EDITORS OF SCHOOL PAPERS CONVEENE ON CAMPUS APRIL 14-15

Meeting Simultaneous with That of Executives and Student Secretaries

VARIED PROGRAM PLANNED

Preparatory Journalism Will Be Discussed; Editing and Managing to Be Included

While the presidents and secretaries of the high school student bodies throughout the state are gathering on the campus for their convention this week, a second conference of preparatory students will meet under the auspices of the University School of Journalism, that of the editors and managers of high school publications. Of the two bodies, the editorial conference is the senior, having been held for the first time on the campus a year ago, while the student body presidents and secretaries are meeting for the first time this week-end to form a definite organization.

The conference will coincide in respect to time with the conference of the high school executives. All trains bringing delegates will be met Thursday and Friday, and the visitors will be taken by attendant Oregon Knights to the Administration building, where they will go through the same form of registration and housing assignment as the student presidents and secretaries. The conference will officially open on Friday morning when the editors will meet at the "Y" hut but at 8:30 in conjunction with the high school student officials. This meeting will close at 10 o'clock, when the presidents and secretaries will leave. The rest of the day will be devoted by the high school editors and managers to discussions of the various phases of preparatory journalism, and difficulties which arise in connection with the editing and managing of high school publications.

Faculty Will Speak
Robert Brown, president of the association of the central Willamette valley, will speak on the work of that organization. Arthur Montgomery, president of the state association, will speak on "Our Association and Its Opportunities." In addition to speeches by the various students, there will be addresses by members of the University faculty and student body. Floyd Maxwell, editor of the Emerald, will speak on "How We Gather and Write News for a Daily Paper," and Inez King, editor of the Oregana, will draw a comparison between high school and college annuals. Dean Allen, of the School of Journalism, and Dean Sheldon, of the School of Education, Professor Robert C. Hall of the School of Journalism, and Frank Jenkins of the Eugene Register, are among the local men who will address the convention.

This program of short talks will occupy all of Friday, and Saturday will be spent in conjunction with the presidents' and secretaries' conference, in touring the campus and hearing additional talks.

U. OF W. PLANS CONTESTS WITH U. B. C. NEXT YEAR

Increasing Athletic Activities May Result in Admission to Coast or Northwest Conference

University of Washington, Seattle, April 11—(P. I. N. S. Special)—Increasing athletic activities of the University of British Columbia may result in its admission to either the Northwest or Pacific Coast conference, according to Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager of the University of Washington, who has just returned from Vancouver where he attended a Rotary club conference.

It is planned to arrange hockey, track, baseball, basketball and rowing contests with the University of British Columbia next year, Meisnest said.

The Canadians are keenly interested in all forms of athletics and Vancouver is a great city for sports, he reported.

The University of British Columbia relay team will compete in the Washington relay carnival in the Stadium, April 29.

PREPPERS TO BE THRILLED

OREGON STUDENTS WILL FROLIC WITH VISITORS FRIDAY NIGHT

Affair Being Staged by Student Body; Will Include Music by Orchestra and Glee Clubs

Visiting "preppers" will receive one of the thrills of their young lives when they have nearly 2000 Oregon students frolicking with them Friday night in the first big college night in the history of the University.

The affair will start at 8 o'clock with the high school visitors as guests. The University symphony orchestra will play its liveliest tunes, the men's glee club will send deep-throated harmony to the farthest corner of the Woman's building, and the women's glee club will thrill their hearers with the sweetest music they are able to produce. Then there will be campus movies, stunts, solos, men's quartets, mixed quartets, and jazz. And all for "two bits."

Those in charge of the program want everyone to have the best time possible. It will be a real chance to show Oregon high school students real Oregon spirit, besides having a big program for a small admission price, according to President Bartholomew. The affair is being staged by the student body, working in connection with the glee club and orchestra officials. It will be the only event on the boards for that night.

The scores of 25-cent pieces which will accrue to the student body as a result of the evening's entertainment are expected to pay for bringing the speakers to the high school conference. The big idea of the "college night" however is to provide a good time for students and visitors and to bring a greater appreciation of the campus musical organizations among the students, according to those in charge.

The low price of the event is offered to allow every student to attend in order that the affair will be a gigantic get-together. Over 2,000 are expected to attend.

STUDENT RATE EXTENDED

Season Ticket Price to Business Men of Eugene Reduced Today

Believing that the Eugene business men will support the University athletic teams and attend the games and meets in person if they have a chance to do so economically, the Oregon Knights, under the leadership of Johnny Palmer and Jack Myers, are launching this morning the campaign to sell a season athletic ticket for all varsity and intramural contests to every citizen of the city.

