

SEATTLE PAPERS LAUD SCHROFF ART EXHIBIT

Collection to be Displayed
Next Month in Eugene

The exhibit of 92 paintings done by Professor A. H. Schroff of the University has brought forth much favorable comment from critics in Seattle where the paintings are on exhibit at the Seattle Fine Arts society. A clipping from a recent edition of a Seattle paper contains the following comments on Mr. Schroff's exhibit: "The one-man exhibition of paintings by Alfred H. Schroff, professor of fine arts at the University of Oregon is a delightful surprise to the members and their friends of the Seattle Fine Arts society. They had previously seen a few fine examples of Professor Schroff's painting, and knew that his work was in the prize winning rank, but they did not expect to see such a generous number of salon pictures executed within the past two years. The walls of the Fine Arts rooms are covered with the Schroff canvasses the majority of which are of large size, and are all uniformly encased in Whistler and plain gold frames. It is a showing of which an artist may well be proud, and an exhibit, besides, that is winning genuine words of praise from the art public."

Praiseworthy as is this exhibition it has one glaring omission; that is the artist himself is not present. We would like to meet this diligent worker who has evidently devoted all the sunshine of his vacations to painting the charms of Oregon and California landscapes. We know we would have much in common and he would quickly become an appreciated friend among us, for as one may judge an author by his books we can know an artist through his work—especially when he speaks as sincerely and sympathetically as does Professor Schroff of our own Pacific coast and woods.

Beauty of line is one of the distinguishing points in his paintings. Professor Schroff repeatedly employs the sweeping, melting curved line, that leads and holds attention within the canvas. When we note how Professor Schroff enjoys creating a rhythm of curving lines that rests and pleases the eye, we need not remark that his pictures excel in composition. His skill in design has been developed in the years he has given to stained glass window decoration. He has a nice understanding of the values, and while he paints freely and evidently rapidly, his work as a whole is well finished. It is indeed a most praiseworthy exhibit of one man's work over a very short period."

This group of paintings will be on exhibit in Eugene during February at the Chamber of Commerce rooms so that friends of Mr. Schroff and all those interested in painting may have a chance to see the exhibit which has been so favorably received in other places. It is of especial interest to students working under Professor Schroff. The exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce will be in charge of W. K. Newell, the date of opening to be announced later.

JUNIOR WEEK-END

the program, but there is no doubt in my mind but that there are many improvements and corrections which could be introduced."

Norton Winnard, vice-president of the associated students, "I am very much against abolishing Junior Week-end entirely. However, I favor some radical changes, so as to reduce the amount of expenses and work. I do not believe that the canoe fete should be eliminated. It is the biggest thing of the entire week-end. The expense could be cut down, and the number of floats greatly reduced by a combination of houses, one men's and one women's house going in together. The week-end should not begin until Friday. The senior play should either be moved to another date, or the price be reduced, and complimentary tickets given to Junior Week-end guests."

Bernice Altstock, member of the student council: "It is distinctive of Oregon. However, the expenses should be greatly reduced. The canoe fete is too important an event to be done away with. I would like to see it limited to canoes only, as this would lessen the expense greatly."

Arthur Campbell, student council member: "I would like to see Junior Week-end continued, but I am opposed to the practice of bringing prep-schoolers down for the event. We spend all of our time entertaining them, and most of them go to another school anyway. I would like to see Junior Week-end made an all-University day, doing away with the canoe fete entirely, because Oregon has outgrown it, but leaving the campus clean-up day, the Junior prom, the athletic events, the freshmen events, etc."

Imogene Letcher, member of the student council: "I would like to see the practice of inviting guests down from the high schools done away with, and the Junior Week-end made an event for the students themselves to enjoy. However, I believe that all the events should remain the same as before, including the canoe fete. The latter is a beautiful event, and it would be a shame to do away with it."

Maurice Eben, student council man: "I favor the elimination of the expense, work and worry attached to Junior Week-end, and the substitution of a University day at which time the students can have a real, informal get-together week-end. I don't believe it is necessary to have any guests at that time."

