

DEAN SHELDON TO TEACH WORLD HISTORY COURSE

Education Head Experienced in Field; Research Done

Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, has been secured by the department of history to give the course in World History next year. Commenting on the appointment of Dr. Sheldon, the faculty bulletin says, "Dr. Sheldon has given much study to the general history of culture and the department feels itself fortunate to have secured his consent to give out to students the results of his long study and research in this special field."

Dr. Sheldon received his A. B. degree in history from Stanford University, under Dr. George E. Howard, who was the great authority on the history of local government in the United States and also the author of a three volume work on the history of the family. In the Graduate School of Clark University Dr. Sheldon worked up the history of philosophy under G. Stanley Hall and wrote a thesis on the History and Pedagogy of American Student Societies. In the winter of 1911-12, Dr. Sheldon worked at the University of Leipzig with Dr. Carl Lamprecht, the foremost representative of culture history in Germany.

Dr. Sheldon has written a history of American education down to 1830, which has not yet been published. He is now working on a History of Civilization in America, and also on a history of the University of Oregon.

The course in World History consists of two courses; the first year course begins with prehistoric times and ends with the year 1000 A. D., the second year course is from 1000 A. D. to the present time. The main text book used is H. G. Wells' "Outlines of History."

In speaking of his plans for next year Dr. Sheldon said, "The course will be an account of human achievement and will deal primarily with the development of science, art, religion and ethical conceptions, as well as the more fundamental economic background. While political history will not be ignored it will be distinctly subordinated to other forms. The idea will be to make the course cover the evolution of humanity from earliest forms of primitive society to the complex civilization of the present."

The World History course this year was given by Professor Eldon Griffin who, when no instructor was available, stepped into the breach, last August, prepared a syllabus, and has taught the subject during the year. The faculty bulletin recently contained an expression of appreciation for Mr. Griffin's services, speaking of the "ability and success" with which he had given the course.

WAVE ANDERSON LEADS IN GIRLS' RIFLE SHOOTING

Many New Members are Added to Squad; Competition Keen Among Holders of Highest Scores

Wave Anderson still maintains her lead in the scores of the girls' rifle team, according to a report of last week's shooting, issued yesterday by Lieutenant M. E. Knowles, of the military department and coach of the rifle teams. There has been much shifting about of the standings with the entrance of new contestants. Wanda Daggett has moved from third to second place.

So close are the scores of Miss Daggett and Miss Anderson that Coach Knowles was forced to carry the figures out to five decimal places, resulting in .00004 of a point lead for Miss Anderson. Coach Knowles reports that new girls are still enrolling for the team.

The 10 highest-standing girls in order of rank are: Wave Anderson, Wanda Daggett, Martha Pickens, Leah Wagner, Irene Rydman, Margaret Seymour, Myrtle Pelker, Frances Cochran, Dorothy Chausse, Lillian Stephens, Edith Sliffe, Grace Murfin, Carolyn Cannon, Lola Keizer, Mary Durham.

ASTORIA SCHOOL PRAISED

Prof. Stetson Returns; Hood River and The Dalles to be Visited Professor F. L. Stetson, of the school of education, has returned from Astoria and Newberg and will visit the schools in The Dalles and Hood River this week.

He reports that the high school at Astoria is well organized and doing work of good quality under the direction of the principal, Virgil Earl, '06. Astoria has one of the finest school buildings in the state, according to Professor Stetson, who states that last year a $75,000 building was erected equipped for shop work, domestic science and art and includes a gymnasium.

The University of Oregon students teaching in the Astoria high school include: Annie Bergman, '10, Latin; Mildred Garland, '21, English; Mary Kempthorne, '13, head of English department; Martin Nelson, '17, physical education; Frank O'Brien, '13, manual training; Florence Sherman, '18, English, science; Gretchen Taylor, '20, history; Helen Withycombe, science, mathematics; Muriel Watkins, '11, teachers' training; and Betsy Wootton, '15, mathematics.

