

SIXTY MEN ARE OUT FOR EARLY TRACK WORKOUTS

Aspirants Turn Out in Heavy Jerseys Regularly

TUCK MAY NOT RETURN

Last Year's Frosh Are Looked to For Team Nucleus

About 60 men have enrolled under track coach "Hank" Foster for the hard track season ahead. About 40 of this number of aspirants are out for gym credit, leaving only about 20 trying for places on the varsity squad. Not many of last year's stars have put in an appearance on the cinders as yet.

The last year's frosh aggregation is pretty well represented already, and it is to these that the coach is looking largely to carry off honors in many of the events. However some of the old letter men are on deck to win new laurels, and more are expected as soon as the weather warms up some. Glen Walkley, last year star performer, in the mile may be prevented from turning out for a while because of the trouble with his foot, but Hank thinks that he will be good for another whirl this year. Guy Koeppe, also a promising distance runner of last year will be out in a short time.

Tuck Will be Missed
It has been authentically stated that Art Tuck will not be back this spring to defend Oregon in the javalin and discus throws. This leaves a serious hole in the defense, as Art used to be in a class of his own when it came to hurling the javalin.

According to Foster, John Rosenberg, one of the star frosh performers of last year will not be back. In the pole vault, high jump and relay he gave promise of doing exceptional work this year. Trainer "Bill" Hayward has been counting on him to take a place among the contestants, but someone else will have to be found to take his place.

Ralph Spearow, another outstanding figure among last year's freshmen is signed up for the early training. According to Hank, Spearow is a comer in the broad jump, high jump, and great things are expected of him this year. Lee Weber is another of those looked to to shine out among the stars of the cinder track. Weber is a hurdler of no mean ability.

McGraw Looks Good
Troy McGraw won a name among the last year's frosh for throwing the discus and shot. McGraw is husky and ought to be made into a real putter before the season is over. Others of promise from among the ranks of the sophomores are: Harley Covalt, 440 man, Lawrence Cook who does the 440, the low hurdles and the relay, Risley, and Beatie.

The Aggie meet comes off April 13 at Corvallis, and despite the lack of new material available this year, Hank is confident that the Lemon-yellow followers of the cinder track will stack up pretty well with them. The two events to be feared most are the two mile and quarter mile runs. O. A. C. will be strong in those two positions in the spring whereas Oregon will not. However the other places will be pretty well fortified against the Ag's invasion.

The cold weather has put a decided crimp in the warming up activities of the runners, but most of them are managing to get up a good sweat with the aid of heavy warming up clothes at least three times a week, which is about all that will be required of them until later on in the season.

STUDENT BIBLE CLASSES TO SEEK MORE MEMBERS

Church Cooperation Committee Heads Campus Campaign for Enrollment at Sunday Discussions

That a united campaign for the purpose of inducing students to attend one of the student bible classes, will be conducted on the campus as soon as possible, was the decision reached by the church cooperation committee at a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow last night.

The meeting, which was in the form of a luncheon served by the Y. W. C. A. girls was attended by a representative from each of the denominations, a representative from each of the student bible classes and four of the ministers. Instead of having each church do its own advertising on the campus, as has been the custom in the past, it was decided that students from the bible classes should cooperate and work together in obtaining new students for these classes, with the idea of making the undertaking entirely one from the student point of view.

A motion was unanimously passed and a committee appointed to work out plans for a general campus campaign to last from six weeks to two months. At the end of this time, according to Mr. Putnam, secretary of the Campus Y. M. C. A., it is the intention to hold a united rally of all the members of the bible classes and engage some nationally known speaker to address them. Among the possible speakers who might be obtained, he mentioned the names of Prof. Edward Steiner, of Cornell and Dr. E. L. Eaton, of the University of Washington.

The committee which was appointed to plan for the attendance campaign is composed of the following students: Wm. Purdy, chairman, Glenn Frank, Henry Karpenstein, Margaret Carter, Irwin Adams, Arnold Anderson, Ruby Baugh, Margaret Mathisen, Boyd Iseminger, Wm. Tow, and Roy Bryson.

Eleven of the Y. W. C. A. Bible study classes, organized in the women's houses, started Wednesday evening. The first classes took for their topics "The Modern Attitude toward the Bible." SUCCESSFUL CONCERT GIVEN

Friends of David Campbell, well known pianist of Portland and brother of President Campbell of the University, will be interested to know that on Tuesday evening, January 10, he gave a very successful concert at the Multnomah hotel. Mr. Campbell is known throughout the northwest as a concert soloist of great talent and is at present at the head of the Ellison-White Conservatory of Music in Portland. University students will remember that he played a solo at the concert given on the campus by the Portland Symphony Orchestra last April.

WARNER ART COLLECTION CONSIDERED INVALUABLE

Rare Antique Objects May Be Museum Nucleus

Much interest and appreciation is being shown on the campus as a result of the recent gift to the University of an art collection by Mrs. Murray Warner of Eugene. Mrs. Warner has offered her entire collection of art objects to the University as a part of a possible art museum on the campus and as soon as cases are obtained to hold it the collection will be placed in the club rooms of the Women's building.

The collection contains many old and rare antiques which Mrs. Warner collected on her travels in Europe and the Orient, and many of them could not be duplicated today. There are 25 Chinese Mandarin coats and skirts, all embroidered and finely woven and among them a coat which formerly belonged to a Chinese emperor. Over 200 Japanese prints of inestimable value form another part of the collection. Many of these are very old and rare and are done by the best Japanese artists.

Large Tapestries Included
There are several large tapestries and wall hangings and great numbers of embroideries and panels. One group of these is made up of twelve separate panels the design of each of these representing a month of the year.

The collection contains also a number of rare pieces of china and porcelain as well as several brass jars, a porcelain screen and an antique bronze temple bell.

Another group comprises old war implements, knives, helmets, swords, and a set of Japanese armor. Too numerous to describe are many other objects of great value from China, Japan, India, France, Italy, Turkey, and Switzerland.

Dean Lawrence Gives Praise
The Warner collection is invaluable and has no equal in the entire country, according to Dean Ellis Lawrence, of the school of architecture. "It is especially fitting," stated Dean Lawrence today, "that our art school on the coast should have such a fine Oriental collection for it is through us that the art of the Orient reaches the United States."

Miss Maude Kerns, head of the normal arts department of the school believes that this collection will be of great value to the department in the classes of decoration and design, especially from the standpoint of color and design. It will serve the students in the department as an illustration of the best in art, according to Miss Kerns.

MEN MAKE DOLL CLOTHES

Fraternity boys at Northwestern University are spending their spare time in making doll dresses. One sorority has sent an invitation to each of the twelve fraternities to enter into a doll contest which is to decide which fraternity has the best idea of the dress that symbolizes the modesty of girls.