Shall the entire Junior Week-end festivities be put into the discard, shall that distinctive Oregon event be continued as in previous years, or shall a new Junior Week-end of shorter duration and fewer events be substituted? Many students are lined up on all three sides of the issue, but the majority of expressed opinions follow the last named solution of the problem. There is also a variety of opinion concerning the question of Junior Week-end guests. Many contend that the trouble of bringing the prep-schoolers down for the annual spring festivities, and the sacrificing of personal pleasures on the part of the students in order to show the visitors a good time, are not rewarded by results which would warrant their continuance. Others believe that the Junior Week-end entertainment is the best possible means of advertising Oregon to prospective students.

Several investigating bodies are at work on the question of arriving at a summary of student opinion, and of finding ways and means of putting on a Junior Week-end this year which will be in keeping with the wishes of the students at large. These include a committee from the Junior class and one from the interfraternity council. The Junior class, at a meeting held last week, decided to take no definite action for this year's festive week-end. The '23ers are willing to assume the responsibility and work of putting on the events as they are traditionally staged, provided the consensus of opinion is that this should be done.

Student Council will this evening consider the Junior Week-end controversy in an attempt to reach some decision in the matter. The following persons are asked to meet with the council members in Dean Straub's room at 7:30 Thomas Wyatt, Leith Abbott, Ogden Johnson, Ralph Couch, Katherine Wilson, Del Oberteuffer, Bernice Altstock, Carl Newbury, E. P. Sloan, Jessie Todd, and Dick Sunderland.

EXTENSION COURSE ADDED

Six Hours in Investments Offered; Six Dollar Fee to be Charged

A new course in investments is being offered by the University extension division which will be a duplicate of the course on the local campus, according to Dr. Dan E. Clark, of the extension division.

"The purpose of the new course is to make possible for the people of the state to receive instruction in investments though unable to attend the University," Dr. Clark said in explaining the new course. The investment course does not make any distinction between any particular investments, but explains the various kinds of investments, the difference between stocks and bonds, and is a service of information to the people on how and where to invest their money safely.

A fee of six dollars is required for the new course which is a six hour credit one and prepared by Professor Foults in the school of business administration.

FIRST CAMPUS WEDDING HELD IN ALUMNI HALL

Miss Naomi Wilson and Lieutenant Harry Harper Leave After Ceremony for South

A romance which had its inception in the Alumni hall of the Woman's building culminated in a wedding there yesterday noon when Miss Naomi Wilson and Lieutenant Harry Harper were married by Rev. Bruce Giffen, Presbyterian student pastor.

This is the first wedding held on the campus as far as is known. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson. She was a sophomore in the University last year and was a member of the girls glee club and active in campus affairs. Mr. Harper was an undergraduate student at the Case School of Applied Science on the outbreak of the war. He held a commission in the infantry during the war and later enlisted in the air service. His home is in Cincinnati.

Bridesmaids at the wedding were Marion Bowen and Felicia Perkins. "Skeet" Manerude was best man. The bride was given away by her mother. Bernice Altstock sang at the beginning of the ceremony and Mildred Brown played the wedding march. About 75 guests were present.

After the ceremony a number of Hendricks hall girls raided the pantry, secured enough rice to stop a Chinese famine and used it effectively on the couple as they left the building. Mr. and Mrs. Harper went south early in the afternoon to Medford where they will spend a few days before continuing on their way to Sacramento where they will make their home. Mr. Harper will be with the California highway commission as a resident engineer.

FEDERAL AID MAN HERE

C. R. Briggs, Rehabilitation Assistant, Confers With Disabled Students

C. R. Briggs, rehabilitation assistant of the Veterans' Bureau, spent Monday and Tuesday in Eugene conferring with those students who are receiving federal aid. Mr. Briggs has his offices in Corvallis, and makes monthly trips to Eugene to consult with and advise these students. He makes an attempt to talk to each man individually.

There are now forty men in the University who receive federal aid, beside several more in the Eugene Bible University and the Eugene Business college.
