

FROSH NINE TO PLAY BOOKS AT CORVALLIS

Two Games Slated for Friday and Saturday

Coach Shy Huntington is taking his entire freshman baseball squad to Corvallis today in an attempt to regain some of the laurels lost last week, when the rooks succeeded in taking the first two of the four games which were to be played between the two teams.

The frosh chances of winning the games this week-end are very good, the coach thinks, and states that in both the games the frosh were only in a batting slump, from which they have partially recovered, and thinks that they can hit the rook pitchers a great deal more than they did on the local diamond.

Thirteen men, Manager Jack Day, and Coach Shy Huntington are making the trip. The plan is to get one of the large jitney busses to take them, and in this way they will be able to return tonight in time for the canoe fete. The game tomorrow will be played in the morning if possible, letting the frosh return in time for the Varsity-Washington track meet in the afternoon.

These two games are the last of the season for the yearlings, and will close their playing schedule. The men making the trip are: Cook, Orr, King, Burton, Sullivan, Vester, Troutman, Haynes, Harding, Kiblin, Branaman, Skinner and Brooks. Shy has not definitely decided as yet who he will start in the box but it will probably be Branaman, who pitched a good game against the rooks last week.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS TODAY

Students May Vote in Nearest Precinct by Presenting Certificates

Students who have secured a certificate of registration from the county clerk in the county in which they reside may vote at today's primary election.

The vote may be cast in any precinct in Eugene that is convenient for the student. Upon entering the polls the student must present the election certificate to the election judge. He is then given a ballot and may vote for any state or district candidate. The certificate does not, however, give the non-resident voter the privilege of voting for candidates seeking office in Lane county.

OREGON MAN IS HONORED

John C. Almack, Extension Worker, Will Write Education Text

John C. Almack, assistant director of the extension division, who was granted a leave of absence last year so that he could work toward his Ph.D. degree at Stanford university, has requested an additional year in order that he may accept an attractive fellowship that has been offered to him.

Mr. Almack has been working during the past year with Elwood P. Cubberley, head of the department of education.

tion at Stanford, and the fellowship comes through him. It includes only a small amount of teaching and will give Mr. Almack an opportunity to prepare the manuscript for the book which he plans to add to the Cubberley series of college texts on education.

Earl Kilpatrick, director of the extension division, has indorsed Mr. Almack's request, subject to the approval of the board of regents. He will be back on the Oregon campus not later than the fall of 1923.

HOT WEATHER REDUCES POPULARITY OF LIBRARY

Considerable Decrease in Use of Books Noted on Warm Days; Cooling Device to Be Installed

The warm weather which prevailed the first part of this week was not consistent with profound reading, according to statistics submitted by the librarian.

On Tuesday, May 9, the weather was cool and on that date 1035 books passed over the desk in the reserve section of the library. A week later, on Tuesday, May 16, when the thermometer hovered around 90 degrees in the shade, only 955 books were taken from this department. On this date the reserve section of the library was almost devoid of students during the afternoon. The lower floor of the library experienced much greater decrease in business also at this time. On Tuesday, May 9, the record of the librarian shows that 279 books were taken out in the afternoon. A week later when the weather was warm only 174 books were used.

Some means of keeping the library cooler will be installed soon, according to the librarian. A large electric fan will probably be used for the purpose.

AGGIES AND VARSITY

game today a real battle may be looked for, with the Aggies on the long end of two box scores, in order to even the series, which is something of an Oregon tradition when the Lemon Yellow can't win it, the Varsity will have to annex both of the games.

Aggies Dangerous Team

The Aggies have a good ball club, despite frequent reverses this season, and hit the ball hard, and Bohler's crew will be hard pressed to win. Captain Babb or Mendenhall will likely start in the box for the visitors today with Duffy donning the shin guards. Ringle or Baldwin will probably mount the mound against the collegians this afternoon, with Captain Leslie behind the bat.

The score of yesterday's game:

R. H. E.
Oregon	12	11	7
Whitman	17	11	3

Batteries: Collins, Gray, Wright and Leslie; Knudson and Walthers. Umpire, Ward Johnson.
