CANDIDATES NAMED FOR OFFICERS OF WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Bernice Altstock Is Alone in Field for Presidency; Election Thursday

WORK OF LEAGUE PRAISED

Representatives to Be Sent to State Clubs' Convention at Tillamook

Women's League nominations were held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Villard hall. The names suggested by the nominating committee were accepted without any nomination from the floor. Nominations were made from the floor, however, for a member of the present sophomore class to attend the conference of the Oregon State Federation of Women's clubs at Tillamook, from May 31 to June 1. Those nominated were Miriam Schwartz, Lurline Coulter and Helen King. Elections will be held on Thursday from 9 o'clock until 2, in Villard hall.

At the meeting yesterday Bishop Sumner spoke briefly of the necessity of standards to be maintained by college women, and spoke highly of the Oregon type of university woman.

Committee Reports Made

Reports were made by the various standing committees. The finance committee made its annual report and Bernice Altstock, treasurer, urged a large attendance at the Campbell concert to be held June 2, at which time the league hopes to pay off the remainder of the debt from the symphony concert last year.

The activities committee reported on the point system which has been carefully worked out. By this system a check is made on the number of hours of outside activities each college woman is carrying. A card index system with names and the activities of each girl will be kept next year.

Ila Nichols, chairman of the house representatives committee, reported that the committee had drawn up the new rules now in effect and is now busy campaigning against expensive entertaining.

Social Activities Numerous

The social committee reported activities for the year. Approximately 26 Women's League teas have been given and two large teas, one for Dr. and Mrs. Zimmerman, and one for the mothers on Mothers' Day. Two sponsor-sponsee dances were given. The annual April Frolic, under the supervision of the league, and the jitney dance given to raise money for the Women's League loan fund, were successes. Four open houses were held in Alumni hall, and two Christmas balls were given, one in Portland and one in Eugene. Recently the members of Women's League council entertained members of the student council and executive council at breakfast.

FILIPINO DELEGATION TO VISIT

A Filipino delegation, now in this country for the purpose of conferring with President Harding in the hope of securing independence for the Philippine Islands, will visit the campus in the efforts of the Filipino club are successful. The mission, which arrived in Seattle yesterday, is, according to Felipe Gamboa, composed of the most influential men in the Islands. If the delegation visits Portland, as is planned, they will be invited by the club to visit the University also.

Flag of Boxers One of Historic Objects in Warner Collection

A Chinese flag, carried at the head of the Boxer forces during the rebellion, and bearing an inscription which calls for the death of all foreigners, is one of the valuable historical objects that is contained in the Mrs. Murray Warner collection which will be formally presented to the University next Monday afternoon. By a curious coincidence, another item which has been just recently added to the collection is the identical executioner's sword with which the heads of all the Boxer generals were cut off after the rebellion had failed.

Also of historic interest, although principally valued for their unique artistic merit, are several of the finest specimens of the tapestry and embroidery collection. Three of these are extremely rare joss coats, garments which once a year are placed upon the image of the ancestor in the family temple at a time when the whole clan gathers. The heraldry and the symbolic ornament on these coats has not yet been thoroughly studied, but the indications are that these unequalled garments belong to the ancestral god of the Manchu imperial family itself. Certainly three other coats are known definitely to have been ceremonial robes of imperial Manchus, one worn by the emperor, one by one of his wives, and one by the imperial prince. This branch of the collection also is said to be unequalled in any country, nor has the British museum anything to compare with it, unless by very recent acquisition.

The dedication ceremonies for the new University museum will take place in the museum and gallery rooms in the Woman's memorial building at 2:30 next Monday afternoon. The exhibits will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Monday, and from 2 to 4 p. m. every day thereafter. The

JIMMIE MEEK CHOSEN JUNIOR CLASS HEAD

Race Is Close; Margaret Alexander Is Elected Vice-president

The final count of votes in the election for junior class officers, held yesterday in Villard hall, proved to be rather slight in spite of the fact that junior officials have a great deal of work to handle. Jimmie Meek was named president by a small majority, the vote being: Meek 51, Edlund 43, Farrell 32, and Harlan 4.

The race for vice-president resulted in Margaret Alexander winning with 65 votes. Mildred Weeks followed with 55 votes, Edna Largent 30, and Gene Bailey with 22. Paul Sayre took the treasurership of the class by a heavy majority over Emil Ghio, while Adah Harkness was chosen secretary without any opposition.

BISHOP PRAISES SPIRIT

UNDERCURRENT OF SERIOUSNESS NOTED AMONG STUDENTS

Right Reverend W. T. Sumner Sees Big Change on Campus; New Appreciation Shown

Using almost the identical words of Charles Alexander, the editor of the Albany Democrat, who visited the Oregon campus but a week ago, the Right Reverend Walter Taylor Sumner, the Episcopal bishop of Oregon, remarked the wonderful undercurrent of seriousness which he asserts is more noticeable upon the campus this year than in any of the seven years in which he has made his annual visit to the University. The cognizance of this spirit by two prominent citizens of the state within two weeks portends much, both as to the spirit in the University and of the people of the state.

