

FROSH QUINTEt ENDS YEAR WITH ALL WINS

Portland Trip Called Off; Games Unobtainable

The frosh basketball team has played the last game of the year, says Coach Durno, as the Portland trip which was contemplated, has fallen through on account of the impossibility of scheduling games with the high schools there. It may be just as well that the trip was called off since the team ends the season with a clean record of wins the way the dope is at present, and members of the team say that they were beginning to grow stale from too much practice. The Portland trip, if it had materialized might have meant the end of the clean string of victories.

Twelve games were played in all, four of which were with the O. A. C. rooks. The yearlings played good ball in every one of the contests against the rooks, winning in every case by a very few points, the last game of the four being the easiest with a score of 25 to 18. This game was played at Corvallis, and at the end of the first half the score was tied at 17 all, but in the second period, "Chappy" King got away and dropped in several counters which put the game on ice.

Four High Schools Played
The team met four high school teams during the season, playing Medford two games, one at Medford, and the other on the gym floor here while the Medford team was on a trip. The games with this high school quintet were interesting for the reason that Hollis Huntington, the former Oregon football star, was serving as coach with the prep team. The frosh won both games by good scores and were at no time in danger. The first game of the season was against Eugene high, and the yearlings probably played poorer ball in this contest than in any other during the season, the first half ended in favor of the prep outfit.

Two contests were staged with the Chemawa Indians in Eugene. The first one was played in the men's gym, and the second at the Armory. The frosh won both by large scores.

King Floor General
"Chappy" King at one forward, was the floor general of the team, and usually made most of the points. He was placed on the all-state high school team a year ago, and lived up to his reputation, as he starred in practically every game, by reason of his long baskets, and shifty floor work. In most of the games the final score would find King with about half the points marked opposite his name although he was always closely guarded.

Crandall, the other forward, was probably a better floor man than King, but lacked the former's accurate eye and ability to elude his guards close under the basket. Poulson, who was at center most of the season played a good game, but is rather slow on his feet. Jost, who held this position down later in the season, is fast and a good shot, but plainly lacked experience. He should develop into varsity material with the experience gained this year.

Ashland Fights Hard
The closest contest of the season was staged while the team was on the southern Oregon trip, when they bumped into the Ashland high quintet, the champions of that part of the state. The score at the end of the game was 28 to 31 in favor of the frosh, but members of the team say that the high school squad was ahead, till the final minute of play when a long basket by Haynes put the collegians in the lead. In this game the yearlings were handicapped by playing on a small floor with a low roof which spoiled some of their shots.

The last game of the year was played against the team of the local national guard, in which the frosh, at the top of their seasons form, ran up a lopsided score on the military outfit. This game was played as a preliminary to the second Nevada contest with the Varsity.

Haynes and Alm Guards
The two men who held down the guard positions throughout the season are Haynes and Alm. Alm and King were the two big stars of the team. Alm is the fastest man on the team, and would be a very good forward, but for the reason that he is not an accurate shot unless very close to the basket, and in the first games played he missed these shots on several occasions. He is good at slipping down the sidelines and dribbling in for a basket, and did this in practically every game played. Haynes is a big man and hard to get around, which accounts for the low scores which were run up against the yearlings. He is also a fair shot and usually got a basket or two every game. Evan Jones was the only regular substitute, playing in a majority of the games.

The team under the direction of Coach Durno came through the most successful season that any frosh team has enjoyed for several years, and all the men will be strong bidders for next year's Varsity squad.

Grades Hold Men Out
The majority of the men who were being depended on for freshman basketball this year, were ineligible on account of poor grades and other reasons, several of these will no doubt have to be considered when the time for Varsity ball comes around next year. Some of these are Bill Spear, Earl Schaffer, Frank Wright, and Murray. These men had a team of their own, which worked out against the regular frosh lineup, and usually won, so indications are that they will have just as good a chance, if not better than the men who made their numerals.

FILTERS ARE CLEANED

Trouble Caused by Bacteria Which Appear in Swimming Tank

The two large filters in the boiler room of the Women's building, whose duty it is to see that no little bugs, commonly called bacteria, make their home in the water of the swimming tank, were "sluffing" on the job a few days ago, for some of these little creatures appeared in the daily tests by the health department. A plumber was immediately summoned and with the aid of the janitor the filters were given a thorough cleaning and filled with new sand and gravel. The latest tests by the health department show that the invaders have completely disappeared.

Stanford University, Cal., Mar. 2.—(P. I. N. S.)—The Cardinal soccer varsity handed the University of California a 1 to 0 defeat in the concluding game of their series. The soccer team has been defeated but once this year, and is leading the University and club league.

COMMITTEE OPPOSES BILL

Tax on Imported Books and Limit on Number Causes Protest

At a meeting of the University library committee yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, a protest was prepared against parts of the Fordney bill now before Congress. The Fordney bill provides for the laying of duties on foreign books which are being imported to this country and which have until now been free from taxation.

The objectionable portions of the bill place duties on English books more than twenty years old and books in foreign languages. It also places a limit of two on the number of copies that may be imported duty free and levies duty on foreign text books and upon libraries of immigrants worth more than $250.

PROFESSORS JUDGE DEBATES AT SALEM

Dr. J. H. Gilbert and Professor Miller Help Decide Two of Valley High School Forensic Series

Dr. James H. Gilbert and Professor R. M. Miller judged a debate between Salem high school and Silverton high school on the question, resolved, "That the Plumb Plan for Ownership of Railroads Should be Adopted by the United States." The debate, which was won by Salem high school, was the opening of a series between various high schools. Dr. Gilbert and Professor Miller were also judges for a debate between Salem and the high school of Jefferson, Oregon. On March 11, Professor Miller will go to Pullman, Washington, for a debate between Washington State College and Oregon Agricultural College. The question to be debated is, Resolved, "That the Principle of the Closed Shop be Applied to American Industries."

THETA SWIMMERS AHEAD IN DOUGHNUT STANDINGS

Alpha Phi and Susan Campbell Hall Are Also Winners in Meet; Finals to be Held Today

Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Phi and Susan Campbell were the winners in the doughnut swimming meets Tuesday afternoon. The Theta team defeated the Hendricks hall team by a score of 37 to 31, Alpha Phi won their meet from Kappa Kappa Gamma 44 to 24, and Susan Campbell defeated Delta Zeta 35 to 33.

The Theta team now holds first place in the doughnut series as it is the only team in the league which has not been defeated. Alpha Phi and Hendricks hall are tied for second place, both teams having won three meets and lost one.

Muriel Meyers, of the Hendricks hall team was the high point winner in Tuesday's meets scoring 15 points, the highest number possible by one swimmer. Winifred Hobson, Alpha Phi, Adah Harkness, Susan Campbell, and Agnes Christie, Delta Zeta scoring 13 points each, taking two firsts and a second.

The final meet of the series will be held today between Alpha Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Zeta, and Hendricks hall and Susan Campbell.
