REGISTRATION MAY REACH 2000 MARK BEFORE WEEK ENDS

Records Show 700 Frosh Have Enrolled for University Work This Year

HOUSING BEING CARED FOR

Every Department Reports Big Increase. Exact Count Ready Friday

Registration is the heaviest this year that it has ever been, according to all available sources, and the freshman class alone is expected to number more than 700. All day Monday and yesterday, new and old students thronged the campus and many are expected to register tomorrow.

The school of business administration reports a particularly heavy enrollment in its courses. Late yesterday afternoon 300 students had signed up for accounting and about 75 had been turned away temporarily until some arrangements can be made to care for them. Last year there were but half this number. The increase in the number of major students in the school has also been estimated at 100 per cent.

600 in Freshman English

In the freshman English classes there are nearly 600 enrolled already, according to members of the department. Ninety were exempted from taking English composition of the 360 who took the examination. In English literature courses there are 110 already signed up for one course and 99 had registered in the world literature course late yesterday afternoon.

Over 300 will be enrolled in the pre-medical courses, if estimates based on incomplete registration are correct. There will be a 50 per cent increase in the number of freshmen in this department over that of last year, it is thought. Pre-engineering will also have a large number enrolled in its classes.

The school of journalism will have nearly 100 freshmen alone enrolled in the courses there and the number of upperclassmen who have returned promises to be large. Architecture predicts a 50 per cent increase in the freshmen majoring in that department with a good proportion of advanced students. A fifty per cent increase in the school of sociology is also reported.

The department of physical education for women has been swamped with the rush of registration and the increase in the number of freshman majors is expected to be nearly 50 per cent. A large increase in the number of men taking physical education is also indicated.

With between 75 and 80 per cent of last year's students who did not graduate back in school, according to an estimate made by Dean Dymont, and a freshman class of 700 the total registration should come close to the 2000 mark. A heavy registration is also expected in the Portland extension center, where a number of new courses have been provided and arrangements made to care for an increase in the number of students.

Authentic figures on the total registration cannot be obtained before Friday as the registrar's office must check up on the study cards, many of which have not yet been filed. A report from the business office on the number who have paid their fees may be available today or tomorrow.

Rooming Facilities Ample
The housing situation is being cared for in fairly good shape and when the confusion of registration settles down no shortage of rooms is looked for. More rooms were available for men than for women and this caused some difficulty for the housing committee. Emergency housing measures have been made for the temporary overflow.

MUSIC READING OFFERED

The Scientific Music reading course in the University school of music, one of the music courses for which there is no tuition, is one of the most practical in the school, according to Anna Landsbury Beck, who will have charge of the class. In spite of this, however, she said, it is quite often overlooked until later in the year. This year she does not want to take in beginners after the first term unless they have had the equivalent of the work already covered.

President Gives Cheery Greeting to Student Body

The year is starting with a fine spirit. New buildings, additional instructors, closer organization, rising standards, a large and well prepared entering class, nearly all old students back—these are some of the factors which are making for the best year the University has ever known.

With the outstanding characteristics of democracy, friendliness and scholarship emphasized in you, the spirit of the student body will win through to success in its every undertaking.

Stand by your organization and help every officer who has been asked to assume responsibility.
P. L. CAMPBELL.

GAMMA PHI PENALIZED BY PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Violation of Pledging Rules Charged Against House

Following a thorough investigation carried on by the alumni board of the Panhellenic council yesterday afternoon, Gamma Phi Beta, girls national sorority, was forbidden to pledge any students until after November 1. This action was taken as a result of charges being brought against the Gamma Phi Beta sorority that members of the sorority had visited with a rushee during the hours when she was supposed to have had dates with the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. This was in direct violation of the Panhellenic rules and after hearing the charges and the proof the Council imposed the penalty. As a result the Gamma Phi will not be allowed to pledge any girls at this time while the other organizations are receiving the new members.

