

YEARLINGS NEED CONTEST TO PUT THEM IN FORM

Frosh Have "The Old Fight" But Lack Unity

GAME SET FOR NEXT WEEK

First Game With Mount Angel Here Next Saturday

"Which is the first team?" asked Coach Baz Williams of a bystander watching the frosh scrimmage.

"I don't know. Which is?" he replied scratching his head.

Nip and tuck the frosh gridsters battle back and forth, neither squad showing any advantage over the other. The old fight is there, but the men lack the unity necessary to a good team. While the interference gets in the road of the play now and then, and somebody drops the ball, and someone gets the signals balled up, on the whole they are improving all the time. The stuff is there, but a little more time will be required to bring it out and get an efficient scoring machine going.

New Man Out For End

Another addition has been made to the contestants for an end position in the person of Hitchcock. While he is right he knows the game and in practice he looks like a star. He is a Washington high graduate, having played there before the war. Haak is showing up well at quarter, his weight of 180 pounds giving him some advantage over other members of the backfield. Sutton looks like a comer. He has the ability to pick the best holes in the ranks of the enemy, making good yardage in practice.

For the most part the men coming out are in good condition. With the exception of King, who is laid off with a dislocated shoulder, the injuries are slight. Some of them have sprains and bruises, but nothing serious.

Experience Much Needed

What the yearlings need is a game. Some of them scarcely know what to look for. They do not know what they can do. They need to find themselves. The coaches can tell them, but they must learn through much-needed experience. Baz says he can make them fight if nothing else, and believes they will get going, though it is slow, hard work. Only a few plays have been carried through to the satisfaction of coaches thus far this season.

The game with Mt. Angel is only a week off and then the freshmen will have the opportunity to show what they can do under fire.

MORE JOBS THAN MEN AT "Y" EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Many Already Have Paid All Expenses in College

The employment question remains a problem of no small size, according to "Mother" Donnelly at the Y. M. C. A. "Hut", who says that the demand for men to do odd jobs is now in excess of the supply. With the opening of the University many more men applied for work than there were places for, but at the present time paid all their expenses this year through odd jobs secured through the "Y" employment service, and there are many others who could follow their example.

Men who gave their names, addresses and phone numbers to the "Y" office should not wait to be called up, says Mrs. Donnelly. In the majority of cases it has been found impossible to reach these men by telephone, either because the students have moved, or for other reasons. Those who desire to work at odd jobs are urged to come into the hut the first thing in the mornings, at the noon-hour, or at any other vacant period they may have, and tell Mrs. Donnelly what hour during that day they can work. In many cases jobs will already be waiting for the men when they come in, and if not, their names will be held until work comes in for them. Any men, therefore, who desire to keep busy during their spare time, should get into the habit of dropping into the "Hut" once or twice a day to find out what there is to do.

Just at this time of the year an unusually large number of odd jobs are coming in, and for the most part they are ones which must be filled immediately. The work available now includes putting in wood, digging potatoes, picking apples, cleaning up yards, and similar jobs, which people desire to get out of the way while the good weather lasts.

The "Y" has been trying to raise its employment standards this year, both as to filling jobs promptly and as to sending men out who will do the work in an acceptable way. So far this policy has been meeting with great success, and there is a considerable improvement over last year. The amount of work available to students in the future will depend on their co-operation now in doing it promptly and efficiently. The people of the town have shown a great deal of interest in turning in all the work they have to the "Y," and thus giving University students the first chance at it.

TEAM SENT NORTH WITH GREAT STUDENT OVATION

Thundering Thousand Joins In Early Morning Rally At Depot For Departing Gridsters

Oregon's mighty-toned, "Thundering Thousand" and many loyal feminine backers sent the varsity foot-ball team and coaches off at 7:25 yesterday morning on the north-going Oregon Electric. To show their loyalty to Oregon's grid-iron battlers, who meet the University of Idaho's football team on Multnomah field in Portland this afternoon, the "Thundering Thousand" gave the varsity yell, the team yell, the individual yell, the "spell it" yell, and, just as the Oregon Electric departed, an "Oskey" of great magnitude.

At the depot, repeated calls of "We want Shy," "We want Bart," and "We want Howard" resulted in brief addresses by Coach "Shy" Huntington and Captain Howard. "Shy" and Captain Howard both said that they were going to fight and it wouldn't be their fault if Oregon didn't get Idaho's scalp. The close-pressed ralliers cheered these talks. Looking out of the car windows, Oregon's football men took in the rally calmly.

Early yesterday morning, even before day dawned, loyal rooters began to assemble in front of the library. Organized by Yell King Oberteuffer and his assistants, they commenced the hike to the Oregon Electric depot. Men formed the lines on both outer sides of the parade and the women filled the center in two lines. Augmentations were made at practically every corner of fraternity and sorority groups and individuals, and when the fountain at the foot of Willamette was reached, the parade was composed of well over 1000 individuals.

Rooters caps were worn—and rain coats for protection against the storm. Yell King Oberteuffer and his understudies directed the marchers.
