Go Slow.

The football committee is considering its recommendation for head coach at Oregon another year. Its decision is of vast importance and a matter in which every student and alumnus of Oregon is greatly interested. There can be no underestimating of the importance of such a decision and what it may mean to Oregon.

This committee fully realizes the importance of its mission and will render a decision which it believes will be the best for the school, for the students and for Oregon. Further than that, the committee cannot go. It cannot insure the success or cause the failure of the individual who is selected for the position.

Hasty judgments cannot be passed at such a time, a thorough and deliberate investigation preceding the decision is necessary, for great things hinge on the final decision.

Oregon students are fortunate today in having an opportunity to hear an address by Charles H. Mackintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. Mr. Mackintosh is an excellent speaker, with a pleasing personality, and his topic will be worth while.

The Emerald maintains an open forum column, where students may voice their opinions on campus and other subjects. The users of this column are few. When questions in which you have an opinion arise, sit down and write out your solution. It might look well in print.

Today is assembly day. A good speaker, a good day to be indoors and no assembly for two weeks are all arguments for a record attendance.

Why blame it on to the higher standards, because you have sluffed along for three months and suddenly find that exams are staring you in the face!

DYMENT WRITES FOR QUILL

Article in Sigma Delta Chi Monthly Points Defect of News Agency

In the current number of The Quill, official organ of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, appears an article by Dean Dymont entitled "It Must Happen Today." The article is illustrated with examples of the attempts of the United Press to always get the word "today" in its leads. Dean Dymont says in closing: "The word can well do with a little less

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK DISCUSSED BY Y. W. C. A.

Speakers at Vocational Conference Meeting Tell of Opportunities Offered College Women

Various phases of Christian social service work and the opportunities which it offers to college women were outlined at the Y. W. C. A. vocational conference meeting held Tuesday evening at the bungalow.

Miss Katherine Burnside, University of Washington graduate, who for the past four years has been actively engaged in social service work, emphasized the fact that the real religious training of the next generation is largely in the hands of college women of the present day. She urged the girls to understand their obligation and to think their religion through for themselves in order to be secure in their faith.

Mrs. Charles Bowen, who spent a number of years working among the Chinese and Mrs. W. E. Rambo, who for several years was engaged in reconstruction work in Armenia, outlined the possibilities of work in the foreign field. They emphasized the fact that the greatest need of modern times lies in the education of oriental women, and urged everyone to stand by the Near East.

REX UNDERWOOD TO PLAY FOR RADIO TELEPHONE

Sound of Violin Will be Transmitted To Many Operators; Jane Thacher is Accompanist

Tones from the violin of Rex Underwood, instructor of violin in the University school of music, will be heard all over the northwest and in California, by ships at sea, in short everywhere where radio operators are listening this evening. Mr. Underwood, accompanied by Jane Thacher, instructor of piano, will play for the radio telephone in the office of the Portland Telegram in connection with the observation of Portland's better music week.

At a tryout held last week the sound of the violin was heard in the Catalina islands. It was hoped, Mr. Underwood said, that an amplifier of the sort used to enable large audiences to hear speeches delivered in distant cities could be used, but it was impossible to obtain one. However, operators everywhere will be able to hear the music. The selection to be played is "Meditation" from "Thais."

On Friday evening Mr. Underwood and Mrs. Thacher are to appear in a recital in the Streets studio in Portland.

What do you know about—# the meat you eat?

You ought to know about it—for the sake of your health, your appetite, and your pocketbook.

But if you can't—and most people don't — there's one thing you can do, that is really just as good—

That is, buy your meat of an establishment with a reputation for providing its customers with first-class meats—always the best to be had, and at prices that are invariably reasonable.
