Scenic Wonderland of Alaska To Be Shown at Condon Club

Exotic scenes robbed of their distances—colored slides showing a world twisted and torn into grotesque shapes by one of the greatest volcanic disturbances in the history of civilization—will feature the session of the Condon club in the "Y" hut next Wednesday evening when Frank I. Jones, of Portland, delivers his illustrated lecture on "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes."

FROSH TO MEET COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY NINE TODAY

Local Baseball Season Will Open This Afternoon; Organizations to Entertain Visitors

The local baseball season will officially open this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Cemetery Ridge diamond when the frosh nine tangles with the Columbia University nine of Portland.

"Shy" Huntington, who is handling the yearling tossers this year, has announced the following tentative lineup for the games: Pitchers, Skinner, Haynes, Brooks, Easterday, Brenne-man; catchers, Orr, Cook; first base, Burton; second base, Sullivan; short-stop, Vester; third base, Jacobberger; left field, Haynes or Brooks; center field, King; right field, Cook, Orr.

Columbia University always puts out fast baseball teams and reports from the north this year indicate that the present nine is no exception, which should make the contests today and tomorrow interesting, for the freshmen have a strong aggregation and are prepared to give a good account of themselves.

The Columbia nine will make the trip down from Portland today and will be entertained at the various fraternity houses. Jack Myers is in charge of their entertainment.

BUILDING NEEDS DESCRIBED

FINANCIAL CONDITION TOLD BY PRESIDENT CAMPBELL

Gifts from Individuals Only Solution to Problems Brought About by Big Increase in Enrollment

Because the number of students in the University has increased more than 30 per cent since the millage tax was passed in 1920, the need for new buildings on the campus cannot be met by the present income, declared President P. L. Campbell in a speech before the weekly luncheon of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

There will be another increase of 20 per cent in the registration for next year, predicted President Campbell, and with the present income it will be practically impossible to take care of all of them.

"But with the tax situation as it is in the state, there is no prospect of a larger income," he said. "There is only one hope and that is gifts from individuals." Without any particular effort on the part of the University, almost $200,000 has been given already this year and approximately $220,000 was given last year.

In describing the cramped conditions in some of the buildings President Campbell declared that only 1100 people could get into Villard hall and at present there are over 2000 registered. The library building, he said, was built to accommodate 600 students, and in the event of fire would have little chance.

He used the chart which he used before a recent assembly to show the building program of the University.

Y. W. C. A. CONVENTION FUND SWELLS

Final returns from the candy sale conducted by the Y. W. C. A. girls at last week's performance of the "Shady Lady" show a net result of about $32. The money was added to the convention fund being raised to pay the expenses of the local delegate to the national convention of the association being held in Hot Springs, Arkansas, this month.

Y. W. C. A. TEA NETS $46

Approximately $46 was cleared at the silver tea given by the Y. W. C. A. advisory board at the Bungalow Wednesday afternoon. This amount will be expended in minor refurbishings for the association rooms. The decorations for the affair were novel and carried out the effect of an April shower, with silver rain falling from a parasol suspended in the center of the room.

FIRST PHI MU ALPHA ASSEMBLY CONCERT DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Work of Professional Grade; Chorus and Orchestra Special Features

SIEFERT RECEIVES OVATION

Trio Numbers Add Variety; Reid Appears in Most of Selections

A musical performance of high professional quality was given students and faculty in Villard hall yesterday at the first assembly concert of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity.

The program, which was arranged for the occasion by Leland A. Coon, Ralph Poston, and Herbert Hacker, was pleasing in every number, with vocal sharing honors with instrumental music.

The opening selection, "The Sword of Ferrara," by the chorus, was fiery and stirring, giving especial opportunity to the first tenor and baritone sections to lead with the melody.

The orchestra's selection "Adagio Pathe-tique" by Godard seemed to draw the audience into a quiet mood as French sentimental music usually does.

"Deep River," an enchanting spiritual air as played on violin, cello and piano by Rex Underwood, Ralph Hoerber, and Ronald Reid, was one of the most beautiful selections of the program.

Siefert Wins Ovation

John B. Siefert took the audience by storm with his two songs, "The Lost Path" by Crist, and "Song of the Open" by Frank La Forge.

A change was made in the program when the trio substituted Tschakowsky's "Waltz" from the opera "Eugene Onegin" for the number listed.

The finale was given by the orchestra which played two parts of a suite by Friml. The first, a waltz, was graceful and light.

Oriental Number Is Finale

The finale was given by the orchestra which played two parts of a suite by Friml. The first, a waltz, was graceful and light.

The program was especially entertaining because of the variety of music included. Selections from American, French, Austrian, Russian and other composers were included, so that the audience was given a taste of music from all lands.

Enrollment Out Possible

The matter of accommodating the number of students in the chemistry department is becoming serious, according to Dr. Shinn, and unless there is some relief in the housing problem the enrollment in chemistry will have to be limited and the operation of the pre-medical curriculum will have to be postponed, with the possibility of a postponement of the engineering schedule also.

VIKINGS DOWN OREGON ON SEATTLE DIAMOND

University of Washington, Seattle, April 20.—Oregon's ball players were downed by the Vikings this afternoon, 13 to 6. Wright and Johnson were pitching for the visitors, while the home team used Freever and Sister on the mound.

CHEMISTRY ANNEX TO COST $18,000 ASKED OF REGENTS

Large One-story Structure or Smaller One with Three Floors Planned

QUARTERS BADLY CRAMPED

Present Room Little Larger Than 20 Years Ago; Limit of Capacity Reached

An annex to the present chemistry building, costing approximately $18,000, will be erected if the authority requested by the College of Literature, Science and the Arts is granted by the Board of Regents.

