

PREMIER ATHLETES FIGHT FOR HONORS IN SEATTLE TODAY

Oregon Stands Fair Chance to Win Track Gonfalon in Coast Meet

RELAY RACES TO BE GOOD

Spearow May Be Hard Pressed
by O. A. C. Vaultor Who
Ascends 13 Feet

Today in Seattle track fans will view the culminating event of the year, in the Pacific-Northwest Conference meet. Approximately 60 athletes, representing six of the biggest schools of the coast, will take part in the numerous track and field contests.

The 12 Oregon men who left here Thursday are on deck to wrest points from the top notchers, and with an even break they stand a fighting chance of coming out near the top if not in the lead. Dope points toward close competition in every event scheduled. In past meets the results in the major portions of contests have been so close that each coach feels that his particular protege has a chance of winning.

Teams Have Developed
Perhaps Washington has accomplished more than any of the others earlier in the season, but late season development in other colleges is likely to prove fatal to her thus-far unbeatable scoring machine. Both Oregon and O. A. C. have presented a changed front since the trio last tangled, and Edmondson's men are going to be put hard to it to sustain their records.

No doubt there will be less competition in the field events than in the races, and also there is less likely to be general upsetting of the dope. The racers have their off and on days and with the chances for victory pretty well balanced, any of the dashes or longer runs may result in a surprise ending.

Spearow Looks Good
Ralph Spearow of Oregon stands first in the season's output of pole vaulters that compete today. He has won first in all Oregon's meets this year, his highest record being 12 feet 3 inches, and that against the Aggies at Corvallis. However, he has gone nearly a foot higher and he will probably need all of this against the O. A. C. champion who won from the Cougars at 13 feet. Spearow's broad jumping ability makes him the potential winner in that event. His best record this year was made against the Ags in the dual meet when he went 22 feet 6 inches. These two records, together with his high jumping ability, gives him a strong bid for high point man of the day.

The relay should be one of the best races of the meet. All entrants have strong teams against which Oregon has a good chance, if things break right. Vic Risley, who will run in this event, looks better in every 440 yard he runs. In the dual meet with Washington here last week he was the last man to run, and while the Husky runner had a 15-yard lead on him at the outset, Risley cut the distance in half before the round finished. Sundleaf, Wyatt and Rosebraugh, who go to make up the rest of the team, should be able to give a good account of themselves, as they are in good shape and capable of running with the best.

On the whole Oregon has a fighting

"Americanization Great Need Today," Says Mrs. Richardson

"We need you western people in the east to help further the great work of Americanization. We need western men in congress and we need for you women to realize that you are needed as municipal housekeepers." This was the message of Anna Steese Richardson to the students of the University of Oregon.

Mrs. Richardson, who is nationally known for her work on the editorial staff of the Woman's Home Companion, was the guest of Miss Louise Fitch yesterday. She is touring the United States in order to study conditions in universities and colleges, with a view of publishing the results of her work in the Woman's Home Companion.

Mrs. Richardson spoke informally to students at different times throughout the day and opportunity was given to meet her personally during the after-

PUBLIC HEALTH SURVEY OF OREGON IS PRINTED

Report on Mental Defects, Delinquency and Dependency Made by Carlisle
Published by Government

The preliminary statistical report, in the form of public health bulletin No. 112, of the Oregon state survey of mental defect, delinquency and dependency, made in 1920 by Dr. Chester L. Carlisle of the U. S. Public Health Service, through the extension division of the University, has been received from the government printing office at Washington, D. C.

The survey was requested by the state legislature and was initiated by the interest of the people of Oregon in promoting public health. The University, through its extension division, asked the Public Health Service to act as director of the survey, and Dr. Carlisle was sent to take charge of the work. Aid was solicited from public-spirited citizens all over the state, and a state-wide campaign in mental, physical, and social hygiene was carried on.

In addition to the statistics of child delinquency, the mentally defective child in industry, and dependents, the bulletin contains a letter written by Dr. Carlisle telling of the origin, object, scope and methods of the survey, and a letter of appreciation to the U. S. Health Service and to Dr. Carlisle from P. L. Campbell, president of the University.

