History Professor's "Notes on English" in Demand in Japan

Eldon Griffin, assistant professor of history, has recently been informed by Kye Bun Kwan, a Tokyo publishing firm, that the copies of his text, "Notes on English," which was printed in 1919, have been exhausted and that there is a demand for a second edition. The lack of sufficient materials for teaching English in Japan caused Professor Griffin to write the text for personal convenience and for the use of his students in Dai Hachi Koto Gakko (Eighth National College), at which place he taught in the English depart-

BALL GAMES CALLED OFF

Series with Pacific Is Great Victory for Weather Man

The two-game series between Pacific University and the University of Oregon baseball teams, which was to have been played this week-end, has been canceled on account of rain and the Pacific team has returned to Forest Grove. The Varsity will swing into action next Friday and Saturday against the University of Washington at Seattle, and because of the inclemency of the weather this spring the conference opener will be the first practice games.

RAIN PREVENTS BASEBALL

The freshman baseball game which was scheduled for this afternoon has been called off on account of the poor condition of the field, which is soggy on account of the great amount of rain which has fallen the last two days. The frosh will open their season in a two-game series against Columbia University here next Friday and Saturday.

Preppers Punctual Preparation Towards Thorough Thinking Through Traditions Thought Tremendously Timely

EXCLUSIVE MEN'S MEETING NEEDED

There is urgent need for a general get-together of all visiting preppers of the stronger sex in order that they may be versed in the knowledge necessary to become college men of high calibre. We have often thought that there existed such a need; especially as we look over some of the raw material that graces our side walks and talks to our fair maidens every fall.

This is truly a field for improvement. Accordingly we, OBAK and Co., have decided on a course of instruction for the neophyte frosh now visiting the domain of the Poincer. So if you have a visitor in your home show him the following list of instructive paragraphs that he may know the secret of college life. First, and foremost, of course, get acquainted with the best known man in Eugene, OBAK himself. This is necessary for every real college man.

Secondly, when you step out among college women, "let not thy left girl know what thy right girl doeth; for as one who seeketh to fold a newspaper in a high wind so is one who must argue with an angry woman."

Thirdly, Investigate OBAK'S snow white luncheonette. It's the biggest little joy producer in town, making one's howling stomach feel like an O. A. C. rally over a scoreless victory.

Fourthly, supply your self with one Long Tom black cigarette holder. Excellent for personal grudges and fraternity tong wars as it is easily converted into a war club.

Fifthly, if you wish to throw compliments ask a senior to lend you five dollars. He may faint but it will please him any way.

Sixthly, roll your own, both cigarettes and pool, at OBAK'S. It's the best place in town to take your friend and the best place to go in case you have no friend.

Preppers, you are Oregon guests today. You are to find, before you leave, just why every one thinks this campus the best place in the state, even though many are not permitted by the business office to hang around.

Many of you are coming back to serve a four year term next fall. You'll never regret it.

Of course we could tell you in a couple of words that it will take you four years to find out just how much you don't know and that OBAK'S is the best civic center you will ever come in contact with, but we won't.

However, we will tell you that you'll never regret knowing all the Oregon traditions. That's one of the best parts of school life. So here they are, the best of them:

1—OBAK'S is the place of rest and refreshment for the real college man.

2—Smoking on the campus is considered quite the thing—as a means of publicity.

3—If pledged by any representative campus organization, such as the School of Commerce or the CO-OP, it is traditional not to speak to loudly of it; some one might think you believed all that they had told you.

4—Always speak to your friends, something like: "Hello Bill! H' are-ye! See you at OBAK'S to-night."

5—Bill Hayward, Dean Straub and the Pioneer are traditions on the campus too, benign the eldest boys around, so respect them as such.

6—It is traditional to watch the moon rise from the grand stand and also to study nature in the cemetery. Some seasoned sophomore co-ed had better be obtained as a guide.

7—Make OBAK'S your social center.