"People have had the idea that all is fun and frivolity here," said the bishop. "I have heard it said time and time again that there is no serious spirit of work down here. Such talk is nonsense. But I have not heard so much of it lately, and that fact in itself reveals much of the growth in the minds of the people of appreciation of the University."

Bishop Sumner will speak at the 11 o'clock assembly on Thursday, and has previously announced his topic as "Greatheart." Yesterday afternoon the bishop smilingly but firmly declined to explain further than the title of his speech. Upon the suggestion that it might be John Bunyan's famous character of Greatheart, he merely smiled.

"I like to keep the topic fresh for the students," he said. "You know a little mystery always piques the imagination and adds to the interest."

This is Bishop Sumner's eighth year in Oregon and his seventh annual visit to the University campus. The bishop is always interested in public education and always makes it a point to visit the Normal school, O. A. C. and the University once a year, at least. Before his election to the episcopate of Oregon, Bishop Sumner was dean of the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul in Chicago. He is a graduate of Dartmouth and of the Western Theological Seminary. For many years in Chicago he has been an energetic worker in social welfare and reconstruction work, and for many years was the superintendent of the Chicago city missions.

DAVID CAMPBELL TO APPEAR ON CAMPUS IN CONCERT JUNE 2

Former Student and Faculty Member Is Pianist of Wide Renown

PUPIL OF RUDOLPH GANZ

Suspension of Student Social Events for Performance Is Suggested

David Campbell, renowned pianist and former University of Oregon student and faculty member, will appear in concert on the campus June 2, in Villard hall at 8 o'clock, according to word that has just been received. His arrival on the campus will be greeted with much enthusiasm, for since leaving the University he has achieved world-wide recognition as one of the greatest pianists of the day, and the University is proud to claim him as a "native son," both for his former connections with the University and for his achievements since leaving college.

David Campbell entered the University in 1911 and studied for two years in the college of liberal arts. He was recognized while on the campus as a pianist of great promise, and appeared in frequent recitals and concerts. During his entire college career he acted as glee club soloist on the piano, and later joined the faculty of the school of music. He left Oregon in 1913, and in 1915 became dean of the school of music at Whitman college, Walla Walla, Washington, leaving there to continue his studies.

Study Completed Abroad

With his sister, Agnes, he went to Europe to complete his study of the piano, while his sister took up the study of art. He was a pupil of Rudolph Ganz. While at the University of Oregon, David Campbell lived with his mother in the small white house directly opposite the Woman's building. He is a brother of President Campbell, a member of Phi Delta Theta, and was very prominent on the campus.

The outbreak of the war in 1914 put a sudden check to the beginning of a concert career in Europe. Returning to this country in the summer of that year, he toured extensively but again his musical life was broken into. Enlisting in the ordnance department, he went overseas with the A. E. F. and was not able to resume his musical activities until the fall of 1919. Since that time his reputation as a concert artist has grown steadily, and his playing has gained him a large following.

Landsbury Praises Work

Dr. John Landsbury, dean of the school of music, said yesterday of David Campbell, "He is one of the greatest of the younger musicians, and his ability as a pianist with a great public gift will carry him far in the world of music. He possesses marked technique and dynamic power, combined with a delicacy of playing and a strong sense of dramatic value."

The Morning Oregonian, Portland, said of him: "David Campbell is a young piano star of the first magnitude. He is especially gifted to be a great American pianist. . . . Above all shines David Campbell's great naturalness and fine modesty. He is not spoiled by all the laudation he has met with."

The Oregon Journal, Portland, said: "David Campbell, who arrived recently from Europe where he studied the piano with distinguished masters, played with a clarity of tonal beauty and a mastery of technique that were admirable. He is steadily forging ahead as one of the most talented of our younger pianists, and fully deserves the praise his audience has showered upon him."

From the Spectator, Portland, comes the following: "Portland music lovers who heard this recital will be anxious to hear more of this musician. He was recalled time and again at the end of the program and played a series of delightful encores."

Return Eagerly Awaited

David Campbell is coming to Eugene under the management of the Elwyn Concert Bureau of Portland, and will appear on Friday evening, June 2, in Villard hall at 8 o'clock. His return to the campus is eagerly awaited by his many friends here and his recital gives indications of being one of the largest and most important events of the year in the circle of music and art.

Due to the fact that he is a musician of such prominence and also that he is an Oregon alumnus, it has been suggested that all other activities on the campus, including dances, be stopped

Action of Regents On R.O.T.C. Waits Till June Meeting

President Campbell in Letter to Emerald Gives Status of Request for Abolition of Training; Will Submit All Sides of Question to Regular Session of Governing Board to Be Held June 19th

Although it was thought probable that the Board of Regents would consider the requests of The Emerald and of the students to abolish the R. O. T. C. training here as a requirement for graduation at a special meeting to be held this month, President P. L. Campbell made it known yesterday that the uncertain financial situation had caused the postponement of the special meeting.

