

GRADUATES OF OREGON MAKE GOOD AT HARVARD

Paul Spangler Writes of Men
at Eastern School

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE WON

"Bill" Livingstone Plans to Return to Campus

"The Oregon men who are now and have been back here have all made records to be proud of," writes Paul "Kewp" Spangler, '18, from Harvard Medical school.

"There are two very definite reasons for this; first the 'get up and go' (the let 'er buck spirit—the old Oregon Fight) gives them an impetus that gives them a decided jump on the more conservative and conventional easterners, and second, we were all obsessed with the idea that we would be at a decided disadvantage competing with Harvard men. We work like the devil, and then we find that our work at Oregon has given us as good educational training as the Harvard undergraduate gets, so we try to prove ourselves even better than the rest."

Spangler, who is now in his third year at Harvard, has upheld the honor of Oregon by winning a scholarship in the school of medicine each year he has been there, and is widely known for the high quality of his work. He has one more year at Harvard, then after two years in a Boston or New York hospital, he intends to return to Oregon to practice.

Spangler was well known on the Oregon campus for his various activities. Besides standing high in scholarship, he was president of the student body, president of his senior class, and took part in various other student body affairs.

Livingston Makes Record

"Bill" Livingstone, a graduate of the class of 1913, has, according to Spangler, made a most enviable record while at Harvard medical school, where he was graduated in 1920, receiving his M.D. cum laude, which is the highest honor Harvard attaches to her medical degree. He is now a senior on the West Surgical Service at the Massachusetts General Hospital. After finishing his two year internship, he is coming back to Oregon to take charge of the University infirmary.

William Murphy, also of the class of '13, has distinguished himself in scholarship, and is now finishing a two-year appointment at the Rhode Island hospital. He is to be resident physician at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, one of the largest in Boston, as soon as his present term is over. Frank Scaife, '17, was graduated cum laude from Harvard last June, and is now serving a two-year appointment at New York City hospital. Wayne Stater, '17, who also was graduated from Harvard last June, has done some important research work which is soon to be published in one of the big medical journals. His work will have an important bearing on the post-operative comfort of surgical and obstetrical cases.

Others are Enrolled

Three Oregon men are enrolled in the same class with Spangler, having been transferred from the U. of O. medical school at Portland. They are, Ned Fowler, '20; "Tub" Ogle, '18, and Joe Bell, '17. All are "getting by in first class shape," writes Spangler.

The Oregon club at Boston, according to Spangler, has 75 enthusiastic members. "We are all looking forward to the time when we will once more tread the soil at our alma mater," he writes, "As mighty as Harvard seems, and in all due respect to the Harvard undergraduate school, if I have a son he'll go to Oregon for his undergraduate work."

Paul Spangler is the son of Rev. A. M. Spangler, who was minister of the first Congregational church of Eugene for many years and secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A., during the war.

EDISON MARSHALL VISITS

Edison Marshall, former student of the University of Oregon, and now short story writer and author, visited the campus yesterday and spoke before the class in editing and in interpretative news. Mr. Marshall talked of some of his experiences in the writing world. While here he visited with his 'brothers at the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He was a member of the class of '17.

SOCIAL NEWS NOTES

The past week has been an active one socially, due to the number of formal dancing parties given by fraternities and sororities, and other minor social affairs given for the Portland guests who were here on the campus for the formals. Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Bachelordom and Phi Sigma Pi entertained with formal parties over the week-end.

Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained with a formal in the chapter house Saturday night. The motif was Oriental with the walls hung with Oriental rugs and tapestries. Incense was burned in the dancing rooms. The light shades were red with the figures of Egyptian women painted on them in black. Little Barbara Mehue, dressed as Cleopatra, gave an Oriental dance, after which she distributed red and black boxes painted like the light shades and filled with cigarettes. Punch was served from a large brass bowl in a tapestry-hung alcove. Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Watson, and Dean Elizabeth Fox.

The Monday Book Club gave an enjoyable silver tea Saturday afternoon in the Alumni hall of the Woman's building, for the benefit of the Scholarship Loan Fund. During the afternoon a delightful musical program was given.

