

FRESH TRACK PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT, SAYS COACH

Lack of Training Handicaps Prep Athletes

MEN PLACED FIRST YEAR

Viriden Versatile Performer on Cinder Path

Fresh track prospects this year are not especially bright, according to Coach Foster, for although there are a great many men out, most of them have had no previous experience, and will have to be developed.

The object of freshman athletics at Oregon, Foster stated, was not so much to win for the freshman class, as to develop men for the Varsity for the three years in college where their work would count the most. The first year therefore is devoted to a great extent in placing the different men in different events in order to find out in which distance they are the most consistent and best performers, and in this manner have them all ready to step into a place on the Varsity squad in their second year.

Try-out Results Given

About 50 men have been out so far working under Foster, but none of them has stood out very prominently. The relay try-outs were held Saturday with the following results: 220 yard dash, Viriden, first; Breakey, second; Elsen, third; Poulson, fourth. The 440 results were: Hardenberg, first; Curry, second; Linton, third; McClellan, fourth. The 880 winners were: Jordan, first; Schultz, second; Peek, third; Carlson, fourth. The winners in the mile were: Thiering, first; Winther, second; Ellis, third; Stanton, fourth.

The teams are to run in the class series only, for the coach states that there are many other men out, some of which are no doubt better than those on the teams, and who will perform later on in the season.

Preppers Favor Baseball

Coach Foster is enthusiastic over the interest being shown by the men, but bewails the fact that very few of them have had previous track work. Most of the prep schools of the state have taken to baseball in the spring thus leaving track out of the schedule, and this tends to work a hardship on the freshman teams, as most of the men have to be developed after coming here.

Some of those who have been showing up well are Viriden, Breakey, Hardenberg, Peek and Thiering, says Coach Foster. Viriden especially is a versatile track man and can take part in practically any race from the 100 to the 880, according to the coach, who says that he may be used as a hurdler, since the team lacks other good men in that event. Breakey is doing very good work in the sprints, and Hardenberg in the half mile is showing up well. Thiering has been winning the mile steadily since the opening of the season and looks good in that event.

The freshmen track team men will have to learn to take better care of themselves, and will have to train more, if they are going to accomplish anything, said Foster, and emphasized the fact that even little things, such as irregular habits, tend to throw a man off his form at times.

Many of the freshmen are remaining in Eugene over the spring vacation period, and according to Foster should get in some good practice if the weather is at all favorable.

THREE TEAMS WIN GAMES

Fijis, Kappa Sig and Delts Take Handball Contests From Opponents

Kappa Sigma, Delta Tau Delta, and Phi Gamma Delta were victorious in the doughnut league handball doubles series yesterday, beating Friendly hall, Oregon club, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon respectively.

Kappa Sigma finally bested Friendly hall after playing three games, the final scores of which were 21-15, 13-21, and 21-17. The first game of the Delta Tau Delta-Oregon Club match went to an extra period after the two teams had tied at 20. Delta Tau was victorious in the end winning the first game 22-21, and the second 21-14. Phi Gamma Delta had little trouble in defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon the scores being 21-3, and 21-10.

UNITED RALLY OF CHURCH BIBLE CLASSES TONIGHT

Increase in Attendance and Interest Results from Campaign of Six Weeks on Campus.

Everything is in readiness for the united rally of Eugene church bible classes which will take place in the basement of the Methodist church at 7:45 Wednesday evening, according to statements presented at a meeting of the executive council of the church cooperation committees of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at the Bungalow yesterday afternoon.

Benefits resulting from the six weeks' campaign culminating in this rally, besides the increase in attendance, the three-fold. Students have taken a greater interest and more active participation in the church work; the old members have been aroused and are taking a larger part in the activities; and more contacts with the Bible classes have been established in the various living organizations.

Results of the contest, in attendance, are: Presbyterian women, started with 27, increased to 80 members; Presbyterian men, 15 to 47; Methodist men, 12 to 34; Methodist women, 35 to 78; Christian mixed class, 80 to 140; Baptist, 20 to 73. The Congregational church had no student Bible class at the start of the campaign, but soon organized one, and now has a membership of 15. The Episcopal church has not organized a class, but the number of students attending morning services has increased to 55.

PORTLAND BANKER WILL ADDRESS NEXT ASSEMBLY

Financial Methods of Government to be Topic of A. L. Mills; Held Good L. Spiller

A. L. Mills, president of the First National Bank of Portland, and an officer in the Federal Reserve system, will be the speaker at the last assembly of the term next Thursday. His topic, "The United States Government in Banking" is expected to deal with the development of federal interests in banking, with particular bearing on the development of the Federal Reserve System and the part it has served in our most acute financial time of stress.

Mr. Mills comes here with a reputation as a fluent and capable public speaker. He has been much in demand throughout the state, and his speeches have met with success wherever delivered. Two months ago he addressed the students at O. A. C. on some such topic as he has selected for Thursday, and reports indicate that he made a very strong impression. He also delivered an address at the inauguration of the president of Reed College a year ago.

