

ECONOMY KEY NOTE OF STUDENT BODY FINANCE FOR YEAR

Businesslike Administration of Affairs Will Be Goal of Executive Council

PRICES FOR GAMES SET

Training Table Authorized; Chalk Talks to Follow Evening Meal

By FLOYD MAXWELL

That economy will be the key note of the administration of the student body finances was the consensus of opinion reached at the first meeting of the executive council held in the Administration building last night. Every effort will be made by the council to find the most economical method of carrying out the needs of the student body activities during the coming year, and a straight businesslike procedure will govern all expenditures, according to the statements made by both student and faculty members at the meeting.

Committees Slow to Function

There was only one noticeable flaw in the working of the new organization at their first meeting. The various committees are not functioning properly yet. A few incidents were purely before the council which were purely of a nature which should have been handled by the various committees for the purpose, and proposed by the chairman of the committee with the recommendations as to what disposal should be made of them. The Council immediately voted to refer the matters to the committees for their proper handling.

With the new machinery properly organized it can be plainly seen that the new governing body will be able to function with precision and accuracy.

Football Prices Go Up

One of the principle items taken up at the first meeting was the establishment of the football training table. This was authorized to begin at once, and according to Graduate Manager Jack Benefiel, 17 members of the football squad will sit at the table tonight. The table which will be at the Anchorage, will be used each evening for dinner. After the dinner a chalk talk will be given by the coaches.

Admission to the football games was discussed, and the price for the one Varsity contest other than the Homecoming game was set at $1.00. For the two freshmen games, one with the Chemawa Indians on November 5, and the other with Mount Angel College on October 22, the general admission price was set at 50 cents.

Price Comparison Made

The annual Homecoming game between Oregon and O. A. C. will see the introduction of the $2.50 grandstand seat at Oregon as a result of a motion passed at the meeting. In explaining his action in urging the advance in price, Graduate Manager Benefiel brought out the fact that California is this year charging $5 for seats in the grandstand at their Homecoming game and that Washington is selling seats for $3 in their new stadium for the games there. There will also be $2.00 and $1.50 seats in the grandstand while the general admission will be $1.00.

That additional bleacher seats will be necessary to accommodate the crowds at Homecoming was brought out by Benefiel, who estimated the attendance this year would be 15,000. Efforts are being made to provide for the construction of these, the estimated cost being $2,850. This will provide 6000 additional seats, which will mean the construction of a tier of bleachers 20 seats high, on the north end of Hayward field. No definite action was taken on the matter.

Bandmaster is Requested

Student President Lyle Bartholomew reported that he had taken up the organization of the band with Major Baird of the R. O. T. C. Major Baird has requested from the commanding officer of the R. O. T. C. in this section that a retired band master be sent here to lead the band.

Dean Dymond stated that it was the plan of the R. O. T. C. to provide a 30-piece band as a nucleus about which an all University band might be organized. The latter will include upper classmen as well as the cadets.

The council ratified the appointments of Everett Brandenberg and Basil Williams as freshmen football coaches. They fixed the salary at $1000 for the services of the two.

Activity Managers Named

Arthur Rudd was appointed manager of the men's glee club for the year and Paul Patterson, manager of debate. Maur-

MANY SEE SCRIMMAGE

Down the center of the field from goal to goal, the shadow of the Hayward grandstand dividing the verdant turf into dark green and brilliant emerald; scattered over the gridiron, the varsity football men, running down punts and calling signals; in the grandstand, the Thundering Thousand, including a goodly number of co-eds—this was the setting yesterday afternoon when the initial yell practice of the year and tryouts for berths on the yell staff were staged on Hayward field.

Yell King Oberteuffer started the program with an "Oskie" which had some difficulty breaking through the incrustations of rust on the rooster's vocal cords. Following the announcement of assembly today, "Obie" told the roosters that this year he intended to make the yell staff more of an institution at the University. The eight aspirants for honors as his assistants were then introduced in order. Several of the men displayed considerable stage-fright and added extra embellishments to the time-honored yells.