At the last regular meeting of the Board of Regents, President Campbell was requested to present full details of an investigation into the status of the R. O. T. C. here, before the board at its next meeting. The Emerald first raised, early in January, the objection on principle to the incongruous existence of the R. O. T. C. in the academic life of the University here.

President Campbell and the other members of the administration of the University took before the Board of Regents the objections which had been voiced and at the request of the board which convened here at the time, the president, has been carrying on his investigation to make a detailed report at the next meeting.

Letter from President

The following communication was addressed to the Emerald yesterday by the president:

May 23, 1922.

Editor Emerald:

Replying to your very courteous inquiry of recent date as to the present status of the question of required work in the R. O. T. C. in the University as raised earlier in the year, permit me to say that the matter was presented in full detail at the meeting of the Board of Regents held in January, and the administration was asked to secure all the additional data available to be submitted at the next meeting of the Board, which regularly comes Monday, June 19th. Many letters have been written and a considerable amount of information has been received, but important facts bearing on the situation are yet being awaited. The matter is one of grave importance, to be considered most seriously in the light of present world conditions, and will without doubt command the deep interest of the Board.

Very truly yours,
P. L. CAMPBELL.
Wholly with Regents
President Campbell has given every

UNION OFFICIAL TO SPEAK

GENERAL ASPECTS OF UNIONISM TO BE DISCUSSED TODAY

E. J. Stack, Secretary of State Labor Federation, to Tell of Problems in Oregon

Labor problems peculiar to the state of Oregon will be discussed on the campus today by E. J. Stack, secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor. At 9 o'clock this morning, in room 205 Sociology building, and at 10 in room 107 Commerce, he will speak on "Labor Unionism in Oregon," and at 4:15 in the "Y" hut, on "The Program of Labor."

Technical problems of labor organizations with which he is especially familiar, and the history and present status of unions in this commonwealth, will be discussed by Mr. Stack in the morning lectures. General aspects of unionism here and everywhere will be considered at the hut in the afternoon.

Mr. Stack is one of the foremost figures in the ranks of Oregon labor, and in his years of service as secretary and treasurer of the state federation he has become widely known. During the war he was attached to the administration of the excess profits tax law and serves also on the income tax board. Students and faculty and townspeople are invited to attend the three meetings.

Mr. Stack's visit is especially significant at a time when the University's support is under fire. Labor throughout the state has been friendly to the University and the secretary of the state federation has stated that he would be in favor rather of an increase in support, and that he looked with great disfavor upon any reduction whatsoever.

ABANDONMENT OF COAST CONFERENCE MEET SUGGESTED

Managers to Consider Plan of Strictly Northwest Track Contest

SESSION SET FOR FRIDAY

Scheduling of Sport Events for Next Season to Be Topic at Seattle

The Pacific Coast Conference track meet is likely to be discontinued as a result of recent agitation in coast college circles, at the meeting of the Pacific Coast Conference managers' association to be held in Seattle on Friday and Saturday of this week, and a bid will likely be made by the University of Oregon to hold the Northwest Conference meet in Eugene next year. Though there is no certainty that the Pacific Coast meet will be abandoned, it has existed in name only for the past two years and indications point to the Northwest meet as the only one to be held in this region as an annual event from now on.

Californians Decline to Enter

The refusal of the University of California and Stanford university to enter teams in the conference meet last year might have had some bearing upon the proposal to abandon the event. The two California institutions have also refused to participate again this year and have sent their teams to the big eastern meet at Harvard instead. Of course the California schools have a valid excuse in the fact that their school is so nearly finished before the Pacific Coast Conference meet is held, in spite of the fact that this is the second year they have sent teams to the eastern meet, which has been held both years on the same date.

Oregon's representatives, Jack Benefiel, graduate manager; George Bohler, head coach of basketball and baseball, and Bill Hayward, head coach of track and varsity trainer, will leave Thursday for the Seattle meeting. This will not be an official gathering of the conference and thus will be unable to take up matters of general policy concerning the conference, such as the abolishment of the rule forbidding sectional or state interscholastic athletic competition under the auspices of the member colleges and universities.

Schedules to Be Made Up

The purpose of the meeting this spring, which by the way is the first spring meeting the managers have ever held, is to draw up schedules for wrestling, swimming, tennis, baseball, basketball and track for next year. The meeting will also consider and make definite proposals for the standardization of awards in various athletic activities and discuss the rules for the awarding of the Schwabacher trophy cup to the winning football team of the Pacific Coast Conference each season.

Oregon's Facilities Good

The bid for the Northwest Conference track meet seems probable to be made by Oregon, due to the fact that this is the first year that the meet has ever been held away from Pullman, Washington, and that Oregon deserves the gatherng. The superior track facilities at the University available in the $10,000 cinder oval which was completed last year, seem to make Eugene the logical place for the meet if it does come to this State.
