NEXT YEAR.

The slogan for the coming year, as in years past, should and will be "A Greater Oregon." Everything points to the greatest year in history, just as last year at this time, things pointed to a greater year for this year. Every year should witness a growth in the University, progress in student government, and the furthering of the ideals and spirit of Oregon.

The new program of standard raising adopted by the University last fall should work out next year much more effectively than this, benefiting as it will from the troubles of the first year. The students are learning the benefits of co-operation with the faculty in raising the standards of the University, and there will be fewer hardships to surmount next year than there have been this year.

The new constitution adopted by the associated students this year is another of the benefits started this year which go towards making next year the greatest in history. The advantages of the new system are well known, and students have seen to it that capable officers have been elected to carry out the details which are involved in the new pact. The faults which student government labored under this year have been largely eliminated for the coming year, and the progress of the associated students should be much easier and more rapid.

Athletically, next year should be a big year for Oregon. With good freshman material in every sport, there should be little difficulty in turning out athletic teams which will come up to the old standards of Oregon. Plans are already under way for the next Homecoming, and the year promises to start off with a burst of the old Oregon Spirit that will continue through the year.

This year has in a way been a turning point. As the year following the war, when Oregon returned to its before-the-war status, the ideals and spirit of Oregon were endangered. They have come through right side up, and the hospitality, spirit, democracy and sportsmanship of Oregon students is as strong or stronger than ever before.

All told, things look unusually bright for a great year. Sell the idea to your friends!

Athletically, Oregon is one of the cleanest schools on the coast. Any Oregon student can truthfully swear that Oregon doesn't pay athletes, and that she hasn't done so for several years past. High school athletes come to Oregon for another reason than money. They come because of what Oregon offers, its spirit, its fellowship, and its educational opportunities. If any Greater Oregon worker can't sell Oregon to a prospective student with these talking points against money talk, he is a poor salesman indeed. Try it this summer.

FIJIS DEFEAT BETAS IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Eight Innings Played; Contest Best Yet of Series; Comeback Attempted.

Phi Gamma Delta defeated Beta Theta Pi in doughnut baseball yesterday afternoon, 12-9, in eight innings of close, hotly contested playing. The game was easily the best of the series thus far staged, both from the standpoint of playing, and the score.

In the first canto the Fijis scored three against the Betas two. In the second and third neither side was able to bring in any runs, but in the fourth the Betas added two more making the score 4-3 in their favor. The tallies remained steady after this until the sixth when the Fijis became aggressive, putting four more runs with their collection, tipping the scales three points in their favor. The Betas rallied once more in the seventh. With one down H. Chapman poled out a three sacker, Edlund following with a hit through short, scoring Chapman. Another man got on and then Smith came up and knocked a two bagger scoring the two men on. This ended the seventh in a tie.

The last canto was the biggest for the winners, marking five new runs for them. The Betas staged a comeback, but they were able to score only two more runs before the final out was called.

SENIOR GIRLS TO MEET OUTDOORS ON SUNDAY

Caps and Gowns to Be Worn For First Time Sunday, at Nine, Near Villard.

Invitations have been sent out and plans are all ready for the senior outdoor meeting Sunday morning at 9 o'clock between Deady and Villard hall. This is the first year that the meeting has been held outdoors, but it is hoped that this will be the beginning of a new tradition.

This is the first time this year that the seniors appear in their caps and gowns. The seniors will all march together to the meeting escorted by junior girls. As far as possible the girls are planning to sit according to their classes.

W. K. Newell, superintendent of grounds, has furnished a platform, piano and plenty of chairs. The program as it is now arranged is as follows:

- Processional Miss Dem
- Selection by the orchestra.
- Invocation Miss Tirza Dinsdale
- Girls' Glee Club.
- Scripture reading ... Miss Mary Perkins
- Address, "New Fellowship"
- Miss Mary Watson
- Solo Madame Rose McGrew
- Benediction Dean Fox

HAMMER AND COFFIN ELECTS 3 MEMBERS

Eisman and Ellsworth to Head Lemon Punch Next Year.

Three new members were initiated into Hammer and Coffin society, Stan Eisman and Harry Ellsworth were re-elected editor and business manager, respectively, of the Lemon Punch for the succeeding year and Helen Dougherty was elected an honorary member of the society at a meeting held in Villard hall last Thursday evening.

New members initiated were Ernest Haycox, Roscoe Hemenway and Wilbur Hulin. All three of them were members of the Lemon Punch Publishing society and were active on the contributing staff of the magazine. Helen Dougherty, who was elected honorary member of the society, has acted as advertising manager of the Punch during the past year. The constitution of Hammer and Coffin provides that one girl may be elected honorary member of the society each year.

Definite staff positions have not as yet been assigned for next year, according to Ellsworth and Eisman. "There will be unusually good opportunities for students who are interested in the Lemon Punch to make the society and staff next year, in both the literary and business departments." He urged that all students with aspirations to either the literary department or business department of the magazine see Ellsworth or himself before the close of school.

There will be six issues of the magazine next year, according to the editor. It is planned to issue either three the first term, one in the second term and two the last term, or distribute them evenly each term. If only one issue is put out the second term, it is expected that a special big feature will be made of it, to be announced later in the year.

Bound volumes of the Lemon Punch given to the first five organizations to subscribe 100 per cent to the magazine are being prepared at this time, according to Ellsworth, and will be delivered before the close of school.

SUMMER TERMER IS HERE

Dufur School Superintendent Comes 257 Miles In Flivver.

A flivver carried C. G. Springer over 257 miles, from Dufur, in Eastern Oregon, where he is superintendent of schools, to Eugene for the summer term. Mr. Springer attended his first summer term on the Oregon campus in 1916. In order to get some necessary credits he will take a correspondence course during the three weeks which intervene before the opening of the regular summer term. He will live at Friendly hall and will do his correspondence research work in the University library.

Y. W. C. A. LISTING ROOMS.

Miss Louise Davis, who will be in charge of the activities of the campus Y. W. C. A. during the summer, is busy at present getting a complete list of houses and rooms for faculty students. The bungalow will be open during the whole of the summer term and courteous service will be available to all campus people during that time. If anyone wishes to communicate with Miss Davis regarding living quarters, they may reach her by calling 1049.
