"Every student get an alumnus."

For the next two weeks this will be the campus slogan for Homecoming. "The Homecoming committee is working hard, and has plans well in hand," according to Norton Winnard, chairman, "but if Homecoming is to be a complete success, every student must do his share."

The success of Homecoming will be judged by the number of alumni back on the campus. Each one will add to the glory of the week-end. The alumni secretary and all organizations have sent letters to all alumni. It is now up to every student, Winnard says, to send follow-up letters of a more personal and appealing nature. It has been suggested that students incorporate the Homecoming program in their letters. Tell about the bon-fire which, according to the frosh, is going to be the "biggest and best yet." Tell about the luncheon, the Order of the "O" parade, the dance and most of all tell them that Oregon fight still lives, and that a few farmers from down the valley will go home on the small end of the score after the game Saturday.

Alumni Meeting a Success

The Alumni meeting in Portland Saturday proved to be a huge success, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager, who attended and told about Homecoming plans. More than 200 alumni from all classes from '06 down to '21 were present. Robert Kuykendall, president of the Portland alumni, presided. A quartette from the University sang several songs. Professor James H. Gilbert also attended the meeting and gave a short pep talk. "If you are expecting a funeral in Eugene Saturday the 19th, you are sure to be disappointed," he said. "As alumni, you owe it to yourselves and the University to be back Homecoming, and renew old acquaintances, and refresh your college days." Virtually all alumni in attendance at the meeting signified their intention to be "Home to meet 'em, Back to beat 'em" on the 18th and 19th.

Paper Contains Satire

Replete with reminiscences of graduates and trenchant satire about the "Benton County Agricultural College," The Winnagen was sent to 3500 former students of the University last week-end. The Winnagen is a small paper published annually by the editing class in the interests of Homecoming. John Dierdorff was the editor this year, and Alexander Brown managing editor. The "scandal mongers" who assisted Dierdorff were Allan Carneross, Ruth Austin, Ep Hoyt, Wilford Allen, Madalene Logan, Velma Rupert, Ernest Haycox, Wanna McKinney, Florence Skinner, Floyd Maxwell, Claire Beale, John Strachan, Arne Rae, Earle Voorhies, Arnold Anderson, and Raymond

NOISE CARNIVAL PLANNED

Obie Will Exercise Cheer Crew

HOMECOMING PEP IS GOAL

The only Booters' Practice this week will be Thursday evening at 4:30 on Hayward field, announced Yell King Oberteuffer yesterday. The yell staff has prepared a stunt for the game and it is very important that it be practiced before the game. The nature of the stunt is a surprise. "We'll beat O. A. C. in the field and we'll beat them in the bleachers, predicted Obie, who wants the entire "Thundering Thousand" to appear on time Thursday afternoon. This is the only day this week that open practice will be held.

The good ship U. of O. goes in to drydock this week for vocal repairs. When she again takes to her element on the evening of November 18 Admiral Oberteuffer promises that every pep-instilling gun is going to be efficiently manned by a crew from the Thundering Thousand. "Obie's" captains, who will assist in maneuvering the great Homecoming rally, are Carolyn Cannon and "Ole" Larson.

Homecoming eve is to be one wild termination of a perfect classless day. And there is going to be a rally Friday evening which will be tremendous in its scope, according to the plans of the rally committee. The increased number of students and the great number of retiring grads will be homogenized into a super-efficient machine known as a pep instiller.

The Homecoming parade is booked for Friday night—the eve of the big day. Jack Myers is chairman of the committee which will have charge of this parade. His assistants are Jim King, Dick Sundeleaf, Dan Welch and Lyle Palmer. This committee is already functioning, and according to advanced dope, the strange pageant which will wind its sinuous way toward the center of the city, as many colored lights throw marchers into grotesque relief, is going to be a wonderful spectacle. Many things novel in the line of stunts will feature the parade.

After the parade comes the mass meeting on Kincaid field. As the flames from the frosh conflagration swirl toward the stars—or clouds—the football team and coaches will be assembled on a special platform. Old timers and alumni will address the crowd. Oberteuffer has stated that the rally committee is reserving a surprise for the student body on Friday evening. Ole Larson is chairman of the after-parade program.

No serpentine will be staged between halves of the big game Saturday, November 19, in accordance with the wishes of the athletic department. The yell staff has planned and will work out a new and novel stunt to take the place of the customary serpentine. Five-hundred members of the Thundering Thousand are to take part in this stunt.

