Worthy In More Than One Sense.

The Portland Symphony Orchestra, one of the foremost organizations of its kind in America, was brought to the campus last year to participate in the dedication ceremony of the new Woman's building. After the dedication had been completed and the accounting of finances began, it was found that there was left to the Woman's League a deficit of 0500 which had to be raised in some manner.

The merit of the symphony orchestra need not be commented on at length, it was the first attempt which has ever been made on the campus to bring such an organization to the students. The support was not sufficient to warrant another such attempt in the near future.

As a means of meeting their deficit, the Woman's League has taken up the project of presenting three artists of prominence in the musical world in concerts during the present term. Cyrena Van Gordon, prima donna mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Grand Opera Company; J. Irwin Mutch, baritone soloist, and Dean J. J. Landsbury, pianist, are the artists who have been secured for this series.

The Woman's League is not playing upon the fact that the students should attend these concerts for the purpose of aiding the organization to meet their deficit. But the idea in mind was to bring to the students a program of exceptional quality and one that can be considered well worth the money which may be paid for it.

Their action should be commended, they have not lost sight of the fact that the students should not be preyed upon by cheap and shoddy entertainment. They have instead carefully selected a program which will be in keeping with the principles for which the Woman's League and other organizations on the campus, take a stand.

The Woman's League has accomplished a worthy undertaking in bringing these artists to the campus. The cause for which they have been secured is a worthy cause.
