them will be privileged to accept or not, just as they see fit.

Those interested in the idea should see Major Baird at once, according to an official bulletin issued yesterday.

University Mermaids Taught Clever Stunts; 186 Register for Instruction in Swimming

The University girl who makes a credit in swimming will have earned it, if she does the things required of her by Miss Catherine Winslow, instructor in swimming. A number of specific features of the water sport must be learned before credit will be granted, each of which will count for so many points in the determination of the final grade.

At the first of the term, 189 girls were registered in the swimming classes for credit under Miss Winslow and Miss Frances Moore, assistant instructor in swimming, in beginning, intermediate and advanced grades. Some of these have transferred to other courses, but many others have taken advantage of the opportunity for voluntary swimming on afternoons when the pool was not in class use.

"I am very much pleased with the interest shown in swimming," said Miss Winslow. "Every girl who registered as a beginner at the first of the term knows how to swim now."

For the beginning classes, the required "stunts" are rhythmic breathing, floating, "jolly fish," "turtle," sucking up an object in four feet of water, coasting on face and on back with push-off. They must also be able to swim the length of the tank (60 feet) in ten strokes; must know the breast, side and crawl stroke, with rhythmic breathing. Standing, fall and spring diving is required from the side of the tank and from the spring-board; also a running front dive, and surface dive in five feet of water. For the ability to do all these things, 150 points are allowed, but 110 points gives a grade of one and 70 is the minimum for passing.

The advanced swimmers must be able to swim around the tank five times and the intermediates three times without stopping. They should swim the length of the tank in eight back strokes, in 10 breast strokes and nine side strokes. They must know the single over arm or side stroke, must swim the length, using the trudgeon and back crawl, know four methods of towing and be able to cross the tank under water. Diving and rhythmic breathing are other requirements. The total points allowed are 140, but 120 points for the advanced and 80 for the intermediate swimmers will give a grade of one, while 85 and 50 points are required for passing.

EXTENSION DIVISION ADDS NEW COURSES

Portland Teachers to Study Labor Education.

Several new courses will be added to the curriculum of the school of education extension department in Portland next year, says Dean H. D. Sheldon. New courses will also be added here at the University, but as yet there have not been decided upon definitely.

A special class of advanced students, high school teachers in the Portland high schools, will study the relations of labor to education, each member of the class taking up one particular problem. E. E. Schwartztrauber, of Lincoln high school, will be leader of the group. Subjects for study will be such problems as the educational policy of the American Labor Union, the workingman's college idea in America, the labor movement and vocational education, evening schools and the needs of wage-earners, private schools and the labor question, and similar educational problems.

Another course for advanced students will be education in sociology, and will deal with the voluntary activities of schools, socialized recitation, schools and leadership, and will also involve the reading and review of recent sociological literature bearing upon education.

A third course is on the subject of education in Oregon from an historical point of view. Each member of the class will work up a paper on some aspect of the educational history of the state.

Miss Ruth Montgomery, a graduate student this year in the school of education, will be instructor in courses in mental tests and educational psychology.

Other courses are being worked out, says Dean Sheldon, but are not yet ready.

"BILL" JOHNSON IS PRESIDENT OF FROSH

Betty Pride Elected Secretary, and Alice Garetson Is Treasurer.

"Bill" Johnson, of Portland, was elected president of the class of '24 for the sophomore year, at the class election which was held in Villard, Thursday morning. He received 76 votes, Douglas Farrell, Portland, received 42; Harold Brown, Canyon City, 45; Jack Myers, San Diego, California, 29; Howard Winnard, Eugene, 23.

Betty Pride, of Boise, received the vice presidency with 112 votes to 102 cast for Velma Farnum, of Sheridan. Luella Hausler, Portland, is secretary, with 72 votes; Mildred Le Compte, Portland, received 47; Marie Fisher, Portland, 35; Margaret Peterson, Portland, 33, and Lorraine Coulter, Cascade, Idaho, 26.

Alice Garetson, of Cottage Grove, defeated Russell Gowans, Portland, for treasurer, by a 117 to 94 vote, and Dick Reed, of Eugene, was chosen sergeant-at-arms with no opposition except three votes for Dean Straub and Dan Lyons.

DATE OF "DISRAELI" CHANGED TO JUNE 18; CAST CHANGES MADE

Commencement Play Strong In Dramatic Talent and In Historical Interest.

PROF. REDDIE TO TAKE PART OF BEACONSFIELD

English Court Life In Middle of Nineteenth Century to Be Portrayed.

"Disraeli," by Louis Parker, which has been chosen for the commencement play, will be presented June 18 instead of 17 as was first announced. Slight changes have been made in the cast and still further changes are to be made. It is probable that the play will be presented in Villard hall, but this detail has not been fully decided yet as there is some talk of using the Woman's building.