"We've got to get going at once," said "Obie" in an interview yesterday. "Oregon spilled the dope at Pullman and we should all be rarin' to go. We can't let O. A. C. overshadow us in yelling at the game. While the team is walloping the Aggies on the field we will be giving them a vocal walloping in the grandstands."

Since the Aggies are booked to flock down from the north 3,000 strong for the great football classic, Oberteuffer and his assistants realize that the Oregon rooting must be systemized and made efficient. To attain the desired vocal proficiency several yell practices will be held between now and November 19. The Thundering Thousand are urged to be ready to head his summons and cooperate with him in organizing the rooting.

CONFERENCE YIELDS IDEAS

BARTHOLOMEW BACK FROM MEETING OF STUDENT HEADS

Next Sessions to be Held in Corvallis May 14; Many Subjects Taken Up and Discussed

"I have returned with many new ideas from the conference of student body presidents, held last week end at the University of Washington. Many of them will be felt soon by the student body, but for certain reasons I cannot give some of them at this time," said Lyle Bartholomew, when questioned on the work done at the conference. The ideas which Bartholomew favors are: The granting of a student body tax on summer students; A senior council for class discipline; That the activity organization be made a national; Assessing special students with a class tax; One honor organization in each department of a strictly departmental organization.

The Pacific Association of Student Body Presidents held their convention in conjunction with the Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association Thursday, Friday, and Saturday November 3, 4, and 5 at the University of Washington. This is the first time both organizations have met in conjunction. Thirteen schools were represented and 11 student body presidents were present.

Due to the fact that the constitution was made over, Lyle Bartholomew of Oregon remains president of the association and all old officers will keep their positions. On May 14 they will meet at Corvallis where the new officers will be installed, the old ones conducting the meeting.

At that time Bartholomew will endeavor to bring all student body presidents to the campus for at least half a day. It is also hoped to assemble all student body presidents in the United States in 1925 at Portland, provided the fair is held.

The following five resolutions were adopted at Seattle: Favoring the honor system in coast universities. The system is proving satisfactory at Washington and California, and is being worked on at Idaho and O. A. C.; Opposing financial drives on the campus without the sanction of the student body; Favoring weekly assemblies to promote school spirit; That all universities look well upon honor organizations, and that they be of limited number; Expansion of membership. It is also planned to expand the membership, including the University of British Columbia and other northern institutions. The members on this committee are: Dobins, W. S. C.; Richley, Willamette; Rich, McMinville. A resolution was passed thanking the

R.O.T.C. UNIT WILL PARADE

CADETS WILL MARCH ARMISTICE DAY WITH LEGION

All Men Asked to be Out; Those Taking Part to be Excused From Drill Period Next Week

The R. O. T. C. unit has been invited to participate in the Armistice Day parade, which will be held Friday morning in the downtown district. All local and civic organizations are to take part in this parade, also members of the American Legion.

According to Major Baird, every cadet is requested to report at 9:15 on Friday morning to form their respective companies. The band will also march in the parade and will lead the cadet battalion. Major Baird announced that all who participate in this parade will be excused from a drill period next week; which will be announced definitely later; and those who do not report as requested will be dealt with as the military department sees fit. It is important that every one is present so that the battalion will make a good showing. The drill period of last Friday was spent in battalion drill so that the men would become accustomed to the parade formation that will be used on Armistice Day.

Fifty-one men have been selected as members of the R. O. T. C. band. They are as follows:

- Adkinson, A., Baird, F., Belknap, K., Bethers, R. E., Biles, S., Bryson, R. G., Buchanan, W. R., Burton, C., Campbell, S. D., Chapman, F., Derman, F. B., Durst, H. E., Fargher, C. R., Fuehs, A. H., Gillenwaters, T., Graham, R., Hall, Kendall, Hill, Dudley; Home-wood, B. C., Johnson, D. N., Johnson, M. W., Jest, C. L., Knapp, D., Lee, Virgil; Lutz, L. H.
- Mack, J. W., Maples, S., Norris, Ivan, Norton, R. T., Palmer, W. L., Page, T. N., Pate, H. V., Pearson, J. L., Phillips, T., Pether, H. F., Powell, H. B., Rice, J., Roberts, I. P., Rosenberg, J. ## PRESS ASSOCIATION PRESIDENCY GIVEN EMERALD'S EDITOR