After his graduation from Harvard in the early eighties, Mr. Mills came direct to Oregon, starting his financial career in a small bank in Eastern Oregon. He then worked in a Walla Walla bank, and after a few years there came to Portland and became connected with the First National Bank, the presidency of which he has held for a number of years. He has had a large part in building up this institution.

At 3:00 Thursday, Mr. Mills will meet some of the advanced classes in finance, as well as any students who may be interested, in room 105 of the Commerce building.

MADAM MC GREW'S VOICE

all German townspeople are familiar with opera and follow with discrimination and authoritative criticism the performances of their opera houses.

While in Germany, Madame McGrew was married to a civil engineer. Three children were born to them, but later she separated from her husband. When her youngest child was still in arms, a much desired opportunity to sing in Convent Garden, London, came to her, but to her great disappointment her doctor advised her not to accept, as it would mean leaving her daughter too soon.

Before the war broke out, the vocalist came on a trip to America to visit her parents. The world conflict had begun when she would have returned. Ocean travel was not safe. Her relatives persuaded her against trying to return to her children. For a whole year she heard no word from her little girls, the suspense and anxiety that Madame McGrew suffered forced her to seek distraction in work. She studied short story writing, dress making, and French.

One day when visiting her father in Denver, a friend who had a brother in Portland, Oregon, advised her to come to Portland and sing. Later Madame McGrew took his advice and when asked to come to Eugene two year ago for the Music Festival, accepted the offer, and came to the northwest. This winter she sang with great success the leading feminine role in the Portland Opera Association's production of Verdi's "Masked Ball."

Of her work at the school of music, Madame McGrew says, "I love to teach and I am trying to do as much good as I can. My pupils believe in me. I advise them and help them with their problems. I must have children to love. My daughters are German girls and I long to have them with me, but I fear that they would not be happy here. The oldest one may possibly come to me this spring. I would like to have her enter the University here."

STUDENT COUNCIL OF Y. M. SPONSORS EUROPEAN TOUR

Foreign Conditions Will be Observed by Party

A tour of European countries, to include England, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, and Switzerland, is a program scheduled for American university students this summer, under the sponsorship of the National Student Council of Y. M. C. A.'s, according to L. P. Putnam, local "Y" secretary who is in charge of the arrangements on the Oregon campus.

"The motif of the plan," says Mr. Putnam, "is the old adage—that travel broadens the mind, and it is the belief of the organizers of the tour that the students who make the trip will return to their homes better equipped as citizens to take up the fight for a better America."

The group as a whole will adopt the conference method of studying European conditions, meeting groups of students and leaders in each country as well as visiting places of historical interest. There will be enough leeway in the plan so that each individual will have freedom in visiting places of particular attraction for him. The study schedule calls for preparation on the way over by way of study of the political and economic conditions in Europe, the backgrounds of the various countries and such problems as Reparations and the Treaty of Versailles.

Party to Meet Many People

One of the leaders is quoted as saying: "We have planned to have the students brought in contact with people of note in each country and in the main the study will be of present human relationships and conditions."

The details of the plan call for one man from each state. He should be at least a junior in some university and 21 years of age. He should also be of such maturity that he can both absorb and interpret the experiences of the summer. He is expected to be something of a leader in his school and a man who will be available for contact with the men of his school the following year in order that his influence and experience may be of use to his companions. Each man is to bear his own expenses which will be from $500 to $700 from New York City. The passage each way will be approximately $135 for second class and $90 for third class.

Bulletin Gives Advice

It is suggested in a bulletin issued by the National Student Council of the "Y" which is sponsoring the tour, that those who want to try third class do so, going over in preference to the return, when there will be such a large number of foreign steerage passengers, although one can make the steerage both ways if he so desires.

Any of the students on the campus who are interested should see Secretary Putnam at the campus "Y" hut. It is necessary to know who is chosen from each state by the middle of April in order to be sure of the sailings. A deposit of $30 is necessary in order to insure reservations. The question of allowing more than one student to enroll from each state will be subject to the approval of the Council.

FRANK S. BAYLEY SPEAKS ON BENEFITS OF COLLEGE

Prominent Seattle Attorney Tells of Advantages of Education; Bible is Subject for Tonight

Frank S. Bayley, who is to address the United Rally of University Bible classes in the Methodist church auditorium at 7:45 this evening arrived on the campus last night and spoke to a small group of students who are intending to go to the Y. M. C. A. Students' conference at Seabeck, Washington, next summer.

Mr. Bayley, who is a prominent attorney in Seattle, being connected with the firm of Herr, Bayley, and Croson, told of the many benefits one derives from the personal contact with men from the various colleges and hearing different points of view on the many problems that confront one.

"In looking back over my life I can see that the milestones are the men I have brushed against and not the things that I have accomplished," said Mr. Bayley. "The biggest thing that anyone can get in college is not book education but the ability to see yourself as you are and get a vision of what you ought to do for your life work."

Mr. Bayley's subject tonight will be "Why should the College Man Study the Bible?" He will also address the students of the law school this morning at 9 o'clock.
