

BUSINESS SCHOOL HAS INCREASED ATTENDANCE

Dean Robbins Makes Annual Report to President

SMALL TUITION PROPOSED

More Instructors Needed for Greater Expansion

The annual report of the school of business administration, which has been submitted by Dean Robbins to the President, shows a decided growth in all departments during the last year. The school moved into new quarters at the beginning of the year and has shown the results of new equipment and classrooms by most satisfactory work last semester.

A larger enrollment than was expected, occurred in the school at the early part of the year. "Despite the fact that it has been generally known that we were tightening up in our work considerably," the report reads, "the enrollment in this school increased to 425 as compared with 347 the same time a year ago." This increase in the enrollment was seen particularly in the accounting department. Not only did those enroll who were required to include accounting in their courses, but there was a general influx of those who elected it for a course. There are at the present time seven large sections of beginning accounting. The estimated outlay in connection with accounting has been exceeded and there is no reason to believe that there will be any decrease in the amount in the future. It is asked that relief of some sort be given to the department whose instructors are already overworked.

The report proposes that a slight tuition be paid by the students at registration to help defray the extra expenses of laboratory fees which the accounting students alone are forced to pay for mimeograph work. This work is being done in place of obliging the students to purchase books.

There is called to attention the need not only of extra instructional assistance but the need of the services of some highly trained specialists. The school aspires to expand even more, but cannot do so without an adequate teaching force. There is also need of some one to undertake organization work in connection with the various chambers of commerce of the state.

Great things are reported of the activities of the campus chamber of commerce which is made up of live students of the school of business administration. Last year it took an important part in the home products exhibit held in Eugene and lately it assisted materially the Lane County Red Cross officials to raise their quota in this vicinity.

During the recent year the school of business administration has received various prizes and scholarships. Among these are the Beta Gamma Sigma Scholarship Tablet, the Phi Theta Kappa Scholarship, the Oregon Life Insurance company prize, the Whitfield, Whitcomb Company Prize, and the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York Prize.

GIRLS PLAN TRACK MEET

Interclass Event Will be Staged Some Time in March

An interclass indoor track meet will be the next event of importance in women's athletics following the swimming meet. The meet will be held some time in March in conjunction with the annual gym demonstration, according to Miss Waterman. The present senior class won the Hayward cup in the last track meet two years ago.

There will be 12 on each team. The freshmen and sophomore teams will be chosen from the regular gym classes and the junior and senior teams will probably be made up largely of majors in the department but Miss Waterman urges all juniors and seniors who are good in apparatus work to turn out. The events will include rope climbing, vaulting for form, high and broad jumps and distance throwing.

GIRLS TOO MUCH TROUBLE

Landladies Complain About Number of Callers Women Have

With always a little washing, a little cooking, a little pressing, a little sewing to do, with powder strewn from the head to the foot of the stairs, with the piano in the paror humming at all times, the telephone ringing day and night, and with Woman's League rules to keep, women are much more trouble than men, say Eugene landladies in unison.

"When I have a girl in my house, her friends are in the parlor, in the halls, on the steps, or hanging on the front porch," said one landlady.

"Girls must have company, it seems," declared another.

"The dean makes the rules, the landlady makes the girl keep them, the girl makes the date, and the date makes more trouble for us," the landladies declare.

COMMERCE FRATERNITY CHOOSES FIVE MEMBERS

Alpha Kappa Psi Alumni Chapter Formed Christmas Vacation to Help Members

At a meeting held Wednesday Alpha Kappa Psi, men's national professional commerce fraternity, Ruth-erford Brown, Harlan Gram, Floyd Bowles, Ralph Couch, Frank Carter and John R. Whitaker, were elected to membership. Initiation is to take place next Thursday, when the neophytes will stage a demonstration of their ability as a prologue to the usual assembly. Eggs are barred, so, except in case of rain, umbrellas will not be necessary.

Alpha Kappa Psi was installed on the Oregon campus in 1915, and elects to membership students who show promise of developing into successful business men.

