

FRESHMEN DEFEATED 42-7

MEN WITH YEARS OF FOOTBALL EXPERIENCE BUCK TEAM

Haak, Bliss, French Play Smashing Game; Forward Passes Used Consistently

In the game staged between the Oregon and the Washington yearling football aggregation Saturday in Seattle, greater experience won for Washington a score of 42 to 7.

The Oregon boys made their only score by means of a 15-yard pass from Haak, over the goal line, to Bliss. Haak kicked goal. In the last quarter, Baz's men succeeded in working the ball far into the enemy's territory by a series of passes, but unfortunately a fumble was recovered by one of the Washington players and the ball was started back toward the Oregon goal line. The Oregon players used passes consistently on the offensive. After the first half of the game, the winners abandoned passing and played straight football.

Washington Too Strong

This year the Washington freshmen have good teams, one of which defeated Everett high a week ago Saturday. It was the combination of these two that faced the Oregon freshmen. Of this combination the majority have had from three to five years football experience. Five of them are last year's Everett high school stars. It was not within the power of the Oregon boys, who lack in experience, to stay the advances of men who have played for years and know the game.

"The men did not lose their fight. They put their best efforts into the game until the last whistle had blown, but could not cope successfully with the veterans who opposed them," said coach Baz.

Strongest Team Met

Without doubt the Washington eleven is the best trained team on the freshman schedule this year. The Washington coaches, in a search for football material, succeeded in getting a number of men of experience and weight, men who had several years football experience in high school.

On the Oregon team the work of Haak, Bliss and French showed its result on the Washingtonians. These men will be given an opportunity to show what they can do in the game with Chemewa to be played here next Saturday.

have no bearing on the situation. Nine out of ten students will sign any petition circulated by students in behalf of any movement of the sort, regardless of its merits. It is common knowledge that disinterested people sign petitions promiscuously upon being asked. Even the students who are opposed to holidays will sign the petition without hesitation. Who wants to be a pikar?

Those objections to the shortening of the holiday are quick to disdain any motive of getting out of classes and yet it is somewhat singular that no offer has been made to make up this work in any fashion or to guarantee a high quality of work on the days immediately preceding and following the holiday. This fact is unfortunate. The fact that the University of Oregon began the work of the year a week later than at O. A. C. must of course also be taken into consideration.

There is also one other consideration. Instructors coming to the University of Oregon recently from other institutions remark upon the allowance the faculty at Oregon make for student opinion, and some are even unkind enough to say that the faculty has no backbone. It is certain that the readiness with which the students use their influence with the faculty in matters of minor importance and the partisanship displayed as shown by the campaign conducted so energetically through the Emerald is not calculated to increase the respect of the faculty for student fairness and sound judgment.

The people of the state of Oregon have recently shown their confidence in the higher institutions of Oregon by voting upon themselves in a period which constitutes for Oregon hard times, a heavy tax for the purpose of properly educating the young men and women of the state. Faculty and student, those who draw their income from the people of Oregon state and those whose education is paid for by the people of the state should deal fairly with the people of the state. A square deal means work well done and taking full advantage of opportunities provided. Many fathers and mothers are making tremendous sacrifices that their sons and daughters may be adequately prepared for life. The son or daughter who does not express his gratitude in terms of education results is lacking in one of the finest qualities of man or woman.

Student sentiment is easily aroused in questions of this sort and often leads to deep feeling. The student days of the writer are recent enough to afford vivid first-hand experiences in this request. It is fortunate, however, that ordinarily there are among student leaders a good percentage of individuals who have considerable reasoning power and judgment as well as emotions. And there are usually in any student body a large number of men and women who recognize a square deal if they can only be persuaded to do a little cool thinking for themselves. It is to be hoped that this year's student body is as fortunate in these respects as the student body in former years has been.

KAPPA THETA, BETA AND A. T. O. WINNERS IN MONDAY GAMES

Alpha Tau Omega won a rough game from Phi Deltas by the score of 13 to 8. Frequent fouls were called of which few were converted. Neither side seemed able to score during the first few minutes of play. Brocker and Couch were high point men for the winners while Murphy assumed the luminary role for the losers, with four points to his credit.

The lineups were:

|                        |          |
|------------------------|----------|
| Hemp.....F.....        | Alm 2    |

| Brocker 6.....C.....   | Murphy 4 |
| Couch 3.....G.....     | Bergwick |
| McGregor.....G.....    | Miner    |

Referee: Bohler.

Kappa Theta Chi proved too much for Sigma Nu who were defeated 15 to 6. The Kappa Theta Chi crowd showed up well in the contest. Zimmerman was easily the star of the game while Campbell was a worthy man for the losers.

The lineups were:

Nine Hundred Men and Women to Help; Walkeley Talks on Traditions

To extract 75 cents from the Homecoming luncheon from each of the 900 independent Oregon men and women, is the task assigned to the Oregon club.

At a meeting of the Oregon club last night plans were made for the part the club would take in Homecoming. Glenn Walkeley pleaded with the frosh to learn Oregon traditions and to obey them. Walkeley stated that most of the frosh that have been punished by the "Order of the O" are independent men. Emerald Sloan asked every independent man, and woman, on the campus to support, and cooperate with the club. He asked that Oregon club men root for the basketball team, representing the club.

MISS GREY RETURNS
Miss Lois Gray, recently returned to this country from France, resumed direction of her French classes Monday. Dr. Timothy Cloran has been conducting the classes during her absence. Miss Gray went to Paris early last summer, where she has been studying French Diction and other subjects at the Soeur Bonne.
