

BERNICE ALTSTOCK AND RALPH COUCH WINNERS

Holder of Gerlinger Cup, for Best Junior Girl, Popular

KOYL CUP REWARDS WORK

New Man Is Scholar, Athlete and Manager of Glee Club

As a reward for high scholarship and a long list of activities during three years of college life, the Gerlinger cup was presented at the Junior Prom Saturday night to Bernice Altstock, as the best all-around junior woman, and the Koyl cup to Ralph Couch, as the best all-around man in the class. When President Campbell mounted the stage just before the seventh dance to make the annual presentations, a great hush fell over the crowd, as interest had been running high all evening as to who would get the awards. The two cups for the best canoe fete were also awarded at the same time, being presented to Pi Beta Phi and Phi Sigma Pi.

The Gerlinger cup was presented this year for the fifth time. It is given by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, member of the Board of Regents of the University, to the best all-around junior woman, scholarship and student activities being considered. Marvel Skeels was the last holder of the cup.

Range of Work Wide
Bernice Altstock, this year's winner of the cup, has been very active in college since she entered as a freshman in 1919. She has been secretary of the sophomore class, treasurer of the Women's League, a member of the Women's Glee club for three years and president of the organization during the past year, vice-president of the Newman club, and during the past year was on the junior week-end, homecoming and music activities committees. She is a member of Kwama, Mu Phi Epsilon and Pi Beta Phi.

Ralph Couch, recipient of the Koyl cup, held last year by Remy Cox, has an equally long list of accomplishments. He has been a member of the executive council and finance committee during the past year, and will continue in that capacity during the coming one, as chairman of the finance committee.

All-around Activity Shown
Couch has been manager of the Women's Glee club, secretary of the University chamber of commerce, and was on the junior week-end and high school conference committees. For three years he has been turning out for basketball, baseball, and track, winning his "O" in basketball during the past season. He is a member of the Order of the "O," Alpha Kappa Psi, and Alpha Tau Omega. Couch was recently elected to Friars.

Campus Social Mecca During Past Week-End; Many Alumni And Preppers Here for Parties

Picnic parties, formal dinners, breakfast dances, and smokers were all included in the social round of entertainment for the "preppers" during the week-end. Many alumni came down to assist in the entertaining, and to witness once more the whirl of events connected with Junior Week-end.

In spite of rain which fell intermittently during the mornings, the picnics were successes. Young's Meadow was the scene of the Delta Gamma's picnic Sunday morning. Alpha Chi Omega entertained for her guests with a breakfast at the Anchorage Sunday morning. A yellow color scheme was used effectively with Scotch Broom as the centerpiece and clever place cards. Delta Delta Delta also gave a breakfast at the Anchorage Sunday.

If the canoe fete wasn't the inspiration for, it was at least the precursor of numerous dances held that evening. The Kappa Sigma house and veranda were gay with Japanese lanterns and buoyant youth at their joint dance with the Gamma Phi's that evening. Among the dances given after the fete were those of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, and Pi Beta Phi, and Alpha Sigma.

When it comes to popularity, breakfast dances seem to have it. Some of those who enjoyed this diversion Saturday morning were Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Rho Epsilon, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, and Pi Beta Phi.

The Junior Prom with its myriads of gold and silver stars, its soft lights, its orchestra half-hidden in a bower, and the gaily-colored dresses, made a pretty picture.

While co-eds reveled at feeds, men made merry at smokers. Friday night Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi, and Delta Tau Delta gave them, and Saturday night among those given were Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Sigma Nu.

Among the prominent alumni down for the week-end was Oliver Houston, '10, who was recently elected to the state house of representatives. He stayed at the Sigma Nu house, of which he is a member. Howard Kelly, '21, Russell Drinker, and Bob Langley were alumni at the Beta house last week-end. Donald Ralston, '21, of Portland; Lloyd Still, '20, of Freewater, and Henry Koepe, '22, were at the Kappa Sigma house. Sigma Chi alumni included "Jiggs" Leslie of Marshfield, Orin Jenkins of Albany, and "Dinty" Moore of Bandon. Arvol Simola and Harry Hollister were two Fiji visitors. Bob Boetticher, '21, who is at present working on the Albany Herald, and Everett Pixley, '21, in the general insurance business in Salem, were at the Phi Delta house.

Mrs. Ross McKenna (Marian Gilstrap) was an interesting alumni at the Delta Gamma house. Mrs. McKenna while here was prominent in dramatic circles and was a member of Scroll and Script. Miss Helen Hall, '21, was also at the Delta Gamma house. Georgia Shipley of Portland, who is teaching school at Lexington, Ore., intends to return next year. Miss Shipley is a Gamma Phi Beta. Erva Smith, '21, who was at the Alpha Chi Omega house, intends to teach in Franklin high school in Portland next year. She was also a member of Scroll and Script while a senior here. Other guests at this house included Edythe Wilson of Astoria, who was elected president of the Spanish club when on the campus; Eunice Eggleston, '22, who will be back next year, and Truth Terry. Florence Tenneson of Portland stayed at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, of which she is a member, and Dorothy Ostrander, '23, was at the Pi Beta Phi house.

