

CONCERT BY GLEE CLUB HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

Full Chorus, Quartettes and Solos Feature Program

In University circles there is no student organization which gives more universal pleasures and satisfaction than the Men's Glee club, if the crowds that attend their concerts are a fair indication. The concert last Saturday evening brought out one of the largest audiences that has gathered at the Woman's Memorial hall for some time.

Despite the general prevalence of colds and sore throats during the past week the members of the club seemed to have escaped the epidemic for their voices were in splendid condition. The first part of the program was replete with selections by the full glee club, lively encores, piano and vocal solos. Glen Morrow, baritone, and Arthur Johnson, tenor, were especially pleasing in their solo work. Ronald Reid has already made himself famous on the campus as a concert pianist. His "Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt, won much applause and his encore number, the "Juba Dance" by Nathaniel Dett, was also very effective.

Local Color on Program

Part II of the program consisted of comedy, tragedy and a variety of selections in lighter vein. "The Grass Hopper," a tragic grand opera, in which the untoward death of "G. Hopper" was told in various versions of song by those directly interested in his demise, made a great hit with the audience. Local color with thinly-veiled allusions to local personalities were scattered about generously throughout the rest of the program. The "Booster Song" was brought up to date in order to keep pace with the year and the changing seasons.

Quartettes Conclude Program

Two readings by Nelson English, "The Theta Sunday Tea" and "An Hour at the Rainbow" were especially clever take-offs, as was also a reading by Cyril Vallentyne in which he held forth on "Those Foolish Questions." Vocal and instrumental quartets brought the evening's entertainment to a happy conclusion. The necessity of calling off the dance which was to have been given immediately after the concert as announced by John Stark Evans, director of the club, made possible several extra numbers in addition to the printed program which follows:

- Part I
- (a) Oregon Pledge Evans
 - (b) Love Symphony Damrosch

MENTAL TESTS ARE GIVEN

Miss Montgomery Aids Grade Teachers to Know Students Better

Miss Ruth Montgomery, instructor in the school of education, gave mental tests to the grade children of Newberg last week. This work is a part of a service established by the University for the use of superintendents and teachers in places where mental tests are not ordinarily available. By means of these tests the amount and causes of retardation and the ability of exceptional pupils are determined, enabling the teacher to obtain a better knowledge of the conditions under which he is working.

Miss Montgomery will leave the first of next week for Ashland and Medford, where she will conduct similar tests. She will be gone two weeks. Professor F. L. Stetson, of the school of education, visited the Junior high school at McMinnville last week.

FRIDAY DANCE PLANNED

Order of "O" Hoping Ban Will be Lifted Before End of Week

A student body dance given by the "Order of the O" is planned for Friday night in place of the one which was to have been held last Friday. The "Order" is making plans with the hope that the ban will be removed by health authorities by the end of the week.

The feature of the dance will be stunts by the neophytes of the letter-men's association, which will be given during the program. It will be held in the armory immediately after the basketball game with O. A. C.

Glen Walkley, president, said yesterday that a five piece orchestra has been engaged and would start the music just as soon as the freshmen have removed the bleachers from the floor. He predicts that it will be one of the best affairs of the year. The admission price will be cut to 50 cents.

SOCIAL NEWS NOTES

There has been a lull in society the past week due to the ban upon dances, placed by the health authorities. However informal entertaining has largely taken the place of the larger affairs, with informal dinners taking precedence in this respect. Two interesting visitors on the campus during the week were Mrs. H. C. Wortman of Portland and Mrs. S. P. Richardson of Washington, D. C., who have been entertained.

Mrs. H. C. Wortman, prominent art critic of Portland, and President of the Wednesday Morning Art Class, who has recently returned from Europe and the Orient, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. M. S. Barker during the past week. Miss Maude Kerns was hostess at a luncheon for Mrs. Wortman, Wednesday at the Anchorage. Those present besides the guest of honor included Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mrs. Murray Warner, Dean Elizabeth Fox, Miss Helen Brooksmit, Miss Lillian Tingle, Mrs. R. C. Clark, Mrs. F. L. Chambers, Mrs. Seton, Miss Avakian, Miss Gertrude Talbot and the hostess.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Wortman gave an interesting lecture on "Art of India." Following the lecture an informal reception was held for Mrs. Wortman, with Mrs. Percy Adams, Mrs. E. H. McAllister assisting Miss Maude Kerns as hostesses. Mrs. Marion Wilkins, Mrs. H. M. King, Mrs. E. J. Frasier, and Mrs. Avaré Fairbanks poured tea and the girls of the normal art department served.

Zeta Rho Epsilon entertained with a brother dinner Thursday night. Those present included Harry Keeney, Dick Reed, Kenneth Youel, James Baker, Preston Gross, and Bartlett Gray.

The marriage of Miss Naomi Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, to Lieutenant Harry Harper of Sacramento, California, was solemnized Tuesday at high noon in the Alumni hall of the Women's building, with the Rev. Bruce Giffen, Presbyterian student pastor, officiating.

The bride chose for her attendants Miss Marion Bowen and Miss Felicia Perkins. Clifford Manerud of Eugene, was best man. Immediately preceding the ceremony Bernice Altstock sang "Because." The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mildred Brown. The ceremony was performed while the couple knelt upon a Persian rug, facing an old Scottish pew before the large central window. About seventy-five guests were present at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her mother, chose to be married in a beautiful traveling suit of navy blue with a smart black hat. She wore a corsage of opelia roses and freesias. The bridesmaids' frocks were of blue taffeta, and each wore a picture hat exactly matching her gown in color. They wore corsages of Opelia roses and freesias. The bride's mother was beautifully gowned in midnight blue canton crepe combined with Persian satin.