Girl Made Late
The complete charge as brought against the Gamma Phi Betas by the Kappa Kappa Gammas, was that the rushee in question had dinner dates with the Kappas and that members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority deliberately kept the girl from her appointment until 6:45 o'clock, or until after the hour for the dinner date to begin. Afternoon dates with the guests were supposed to end at 5 o'clock, while the dinner dates began at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Further Penalty Given
As a further penalty the Board ruled that the Gamma Phi shall not entertain any non-sorority girls during the period during which they will not be allowed to pledge new members. This is the first violation of the Panhellenic rushing rules which has been reported this year.

EASTERN TOUR PLANNED FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Three Weeks' Trip to be Treat for Christmas Season; Most Old Members Back

An extensive tour of the Eastern States is being planned for the Men's Glee club, the tryouts for which are to take place Tuesday, October 4, from 4 o'clock on, in the new music building. The club will leave Eugene just as soon as examinations are over and will be gone for three weeks.

The tentative itinerary includes Baltimore, Albany, N. Y., New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Annapolis, and Washington, D. C., although more stops will probably be made than are now scheduled. This is the first long trip ever planned by the Glee club of the University.

John Stark Evans, of the school of music, who directed the club last year is back and will again act as instructor. Maurice Eben is president of the organization and Leonard Jordan is manager.

All of last year's members but eight have returned to school and according to the president there is a great deal of promising material from which to pick. Old members are required to tryout for places as well as the others.

The officers of the Glee club want as many to try out for places as possible.

MME. McGREW TO STAR

Instructors Will Have Leading Role in Veirdi Opera at Portland

Madame Rose McGrew, instructor of voice in the University school of music, has been selected to take the leading role in the opera, "The Masked Ball," by Verdi, which is to be given by the Portland Opera Association on November 18 and 19. Corruccini, who is to direct the production, chose that opera in order that Mme. McGrew might take the part of "Amelia."

95 MEN PLEDGED TO FRATERNITIES IN FIRST TWO DAYS

Total May Pass 100 Before End of First Week of Present Term

GIRLS' LIST DUE TODAY

Complete List of Selections Will Be Published In Emerald Thursday

A total of 95 men were reported by the various men's fraternities as having been pledged when a final count was taken last night following the second day of registration. This number will probably be swelled to over 100 before the end of the present week. Sigma Alpha Epsilon leads the list with twelve pledges.

Due to the fact that the pledging of new students to the various women's sororities did not begin until a late hour last night and will not be completed until this morning, the complete list of the women's new pledges will not be printed in the Emerald until tomorrow morning.

NEW OVEN IN FRIENDLY HALL

A modern electric baking oven and automatic electric coffee percolator have been added to the Friendly hall kitchen. The baking oven will not be used for Friendly hall alone but will supply pastry and rolls, for Hendricks hall and Susan Campbell hall. This new oven was made necessary by the increased number of students boarding at the halls this year.

Y. M. RECORDS FOR FINDING POSITIONS ALREADY SMASHED

100 Men Students Get Jobs Totalling $2000 During Past Few Days

MORE WORK CRYING NEED

Scores of Freshmen Seek Hut To Get Employment Or Room and Board

At the present rate, the $10,000 employment business done by the Y. M. C. A. last year will be far surpassed, as nearly $2,000 worth of jobs have already been given out this term, and many more students are on the waiting list for any work reported into the "Y" office. More than a score of regular jobs for the year have been provided, and these, together with the temporary work put the total number of men who have been given something to do close to the hundred mark.

It is estimated that three-fourths of the freshmen have come to the hut, either in search of employment or room and board. Although men were at first sent out to rooms from both the administration building and the "Y," the major part of this work has been handled by the latter organization, and the list of rooms was turned over to it yesterday, so that in the future all rooms will be handled from the hut.

Many Depending on Jobs

The need for more work for the students on the campus is great, and the "Y" is at present far from able to meet the demand for jobs. Many men have told Mrs. Donnelly, who has been handling the employment, that unless they are soon able to find something to do they will be forced to return home. As an example of this, five men who came from Dakota, who intend to make their way through school entirely with what money they can earn while here.