"WAIT TILL WE'RE MARRIED"

Oliver Morosco will offer his latest comedy, "Wait Till We're Married," laden with laughter, at the Eugene Theatre tonight. It is said to be a gay farce of the most wholesome sort, dealing with the amusing difficulties of two young lovers who are about to enter into matrimony.

Alan Dale, dramatic critic of the New York American, in his review said: "Wait Till We're Married" is a gorgeous comedy, well acted. There are plenty of laughs, and it handed me quite a bunch of them." This latest Morosco comedy was designed as a laugh producer, and it is said to fill the bill to perfection and gives promise of being the biggest winner of any play produced by him in some time.

Terry Duffy, Morosco's new star, heads the New York company that has been sent to the coast. Mr. Duffy has received most flattering notices from the New York critics. The cast includes Barbara Brown, Ted W. Gibson, Marie Van Tassel, Maxwell Paley, Reynolds Denniston, Fanny Yantis, William Austin and Mary Hill. Seats are now on sale at the Eugene Theatre box office.

PRELIMINARY EXAMS GIVEN

Preliminary examinations were given to four graduate candidates for master of arts degrees Monday at the school of education. Those taking the examinations were J. Karl Bowman, H. J. Lehman, George McIntyre, and Floyd Enlund.

OREGON SHOTS BEATEN BY DREXEL INSTITUTE

Only One Team Beats Varsity; Six Teams Fall Below

The University of Oregon rifle team lost the telegraphic shoot with Drexel Institute during the week ending February 25, by a score of 490 out of a possible 500 points, to 497. Emerald Sloan was Oregon's star man, shooting 100 out of 100 possible shots, while Edson Biggar followed a close second with 99 shots.

Coach Knowles said in speaking of the match: "I feel that the boys did well to lose by only seven points. One of our greatest drawbacks is that the team members must shoot with the guns which all of the other men and girls' teams and individual shooters on the range use. The Drexel institute shooters all own their individual guns. Taking into account this fact, I believe that Oregon has made a good showing, especially as compared with Drexel institute's other opponents."

Out of seven eastern schools that shot with Drexel, only one tied with Oregon in score, all of the others falling below 490 out of a possible 500 shots. In all of the shoots, Drexel institute averaged approximately 496.

The results: Drexel institute—Murphy, 100; Mercer, 100; Boyes, 99; Sidwell, 99; Wike, 99. University of Oregon—Sloan, 100; Biggar, 99; Gant, 98; Bonebrake, 96; Lasselle, 97.

OREGON LOSES TWO-GAME SERIES TO WILLAMETTE

Varsity Lowest in Northwest Basketball Conference

Oregon closed the conference basketball season Saturday night by losing to Willamette in the second game of the week by a 27 to 18 score. The game was the fourth between the two institutions and made the score even, as Oregon won both games played here and lost both games in the second series.

The game was the hardest fought one played on the Salem floor this year, according to all reports from the capital city, and was cinched by the shooting of Gillette, who scored seven field goals. The score at the end of the first half stood 10 to 9 in favor of Willamette, but the Missionaries took the lead early in the last half and held it throughout. Gillette, for the Salem team had a good evening and chalked up 14 of his team's points.

The game was much closer than the score indicates, and the team work of the Oregon squad was as good, if not superior to that of the Missionaries, but their opponents seemed to have no trouble in locating the basket. All the Willamette baskets were made on long shots and the Varsity guards kept them from getting a single short score.

As a result of this defeat, Oregon is now in the cellar of the Northwest Conference, a position which she has not held for a long time, and offers a contrast to last year when the team finished at the head of the same conference, with more games won than any other school.

You Always Have to Pay

Whether you get your business education at some regular institution, or through the school of experience and hard knocks, you have to pay for it.

The latter is mighty expensive both as to time and money, often being at the sacrifice of health and happiness.

All the time that you are learning in this way you are working under a great handicap, and often you have to pass up splendid opportunities because of the lack of the necessary business education.

Our school is in session every month of the year.
