GAMMA PHI BETA IS EXPELLED 3 YEARS FROM PANHELLENIC

Undue Influence Brought to Evade Recent Punishment Is Contention

O. K. GIVEN DEAN'S COURSE

Sorority Will Not Be Bound By Rushing Rules; 9 Guests May Be Pledged

Gamma Phi Beta was last night expelled from further participation in Panhellenic activities for a period of three years. This action was taken by the active and alumnae boards of the Panhellenic, after a thorough investigation of the charges against the fraternity that they had brought undue influence to bear on certain members of the administration to have a recent penalty inflicted upon them by the Panhellenic council set aside.

Because the sorority refused to accept her penalty as other houses had done in the past, and because they appealed to outsiders and are said to have placed a great deal of emphasis on the inconvenience entailed, the Panhellenic councils considered that Gamma Phi had broken the rules of the association.

Rules Will Not Bind

The expulsion means that the sorority, the penalty as other houses had done in governed by the rules in regard to rushing and pledging. These rules are formulated for the simplification of the problem and for mutual protection.

The boards placed no blame whatever upon the dean of women for the allowing of prospective pledges to move into the Gamma Phi Beta house, according to their statements, feeling that the known kindness of the dean who they consider wholly impartial in fraternity affairs, was imposed upon in an undignified and unfair manner. Other Panhellenic affairs will be carried on in the future as usual.

As the president of the local association of Panhellenic is a member of Gamma Phi Beta it will be necessary, in view of the action, to choose another.

Gamma Phi Notified

Following is the communication:

October 4, 1921.

Nu Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta: The active and alumnae boards of Panhellenic at the University of Oregon have given mature consideration to Gamma Phi Beta's recent avoidance of a penalty justly imposed for infringement of the local Panhellenic rushing compact.

In recent years other fraternities have been penalized for the same and other infringements of the rushing compact, and in each case have accepted the penalty in an honorable and sportsmanlike manner. Gamma Phi Beta has brought undue influence to bear, has appealed to disconnected alumnae, and has placed an exaggerated and unfair emphasis upon the inconvenience said to be entailed. The sorority has refused to accept the penalty, breaking the contract entered into with other members of the Panhellenic association, and thereby making itself an outlaw.

Because of these offenses, the active and alumnae board have voted unanimously that Nu chapter of Gamma Phi Beta shall be expelled from the privileges of Panhellenic, both active and alumnae, for a period of three years, the expulsion to take effect at once and the presidency of active Panhellenic to be assumed by the fraternity next in order.

Communications to this effect have been forwarded to the national Panhellenic.

OSKIES WILL BE AIRED

First Yellfest Set for Today

HAYWARD FIELD AT 4

Oregon's famed Thundering Thousand will unlimber their vocal artillery on Hayward field at 4:00 this afternoon. Also, on the green turf of Hayward at the same time the varsity football team will engage in the first scrimmage of the season staged especially for the student spectators.

Yell King "Obie" Oberteuffer, fully accented in his noise-making uniform, promises some rare treats in the process of drydocking and renovating the Oregon Spirit, slightly barnacled and rusted after four months of inactivity. One of the features of the afternoon will be the eight aspirants for positions on the yell staff, who will entreat the spectators to get behind them with a husky "oskie" as they erratically gesticulate with extended arms. "Obie" admonishes the students to distribute their applause on a basis of merit, for, like the ancient gladiators of the arena, it is going to be a thumbs up or down proposition which will give consideration or the hook to the aspirants to the assistant yell leader positions.

"Obie" is also passing the word around the campus that all women must be out to support the Thundering Thousand and to demonstrate to the team and coaches that the spirit of the campus is shared by all. "The women can sing 'Mighty Oregon' for the boys on the field and express their approval of the efforts of the Thundering Thousand and by a clapping of hands," said the Yell King yesterday afternoon as he tacked a poster, a notification of the scrimmage and yell practice, on the bulletin board.

It is the prevalent opinion at Oregon this year, an opinion shared and sanctioned by the Yell King, that Mighty Oregon should not be accompanied by a clapping of the hands, as has been a custom in past years. The psychological effect of Oregon's rallying song on a fighting football team is far more efficacious when sung by the entire student body without a disharmonizing thunder of hand claps, believe many students. "Mighty Oregon" will be sung this afternoon on Hayward accompanied by no other sound than the calling of signals by the team.