When men apply for work their names, together with what kind of work they desire, are filed besides those ready for anything they can find, there are a large number of trained stenographers, bookkeepers, and students skilled along special lines, whom the "Y" is seeking to put into their particular jobs.

Student Handbook Useful

The student handbook was again published by the Y. M. C. A. this year, and has proved useful during the past few days to all students, especially to the freshmen. This year's book, a great improvement over the one put out last year, was edited and managed by John Dierdorff.

The "Y" has been handling the University information service this fall, and nearly all trains have been met by working in co-operation with the Y. W. C. A. Men have also been stationed at the hut to aid Mrs. Donnelly in answering the many inquiries that have been made. The loss of Hal Donnelly as secretary has been greatly felt this fall, but good men are being considered to fill his place, and a new secretary will be selected in the near future.

A party was put on at the hut Saturday night, by the young people of the various churches in Eugene, to provide a chance for students who were not being entertained by the fraternity and sorority houses to get acquainted, and feel at home on the campus.

Many men are still coming into the hut for aid in getting settled, and the organization hopes to find rooms and work for all applicants in the near future.

MUSIC HEADS IN DEMAND

Several University Graduates Get Supervisors Positions

The number of public school music teachers graduated last spring was not nearly sufficient to supply the demand in the schools of the state for music supervisors, according to Anna Landsbury Beck, head of the public school music department of the University school of music. Places have been obtained by all of the last spring's graduates of that department.

Among those working as supervisors are Leona Marsters at Ashland, Madge Calkins at Roseburg, Laura Rand at Bend, Friederika Schilke at Wallawa, and Vincent Engeldinger at Vale.

Many good places have gone unfilled, said Mrs. Beck. In one place a monthly salary of $100 was offered for work one half time as music supervisor with a chance to give music lessons during the remaining time for an additional $50.00.

Two Ex-Editors Return with Pep from Pendleton

"For the luva mike, Only a six hed on that story? Why, man alive, you ought to streamer it all over the front page. Over in Pendleton."

—Leith Abbott.

"Naw, don't do it that way. Pep 'er up. Now up in Pendleton We'd."

—Harry Smith.

The editor had his troubles with today's initial edition of the 1922 Emerald. And the difficulty hinged about the personages of two ex-editors of the "official organ, Smith, editor last year and Abbott, the year preceding, who have returned to the campus to continue their studies this year. They both had their own ideas on how to edit the sheet and coupled with this disturbing fact they both were fresh from the Pendleton Tribune, where Smith had served as city editor during the summer months and Abbott as news editor for the past 14 months.

Editor Maxwell, was deaf to the entreaties of his predecessors, however, and dressed up his charge minus the scare heads begged for by the two "old heads."

Margaret Scott, '24, served as society editor of the Tribune during the past summer and when she returned to college this fall with Smith and Abbott, Editor Harry Kuck, '16 of the Tribune, was faced by the task of acquiring an entire news staff.

MILITARY TRAINING WORK DRAWS RECORD NUMBER

More Than 300 Signed Up and Waiting List Long

All records for enrollment in the department of military science will be broken this year according to present indications and Major Baird, head of the military department. Up to 11:30 Tuesday morning, 252 freshmen, 60 sophomores and 14 juniors and seniors had signed up and the waiting line appeared as large as ever.

The instructing staff for the year will consist of Majors Baird and Roland, Captain Lewis, Sergeant - Major Agule and Sergeants Powers, Vaughn, Conyers and Sullivan. All of these men served on last year's staff with the exception of Captain Lewis and Sergeant Powers. Captain Lewis was detailed to the University by the government, from Germany, where he was serving with the American Army of Occupation and Sergeant Powers will take charge of the Quartermaster department which was in charge of Sergeant Bradley who will not return.

According to Major Baird the first drill will be held at 11 o'clock this morning. During the fall term there will be three drill periods, 11 o'clock, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, per week while during the winter and spring terms there will be but two drill periods. During the winter and spring terms there will be no drill for upper-classmen. The drill period will be used by the juniors for the study of field engineering while the seniors will study military tactics.