An alumni chapter of the fraternity was organized in Portland during the Christmas holidays, at a luncheon held at the Oregon Grill, for the purpose of uniting members who are graduates of Oregon and O. A. C., and to assist members in a professional way. Officers elected at the meeting were: E. E. Horning, O. A. C., president, Paul E. Billeten, O. A. C., vice-president; Samuel F. Michel, Oregon, secretary, Harry L. Jamieson, Oregon, treasurer.

The Alumni chapter is already assisting members of the fraternity from Oregon and O. A. C. in finding positions in and near Portland. Membership is open to all alumni members of Alpha Kappa Psi.

VACHEL LINDSAY LECTURE AROUSING MUCH INTEREST

Extra Call Made for Works of Poet Soon to Visit

Ticket sale for the lecture to be given on the evening of Tuesday, February 7, by Vachel Lindsay, eminent poet, has begun on the campus and thus far has met with success. Arrangements are being made to place tickets in all campus living organizations within the next several days. The price, 25 cents, is considered as especially moderate. Unusual interest in the published works of the man which are on reserve on the main reading room desk of the library has been shown since the announcement of his coming to Oregon on his lecture tour of the most important educational centers of the west.

Echoes are already being heard from his tour which follows his much advertised playing at vagabondage this summer in the Rocky mountains with Stephen Graham, the English writer. At the Kansas University his lecture made a distinct impression by virtue of its very excellence, its novel, and certain startling statements made by him. Commenting on the "Rock Chalk," famous Kansas yell which was given for his benefit, Lindsay said: "The college yells of America are the nearest to American poetry that I ever have heard, and the Kansas 'rock chalk' is closer still. The hope of American letters and poetry is in the yell writer and the chorus which delivers them."

GREGORY-SPENCER TEST OF GEOGRAPHY ON PRESS

Small Amount of Writing is Special Feature

The Gregory-Spencer geography test originated by Prof. C. A. Gregory of the school of education and Peter L. Spencer, instructor in the University high school, is now being printed in its new and final form. Work has been carried on in the making of the test for the last year and a half.

The complete test consists of three sections, of which this is Section A. Each form includes 111 questions and is considered the most comprehensive test now in the field.

In making the test the writers examined various geography text books to find characteristic phrases used in describing places and every phrase mentioned in the test is a characteristic one taken from some text. Final examination questions for eighth grades given in 23 states for the last five years were analyzed to furnish guidance in selection of material.

The special features of the test include the small amount of writing required from the pupil. He needs to write but 33 words and 78 crosses and figures. The student may thus put his time in thinking of the answer rather in the writing of the answer.

The instructor by means of a score card can correct and record the grade in less than two minutes.

The eight divisions of the test include questions on trade routes and products, miscellaneous geography covering causes of tides, day and night, seasons, winds and social geography, causal geography of the United States and world, descriptive and political geography, and locative geography. In the latter the lists of cities and countries are given and these are represented by numbers on a map of the world. The pupil is required to locate the city or country by number and write the proper number opposite the name of the city or country. The tests are made for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

These tests will be put in packages suitable for mailing and will be available to teachers of the country. Sample copies are to be sent to the various state superintendents.

REX
Soiled, muddy shoes? That's where you lose, appearances will tell.
Here in this chair I'll put a glare upon them something swell.
I'll also fix those yellow kicks and make them black as night;
No acids used, no shoes abused, with black I treat you white!
Each pair I shine is right in line with patent - leathers, pard!
Selected stock that none can knock, so keep this little card—
It points the way to the only kinds:
They are the Right-way Real.

which is being staged in conjunction with the Filipino Catholic club.

At the meeting of the club last night it was decided to issue a challenge to Professor Thorpe's argumentation class to debate on a question, probably that of Filipino independence, which will be decided later.

JUNIOR WEEK-END

the various departments be examined, usual, but that in place of the usual and the work of each explained to them. In this way, it was argued, the preppers would be given some first hand information in place of the usual hazy ideas of college life, as given heretofore by Junior week-end entertaining.

A vote taken just before adjournment showed that sentiment was in favor of another meeting of the committee, following a discussion of the question by the various living organizations. The date of this meeting will be announced by Lyle Bartholomew, early next week, and it is expected that by that time, definite plans for the week-end can be determined. No action will be taken by the student council until after this meeting.