Although the new yell, which will be taught the rooters today at the practice, will largely replace the locomotive, "Obie" plans on resorting frequently to the imitative noise of a puffing engine slowly getting underway. This year the locomotive will be timed much slower.

"It is a proposition of spirit to get the students out to Hayward." In this manner the Yell King consoles himself that no Oregon student will permit the increased distance to the football field interfere with the plans for the greatest initial yell practice ever staged at Oregon.

WOMAN'S LEAGUE PLANNING

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL HAS FULL PROGRAM FOR YEAR

Elsie Lawrence New Vice-President; Margaret Jackson to Direct Sponsor-Sponsee Dance

The executive council of Woman's League has already set on foot plans for a full program of work and activities for the organization during the coming year.

The league has more direct jurisdiction over the Woman's building than any other campus organization and as part of this jurisdiction plans to provide a daily hostess at the building from among university women. The league plans also to serve tea each Tuesday, from four to six, in the Woman's building.

Under the chairmanship of Dean Landsbury, Woman's League is to have charge of the concerts given this year at the University.

A part of the Big Sister idea that the league fosters is the annual Sponsor-Sponsee dance to be given in the near future. The Sponsor-Sponsee dance is a get-acquainted affair to which freshmen "sponsees" are taken by upperclassmen "sponsors." The dance this year is to be under the supervision of Margaret Jackson, chairman of the social committee of the league.

Elsie Lawrence has been appointed vice-president of the organization in place of Margaret Smith who did not return to the University. Alice Evans is chairman of the committee in charge of the Woman's building.

DOUGLAS WRITES ARTICLE

The October number of the Journal of Educational Research will contain an article by Professor Earl R. Douglas of the School of Education on "Measurement Fundamentals of First Year Algebra," according to an announcement in the September number. The October issue will appear about October 20.

Several changes in the department of physical education this year will tend to raise still higher this standard of manhood. Upon the passage of certain tests, students are exempt from the grind of gym work, and are allowed to elect their course from any of the sports in the department.

stroke of work until after they have gone through college.

Inheritance is another cause of the physical conditions found in the West. The fathers and mothers or grandfathers and grandmothers of many of our students crossed the plains in the early days and hewed a home out of the wilderness—the wilderness in which only the fittest survived. The strength, the agility, the endurance of these men of the forest passed on to their offspring, and some traces of these qualities remain in the college men of the West—their descendants.

Several changes in the department of physical education this year will tend to raise still higher this standard of manhood. Upon the passage of certain tests, students are exempt from the grind of gym work, and are allowed to elect their course from any of the sports in the department.

FACULTY STUDENT GOLFERS AGITATE FOR HANDY LINKS

No Land for Full Course, But Practice Holes May Be Installed Near

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN GAME

Hope Expressed Facilities May Be Provided For Popular Sport

Agitation for a golf course for the use of faculty and students has been revived on the campus, and steps are being taken to see what kind of arrangements can be made. Golf is becoming increasingly popular among the students, and many are using the course at the Eugene country club. This privilege, however, is limited to members.

The University of Washington has directly adjoining its campus a new nine-hole course, which is run by the co-operative students' association, and which has thus far been more successful as a means of student recreation and exercise than any other field for sport on the campus. Men and women students make full use of the opportunities offered them, and the course is beginning to be a financial investment of worth.

Former Course Abandoned

A miniature golf course was established on the Oregon campus some years ago. Professor E. E. DeCou, who has been one of the prime movers in many of the improvements in intramural sports here, was at the time head of the organization which was overseeing the building of the new course. A seven-hole course was made on the grounds now occupied by Hayward Field and the Woman's building. The course was abandoned after the war, however, when the land it occupied was needed for the use of the R. O. T. C. Nothing has been done since to revive interest in the game, but there are many students on the campus who would play if opportunity offered.

Practice Course Possible

Owing to the fact that there is no land available, Professor DeCou says nothing can be done at present about making a full sized course, but a practice course of two or three holes might be made, with three or four greens for approaching and putting. Beginners could make good use of such a course, and more accomplished players could make arrangements to use the country club links, Dr. DeCou says. Golf, he believes, is as much a form of exercise as of recreation, and there is no reason why it should not supplement tennis and other sports in the college curriculum.

Dean Bovard of the physical education department agrees with Professor DeCou. "I see no immediate possibility of our building a course," he said, "but as an ardent golfer I desire to see more people play the game. It is a wonderful form of exercise as well as diversion, and should be played by young as well as old. I would heartily support any plan which would bring about the building of some kind of links, even practice holes."