Always when the potential yell kings flourished in noisy chaos, "Obie" went out to their assistance. "If we failed to get anywhere we've got to get together" announced "Obie" once after receiving a nervous aspirant of the megaphone. The crowd followed him in an "oskie" which, he said, he wished to send to Hendricks park, looking

'OLD OREGON' DUE SOON

HOME COMING TO BE FEATURE OF ALUMNI MAGAZINE

First Number of Year Expected This Month; Jeanette Calkins Gathering Material

Homecoming will be the feature of the first issue of "Old Oregon," the alumni magazine, which will make its initial appearance for the year on the campus the latter part of this month. The greater part of the material for this copy is to be furnished by Miss Jeanette Calkins, acting alumni secretary, according to a statement made by Carl Onthank. After the Homecoming number "Old Oregon" will come out every other month.

Form letters have been sent out to Oregon graduates who have not yet paid their dues in an effort to get subscriptions. A fee of two dollars entitles a graduate of the University to membership in the alumni association and also to receive "Old Oregon," the alumni publication. The dues are usually paid in June, the year being counted from that time. Miss Calkins counted an unusually fine response to these letters, which were sent out Saturday.

The first and even the second issue of "Old Oregon" may be put out by the class in editing under the direction of Dean Allen, but Mr. Onthank said that no definite plans have been decided upon. The absence of Miss Grace Edgington leaves the alumni association without an editor and as yet there is no one to take her place. Erroll Murphy has been appointed as advertising manager.

Erma Zimmerman Smythe, a graduate of the University, and a major in the department of journalism, who represented the alumni association of the University of Oregon at the National alumni association convention last year, reported that "Old Oregon" received very favorable comment there.

OREGON SIGMA UPSILON WINS NATIONAL PRAISE

Ye Tabard Inn Leads in Active Members Now Contributing to Magazines

Ye Tabard Inn, local chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national men's honorary literary fraternity, wins high praise in the October issue of The News-Letter, national publication of Sigma Upsilon. The mention is made in the section entitled "Noteworthy Activities in Various Chapters."

"Ye Tabard Inn," says The News-Letter, "has led the field in the number of active members contributing to current magazines. Several of her alumni have graduated into full-fledged professional writers, and are making names for themselves in the literary world."

Chief among the alumni of the organization who are professional writers is Edison Marshall, who sold a short story to the Saturday Evening Post while he was a student at Oregon. Leslie Blades and Milton Stoddard, other alumni, have broken into the magazines. E. J. Haycox, the present president of Ye Tabard Inn, has placed several short

ASSEMBLY TODAY IS FIRST MEETING OF STUDENT BODY

Glee Club Will Lead Singing; "Thundering Thousand" to Follow Yell King

BENEFIEL TO GIVE REPORT

Coaches to Outline Football Prospects; Bohler Also On Schedule

The first meeting of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon will be held this morning in Villard hall, at 11 o'clock. The men's and women's Glee clubs will sing under the direction of John Stark Evans of the school of music, and following this Yell King "Obie" Oberteuffer will unloose the voices of the "Thundering Thousand" in an "oskie" and other of the college yells.

"Bill," "Shy" and "Baz" will outline the football prospects and Coach Bohler the basketball line-up. "It's up to the gang to show the coaches that they're back of them," said Yell King "Obie" yesterday.

Officers to be Presented

The regular student business meeting will follow and the new student officers will be introduced. Graduate Manager Jack Benefiel will give a summary of student affairs and outline the football schedule of this year.

Lyle Bartholomew, student president promises the student body a rare treat in the line of music when Professor Evans attempts to teach Oregon songs to the freshmen in the gallery.

President to Speak

President Campbell will address the students on the new student association, which was inaugurated with the adoption of the new student constitution in the last winter term.

Important announcements will be made from the floor, and it is important that every student be present. Chairs will be placed in the back of the hall to accommodate the extra students, and juniors and seniors are asked to sit as far front as possible.

President Bartholomew urges all living organizations as well as individual students to remind the men of the class of '25 that it is one of the oldest of Oregon traditions that all frosh should be present at all assemblies. The Order of the O will be present in force.