Floyd Maxwell Honored at Inter-Collegiate Meeting Held in Seattle

12 PAPERS REPRESENTED

Problems of Publications are Handled by Delegates at Coast Conference

University of Washington, Seattle, Nov. 6.—(P. I. N. S.)—(Special)—Floyd Maxwell, editor of the University of Oregon Emerald, was elected president of the coast Intercollegiate Press association yesterday at the close of the second annual convention held at the University of Washington. Lyle Kelling, editor of the Whitman Pioneer, was elected vice-president; Claude Palmer, editor of the Oregon Agricultural college Barometer, general editor; F. W. Bartlett, editor of the Daily Californian, secretary; Sheldon Sackett, editor of the Willamette University Collegian, treasurer, and L. R. Leveen, editor of the Washington State College Evergreen, delegate at large.

Two Editors Honored

Two honorary presidents were chosen by the association by way of calling attention to the character of newspaper work the men elected had been doing. The two honored were Chester Rowell, former editor of the Fresno Republican, and Roy D. Pinkerton, editor of the Seattle Star.

Willamette university and the University of Idaho were added to the list of colleges now getting the intercollegiate news service.

Pacific university was represented at the meeting, but the application from that school was taken under advisement and will be acted on later.

Washington Dean Speaks

At the morning session Dean Spencer of the University of Washington school of journalism spoke on the policy of the college newspapers and charged them with being provincial and with ignoring a vast fund of valuable material in the exchanges received from other colleges, particularly those on the Pacific coast.

Robert McFarlane, president of the student body, said the main issue confronting the student bodies of the coast universities was the need for stronger backing of honor examinations.

Problems are Discussed

Twelve college newspapers on the Pacific coast were represented at the three-day conference which opened at Seattle Thursday and ended Saturday. A program taking up the various problems of staff organization, business departments and editorial policies was followed by round table discussions.

At the close of the conference F. W. Bartlett, editor of the Daily Californian extended an invitation to the association to meet in Berkeley next fall for the third annual conference. Mr. Bartlett's invitation was accepted unanimously.

The college publications represented at the conference were: Willamette Collegian, O. A. C. Barometer, Pacific University Index, University of Idaho Argonaut, Whitman College Pioneer, Daily Palo Alto, Daily Californian, Reed College Quest, University of British Columbia Ubysey, Oregon Daily Emerald, Gonzaga Bulletin, University of Washington Daily and Washington State College Evergreen.

NO MORE COURSE CHANGES

Last Date for Withdrawal From Class by Petition Set for December

Students who have filed petition for transfer from one subject to another are advised by Professors James H. Gilbert, chairman of the committee on revision of students' courses, to remain in the subject they would drop, and not enroll in the other as November 1 was the last day permission to transfer could be granted by the committee.

Students who jump a subject to enroll in another will receive no credit for either subject, according to the chairman. Petitions to withdraw from a subject if deemed advisable will be granted until December 1.

STANFORD PLANS TOUR

An extensive tour of the Canadian provinces will be made by Stanford's rugby team during the Christmas holidays.

Good Football News Feature of Jitney Hop

How they shouted, yelled, and went into a frenzy of ecstasy when the 7-7 result of the Oregon-W. S. C. was announced at the rally dance given by Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, in the men's gym Saturday afternoon!

A special report of the game was furnished to the crowd by Sigma Delta Chi. After the freshman football game the jitney dance started, the reports coming in from time to time. A tense expectancy as to the final outcome was in the air until the news arrived of Oregon's victory after a tremendous fight by the Lemon-Yellow men.

From a financial standpoint the dance was not so successful. Too many students came and sat in the gallery without dancing, announced the management.

WRIGHT REVIEWS R.O.T.C.

WORK DONE BY CADETS HELD VITAL TO ARMY PROGRAM

Party to Visit Divisions of Northwest Institutions; Doughboy Statue Realistic, Says Officer

"I regard the work that the members of the University of Oregon R. O. T. C. are doing as a very necessary part of the military program for college men that the government is putting through." This was the statement of Major General William M. Wright, commandant of the Twelfth Military District, with headquarters at Presidio, General Wright and his son and aid Lieutenant William N. Wright, Jr., informally inspected the local military department and watched maneuvers on the drill ground yesterday morning.

The General and his party are making a tour of the colleges of the Northwest, including O. A. C., University of Washington and W. S. C. Oregon was the first institution visited. He expressed himself as much gratified by the showing of the cadets.