Mrs. Harper was a sophomore in the University last year, a member of the Women's glee club and active in campus activities. Mr. Harper attended the Case School of Applied Science. During the war he held a commission in the infantry and later enlisted in the air service. After a wedding trip, the young couple will make their home in Sacramento, where Lieutenant Harper is engaged as a resident engineer with the California highway commission.

Mrs. W. F. Osburn will entertain for Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism fraternity, Friday night, at the Osburn hotel. Mrs. Osburn expects to leave for Europe soon.

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained Alpha Tau Omega at tea Sunday evening from 7 to 9.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon gave an initiation banquet at the Osburn hotel Sunday night.

Hendricks Hall entertained for the art faculty at dinner Sunday.

Mrs. S. B. Richardson, of Washington, D. C., with her husband, the secretary for the American Institute of Accountants, was entertained Monday evening at a banquet given at the Osburn hotel. Beta Alpha Psi, the national accounting fraternity was the host for the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Haak, (Grace Evans) whose marriage was an event of January 21, in Portland, have returned from their honeymoon which was spent at the Columbia Gorge hotel at Hood River. They are making their home in Portland with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Haak. Both of the young people were on the campus last semester. Mrs. Haak was a Delta Zeta pledge and Mr. Haak, a Kappa Sigma pledge.

An initiation banquet was given by Pi Beta Phi at the Osburn Saturday night.

Miss Hope Bidwell, a student of O. A. C., has been the house guest of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority over the weekend.

Members of the Delta Zeta sorority entertained with a "Mothers'" dinner Sunday, January 29, honoring nine of the girl's mothers. Table decorations consisted of an elaborate fruit center piece, with red candles at each table. The guests were: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Everett, Mrs. Van Meter, Mrs. Travis, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Leinenweber, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Bartlett.

Initiation was held by the Chi Omega fraternity for the following pledges: Eulalia Butler, Sadie Eccles, Irelia Fly, Veola Johnson, Mildred Marsh, Marie Meyers, Edwina Richen, and Mildred Seufert.

A wedding of interest to the students of the University was that of Miss Lenore Blaesing to Maurice R. Mann, both of Portland.

Miss Blaesing is a former University student and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The wedding took place Saturday evening, January 28, at Westminster Presbyterian church in Portland.

The bride was attended by several members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The Misses Frances McGill, Edna Pence and Helen Houghton acted as bridesmaids, and Miss Elizabeth Wiggins was maid of honor. The couple plan to make their home in Portland when they return from their wedding trip.

The discrepancy between the time pieces in the various class rooms works a constant injustice to students and instructors and makes many a tardy mark for students through no fault of their own. There should be a system of electric bells and a schedule time for classes.

Mrs. George J. Buys of Walla Walla, has presented a bound volume of the Eugene Guard, dating from October, 1867, to June, 1875, to the University. The papers contain much valuable information concerning the early history of the University.

We wish to speak again to those who are in the habit of absenting themselves from assembly. There are more than three hundred students now enrolled and it is the duty of each and every one of these to attend the weekly exercises on Wednesday morning.

At a meeting of the Junior class Thursday it was definitely decided to put out an annual this year. This will be the first annual undertaken at the U. O. and it is hoped the students will give the Junior class their hearty support.

To make an annual interesting, it should contain joshes on the students and faculty, and as this class is very wide-awake, it will undoubtedly find plenty. The class is establishing a precedent.

No winters has the college year,
Its springtimes never pass,
For verdure is each fall supplied
By the incoming class.

To the Editor:

What do you think of a fellow who will spend pleasant evenings at a young ladies home, enjoying her hospitality in the way of pleasant dinners or evening refreshments, and then never take her out to any entertainments, or perhaps sneak in late and then offer to see her home. I have attended other colleges and I say in all frankness that I have never seen fellows so neglect themselves socially as we are doing. Where can we find more charming young ladies than we have here at the U. O.? Shame on us! Oh, Fie! Fellows, let's get a move on us and take on a hump.

Don't miss the local Oratorical Contest, Friday evening, Villarl Hall, 10c.

Fred Staner '04 left for home Monday afternoon. There seems to be a great increase in sickness among the parental ancestry, but it is just before exams, so perhaps no explanation is needed.

Mrs. E. W. Allen, State Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was the guest of Professor and Mrs. Young last week.

Lou Hooker made his first appearance on the stage at the Opera House Thursday evening. The hypnotist found him a difficult subject however.

LOCAL CO-ED HONORED

Brilliant Reception Given in Honor of Talented Miss Ingram; Music and Dancing Features of the Evening.

A very brilliant and splendid reception was given in honor of Miss Ingram last evening by her many friends and acquaintances. The reception hall was very attractively decorated with potted ferns and palms. Indirect lighting was used creating a very pleasing effect.

The fore part of the evening was devoted to music and classics from Mendelssohn, Wagner, and Paderewski were greatly enjoyed by all. Miss Ingram herself played two numbers on the piano after which the lights were subdued and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Much unfavorable comment was made concerning Miss Ingram's dancing and some were heard to remark that it was a shame that she neglected her dancing for otherwise she was so talented. If she had known that Mrs. Bayh conducts advanced classes every Tuesday at Rankin Hall on West Seventh right off Willamette she surely would have joined.

Punch and wafers were served which concluded the evening. All declared that it was one of the most charming receptions they had ever attended and wished Miss Ingram great success in New York musical circles where she goes to study under the accomplished and noted Paduski.—Adv.
