Lyle Bartholomew Honored At Seabeck Conference

"If the quantity and quality of the incoming Freshman class is any indication of the coming year at Oregon the Lemon-Yellow is going to have one of the best years in history." This is the statement of Lyle Bartholomew, student body president, who has returned to school full of new ideas and energy for making the University "bigger and better."

While in attendance at the conference of student body presidents at the Y. M. C. A. conference at Seabeck, last June, Bartholomew was elected President of the Pacific Student Body Association. He took an active part in all meetings of the association and reports that the organization will be very beneficial in the exchange of ideas among the executives of student associations.

First Assembly Thursday

In order that the year may be started off right every student is asked to be in Villard hall, Thursday at 11 o'clock, for the first student gathering of the year. President Campbell will talk and general announcements will be made.

Homecoming is going to be the first big University activity of the year. Already plans for this affair are being perfected and President Bartholomew has outlined of "stunts" from other schools of the country. Miss Charlie Fenton has been planning for the 1921 Homecoming since early in the Spring term. The dates for this year are November 18 and 19.

New Business System

The adoption of the new student body constitution will mean that student problems will be dealt with in a different manner from that of any previous year, many of them in a more or less experimental way. A number of executive appointments will be made this week to perfect the organization of student government. The budget system, whereby all activities receive a just proportion of school money is one of the main features of the new order of things.

Work will start immediately in the making of the freshmen real Oregon students, according to the Sophomore president and the yell leader promises new and startling things in the rooting section. Open house will start the social program Saturday night.

The activities committees will be at the base of all student work and will be directly responsible to the executive committee of the student body.

The Y. M. C. A. cooperated with the women's organization in this work.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet breakfasted together Monday morning, and discussed plans for the year's work. In the absence of Eleanor Spall, the president, who is not in college this fall, Ruth Flegal, vice-president, had charge of the meeting. Other cabinet members who are not back on the campus this year are Margaret Smith, head of the social committee, and Leah Zink, chairman of the social service committee. New members have not yet been appointed to fill their places, according to Miss Flegal, and the new president will be elected later.

The first meeting of the Y. W. C. A. is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, October 5. An acquaintance party at the Y. Hut last Saturday night, given by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A., brought the entering freshmen together for the first time.

GIVE AWAY FROSH CAPS

Green caps for the freshmen entering the University were given away by Wade Bros. during the past two days. Over 200 freshmen took advantage of the offer and received one of the new and shining lids from these down town merchants.

Activities of Campus Association Discussed at Association Cabinet Meeting

The campus Y. W. C. A. began its work for the fall by registering one hundred and seventeen women students at the University employment bureau at the Bungalow, says Miss Louise Davis, associate secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who has charge of the bureau. All but 30 of the students have applied at the bureau since last Thursday. Twenty seven of the women listed are trained stenographers with experience of one, two, or three years. Thirty are listed as ready to do housework and odd jobs. Thirty women students, fifteen of whom are freshmen, are working in homes for their board and rooms. Most of these women, says Miss Davis, will probably find positions within a month.