General Wright believes that the army's new policy toward college education for the young army officer is proving to be a strong influence in raising the army's morale. When it was decided that an opportunity would be given to the young officers to attend the various universities of the country, two percent of the men were chosen. These men are studying along the lines of technology and sociology, to the greatest extent.

General Wright left early yesterday afternoon for Corvallis to inspect the R. O. T. C. at the Oregon Agricultural College. During their visit to the campus, Major General Wright and party were guests at luncheon at Hendricks hall.

During his visit to the school of architecture and allied arts this afternoon General Wright greatly admired the statue of "The Doughboy," modeled by Avard Fairbanks, professor of sculpturing in the University. In the general's own words, "He looks as though someone had just taken a shot at him." General Wright added that he considered the figure characteristic of the actual doughboy and very well done.

FROSH MUST WORK

Sixty freshman a day are to be assigned for work on the bonfire, the construction of which is now under way, according to announcement by W. H. Metcalf, class president. Commencing today the list of 60 will be posted each day in front of the library of those to appear at 7 o'clock that evening to appear at Kincaid field. Punishment will be inflicted by Order of the "O" or Fro-tra-ee upon those who fail to appear when the names are checked up on the field.

ILLINOI MAKE RECORD PLEDGE

Students on the campus of the University of Illinois have pledged in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 for the stadium fund.

Noted Baritone to Be Heard in Villard Saturday Night

Erwyn Mutch, baritone, will appear in concert in Villard hall Saturday evening, November 12, in the second of the series of three concerts that has been arranged by the Woman's League in an effort to clear the debt remaining from the Portland Symphony orchestra concert in the spring.

Mr. Mutch, who is at present an instructor in the Ellison White Conservatory of Music in Portland, was for some time soloist with the New York Sym-

VARSITY BATTLES WAY TO TIE WITH COUGARS, 7 TO 7

Lemon-Yellow Upsets Dope; Oregon's Score Made in Last Quarter

CHAPMAN STARS IN GAME

One Touchdown not Allowed; Contest Brilliant and Cleanly Played

By EP HOYT

With the score 7-0 against them in the fourth quarter of the game with Washington State College, played Saturday on Rogers field, the fighting varsity came up from behind, and, taking the ball from the Staters in mid-field on downs began a march of line bucks, end runs and forward passes that resulted in Chapman's plunging over for a touchdown. Leslie kicked goal a minute later and the final score was, Oregon 7, Washington State 7.

In the game with the Cougars the varsity was outdoped but they were not outplayed or outthought. Not even conceded a chance against the speedy Cougars by the experts, the Lemon-Yellow came back strong and gave western football fans the surprise of their lives by playing the brilliant Fullman machine off their feet and turning in a tie score where all the "wise ones" predicted they would be lucky if they held Gus Welch's Staters to a three-touchdown lead.

One Score Disallowed

It was just a stroke of fate that prevented the varsity from winning the game by actual count. Late in the fourth quarter, King, left half, recovered Zaeffel's fumble and raced across the Cougar line. The touchdown was disallowed, however, as an Oregon man was called for tripping Mike Moran, who was making a desperate effort to pick King off from behind.

A little later the varsity took the ball in mid-field and not to be denied, marched straight through the Cougar defense, on an offensive that resulted in a touchdown. A brilliant assortment of plays were used, on the march to the goal, line bucks mixed with forward passes and yardage was made practically every time Hal Chapman called the play.

Clean, Brilliant Game

According to those who saw the game it was brilliantly played and excelled the California-Cougar battle of a week earlier. It was an exceptionally clean game and only three penalties were called during the hour's play, two for Washington State and one for Oregon.

The Cougars secured their points in the second quarter with Big Mike Moran carrying the ball over the Oregon line. Skadan, quarter on the 25-yard line, passed to Jenne, who got to the Lemon-Yellow's 3-yard marker before he fell, where Mike Moran shoved it over in two attempts, Skadan kicking goal.

Chapman Shines at Quarter

Chapman, at quarter played a brilliant game for Oregon and was characterized in press reports as the most brilliant man on the field. He was ably seconded by George King veteran back. "Hunk" Latham playing his first game at fullback, full-filled Huntington's confidence in his ability and came through like a veteran, being especially apt at pulling the passes out of the air.

"Dutch" Gram looked good at half while he was in the lineup, and Ward Johnson, who relieved him, tore through the Cougar line repeatedly for yardage.

The varsity line showed up to good advantage during most of the game and except for a little while in the