ALL-UNIVERSITY PHOTO WILL BE TAKEN TO-DAY

Picture of Entire Student Group To Be Used For Publication in State Newspapers

Every student in the University is requested to gather on that part of the campus between the tennis courts and the Y. M. C. A. immediately after the 10:00 classes this morning for the all-University picture. Directions from the president's office emphasizes the importance of a good representative group picture, which is to be used in publications.

Yell King Oberteuffer will direct the formation of the student body which is to assemble in front of the photographic battery of A. C. Rend, campus photographer. Students can go directly to assembly after the photograph is taken.

FORMER STUDENTS MARRY

Aline Thompson, ex-'12, and W. C. Kiltz, '10, Were Campus Friends

The marriage of Aline Thompson, ex-'12, of Salem, and William Charles Kiltz, '10, of Vancouver, B. C., which took place September 30 at Salem, is the outcome of a friendship which originated on the Oregon campus in 1908. Mrs. Kiltz was a popular member of Kappa Alpha Theta during her two years on the campus. Mr. Kiltz is an Oregon graduate and was prominent in athletics, playing right end on the football team in 1908-9. He is a member of Kappa Sigma. Mr. and Mrs. Kiltz are making their home in Vancouver, B. C., where Mr. Kiltz has extensive lumber interests.

WOMEN BECOME MARKSMEN

More than 100 young women turned out at a meeting to sign up for rifle practice at O. A. C. recently. As all the students interested cannot be accommodated a process of elimination will be used letting only those who make a good showing stay in the class, and thus give all a chance.

Howe Offers $5 Prize; His Cash Is Safe

By offering a prize of five dollars to the student in his class in World Literature who remembered the names of all Chinese books and authors, and all he said about each, Herbert C. Howe, professor of English Literature, held a ray of hope before the eyes of the overworked student who plods along with his faithfulness untended, and set a brilliant example for other members of the faculty.

The World Literature class has, for the past two weeks, been wading through a sea of Chinese monosyllables in their effort to grasp the meaning of the great works of Confucius and his school of early Chinese writers and story tellers. Professor Howe's liberal offer was made to the Tuesday ten o'clock section. Following, as it did, a long list of Chinese books, and their renowned Chinese authors, the proposition caused something of a commotion among the members of the class.

There has been quite a lot of speculation whether or not this offer came about as a result of the tightening up of the University's scholastic requirements last winter. There are some who regard it as the beginning of a new tradition on the part of the faculty. No one, as far as could be ascertained, regarded it as an indication that Professor Howe was becoming careless with his money.

STUDENTS HUNT CLASSES

ACCOUNTING SECTIONS BECOME BADLY MIXED

Officials Puzzled Over Right of Getting Members Into Right Sub-Groups

Students enrolled in the principles of accounting classes in the school of business administration have gotten themselves into a veritable Chinese puzzle. Some have signed up in one section and found themselves attending another, according to Professor P. W. Janney, instructor.

The officials in the new Commerce building are now fairly swamped, straightening out the sections and telling everyone just where he belongs. The class is divided into seven sections, each with its own quiz and laboratory sections, and with a lecture period once a week, either at eleven o'clock Tuesday, in Villard hall, or three o'clock the same day in room 105, Commerce.

The sections are divided as follows: Section one, quiz Tuesday and Thursday at eight o'clock, lab. Monday and Wednesday from 8-10; Section two, quiz Monday and Wednesday at one, lab. Tuesday and Thursday 8-10; Section three, lab. Monday and Wednesday 1-3; Section four, quiz Monday and Wednesday at one, lab. Tuesday and Thursday 1-3; Section five, quiz Monday and Wednesday 3-5; Section six, quiz Monday and Wednesday at three, lab. Tuesday and Thursday 3-5; Section seven, quiz Tuesday and Thursday at ten, lab. Saturday from 8-10. The quiz sections of the section seven are to be combined with the quiz sections of the other divisions sometime during the next two weeks.

