WOMEN LIVING OUTSIDE ORGANIZATIONS TO MEET

Plan to Gather Girls Into Groups is Discussed by Women in Meeting With Dean Fox

Plans to gather all girls who do not live in organizations into groups according to districts were discussed with Dean Fox Thursday afternoon at a meeting of women, at whose houses University girls are living. It was decided that a meeting which all the girls and their hostesses are invited to attend will be held by Dean Fox on December 6, when detailed plans will be made general.

Dean Fox hopes to get every girl on the campus into some kind of an organization. Each district will elect a representative who will meet with Dean Fox every month. This group of delegates will meet delegates from other organizations on the campus, thus drawing all of the girls on the campus closer together.

FRESHMEN WATCHERS ON KINCAID FIELD GET SCARE

Suspicious Scouting Party Sees Danger at Sight of Cavalcade of Strange Machines

"PUFF... PUU-UF... PANT... WHO-OH!"

"Hey! Fellows! The men out on the wood truck just telephoned that there are six trucks and two touring car loads of O. A. C. boys on their way into town."

It was A. C. Read, the campus photographer, who breathlessly spread the alarm among the frosh guards on Kincaid field at 1:15 Wednesday morning.

Frosh who had been peacefully sleeping in their dugouts swarmed onto the field in wild excitement. Somebody started to beat on the big alarm-triangle, but was finally quieted. A touring car filled with men was seen on 13th Avenue, turning north at the Co-op.

"There's their scouting party! Up on your toes, fellows! We're sure in for some fun!" shouted the frosh.

Read was busily explaining, when the wood-truck which had encountered the column of invaders drove up. Fred Young, in charge, explained that as they were going down a side street onto the Pacific highway, they saw two machines and six big gravel trucks speeding into the city. They gave chase, but were soon outdistanced, and returned to the field. After a short council, it was decided to send out a scouting party to investigate. Read's machine was cranked up, and the spies started bravely forth.

A short time after this, a long string of heavy trucks thundered up the street, amid exclamations of various sorts from the watchers on Kincaid passing through Eugene on its way from The Dalles to Grants Pass. Frosh not on the job returned to their dugouts and took another cat-nap.

LAW SCHOOL GETS BOOKS

Nine Sets of Special State Reports Added to Library

The law school library has received three complete sets of Reports of the Oregon Supreme Court, three sets of the 1921 Session laws, and three sets of the Oregon Code. According to Dean Hale, these sets were much needed to facilitate the special work being done by the law students, in Oregon Procedure. The sets were received through Sam Kozor, secretary of state, and the state printing board.

The Fenton Memorial library, containing about 5000 volumes, and donated to the law school by Judge W. D. Fenton of Portland, is now completely arranged on the shelves of the law library.
