There Is No Fight.

The Emerald publishes in the Open Forum column today a letter from the secretary of the interfraternity council in which he explains the action of that body in passing resolutions regarding Junior Week-end in spite of the fact that the student council, elected by the student body at large, had previously drawn up the recommendations to the junior class.

As stated by the student council in passing the resolution condemning the action of the fraternity group, it believed that the campus sentiment had been expressed by the heads of the houses, who are elected by each individual organization and should be prepared to speak as to what the sentiment of the organization is in the matter.

The student council had no desire to disregard the fraternity group and maintained in passing the resolution of censure that if the fraternities as a separate organization from that of the heads of the houses, wished to take any action in the matter they should have done so in a session before the final action of the student council.

Paragraph No. 3, Section 3 of Article IV; "To direct the entertainment of the visiting teams or any others who are guests of the University."

Paragraph No. 5, Section 3 of Article IV; "To assume charge of all other items of importance in which the students may be directly interested and which are not specifically ascribed to the executive council."

There are a few things in regard to maintaining the beauty of the campus which should not be overlooked now. The first of these is the habit of cutting corners and not staying on the paths; the second is the habit of tacking placards on the trees about the campus.

Students and faculty alike who believe in a liberal-minded policy for the University are anxious for an expression of opinion from all concerned in regard to the establishment of Saturday classes here.

WILL THEORY IS DISCUSSED

Experiment and Results Explained by Raymond H. Wheeler

"The Will" was the subject of an address by Prof. Raymond Wheeler, of the psychology department, before the Hawthorne club at the meeting of that organization last evening in Alumni hall of the Women's building.

To the Editor: Some local writer sent to me the verses which below you see. They came unsigned as U. S. mail for which the penalty is jail. It seems that they accuse me of idolatry and Wrigley love.

From Him to Me. "Pygmy Chesterton! Acolyte . . . To an idol of Brass Sounding Brass With Feet of clay.

Chewing gum! You . . . With vicious snaps Of jaws Of bicuspids.

Chesterton don't chew gum! But . . . Chesterton is English.

It must be That Walt Mason Does it . . . Ugh!" —Anon.

From Me to Him. "Vaporous Non de Plume! Where . . . Why and what Makes you believe that I Am acolyte, footlight, or any else To You E'en though your feet be clay!

And chewing gum! Why Brass . . . My good friend Brass I do but discipline my gum And cause it to Snap out of it.

Mayhap your Chesterton Does not chew gum . . . But even so, I trow, He must eschew . . . Now which is worse!

Take care, my friend, That Walter does not see Your accusation . . . Because the charge would shock The famous man And that would be A Mason jar!

Y'r truly, Jay Dee.

To the Editor: In case the unsuspecting student who read of the student council's action in resenting the interfraternity council's resolutions regarding Junior Week-End might think that the latter body had entirely disregarded authority and were not willing to co-operate with any plan that might finally be adopted by the junior class, a word of explanation might be in order.

Several organizations and individuals have taken credit for the origin of this movement, but it is my belief that the discussion in the interfraternity council ante-dates that of any other. At least they brought it up actively as an issue.

It was then the duty of the student council to ascertain student sentiment. Did they ask for any expression of the interfraternity council or pan-hellenic? I don't think I am amiss in saying that both bodies are vitally concerned. The student council relied on an expression from a meeting of the heads of the houses. This body is not an organization, and has no judicial power to enforce any action they might take. I believe members of the student council who attended this meeting will admit that the opinions were not satisfactory and were coerced by a series of short motions.

It then resolves itself into a question as to whether the interfraternity council acted wrongfully in passing these resolutions after the student council had made its decision, even though they disregarded the interfraternity council. We think we acted rightfully, but this is a rebuttable question.

Very truly yours, NELSON ENGLISH, Secretary-Treasurer, Interfraternity Council.

SWEETSER WRITES ABOUT OREGON NATIVE SHRUBS

University Botanist Contributes to Arbor Day Manual Put Out for Schools of State

"Some Oregon Native Shrubs" is the title of an article by Professor Albert R. Sweetser, head of the department of botany and bacteriology, in the "Arbor Day Manual," a publication issued by J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction.

Professor Sweetser's article, which is the feature of the manual, explains the difference between shrubs and trees and gives lists of common and evergreen shrubs. A detailed description of these plants is also given, and their suitability for use as decorative shrubs is told.