Many faculty members are enthusiastic players of the game. President Campbell, Dean Fox, Dean Dymont, Professor Warner, Professor Stetson, and Dean Sheldon, are golfers. Miss Perkins is former women's champion of Eugene, and Doctor Bertha Stuart-Dymont is the last women's champion.

CLASS OF '23 HAS SESSION

Committee to Handle Social Affairs Will Be Appointed

A committee to handle the social affairs of the junior class will be appointed following the action of a class meeting yesterday afternoon. A date and arrangements for the Junior Jazz Jinks will be the first duty of the committee.

Tom Wyatt, president of the class will make the appointments in a few days. Harold Simpson, treasurer, reported about $80 was left of the class funds of last year.

FRESHMAN PREXY STILL IN OFFICE, SAYS DEAN

Ralph Bailey of Salem is still president of the class of 1925. "Bailey has not handed in his resignation to me," says Dean Straub. "We discussed the matter at the time of his visit, but reached no decision. Bailey is still president, and I hope he stays."

EDUCATION SEMINAR HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Dean Sheldon Announces Speakers Will Be Brought in to Provide Idea Clearing House

The education seminar, which includes all members of the faculty, graduate students, and advanced students in the school of education, met Tuesday night in the seminar room at the education building.

Professor B. W. DeBusk read a paper on "Some New Movements in Educational Hygiene." Hermar A. Leader, instructor at the University high school, discussed the progress in the teaching of history since the war. Dean H. D. Sheldon gave an account of the work of the new seminar, which is to meet every two weeks.

"This seminar represents all the work of this department," Dean Sheldon said yesterday, in speaking of plans for the meeting. "Our idea is to bring in outside speakers and speakers from other departments of the University, and to make this seminar a sort of clearing house in educational subjects."

A special room at the education building is devoted to the uses of the seminar and of advanced students. Copies of the leading educational periodicals, and of new books on educational subjects, will be kept in this room for the use of students in the school of education.

Just What Is a Frosh Cap? Sophs Inquire

Chawed around the edges—
Frayed around the middle—
Fulla bloomin' button holes—
The Frosh cap is a riddle!

The exact elements which constitute a frosh green cap are due to be decided by the Order of the O at their Swat-fests, or by a self appointed committee of sophs, as the result of one frosh roaming the campus with a green button pinned atop his hair. The idea of elimination has been universally practiced by the first year men, but cases where the rim is hung over the ears, or the entire cap is hidden under the locks of the frosh in question, are slowly raising the ire of the sophomores and heightening their inclination towards the use of paddle.

Hitherto no rules of etiquette have been adhered to in approximating the exact constituents of the complete hat, although there is a rumor prevalent that all frosh shall retain the seams in their lids and confine their artistry to the carving of designs. Practice has made the shrinking of the hat by the application of hot water permissible, but the status of the frosh who wears only the button of his hat, has not been decided, as yet.

Y. M. - Y. W. MIX TO BE HUGE

OCTOBER 14 DATE FOR AFFAIR IN NEW ARMORY

Hard-Times Costumes Order of Day And Team Will Be Given Monster Send-off

October 14 is the date which has been set for the annual Y. M. - Y. W. mix this year and plans are already well underway to make the event the biggest of its kind ever held on the campus. Every man and woman enrolled in the University will be guests of the two campus organizations at the big acquaintance party. It will be held in the new armory Saturday evening as the only social event on the campus calendar for that evening. Entertainment features are now being planned along novel lines with all committees aiming to make the affair something new in the way of mixes.

"Hard times" costumes will be the order of the day and dates will be taboo. One feature of the night will be a gigantic rally for the varsity football team which will meet the University of Idaho team in Portland on the following day.

Following are the committees planning the event:

General Chairman: Frank Carter and Le Laine West.
Stunts: Claire Keeney, Marion Gillis, Glen Marrow, Kay Bald, Lenore Gram.
Feature: Wilbur Hoyt, Helen Nelson, Glen McDonegal.
Food: Helen Murdock and Creene Farris.

House-to-house campaign: Marvel Skeels and Art Campbell.
Ticket Sale: Order of the O, Dick Sundleaf, chairman.
Posters: Wanna McKinney and Douglas Farrell.
Publicity: Ruth Austin and Leith Abbott.