The tickets will sell for $3.00 and will entitle the holder to admission to all athletic contests staged on the University's athletic fields this spring—19 baseball games, seven track meets, swimming meets and intramural sports. In addition to the personally solicited sales by the Oregon Knights, the tickets will be available at Obak's, Hauser Brothers, the Co-Op, and they may be secured through the graduate manager, Jack Benefiel.

DEAN LAWRENCE TO SPEAK

House Planning, Subject Before Home Decoration Class Today

Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school of architecture and allied arts of the University, will address the members of the class in home decoration on house planning this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the lecture room of the architecture building.

All members of the faculty, townspeople and students are invited to attend the discussion of the problems which confront anyone who attempts to build a house, and if possible the talk will be accompanied by slides.

PERSONAL LIFE OF EMERSON TOPIC IN COMING ASSEMBLY

Speaker Is Sole Survivor of Concord Group of Authors and Literary Men

C. J. WOODBURY ON TOUR

First Lecture at 1:15 Today in Villard Auditorium; Reception Tonight

As the sole surviving associate of that famous Concord group of American literary men of which Ralph Waldo Emerson was the leader, Dr. Charles J. Woodbury, who is on a tour delivering lectures on Emerson and his friends, will address the assembly tomorrow. His first lecture will be at 1:15 this afternoon in Villard hall. This will be followed by a reception in his honor in the alumni room of the Woman's building at 8:30 tonight.

In his talk tomorrow Mr. Woodbury will tell of his personal contact with that great school of writers and attempt to give an insight into the personal life of Emerson as well as to relate the way in which several of the famous essays of that American scholar were constructed and prepared for publication.

Spoke Here Eight Years Ago

Mr. Woodbury will be remembered by some of the older members of the faculty as having delivered lectures here eight years ago. Those who heard him at that time recollect with enthusiasm the talk he made.

He is said to have a highly entertaining manner and a great sense of humor. In speaking of his former appearance here Dean Dymond said: "In 1914 Mr. Woodbury gave as quaint and delightful an address as has been heard in the intervening period since."

He reminisces on the wonderful old days of the Concord group. He was a young man then when Emerson and Thoreau were in their prime. He lived with them and sat at their feet, and is known to reproduce them as they cannot be in books.

Mr. Woodbury himself says: "My desire is to make Emerson the nourishing power to our undergraduates that he was to me when I was even as they are. This can only be done by picturing him to them as he was to me. I purpose that at the conclusion of the lectures, hearers should so visualize Emerson and his friends that they cannot be forgotten."

Discussion to Be Different

He says further: "I do not offer discussions of his literature as others do. I simply try to give a plain and permanent picture of the man from my close association with him. There is no one else left from our old group who can do this."

In a letter to President Campbell Mr. Woodbury says: "Since we met eight years ago, the last public speaking survivor of our historic Concord group has passed away, and I am the only one left to tell of the immortals."

Mr. Woodbury is making one of his semi-annual lecture tours. He will stop in Eugene en route to colleges in Washington and the East. He will arrive on the campus today. His first lecture will be at 1:15 today before an American literature group in the large lecture room of Villard hall. This will be open to the public. A reception will be held in his honor in the alumni room of the Woman's building at 8:30 tonight. All students and faculty interested are invited.

JOBS SCARCE DUE TO RAIN

Good Weather Expected to Help Situation, Mrs. Donnelly Says

The student employment situation is very bad at the present time on account of the rainy weather, according to Mrs. Donnelly, employment secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A. There are a great many days when no jobs at all are telephoned in, although the demand is as great as ever. With the coming of spring, however, and the accompanying gardens to spade, lawns to mow, and the like, an increase in employment is expected.

MISS TINGLE ASKED TO PARIS

Miss Lillian Tingle, head of the household arts department, has been asked by the National Home Economics association to be their national delegate to the international meeting to be held in Paris on April 18. Because of her duties on the campus, Miss Tingle declined the honor of being national delegate to the meeting.

REGISTRATION OF JUNIOR WEEK-END VISITORS PLANNED

One Ticket for All Events Expected to Do Away With Past Confusion

PUBLICITY WORK ACTIVE

Mill Race Bleachers Will Be Started This Saturday; Juniors to Toil

A new feature of Junior Week-end this year will be the plan for registration of preppers. They will be registered at some central place, and at that time a special ticket will be issued which admits to all athletic contests, campus events, the prom, and any other entertainments connected with the Junior Week-end festivities.

