

FAIRBANKS WORKS ON STATUARY FOR CAMPUS

"Mother Group" Will be Ten Feet High When Done

Professor Avarad Fairbanks, of the school of art, is working on the miniature of piece of statuary, 10 feet high, symbolic of Oregon motherhood and young womanhood, which will adorn the women's quadrangle.

"It is to be known as the 'Mother Group,'" said Mr. Fairbanks, "representing an Oregon mother and a girl of university age."

"The girl is extending her left hand, seeking education; her right arm is holding to the ideals of motherhood; the ideals which her mother taught her. Youth in her exuberance of ambition, of vitality, reaches forth on tiptoe and in doing so puts herself in a balanced position in life. Thus holding to the ideals of motherhood, she keeps a well-balanced thought and poise throughout life.

"The draperies of the two are suggestive of their spirits. Those of the mother express strength, while those of the daughter express restlessness, grace, and beautifully flowing lines.

"The young women who will pass it day by day, it is hoped, will get a new thought, a new message, each time they chance by. It is desired to inspire them with a deep love for their mothers and their home life. The group will impress upon them that in coming to the University they are not to forsake the home teachings and the deep insight of their parents.

The group is to be chiseled out of pink granite, which expresses at once strength and delicacy."

The group will be set in the center of the women's quadrangle, which is flanked by the Woman's building and the two dormitories for women. The cost of the statuary has not yet been estimated. According to Professor Fairbanks, the piece of statuary will be four or five years in the making.

Only one game was played in the doughnut league last night resulting in a 28 to 12 victory for Sigma Chi over Delta Tau Delta. The speedy foot work of Spear for Sigma Chi deserves mention and Gowans and Beaver played a laudable game for the losers.

Chi Psi forfeited a game to Phi Delta Theta by not showing up. As yet no account has been taken of forfeited games in the team standing but these will be considered in the final reckoning.

Eddie Durno, frosh basketball coach, has announced that frosh practice will be held Saturday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock.

The best display of basketball talent yet witnessed in the doughnut league is promised for today when four league leading teams battle. Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Sigma are due to scrap at 4 o'clock and one hour later Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will meet.

DEANS MEET AT DINNER

The deans of schools at the University have established the custom of holding monthly dinners at the Anchorage, in the hope of establishing a better understanding of the plans and policies of one another's departments. The second meeting was held Thursday. Dr. Rebec explained the hopes and ideals of the graduate school.