MISS FENTON ON LEAVE

One of the familiar faces missed on the campus this term is that of Miss Charlie Fenton, secretary of the Alumni Association. Miss Fenton left the University on August 1 to enter Miss Munson's secretarial school at Berkeley. She has been given a six months leave of absence and is expected to return after completing her course in the South.

The present acting Alumni Secretary is Miss Jeanette Calkins, who is being assisted in the execution of her duties by Miss Lois Pixley.

Another Luncheon Today

Another luncheon will be served at the hut today at noon, when the two teams of solicitors will gather to check up on the results so far obtained, and plan a final wind-up for the campaign. These students have been working among all the men students, both in fraternity houses and on the campus, and by tonight no one will have been missed.

Houses to Have But One Dance Each, This Year

Men's and women's organizations will this year give only one dance in the three terms of school, according to a decision reached by the faculty social affairs committee of which Dean Fox is chairman. The class and student body dances will be held as usual, but there is a possibility that there will be more of the latter than formerly.

The social program of the University this year will be varied by several concerts which are to be given under the auspices of the Woman's League with the assistance of Dean John Landsbury of the school of music. Plans for these are not yet ready for publication, although the dates for the concerts and the artists, have practically been decided upon.

The social calendar for this year, as just completed by the committee, includes the following affairs:

October 7—Informal parties at the Eugene churches.

October 8—The University Chamber of Commerce will be host to a party for the students in the school of business administration.

October 14—Y. M. - Y. W. mix

October 15—Reception for the faculty given by President and Mrs. Campbell and Dean and Mrs. Dymont. Student body dance for the sophomores, juniors and seniors. Freshmen acquaintance party.

October 28—Student body dance.
November 18—Homecoming bonfire.
November 19—Homecoming dance.
December 2—Sophomore dance.
October 21, 22, and 29, and November 4 and 5, as well as Thanksgiving weekend, November 25 and 26, are open to dances and parties at the men's and women's organizations on the campus. Dates for the concerts will probably be October 25, November 11 or 12, and December 9.

Y. M. C. A. CANVASS ENDING-TODAY IS IN SIGHT OF GOAL

Freshmen Taking Lead in Way They Are Coming Through For Association

BIG SECRETARY DESIRED

Wider Program to be Put on if Support of Students Makes it Possible

Y. M. GIVES ELEVEN REASONS FOR ASKING STUDENTS' BACKING

It publishes the handbook annually.
It handles the employment situation for the University.
It brings the best speakers to the campus, and gives all the students, men and women, an opportunity to hear them at assemblies.

It met trains during the opening of school, handles the University new student service, and helps freshmen get settled.
Places to room and board are found for University men.
The "Y" school fills a great need on the campus.
Many social events and get-acquainted parties are put on.
A lounging room for men not in houses is provided.
A place for class-meetings, etc. is given to the students.
Mrs. Donnelly has helped a great many new men with her advice this fall.

The University of Oregon needs L. P. Putnam on the campus. Whether it has a sound financial backing or not will determine whether he is secured.

Sixteen members of the faculty last night subscribed $415 for the Y. M. C. A. fund and agreed to raise $800 during the year. The meeting was held at the home of M. H. Douglass and was presided over by President P. L. Campbell. Last year the faculty raised only $400.

Despite the depleted financial condition of most of the men of the University, the Y. M. C. A. campaign for funds, which started Monday afternoon and closes today, promises to bring in a considerable sum with which to carry on the work of the organization during the coming year. Freshmen are paying up better than old students. The work of the solicitors includes collecting pledges made last spring, and approaching new students for subscriptions, payable now.

Another luncheon today
Another luncheon will be served at the hut today at noon, when the two teams of solicitors will gather to check up on the results so far obtained, and plan a final wind-up for the campaign. These students have been working among all the men students, both in fraternity houses and on the campus, and by tonight no one will have been missed.

Oregon Men's Physique Praised by Gym Head

"We get a higher type of man here at Oregon than we do at Columbia University," is the statement of Physical Instructor H. A. Scott in reference to the physical condition of men enrolling in the University of Oregon. The men here are more regular in size, he continued, with very few extremely over or under-developed. Another big difference in the two institutions is the small number of unusually fat men, as compared with the large number at Columbia and other eastern colleges.

One of the main reasons for the high type of man found in the western schools, in the opinion of Mr. Scott, is the fact that many of them are working their way through college and are at hard outdoor labor during the summer months instead of lolling around beaches or summer resorts. The students in eastern schools are often well-to-do, and many of them never do a
