How About the Faculty?

THE suggestion has been made that the faculty members of the University should attend assemblies regularly. The Emerald believes the suggestion a good one. Last week we urged that every student in the University turn out for the assemblies, this week we are urging that the members of the faculty do likewise.

Both students and faculty were present last Thursday, and assembly was made even more impressive by the fact. Both are necessary to the welfare of the institution. Both are vitally interested in the University. There is an added incentive for the faculty members to attend assembly when the student body is on hand en masse and the student body gets an incentive from the fact that the faculty attends in a body.

A regular place for the faculty was provided in the assembly hall last year, but this place was not always filled. A regular place should be provided again this year, and it should be filled with a 100 per cent attendance.

First yell practice got away to a flying start on Hayward field yesterday and if the sound that arose from the thundering thousand is an indication, the Oregon Spirit is with us. We think it an indication.

STUDENT DRAMATIC GROUP WILL SOON MAKE DEBUT

Many Plays to be Staged by Company This Year

A dramatic company composed of 25 students will make its debut on the campus for the coming college year during the first two weeks in November. "Why Marry?" by Williams, will very likely be the first play produced in Guild hall this fall. "The Devil's Disciple" and "Caesar and Cleopatra," by George Bernard Shaw; "The Great Galeoto," by Jose Echegaray Eizaguirre; and "The Two Wetherbys," by St. John Hankin, will be produced. Other plays will be added to this list as the year goes on.

Several of last year's performers will be seen again this year in the senior company. The company is composed of Irene Stewart, Doris Pittenger, Elizabeth Melis, Margaret Nelson, Claire Keeney, Verne Fudge, Norvell Thompson, George Stearns, and Kenneth Armstrong.

The members of the junior company are Helen Enoch, Ruth Hayman, Sadye Eccles, Lorna Coolidge, Hildagard Roppen, Thelma Gannaway, Mabel Gilham, Darrell Larsen, Charles Fish, Arthur Johnson, Edwin Keech, John Elestead, Delbert Faust, Virgil Mulkey and Joe Clark.

A group of plays have been selected that it is thought, will take well on the campus.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT HAS 500 MEN ENROLLED

Twenty-five in Advanced Work Get $15 a Month

IMPORTANT, SAYS MAJOR

Upperclassmen Urged to Keep On With Courses

Approximately 500 men are now enrolled in the military department of the University, according to figures given out by Major Raymond C. Baird, commandant. Of these, 25 students are taking up the advanced military work, which is open to upperclassmen. Major Baird wishes to urge every upperclassman possible to proceed with the advanced work after having finished the elementary drill in his freshman and sophomore years. This advanced work, he says, is not only very helpful to the student, but is also a very beneficial aid, in other respects. The government pays the students, who take up this work, nearly $15.00 a month; besides issuing them clothing and allowing them 3 credits in University work toward graduation.

Four Win Commissions

Last year alone, four University graduates were given commissions as reserve officers. They were: Arnold Koepke, John Gamble, William Allyn, and Byron Garrett.

In this work the students are given work in leadership; acting as company commanders and non-commissioned officers. The juniors are instructed in military law, while the seniors are given military history. Both very useful courses. During the winter term the juniors have 2 hours recitation and 3 hours laboratory in field engineering. The seniors are instructed in minor tactics, being given local, theoretical problems to work out.

Machine Gun Taken Up

In the spring term the juniors are given a thorough course in handling machine guns and also further experience in leadership. The seniors, during this term, are further instructed in practical minor tactics. At the end of the course, all those who have successfully completed it are given a commission, as second lieutenant in the United States reserve officers corps. These reserve officers, during time of war, are immediately assigned to a company of the reserve corps, as commissioned officers.

Another point that Major Baird brought out is the fact that if more students enrolled in this work, it would establish a large government payroll right here in the University; which could easily total several thousands of dollars a year.

FRATERNITIES TO SAVE

Market Association Formed, With View to Cheaper Buying

Berkeley, Oct. 4.—(P. I. N. S.)—With the object of buying commodities from wholesale dealers in order to reduce expenses, the fraternities of the University of California have formed the Inter-Fraternity Market association. In doing this the fraternities will save at least 15 per cent on their expenses.

The different sororities of the University of California have been invited to discuss the advisability of joining the association. This will bring about even greater saving as better terms can be made with the wholesalers.

WIRELESS NEWS IS PLANNED

Universities of the Middle West are considering the feasibility of an inter-collegiate wireless news service. This would mean that colleges and universities within a certain radius would own and operate their own wireless apparatus, thus enabling them to exchange news with each of the other institutions every day.
