

REGULAR TRACK TRYOUTS WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Interest in Work Increasing as Season Nears

RAIN RETARDS TRAINING

Spring Schedule Includes Five Large Meets

Varsity and freshmen track squads will hold tryouts next Saturday on the cinder path of Hayward field. The tryouts scheduled for last week will probably be in order. They include for the Varsity, the 100-yard dash, 300-yard dash, half-mile, mile, broad jump, hurdles and 12-pound shot put; for the frosh, the 100-yard dash, 300-yard dash, half-mile, broad jump, and hurdles.

The regular track tryouts were called off last Saturday afternoon because of the hard rain that peppered down intermittently all day. The men who did turn out were drenched before they reached the cinders and Assistant Coach "Hank" Foster decided to postpone the event until next Saturday. Field tryouts were on the program for the afternoon, but the oval inside the track resembled the proverbial duck pond and the results would have been little indication of what the contestants are bale to do.

Interest is Reviving

Track interest is reviving somewhat as the conference season approaches, and a number of names have been added to both the Varsity and freshmen lists. Monday's bright sun brought forth from hiding many men interested in field events. In some instances there were only one or two men practicing at the same thing, but discus throwers, putters, high jumpers and broad jumpers were present for a little limbering up, besides contestants for places on the track proper. Due to the cold weather so far this season Trainer "Bill" Hayward has been giving most of the field men inside work to get them toughened in for the more rigorous business of actual field work.

Coaches Are Anxious

While the number of men turning out has increased materially the coaches are anxious to see more take an active interest. The greater the number turning out the greater chances Oregon will have to win laurels in the coming meets. It seems to be the opinion of the coaches, that if more interest is not evinced soon, the wearers of the Lemon-Yellow will grab the cellar position in the majority of contests.

If Bill takes some of his proteges to the Penn Relays, the track schedule for this season will include six big meets for this year's varsity group. Beginning April 14, the intercollegiate contests will run up until the end of May, the last being the dual Northwest-Pacific Coast Conference Meet at Seattle on May 26 and 27.

in the 125 class. Sorsby lost to Easlerday and Culbertson won from Branstetter in the 135 class. Ferry won from Jones by default in 145 weight, Clark took a close scrap from Bryson, and Ford beat Cota in the 158 class, and Weber won from Callison in the 175 pound weight.

The wrestling results were as follows: Berry flopped Yamane and Sumption won from Strahorn in the 125 weight. Robertson got a decision from Wyatt, and Winnard won a decision from Moores in the 145 pound class. French threw Lundburg and Campbell dropped Young in the 158 weight.

Several challenges were run off yesterday. Among these were two in which Bliss appeared. In the first one he won a decision from Lundburg, but in the second lost by the same method to Campbell. Yamane lost to Sumption by a decision in another wrestling bout. The only boxing bout held resulted in a victory for Branstetter over Easterday.

The men in charge of the events this evening say that the bouts are to be clean and fast and extend a special invitation to women to be present in order to see just what a good boxing or wrestling bout is like.

TRE NU ELECTS 12 GIRLS

Organization of Self-Supporting Women Now Has 30 Active Members

Tre Nu, campus organization of girls who are partly or wholly self-supporting, yesterday elected 12 girls to membership. They are: Marie Gilkinson, Merle Oliver, Ruby Towers, Dorris Sikes, Jean Mitchell, Mary Harkinson, Edwina Richey, Anita Davis, Margaret Jackson, Myrtle Baker, Viola Powell and Esther Pike.

Tre Nu, which was organized on the University of Oregon campus in 1917 is composed of University women who, in addition to being wholly or partly self-supporting, have gained prominence in campus activities.

There are at present, including the 12 new members, 30 active members in the organization, the officers of which are: Ruth Flegal, president; Florence Furuset, vice-president; Elsie Hildebrand, secretary; Margaret Duniway, treasurer; Mable Gilham, reporter.

as two conspicuous examples among many others of direct commercial benefit from the development of the artistic instincts of the people.

In conclusion Mr. Schreff quoted as apropos the statement of a member of one of his art appreciation classes, whose previous college work had been largely along commercial lines: "Art is the latest thing in commerce."

FRESHMEN AWARDS MADE

Awards for freshmen in architecture, which were not made on Jury day, February 15, due to lack of time have just been announced. R. R. Orne, Harold Wagner, Cedric McComb and H. L. Warner were all awarded first places. Second places were won by L. L. Smith, H. R. Searles, and L. F. Chaffee. Harlan Pearl and Edgar Bohlman won mentions. The program submitted was a design of two windows.

JUNIOR WEEK-END FETE COSTS TO BE LESSENED

People of City Will be Asked to Assist in Financing Construction of Bleachers

According to present plans for the Junior Week-end canoe fete, a limit will be placed upon the investment which organizations may make for the decoration of floats. The exact amount has not yet been determined, but it is expected that it will be placed at between $20 and $25.

Another detail of the fete which is yet to be worked out is the division of the expense of float decoration between two organizations, one men's and one women's. The present plan is to have a lottery to determine which organizations will work together. There is no demand for speedy action in deciding this. Tom Wyatt, Junior class president, said yesterday that it will probably be done within a week or as soon as the canoe committee can give time to it.

The canoe fete committee is the only one which has not been appointed. President Wyatt intends to appoint the committee today so that it may get busy on the program for the fete.

The junior class is soliciting the aid of town people to raise funds with which to erect permanent bleachers along the mill race. It has not been possible for either the junior class or the University to erect the needed bleachers. The only chance to secure the money to build them is through outside aid. A committee is now busy trying to raise this money.

Hart Schaffner & Marx latest styles are here.

The Formal Dance and the Corsage Bouquet

Seldom is anything gained by ordering the corsage bouquet from a distant florist. The choicest greenery only should be used in the making, and such seldom ships well.

Besides, the shield and ribbon is often ruined by drawing dampness from the sprinkling given the flowers when packing.