A charming visitor on the campus over the week-end was Mlle. Suzanne Bidgrain, secretary of the World Student Christian Federation, who was the guest of Dean Elizabeth Fox. The delightful French woman is said to be the leading woman graduate in French university circles. Saturday morning Dean Fox invited a few women who were French enthusiasts or had been to France, to meet Mlle. Bidgrain. A luncheon was given Saturday noon at Hendricks hall for the distinguished visitor. Those attending were besides the guest of honor, Dean Elizabeth Fox, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Dean Dymont, Miss Helen Broeksmitt and Miss Henrietta Gouy. In the afternoon Mlle. Bidgrain spoke at "Villard hall to students on "Student Life in Europe."

Delta Gamma gave their formal at the Osburn Hotel, Saturday evening. The rooms were attractively decorated with large flowers cut from orange, French blue, and maroon-colored paper. The ceiling was of orange lattice work in which ivy and pine boughs were woven. Large butterflies, also of orange and French blue, carried out the color scheme. Margaret Holeman of Portland gave an interpretive dance for the feature, following which the lights were turned out and the dance continued with only the sparkling lights from punks which each girl had in her hair. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bean, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Osburn, Professor F. S. Dunn and Miss Amy Dunn.

Pi Beta Phi had as their house guest during the latter part of the week, Mrs. Burton Beck, the province president of the fraternity.

A student body dance, the second of the term, will be given at the Woman's building next Friday night.

The "Order of the O" dance held Friday night at Dreamland Hall was most enjoyable of the informal dances held during the week-end. The sport motif was carried out in the decorations of which the color scheme was green and yellow.

The wedding of Miss Naomi Wilson and Mr. Harry Harper, which will take place Tuesday, at high noon in the Alumni hall of the Woman's building, will be of interest to students at the University. Miss Wilson is well known on the campus. She was a member of the Women's Glee club last year. Mr. Harper is a lieutenant in aviation at Sacramento, California.

Saturday afternoon a shower was given for Miss Wilson by Marian Bowen and Felicia Perkins at Thacher cottage. About fifteen girls were present.

Phi Sigma Pi entertained with an informal dance Friday night. The decorations were unique. From the ceiling hung cleverly made spider webs in the center of which was a large spider whose eyes were lit by electric light bulbs. In the corners of the rooms were the webs also. During the feature dance, the huge brilliantly lighted eyes of the spider furnished light. Patrons and patronesses for the occasion were President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Laraway and Dean Elizabeth Fox.

An affair to be anticipated is the Men's Glee Club concert to be given Saturday evening at the Woman's building. The concert will be followed by a dance.

A tea was given Sunday afternoon by Kappa Kappa Gamma from 3 until 5 for the guests who had come down for various sororities' formals held during the week-end.

The members of Bachelordom entertained with one of the prettiest affairs of the season Friday evening, January 20, at the Woman's building. Elaborate Oriental decorations were used, which were unusual as well as effective.

Laurel bushes with painted golden leaves and Oriental fruits hanging from the boughs were placed around the room. The walls were covered with Oriental rugs and the false ceiling was made by the use of cut cedar boughs. The boughs hung from the lights, which were covered with Chinese lanterns. At one end of the room a huge Buddha was placed before an Oriental rug. Incense was burned and the music consisted entirely of oriental numbers. The feature of the evening was a dance given by Miss Ada Hartness, who was dressed in Oriental costume. Forty couples enjoyed the affair.

The pledges of Alpha Delta Pi will honor the members of the sorority with a dinner-dance from 4 to 8 next Saturday evening, January 28. The Campa Shoppe is to be the scene of the affair, and is to be decorated in an oriental manner. Twenty-five couples will attend the dance.

Zeta Rho Epsilon, local women's fraternity, entertained Sunday evening, January 22 with a dinner honoring the members of Alpha Sigma. A musical entertainment was given by Alice Baker, one of the hostesses.

Alpha Chi Omega entertained their patrons and patronesses with a dinner Sunday evening, January 22, at the chapter house. The table was artistically decorated with red candles and ferns, carrying out the Alpha Chi Omega colors. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Eric Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Douglass and Professor and Mrs. W. P. Boynton.

Gamma Phi Beta sorority entertained with a formal dinner-dance last Saturday evening, January 21. Dinner was served at the house, then the guests adjourned to the Woman's building where dancing was enjoyed. The dance floor was attractively decorated with ivy and cedar boughs, Oriental rugs and drapery. The Oriental atmosphere was heightened by use of Buddhas, incense and palms. Fifty-four couples attended the affair, among them nine out-of-town guests.

The patrons and patronesses were: Dean Elizabeth Fox, Mrs. William Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rorer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haasch, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sheahan.
