

HOSTS OF OREGON CALLED FROM AFAR FOR BIG OCCASION

field a monument to the spirit of the past.

Welcome Signs Appearing

Signs of welcome, of Oregonism everywhere are blossoming out, from the lowly lapel pennant to the huge electric house-top signs. Even old Jupe Pluvivus seems to sense the spirit of the occasion and weather conditions are not so threatening.

The week-end festivities will be started at 7 o'clock tonight when the greatest student parade ever held in Oregon will get underway, starting from the library.

This parade will be a long series of features. A cup is offered to the organization making the most noise. Fireworks will be a feature and when the noise makers arrive down town beacon lights will flash from Spencer's and Skinner's buttes. A total of $250 has been spent for fireworks. Senior cops in their patrol wagon will be on hand to see that order is maintained. Following the downtown parade the annual bonfire and rally will be held on Kincaid field followed by a street dance on University street.

The O. A. C. special train will arrive here at 1:10. It will be met by President P. L. Campbell, student body officers and representatives of the Emerald staff together with the University band. A parade will be formed at the station and will head directly for Hayward field.

Big Meeting of Alumni

The alumni meeting in the Woman's building at 10 o'clock will be one of the biggest events of the program, according to present plans. At this meeting every alumnus and former student of the University is urged to be present. A short snappy meeting has been outlined with Bill Hayward as one of the probable speakers. It will be the one big get-together meeting of the alumni and ex-students and will probably take the form of a rally. The only qualification one must have to attend this meeting is to have attended at some time in the past, one assembly in Villard hall, according to Jeannette Calkins, acting alumni secretary.

The campus luncheon will be held on the campus if the weather is favorable. Otherwise it will be held in the men's gymnasium. A committee headed by Ella Rawlings has worked steadily on this feature and enough real food will be on hand for all. Several traditional features will take place during the noon hour to enliven the assemblage.

Order of O to Parade

Saturday afternoon will be one long to be remembered by the 17,000 people who are expected to pack the stands and bleachers of Hayward field to overflowing. True, the game will be the one big center of all interest but all those colorful scenes which take form only at an intercollegiate football classic will be painted on every side.

At 2 o'clock more than 200 Order of the O men, wearing their "O" sweaters, will parade upon the field and after circling the gridiron will take a special section of seats under the press box and near the side-lines, where an excellent view of the game may be had.

Governor Olcott will be among the distinguished guests present and he will toss onto the field the ball which will be used in the contest.

Oregon Knights to Help

The Oregon Knights, adorned in their distinctive sweaters and caps will take care of all ushering, car parking, score board and like duties. They also have instructions to deal roughly with individuals who forget they are University of Oregon students with a University code of sportsmanship to live up to.

Between halves the Oregon and O. A. C. rooster sections will execute novel stunts.

The first annual Order of the O banquet is slated for six o'clock at the Osburn hotel. Here the Oregon football squad will be guests of old letter men and men of the active order who will each pay 75 cents a plate. There will be few or no speeches so that the banquet will not interfere with the annual Homecoming dance.

Two Dances in Evening

Alumni and senior and junior men with their ladies will gather at the woman's building for the Homecoming dance with underclassmen and visitors at the Armory. Tickets will be $1 and a ban has been placed on flowers, taxis and formal attire. Tickets are on sale at the Co-op store. Students are requested not to go to either dance with programs already filled out as this would mean trouble from many sources.

Earning Power

Do you realize how much depends upon good eyesight? That your pleasure in life, as well as your earning capacity, is governed by the quality of your sight?

Defective sight, even in a small degree, causes imperfect understanding and therefore less enjoyment than has the possessor of perfect sight. Imperfect understanding must also affect the earning powers. Neglect small defects and they grow more serious. We test the eyes in the most scientific manner, and know just what glasses should be worn. Our experience and methods insure your safety.