The part of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, one of England's most influential statesmen and the leading character in the play, will be taken by Professor Fergus Reddie. Norvel Thompson will have charge of the stage management; this will be the first time in the history of the University that a student has had charge of the stage management of a commencement play.

The part of Mary Disraeli, Lady Beaconsfield, which is also a leading part, will be played by Dorothy Wootton. Sir Michael Probert, originally given to Claire Keeney, will be played by John Canoles, and the part of Lord Deeford, which was to be played by Norvel Thompson, will be taken by Claire Keeney. Reuel Moore's part, since his withdrawal from the University, has been given to Claire Wallace. The part of Lord Brooks will be played by Harold Brown. Carl Miller will be the stage electrician and Ted Baker and Darrell Larsen will have charge of the stage properties.

The play pictures the life of the English court about the middle of the nineteenth century and circles around the political life of Benjamin Disraeli, and shows the clever means through which he was able to make the English government purchase the Suez canal. The other members of the cast, some of which may be changed, are: Lady Perensy, Irene Stewart; the butler, Arthur Johnson; Lord Cudworth, Reuben Goffreiere; Duchess of Glastonberg, Martha Rice; Eryntrude, Loeta Rogers, Faljambe, Carl Miller; Mrs. Noel Travers, Charlotte Banfield; Mr. Hugh Meyers, Darrell Larsen; Potter, Ted Baker, Floots, John Elestad; Lady Brooks, Marion Gilstrap, and Lord Brooks, Harold Brown.

In the last act just before the curtain falls, a large group of courtiers are gathered to welcome the queen; the parts of the courtiers will be played by some of the members of Professor Reddie's other classes.

CO-OP MEMBERS SOON TO RECEIVE BONUSES

Dividends For Year to Be Declared As Soon As Inventory Can Be Taken, Says McClain.

Indications are that the Co-op will soon pay dividends to its stockholders, according to Marion McClain, who with his assistants is taking inventory of the present stock in the store. "It has been a very successful year," he declared. Membership in the Co-op expired June 1. The dividends will be declared either in cash or trade, although more returns will be realized by taking the profit in trade.

"Students had better begin looking for their coupons now so that they can get their share of the profits," said McClain. It will take some time to gather all the coupons together and to ascertain where they have all gone so that no definite statement can be made just now. After the invoice is taken, Manager McClain will make a report to the directors and they will decide how the dividends shall be divided. The board consists of Dean John F. Bovard, T. J. Bolitho, Carl Newbury, Wayne Akers, Art Base, Nelson English and Charles Thompson.

No plans for a spring membership drive have been made. "Students never have very much money this time of the year, so it usually has to be done all over again in the fall anyway," according to McClain.

"REDS" TAKE LEAD IN Y. M. FUND DRIVE

Fassett Gathers In $56.00 In First Day.

Frank Fassett, of the "Reds," secured subscriptions to the amount of $56 in the first day of the campus Y. M. C. A. drive that is being conducted to raise funds to maintain the Y during the coming year, according to Roy Veatch, leader of the reds. The reds maintained their lead in the contest, according to the report made at the luncheon at the hut yesterday noon, but Elston Ireland, of the "Blues," reports that a number of "darkhorse" salesmen are out and that the blues are not at all blue over the prospect.

The drive ends at noon today. Last night pairs of workers visited the various campus organizations and although no report has been made yet it is thought that the quota will be reached by noon.

Hal Donnelly has expressed himself as being very gratified at the progress which the drive has made. "I hope that every man on the campus will contribute something, for in that way we may know that the students are behind the work," he said.

During the campaign the officers of the Y have raised a considerable amount of subscriptions. As the officers are not connected with the competing teams, it was decided to give credit for these subscriptions to the team having the largest lead last night. By their place ahead in the race, the reds have won the right to claim the credit for this fund.

A final luncheon will be held today and a summary of the campaign made. The luncheons have been attended by the workers and have been the source of considerable enthusiasm. The girls of the Y. W. C. A. served Wednesday noon, and Rev. and Mrs. Griffin, student pastor and wife, were in charge of the meal yesterday. The churches of Eugene furnish the food. "And they are some eats," report the workers.

A list of houses, with the amount pledged, will probably be posted on the campus soon.

FISH GETS FELLOWSHIP

Graduate Assistant to Teach History at Clark University.

Andrew Fish, graduate assistant in the department of history, has accepted a teaching fellowship at Clark University and will begin work there next fall. Mr. Fish also received the offer of a fellowship at the University of Minnesota. He will take his degree of master of arts in history here this spring.

Mr. Fish is the second student in the department of history to receive such a fellowship this year. Fridolin Buholzer was selected recently for a fellowship in international law by the Carnegie Peace Foundation, and will attend Harvard next fall.
