The battle for the coast championship will be this year as last, between the University of California and Stanford. Competition for coast honors was expected to come from Washington State or the Oregon Aggies, but with both of these teams on the short end of the scores turned in Saturday it is up to the Cardinals to fight it out with the Bruins.

The Cougars' defeat at the hands of Andy Smith's "wonder" team was a disappointment to many Northwest fans who had pinned their faith on the Pullmanites to bring the championship back to the north. Jenne's punting was undoubtedly a vital factor in the defeat although California demonstrated the fact that they had a superior all-around team.

Onside kicks were prominent in both teams attack, and the Cougars came within striking distance of a touchdown in the third quarter when Jenne kicked onside from California's 30-yard line. The ball soared high in the air and came down on the 5-yard line. In the resultant scramble McIvor of the Staters almost redeemed it on the 1-yard line but it slid away from him and a Bruin back recovered it behind his own goal.

Stanford's 14-7 defeat of the Aggies was a surprise, for the Aggies were considered championship contenders and were the heavy favorites in the betting.

In spite of Stanford's showing against O. A. C. Coach Bagshaw expects to wipe out last year's 3-0 defeat at the hands of the boys from Palo Alto in the game between the two schools, Saturday at Seattle.

Among the Oregon men who saw the battle on Multnomah field Saturday were Coaches, Huntington, Spellman and Mitchell, and Captain Mart Howard.

line will be built around Byers, Vester, and Potter.

Coast States Interested Interest in soccer has taken a decided increase throughout the coast states, according to press reports. Stanford plans on sending its team to Toronto, Canada, this year to play a series of five or six games with Canadian teams. Soccer is a letter sport at O. A. C. and the team this year is being coached by two men. Interest in the games played in the Portland league is attracting large crowds. Soccer enthusiasts at the University plan on having the proposition of making the noted Scotch game a minor letter sport with sweaters brought before the student body some time this year.