ROOKS DEFEAT OREGON FROSH IN TWO GAMES

Team Loses to O. A. C. by 9-4 and 11-8 Scores

The Frosh baseball team closed dropping a disastrous season last week-end by rapping both their last games to the Rooks by scores of 9 to 4 and 11 to 8. The Rooks captured both the games played here so the O. A. C. games were something of a failure this year, but since the Frosh won victories in basketball, and played a tie game in football they are about even in the sport line.

The games were well played, the members of the frosh team say, but the Rooks had more experience, and were really the better ball club the frosh admit. Riddings, the Aggie shortstop, garnered two home runs in the last game, and fattened his batting average considerably at the expense of the Frosh twirlers.

Cook, the frosh first baseman, played good ball in both the games, and leads the Frosh batting average as the result of getting six hits out of eight times at bat in the two games. King also secured some nice hits.

Skinner chucked the first game, and Brannaman the second, and both heavers displayed a good brand of ball but the Frosh backing was poor, and coupled with the ability of the Rook pitchers, Newbill and Murray, to fan frosh batters they were hopelessly outclassed. Orr received in the first game for the Rooks, and King in the second, Giffen was behind the bat in both contests for the Rooks.

DR. YOUNG GETS OFFER

Psychology Professor Not to Accept Bid from University of Michigan

Prof. Kimball Young, of the psychology department, has recently received an offer from the University of Michigan for a position as instructor, the offer being tendered by Dr. W. B. Pillsbury, head of the psychology department there. The University of Michigan is one of the largest universities in the country and has an extensive psychology department but Prof. Young was unable to accept, as he has already taken a position as assistant professor of psychology at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., having obtained a year's absence from the University. He will teach at the Portland summer school before leaving for Clark university. At the latter place he will have classes in social and racial psychology and mental measurements.

TOURISTS TO VIEW PASSION PLAY

The great tide of pilgrims who journey across the world to witness the Passion Play at Oberammergau, is increasing daily. The opening performance recently held an audience spell-bound for more than eight hours, despite the cold and rain. Spanish priests, Scandinavians, Japanese and Chinese jostled English and Americans, all eager to witness that greatest drama of all time.

Anton Lang, who played Christus in 1910, is playing the part again this year. This is undoubtedly the last time that he will be seen in the great role, as by 1930 he will be too old to act the part, which requires a great deal of physical endurance and suffering. After the performance on Sunday he was lifted from the cross, suffering from exhaustion.

The whole production is so carefully worked out, with such minute attention to detail, and depicts so vividly the greatest story in all history, that the Passion Play is unquestionably the greatest drama of all time.

COUNCIL MEMBERS WILL BANQUET THURSDAY

Officers of Present and Next Year to Be Entertained at Alpha Phi House; Partners Drawn

The annual banquet of the student and executive councils for present members and members-elect will be held at the Alpha Phi house Thursday evening at 6:30. Helen Carson, student secretary, is in charge. A lottery was held the other day, which thoroughly mixed up the names of this year's council members and next year's pledges to that body. Everybody, according to Helen Carson, is to come to the party, which by the way is just an ordinary party and does not require tuxedos and the like, on the basis of all having been life-long friends. After food, speeches are the order of the evening, and present council members with one year's experience to their credit are expected to rival Demosthenes and Cicero in oratory.

"This is the student council blow-out," said Helen Carson, speaking of the party. "We've all been working hard all year, and now that our work is done we are going to have a good time. The time, place and where-withal are provided, the house will be cleared for the occasion, we will try to have good food and plenty of it, and we want everyone to come and have a good time."

RUTH LANE DIRECTOR

Ruth Lane, a former University student who was graduated last winter term, is touring with the Ellison-White Chautauqua. After attending a convention of directors and junior superintendents at Raton, New Mexico, she preceded the company through New Mexico and Southern California, taking the place of what was formerly an advance agent. Miss Lane manages and introduces the talent and re-contracts the town for the next year. She is expected to be at Myrtle Point, Oregon, in a few days.

Hard Luck

Oregon has had a little hard luck athletically this year, but she is going to come back strong next year.

Oregon might have had her hard luck, but you won't have any if you trade here, because we are small enough so that we can give you particular attention to all the details. We are always ready to do you a favor.

Blinding Headaches

are very frequently the result of imperfect vision; that kind of headaches can be permanently relieved only by properly fitted glasses. If it tires your eyes or gives you a headache to read, or sew, or otherwise employ your eyes at close work, you probably need glasses.

We can fit you at reasonable prices with glasses that will positively correct any defects of vision that may be found, and you'll find them so becoming that any fears that you might "not look well with glasses" will be instantly allayed.