In acknowledgment to Professor Sweetser, Mr. Churchill says: "We most gratefully make our acknowledgment to Professor Albert R. Sweetser for his list of native shrubs, with a description of each. Teachers should follow the directions he gives for learning the common shrubs and for planting trees and shrubs."

Professor Sweetser is the author of a series of articles now appearing in the Oregon Teachers' Monthly. In the February number Mr. Sweetser's article dealt with the trees of Oregon. Wild flowers and shrubs will be the subject of articles which will appear in future issues.

"INEVITABLE" NUMBER OF LEMMY OFF THE PRESS

Clever satires, a plentiful sprinkling of verse, and cartoons, plus a half-page of rippling rhyme by Jay Dee, mark the "Inevitable" number of Lemmy Punch, which appeared on the campus yesterday with a striking cover done by Ray Bethers, as the best work ever edited by Hammer and Coffin.

The "Inevitable" number which satirizes the future, contains a full page cartoon by Bee Morrow, a half page by Kenneth Cooper, and a full page by "Doc" Braddock entitled "Some Inevitables." Carny submits a page on "Romance" in his usual style, and Wilbur Hulin has a clever half-page cartoon. Doris Bothwell, a new contributor to Lemmy, is the originator of a good cartoon. Other contributors of merit are Katherine Nicholson, Lawrence Hodges and Leonard Lerwill.

Four well chosen editorials are contained in this number, which is printed on a new grade of paper.

LIBRARY GETS VOLUMES

Forty-four Book Collection on Negro Question Gift of Louise Boyd

A collection of 44 volumes on the negro question has been procured by the library from Miss Louise Boyd, daughter of the late Reverend J. H. Boyd, who was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland.

The books are several years old, and go extensively into the various phases of the negro question, discussing the political, sociological, historical, and anthropological sides of the subject.

Dr. Boyd was for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Portland, and later resigned to take a chair in the McCormack Theological Seminary of Chicago. He died a few weeks ago in Chicago.

'Y' SECRETARY TO VISIT CAMPUS

Alice Brown, northwest field student secretary of the Y. W. C. A., will be here next week on her annual trip to the colleges and universities of Oregon and Washington. She will be here from Tuesday until Saturday and will be entertained at various houses. Thursday she will speak at the Y. W. C. A. meeting, when a tea will be given for her at the bungalow. The advisory board and the cabinet will entertain her at dinner Tuesday.

O. A. C. AND UTAH CO-ED RIFLE TEAMS TO COMPETE

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Feb. 9 (P. I. N. S.)—The O. A. C. girls' small bore rifle team will vie with the Utah Aggie co-ed rifle experts in their first intercollegiate match Saturday. The girls will shoot in their respective colleges, the final scores being telegraphed to the rival institutions.

OREGON TO ENTER THREE RIFLE TEAMS IN SHOOT

Four Matches Scheduled for Coming Month

The University of Oregon R. O. T. C. is entering three rifle teams in the Ninth Corps Area Gallery competition to be fired from February 12 to 28. All universities and colleges in the states of Oregon, California, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, and a part of Arizona will compete.

During the week of February 20 to 25 the University will fire a match against Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Penn. The first team is also scheduled to go up against the University of Wisconsin during the week of February 27 to March 4, and the Northwestern University of Chicago during the week of March 6 to 12.

Coach Knowles reports: "Our team members are doing excellent shooting with the new Winchester rifles, and many have expressed the belief that we can at least be near the lead, if not actually leading."

"Although we were defeated in the first two matches of the season, our hopes have not been dimmed and we want to take this opportunity to show our opponents what they may expect."

The teams are: First team—Durham, W. H.; Sloan, E. F.; Meek, J. A.; Gant, O. T.; Heider, C. L.; Lasselle, P.; Greene, H. L.; Bonebrake, H.; Biggar, E.; Page, T. N.; Wilhelm, A. M.; Zimmerman, D.; Homewood, J.; Bullock, V. E.; Eby, M. R.

Sophomore team—Lerwill, L. L.; Young, R. C.; Trowbridge, S.; Taylor, R. F.; Cooper, K. G.; Kolar, E. J.; Sutton, A. C.; Anthony, J.; Bidwell, D. L.; Godlove, W.; Lapham, E. G.; Olson, R. C.
