The Frosh and Their Bonfire.

The one big test of the year for the loyalty of the freshmen class comes at Homecoming. To the class then goes the rightful distinction of taking hold of an officially sanctioned activity and making of it either a success or a failure. Its success or its failure will be left to the alumni who return to the campus, and they have a critical eye.

"Now remember the old bonfire we had when we were freshmen? Why they thought the whole town was on fire," is the way they reminisce. The Oregon frosh have made a poor start so far, and there will be long nights of vigil, and long days of hard work for them. With the "B and B" class with us, which translated means, biggest and best, there should be no worry about the success of the bonfire rally.

After some very keen competition the personnel of the University orchestra has been announced and the first public appearance of the organization this year will be at the Woman's building Friday night. The orchestra is a worthy undertaking. Its program of musical numbers is usually one of merit.

Sixteen hours for a degree, nine hours to stay in college. Since the first monthly grades have been given out some are uncertain just which way they want to jump.

Yell duke at Washington announced that all students and civilians were invited to their big Stadium Dance. He must have signed up for four years.

Oregon Fight beats Cougar football science, reads a press dispatch of the game. Science alone never made a football team. Both elements are necessary.

"Home to Meet 'Em; Back to Beat 'Em."

CIRCULATING LIBRARY FOR USE OF STUDENTS

Librarian States That Periodicals Not In Demand; Novels May be Read For Small Amount

Mrs. M. F. McClain, the circulating librarian of the University has issued an S. O. S. call to the campus at large. "The students, in general, do not seem to know that the library keeps circulating periodicals especially for their use. The magazines in the racks do not circulate," says Mrs. McClain, "but over near the circulation desk they will find a revolving book-rack. Here the World's Work, The Literary Digest, The Atlantic Monthly, and Good Housekeeping, an excellent quartet, accompanied by a good chorus of the other periodicals keep up a daily symphony, 'I Hear You Calling Me,' but nobody hears them and the poor things are eventually condemned to the files without even having had a glimpse of the outside world."

Having delivered herself of this pathetic plea for the magazines Mrs. McClain continued, "You know the latest acquisition of the library is a series of dime novels, only they're a nickel now that the war is over. You pay five cents a day and keep them out as long as you can stand the price. Yes, we accept checks," she smiled sweetly. "We got these since we felt that the undergraduates would be too busy to read fiction. Some of the representative books in this list are, 'The Brimming Cup' by Dorothy Canfield, 'Mirrors of Downing Street' anonymous, and 'The Glass of Fashion' also anonymous.

INSIGNIA OF PREP BARRED

Order of the "O" Will Dole Out Punishment to Offenders

Provided that the problem of the diminishing supply of paddles is solved, the Order of the "O" will again stage its pre-assembly stunt on the library steps tomorrow morning. Lately the omnipotent order of the circular letter has discovered that high school letters and other insignia are being worn by University students. Woe be unto the student who again appears on the campus with such an emblem decorating any part of his habiliments. It is rumored that a flexible paddle will be used by the distributor of punishment unless the freshmen design a non-breakable abbreviated oar in the immediate future.

BAR-ROOM BUST MIXUP OF WILD CHARACTERS

Pirates, Brits, Sheriffs, and all Sorts of Dancers are Guests at Hendricks Hall Party

Spanish pirates, English dudes, cowboys and gobs; dainty maidens, ballet dancers and wild women—they were all there. A little western town in the early forties—on one corner the sheriff's office with the sign on the door, "Marriage licences while you wait" and just below it, "Get your dog licence here." On the opposite corner was "Emporium, where you might purchase everything from ribbons to hardware. Best of all is the "Happy Home Saloon" where jovial bartenders served you with—root beer and pretzels. And now we are ready for Act I, Scene I of the Sophomore Bar Room Bust, which was enacted Friday evening at Hendricks hall.

The sophomores entertained their frosh, and, dressed as men called for them, escorted them to the dance, showed them a good time and took them home again. The music is reported to have been great, and the Paul Joneses were numerous. The sheriff and his assistants were kept busy seeing that the dance was conducted according to the regulations of the town council.

In conclusion the success of the evening was very well expressed by the English lord who adjusted his monocle and drawled, "an extraordinary jolly pahty" as he swung at an imaginary golf ball.

ONTHANK AND FAMILY RETURN

Karl Onthank, secretary to the president, spent the week-end in Hood River visiting with his parents. Mr. Onthank, who was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Betty, returned by machine, Monday.

GOLF COURSE ON CAMPUS

Lovers of Sport Play on Rough Field; Choice of Vocabulary is Required

The swamps opposite the Co-op are being utilized by followers of the game of golf. The absence of a regular course has not daunted the lovers of the sport, who have picked out the smooth spots for the holes and have found plenty of room for practice links among the weeds. The rudiments of the game are being taught, and although the holes are few, plenty of time is being taken in the consideration of the vocabulary.

Among those who are swinging the stick in the back lot, and are appearing with the regularity of real fans are Russ Burton, Bill Peek, Don Bennett, P. V. McElwain, George Gardener and Alden Bennett. Many more are expected to take advantage of the vacant space near the campus, even though just for practice.

LIBRARY ADDS ART PRINTS

220 Colored Plates Show Ornaments Of All Historical Periods

The art collection of the library of the University has an important addition in the Racinet Plates which is a group of 220 large colored prints of different forms of ornament of all historic periods, including reliefs, paintings, enamels, porcelains, tapestries and many others. These are described in two volumes which are published in Paris for the use of Professor Schreff's classes in art a translation of the French text has been made by Miss Camilla Leach, librarian of the school of architecture and allied arts. The title of the French edition is "L'Ornement Polychrome."

"Ideas Are the Precious Jewels of Business"

Back in the Spring of 1902, at Kemmerer, Wyoming, an idea was born! It was strong, healthy, courageous! It was destined to grow; to become Nation-wide in all the things that combined, go to make the shoppers' store superior.

It was the idea—the precious jewel of business—from which was to develop the long line of 312 J. C. Penney Company busy stores, located here and there in 26 States.

That idea of nearly 20 years ago introduced a merchandising and selling policy of quality, service, economy—a policy that has weathered the storms and attracted hundreds of thousands of admirers. It is the policy that is carrying on to even greater, more remarkable achievements!

Through this great system of stores—a purchasing power of tremendous proportions—savings created and given to the public—store service that really serves—is afforded buying advantages every man, woman and child regards both a profit and a pleasure.

The Present Era of Energy requires energy food. Students in particular must keep mentally and physically fit. Just any food will not do. Milk products, like no other foods, repair the inroads upon the vitality of the workers of the nation. Use BLUE BELL Butter, Cheese and Ice Cream.