SHRINE HOSPITAL MAY JOIN MEDICAL SCHOOL

Institution for Crippled Children to Be Erected in Portland, Likely To Be Allied

The University of Oregon medical school, according to Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt, dean of the University medical school, will probably have allied with it the National Shrine hospital for crippled children to be erected in Portland.

It is important, Dr. Dillehunt says, that such a hospital for crippled children be connected with a medical school if possible in order to care for these unfortunate children with utmost efficiency, their restoration, when possible and their vocational training and education when physical restoration is not possible. Also such a hospital will aid in preventing the crippling of children by teaching doctors preventive methods and by research into causes of deformity.

The regents of the University acting for the medical school of the University of Oregon has donated a three-acre site on the Marquam Hill campus for such a hospital. The situation is away from the noise and dirt of the city, in an elevated, easily accessible position. This site is near enough to the medical school to afford the hospital the use of the laboratories and facilities of the University.

BROWN AND LESLIE LATEST TO ENROLL IN HOSPITAL SQUAD

End Suffers Broken Nose, and Big Tackle's Leg Gives Him Trouble

REINHART LOST TO TEAM

Star Quarter's Shoulder in Bad Condition; Shy's Men Still Below Form

The Morning Register last night received the following message from the San Francisco Chronicle: "Notwithstanding published reports that he would soon leave for Eugene, Prince Callison, Olympic Club football star, definitely announced today that he would remain here for the present at least."

With daily additions to the varsity injured list prospects for a victory over Idaho, October 15, seem rather dimmed. Rud Brown is the latest member of the squad to be battered. Brown was broken out of scrimmage yesterday soon as a nose guard. "Spike" Leslie, varsity tackle has a "mush" leg, and it is unlikely that he will face Pacific University on Saturday.

Tommy De Armand's knee, which was injured in the fray against the Beavers isn't improving very rapidly and he will be out of the game for some time, although he put in an appearance in a suit last night. DeArmand who is one of the fastest of the backfield prospects may be ready for the battle with Coach Kelley's Gem Staters in Portland; he will be if Bill Hayward's skill can put him in shape.

Reinhart's Injury Serious

Billy Reinhart came back to Eugene yesterday, but was sent back to Portland by Trainer Hayward for an X-Ray photograph. Reinhart's shoulder is badly shattered and Hayward is dubious about a quick return to the gridiron. Horace Byler, candidate for guard dislocated his knee Tuesday and will be out of the game for several days.

Hugh Clerin is coming around nicely and though his shoulder is still very stiff he will soon be available for duty. Chuck Parson's twisted knee is in nice condition and he will be used against Pacific on Saturday.

With Leslie and Reinhart out of the game the kicking will probably devolve upon Shields, Gramm and Chapman. Shields and Gram are making respectable showings with their punts, while Hal Chapman is rapidly educating his toe in kicking placements and drops.

Punting Situation Bad

The varsity is weaker this year in its punting than it has been for many seasons and Huntington has a stiff task before him to develop a real kicker who is fast enough to get the ball away without being blocked. Both Shields and "Spring" Johnson are passing nicely and will probably be able to take charge of that phase efficiently.

The varsity was given a stiff workout last night with an hour's scrimmage, and the dose will in all probability be increased tonight. The squad will be put through its paces on Friday, but there will be little if any scrimmage and the workout will be in comparison with those of the preceding evenings.

No Farcy Stuff Saturday

As was the case against Willamette, straight football, linebacks, off tackle plays, and short end runs will be counted upon to lower the collegians' colors. Little forward passing is looked for and the few used will probably be short. Coach Huntington wishes to use the game Saturday to the fullest extent possible to point out the team's weak spots and to develop the needed punch and drive before the big games start.

RUCH WRITES BULLETIN

Oregon Graduate Doing Advanced Work at Stanford This Year

G. M. Ruch, a University of Oregon graduate now doing advanced work at Stanford, is the author of a bulletin recently received by the school of education. Mr. Ruch's work was the result of an extended research on the correlation of the estimated will power of a person with the amount of will power that actual scientific research disclosed.

Mr. Ruch graduated from the school of education in 1918, prior to which he served for two years on the staff of the University high school. The two years after his graduation he served as principal of the campus school.