Through this plan the University will be able to keep track of guests, and will know exactly what high school students are here. This will avoid the old difficulties encountered when tickets were passed out indiscriminately for each event. When the guests register, they will indicate what high school they are from, together with other data.

General Committee Meeting

Starting tonight a general meeting of all committees will be held every Wednesday evening at 7:15 in the basement of the Administration building. The various committees to handle the annual campus event are now well organized and constructive work will go on rapidly until the time of Junior Week-end.

Plans are being considered for financing the annual campus day luncheon. It is probable that some changes may be made in the plan of putting on the luncheon, and possibly with regard to campus day itself.

Work will start on the permanent millrace bleachers Saturday. The ground will have to be cleared first, and as soon as this is accomplished the foundations of the bleachers will be laid. The committee in charge of the canoe fete will make an attempt to get as many juniors out Saturday as possible to help in the work.

W. K. Newell, superintendent of properties, will provide men to supervise the work of construction. Plans are all prepared for the bleachers, and actual work will be started as soon as the foundations are laid. The juniors are expecting to put on many work parties between now and the time of Junior Week-end.

Educational Exhibits Planned

A new feature of Junior Week-end this year will be the staging of exhibits by the various departments in the University. This plan has not been tried on the Oregon campus before but has been found very effective in other universities. The purpose is to interest the prospective students who are here in the work of the University from an intellectual standpoint, along with the various athletic and social events. Through the exhibit they can be shown at first hand the advantages offered at Oregon in the way of training for any particular branch of work.

Publicity Work Progressing

The publicity committee has been very active. The chief work now is getting out stories to all the small dailies and high school papers throughout the state. The posters are ready for distribution, and will be sent out soon. A campaign of letter writing is also being planned.

A heavy attendance of guests is expected this year, despite the fact that an effort has been made to limit the number. Probably not so many will come as last year, however, and the guests will be more representative of the various parts of the state.

MEETING OF GRIDIRON CANDIDATES SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY AFTERNOON

All candidates for next year's football eleven are urgently requested by Head Coach Shy Huntington to turn out for spring training, which will commence next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Varsity football men who are not engaged in some other sport are urged to put in an appearance and all men interested in the sport are invited out. Football togs will be issued all the rest of this week and can be secured between 3 and 4 o'clock in the supply room in the men's gymnasium, by anyone who intends going out.

MARKETING ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED AT U. OF C.

Aim to Purchase at Wholesale Prices and Improve Service and Quality; Capital Stock Is Provided

University of California, Berkeley, April 11—(P. I. N. S. Special)—Starting with a capital stock providing a sinking fund for a grocery store, meat market and laundry, the fraternities, sororities and clubs have recently organized a California Inter-Fraternity Marketing association. This has been done in order that they may have a voice in the control of prices, and the service and quality of goods furnished them by the merchants. Arrangements to purchase goods at wholesale prices are being made by the members.

An advisory board, including two faculty members, to instruct new house managers, will act as a grievance committee to deal with unsatisfactory merchants. An inter-house bi-weekly paper is being considered to help the house managers, and to interest the members in general fraternity news.

Money deposited as capital by each house is placed in trust with the Berkeley Bank of Savings and Trust company and cannot be drawn by the directors without the consent of the association.

SHAW PLAY TO BE GIVEN

"CAESAR AND CLEOPATRA" NEXT COMPANY PRODUCTION

Dates Set for April 26, 27, and 28; Darrell Larsen and Miss Banfield to Play Leading Roles

Shaw's clever comedy, "Caesar and Cleopatra" will be the first regular company production of the spring term. The dates for the play have been set for April 26, 27, and 28. This will be the second Shaw play produced this year, as "Pygmalion" was produced in the Eugene theater last fall, and no other play has been quite so popular on the campus as this. In "Caesar and Cleopatra" Shaw's clever personality is combined with the Egyptian atmosphere which will make the play one of the most interesting and different productions of the year.

Darrell Larsen and Miss Charlotte Banfield will play the leading roles in the play. The settings and the costumes are being worked out very carefully and it is expected that these will help make the production a great success.

The plot of the play is known to almost everyone who is interested in Shaw's works, as it is one of his best known comedies. He treats his characters in an entirely different manner from what one might expect and he takes every opportunity to bring out the subtle humor of the situations. Cleopatra is treated as a small child who suddenly grows up through the influence of Caesar and becomes a real queen, quite to the disappointment of Fatatateeta, who has governed her and practically ruled Egypt for some time.