Two plans will be presented. One by Professor O. F. Stafford of the chemistry department, now away on leave of absence, provides for the building of a one-story annex to the rear of McClure hall, which would extend along toward the back of Friendly hall and would necessitate the moving of the Journalism shack to some other site.

Three-story Annex Suggested

The other plan, that of Dr. F. L. Shinn, head of the department in the absence of Professor Stafford, provides for the building of a three-story annex at the back of McClure hall, which would not necessitate the moving of the Journalism quarters and would cost less in construction.

The demands on the chemistry department have grown by leaps and bounds during the last four years," said Dr. Shinn.

There were enrolled in the chemistry classes during the fall term 337 students, of which number 29 were major students.

337 in Department

The outstanding limitation of the department is housing. The chemistry department is occupying exactly the same quarters, with the exception of one small room, now used for a shop, which it occupied 20 years ago, when the total University enrollment did not exceed that in the department of chemistry at the present time.

ECON CLUB ELECTS

Marie Myers was elected president of the Home Economics club and Lottie Benschneider, and Edna Bushman were elected vice-president-treasurer, and secretary at a luncheon yesterday.

Mu Phi Program Delightful Innovation of Evening Hour

With nothing lacking but a low-hanging moon, a new and beautiful innovation was enacted on the steps of McClure hall last night when members of the campus Mu Phi Epsilon, woman's musical fraternity, gave a free open-air concert.

A large number of students and townspeople voiced their enthusiastic approval of the various numbers and the program as a whole. The stage setting was the high veranda of McClure hall with a single electric light above and, instead of painted scenery for a background, the grey walls of the building to give back the tones of voice and instrument.

SCHOLARSHIP AT CHICAGO AWARDED TO WHITAKER

Business Administration Instructor Wins in Nation-wide Competition; Acceptance Not Certain

Professor John R. Whitaker, of the school of business administration, has been awarded a graduate scholarship in the school of commerce and administration of the University of Chicago.

The award is based on scholastic standing while in college and the amount and quality of research work done after graduation.

The opportunities in the field around Chicago are very great. The University itself has perhaps the most complete facilities for research work of any college or university in the United States.

The scholarship takes effect October 1, 1922. Mr. Whitaker does not know whether he will be able to accept the award or not, but he will decide definitely in the near future.

SHAW'S CLEOPATRA UNIQUE

TRADITIONAL CONCEPTION OF PART IS DISCARDED

Many Campus Dramatic Favorites to Be Seen in Productions Next Week

The April dramatic production will be George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra," which will be staged next Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday nights.

"Much Attention to Costumes" Cleopatra will be played by Charlotte Banfield, who was seen last month in "The Merchant of Venice," the last Guild theatre production.

A great deal of work is being put on the costumes, all of which will be either Egyptian or Roman. The settings, too, will be artistic and will help produce the Egyptian atmosphere.

The young cast is composed of students who have played successful parts on the Guild stage before. Claire Keeney will play the role of Ptolemy, the young brother and husband of Cleopatra.

Patateeta, who in reality ruled Cleopatra's part of the kingdom, will be played by Margaret Nelson, who played the severe old aunt in "The Wedding Guest."

Guild Favorites in Cast

The program follows: Trio—Violin, flute, piano—Beulah Clark, Alberta Potter, Imogene Letcher. Solo—"O Lovely Night" (Langdon Ronald)—Madame McGrew.

BETTER RELATIONS BETWEEN COLLEGES IS OBJECT OF VISIT

Bartholomew Declares Days of Feudal Strife Between Schools Are Past

AFFAIRS AT O. A. C. STUDIED

Student Officials to Work in Harmony; A. S. U. O. Head to Welcome Aggies

"I am glad to see the progress toward better relations among the colleges," said Lyle Bartholomew, president of the Associated Students, on his return from O. A. C., where he spoke to the student body Wednesday.

"The time has come when we are past the feudal days of intercollegiate strife; the Renaissance of student life has come, and we are embarking upon a larger and fuller career of student enterprise. We have a duty to perform in becoming good citizens of the state of Oregon, and this duty can only be performed by an absolute cooperation between the three state institutions for higher education."

This visit to O. A. C. was a part of the fulfillment of a program which Harold Readon, president of the O. A. C. student body, and Bartholomew planned while attending the Seabeck Y. M. C. A. conference last summer.

"We both realized the benefit which we would derive from cooperation. The entire corps of student officials from O. A. C. will visit our campus some time in the latter part of May, and our officers and student council will make an exchange visit." It is also planned to bring the new student officers of the coast colleges together at Corvallis, immediately after the collegiate spring elections, for round-table discussions of college problems.

New Plan Is Tried

"We aim to bring the next year's officials of the University and O. A. C. into as close contact as possible," Bartholomew said. "We initiated the plan this year, and part of the plan was carried out at the last homecoming, when all of the Oregon officials met the O. A. C. officials at the train and escorted them to the campus."

"After this last visit I have nothing but praise for the manner in which our sister institution conducts her student affairs. It was the privilege of Miss Carson and myself to witness the awarding of sweaters to the O. A. C. basketball men by Professor Dubach, the faculty member of the Pacific Coast conference. His presentation speech brought out emphatically the fact that the college's policy admits only the cleanest kind of sportsmanship and the highest grade of athletics to participation in intramural or intercollegiate athletics in which the reputation of the school is involved."

While Miss Carson and Bartholomew were on the O. A. C. campus, they were shown absolutely every possible courtesy. Harold Readon, the student body president, and Alma Scharpe, secretary, exhibited the best of hospitality and extended themselves to entertain the Oregon officials during their stay on the campus. They were shown through the newer buildings and about the recent additions to the campus. Miss Carson remained as representative of the University, for the annual Senior night of the college. An encouraging sign is the fact that competition be-