The theoretical courses to be used this year will require text books, which, according to Major Baird, will be on sale at the Co-op within a short time. Shoes will not be supplied by the government this year but Major Baird believes that they will be next year.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL IS TO SPEAK AT ASSEMBLY

Lyle Bartholomew Will Also Speak At Thursday's Meeting; New Tenor Will Sing.

President P. L. Campbell will be the principal speaker at the first assembly of the term Thursday morning in Villard hall. He will have as his subject, "What is Education?" He will also welcome the students, new and old, at this time.

A talk will also be given by Lyle Bartholomew, student body president. This will be the first time that all the students have gathered together for the year and plans will be announced and a general welcome given new students.

John B. Siefert, tenor, new member of the faculty of the school of music, will sing at the opening of the assembly. Mr. Siefert is said to possess a very good voice and press comments on his appearances in eastern cities has been most favorable.

All students, especially freshmen, are urged to attend the assembly by both University and student body officials. Freshmen men always sit in the balcony at assemblies and the women sit on the main floor. The assembly will begin promptly at eleven o'clock.

GRID SQUAD WORKS HARD FOR SCHEDULE OF NINE CONTESTS

Eleven Rounding Into Shape With Practice Morning and Afternoon

GREEN MEN SHOW WELL

Shy Huntington, Mitchell and Spellman Start Building Football Machine

With almost two weeks of the heaviest kind of football workouts behind them the varsity football squad of 40 men under the tutelage of Head Coach "Shy" Huntington, line coach Spellman and backfield coach "Brick" Mitchell is rounding into shape for the opening game with Willamette at Salem on Saturday of this week.

The squad will feel keenly the losses of last year. In the backfield; Bill Steers, Nish Chapman, and Mead left holes that will be hard to fill, while the line is weakened by the loss of Ed Ward, Carl Mautz, and Brick Leslie. The last years frosh squad together with the varsity substitutes of last year will be used to plug the holes.

In the back field it will be necessary for Huntington to develop a quarterback to fill the place left by the loss of Bill Steers. "Skeet" Manerud who filled the position as Bill's relief and understudy in '19 has decided not to enter the University which leaves Bill Reinhart, Hal Chapman, and Duteh Gramm as the likely looking prospects. Reinhart piloted last years eleven prior to Steers return to school when he was shifted to half. Chapman was used at quarter on last years' freshman team.

Last Year's Frosh for Backfield
George King last year's fullback looks good for another year, George is heavier than ever and is rapidly rounding into condition since his arrival last Thursday. Tiny Shields will probably be used behind the line this year, as he can kick and carries the ball handily. Last years freshman team is sending up some men that look like sure varsity material for the halves, Charlie Parsons the outstanding star of last fall's yearling aggregation and a brother of Johnny Parsons, former letter man. Tom D'Armand is another big man who went at top speed with the Frosh until he broke his collar bone, while Ward Johnson and Duteh Gramm are big men, speedy and with lots of punch but lacking in experience.

The line looks pretty strong with a nucleus of the following letter men to work from: "Spike" Leslie, two year varsity tackle, "Mart" Howard with two years at end, Rudd Brown who won his letter last year in a wing position, Neil Morfitt, end, Scotty Strachan who won his letter at guard, "Bark" Laughlin a veteran of the 1920 team. There are lots of big men out for line positions, from last year's varsity subs and from the '20 yearlings, and these with the veterans mentioned above should produce a strong shift line.

Practically all of the men out have been plugging away with two strenuous workouts a day, morning and afternoon, since September 15, until yesterday when registration and the taking up of scholastic work necessitated the eliminating of the morning practice.

Secret Practice Abandoned

Coach Huntington has done away with secret practice in order that the students may have an opportunity to see the team in action during the daily practice sessions.

The schedule for the current year is one of the heaviest in Oregon's football history. Nine games are to be played and the season will not end until January second when the varsity meets the Hawaiian All Stars at Honolulu a week after the game with the University of Hawaii in the same city. Eugene is to be the scene of but two contests, one with Pacific University, on October 8 while the other is the annual battle with the Aggies, November 19.

Portland will have two opportunities