The coming of Caesar also interrupts the plans of Pothinus who had governed Ptolemy, the younger brother of Cleopatra, who ruled part of Egypt. Pothinus will be played by Claire Kenney, and Fatatateeta will be played by Margaret Nelson. The other members of the cast are: Lucius Septimus, Fred Young; Ptolemy, Betti Kessi; Charmian, Mabel Gilham; Iras, Lorna Coolidge; Rufio, Edwin Keech; Theodotus, John Ellestad; Britannus, Vern Fudge; Delbert Faust will play the parts of Achilles and Major-Domo; Arthur Johnson will play both Bel Afris and the boatman; Wade Kerr, both the Centurian and the Persian; Charles Fish, Belzanor and the Musician; and Virgil Mulkey will play both the Nubian and the Roman.

WEATHER FORECAST

Wednesday—Rain or snow; moderate southwestern winds.

Dramatic Skit to Tell Girls Of College Needs and Styles

"What to wear when you to college" or "Practical suggestions regarding the average run of feminine attire on the University of Oregon campus" might well be phrases descriptive of the style show which is to be staged for the high school girls who will be on the campus for the editors', presidents' and secretaries' conference this week-end. The show will be put on in the Woman's building Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

The styles will be exhibited in the course of a dramatic skit in which a modiste's shop will furnish the scene. Hildegard Repinen, the proprietress, will have her models come in and exhibit the styles to a girl who is preparing for college, Betti Kessi, and her mother, Lorna Coolidge. Two French maids, Katherine Watson and Eleanor Keep, will assist the modiste in the display, and there will be bellhops in

BALL TEAM WORKS HARD WITH WILLOW DESPITE SHOWERS

Batting Park in Old Kincaid Grandstand Utilized by Horsehide Maulers

KEEN COMPETITION SHOWN

First Game of Series to Be Played Friday at 4:30 on Cemetery Ridge

While the heavy rains of the past few days have prevented actual work-outs and scrimmages on Cemetery ridge, the baseball squad has been going through the heaviest kind of batting practice. When the showers drive the horsehide maulers from the cages on the ridge, they improve their time by utilizing the enclosed batting park in the old grandstand on Kincaid.

The hurling staff is beginning to round into form nicely in spite of the inclemency of the weather, as the heavens are bearing down on them in the outdoor gym. There should be some keen competition to pitch the opener next Friday between Baldwin, Ringle, and Wright, who seem to be in better condition to bear down on them than the other candidates.

Gray and Latham Working

Roll Gray, who worked more or less regularly with the varsity nine last year, should show an improvement over his 1921 form and will likely get a chance to mow down the Badger batsmen in one game of the series the last of the week. Marc Latham, used last year as relief pitcher, has decided to cast his lot with the horsehide artists and is working for a place on the hurling staff.

Hewitt and Leonard, two big right-handers, are warming up regularly and may get a chance to show their wares this week-end.

Whether or not Bohler decides to work Spike Leslie at first base, the receiving end of the game should be well taken care of with Ward Johnson and Johnny Watson working in nice form. Also Floyd Shields, football star and substitute catcher on last year's nine, is registered in school again after a term's absence, but as yet he has not decided to turn out for baseball.

First Game Friday

Weather permitting, the first game of the series with the Pacific University Badgers will be played Friday afternoon at 4:30 on Cemetery ridge. The time is set late so as to interfere as little as possible with the all-state relay which is slated for that afternoon. The second game will be called at 10 Saturday morning which will not conflict at all with the relay, as that will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Of interest to local athletic followers is the fact that two of the men on the Pacific University baseball team, which will play here this week-end, are former Oregon men. They are Dwight Blackman, an infielder, who played on the freshman basketball team last year, and Ernest Amburn, a pitcher. Blackman is a three-sport man at Pacific and is considered something of a star in each.

DR. REBEC AT WHITMAN

Dr. George Rebec left today for a trip to Whitman college in the interests of the graduate school, of which he is dean.

the persons of Mary Skinner and Dorothy Miller.

Winter suits and dresses appropriate for the campus, sport clothes, spring suits and dresses, spring dinner dresses, formal evening dresses, and robes de nuit will be shown in order to give the visitors a suggestion of what is worn on the campus.

The main committee is in charge of Kay Nicholson and the other members are Phebe Gage, Savilla Welk, Pearl Lewis, and Wilhelmina Becksted. Those who will assist in the production are Florence Jagger, Margaret Alexander, Betty Pride, Marion Lawrence, Geneva Stebno, Lois Hall, Bernice Altstock, Lillian Auld and Florence Moorhead. Music will be provided by Beulah Clark, Helen Harper and Eloise McPherson.

A ten-cent admission will be charged University women who attend the show and town women will be charged 25 cents.