NEW COLLECTION COMING

UNIVERSITY MUSEUM ADDITION
CONTAINS INDIAN RELICS

Mrs. Adah E. Millican, ex-Student, to Loan Art Objects for Indefinite Period

A new addition to the University museum will be the collection of Indian baskets and other Indian relics, which Mrs. Adah E. Millican of Prineville plans to loan indefinitely to the University, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to the president.

This collection, which consists chiefly of baskets woven by the Indians, is said to be one of the most interesting and valuable in the west, Mr. Onthank says. It will be loaned to the University because the owner feels that in this way it will be of the greatest use to many persons. It will be of particular interest to art students, says Mr. Onthank, and is also of great value to the student of anthropology, although the University has as yet done little work in this field.

Mrs. Millican is a former student of the University, and has taken work here within a few years. She has always been very much interested in University affairs. Mrs. Millican is a native of Oregon, where her family came in pioneer days, and she has lived much of the time in the eastern part of the state.

RUCH, '15, GOES TO IOWA

Accepts Assistant Professorship at University

G. M. Ruch, who receives his doctor of philosophy degree this year from Leland Stanford university, has accepted a position as assistant professor of education at the University of Iowa.

Ruch was graduated from the University of Oregon in 1915 and spent two years as instructor of science in the University high school, serving in the capacity of principal in 1918-19. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ruch, 1353 Agate street.

SPRING GRID WORK TO START MONDAY SAYS HUNTINGTON

Linemen Needed to Fill Gaps
Made by Graduation of Last Year's Stars

GOOD TURNOUT NECESSARY

Chapman Expected to Rank with Latourette and Anse Cornell

Spring football, which was abandoned during the first of the term because of the fact that Football Coach Shy Huntington also was coach of the freshman baseball team, is to begin in earnest Monday, and Shy wants every Varsity letterman, every freshman football man, and anybody else out who think they can play football.

Although most students on the campus think that Oregon is going to have a wonderful team next year, they will be badly surprised, Shy says, unless the men will respond to his plea and turn out in force for spring practice. The ordinary student, Shy claims, is inclined to think of the seven or eight letter men who will be back next year and pass snap judgment that we should produce a wonderful team, without considering the other three or four places on the team.

Graduation Takes Stars

Several of the best men on the squad are lost by graduation, and some of the others are not planning to return, and Shy thinks that there will be plenty of room on the team next year for men who will come out and work hard if they have only mediocre ability. Some of the men whose places will have to be filled next year are "Spike" Leslie, who, Shy has said, is to be ranked as one of the two or three really great tackles that Oregon has ever had. Both of the ends, Neil Morfitt and Mart Howard, will be lost via the sheepskin route, and Scotty Strachan, the big boy who has played for the last two years at tackle and guard, will leave a hard place to fill.

The men who turn out for spring practice will be given a big advantage in training for next year's work, Shy says, for if there are enough men out to scrimmage, he intends to try out several sets of new plays and formations of which he has heard and thought out. The men will also be given quite a bit of kicking and passing practice besides the signal work.

Results Expected of Fresh

Shy mentioned several of the freshmen on this year's team whom he thought ought to make good in Varsity circles. Among these were Dwight French, Terjeson, Spear, Bliss, Reinhart, Wilson, Guldager, and Bracher. Guldager is especially well built for the game, Shy thinks, and may develop into a good backfield man; Sutton, French, and Terjeson have already proved their worth in the backfield and ought to show up well next year. Haak, who had a great deal of promise as a quarterback, has left school and will be missed from the candidates for the backfield next season.

Bill Spear, Bliss, and Reinhart will make some of the veterans work for their places on the Varsity next year if they live up to their freshman form. Spear is a fast, aggressive lineman and should tear up things. Bliss is rather small, but is one of the most aggressive men seen in that position here for several years. He uses his head consistently and is always in the right place.

Chapman Promising Quarter

Hal Chapman and Dutch Gram have been out quite a bit this spring practicing kicking and passing, and now that baseball is over Hunk Latham will appear with them. Between these three men Shy thinks the kicking end of the game will be well taken care of next fall. Chapman, who had his first year at Varsity quarterback this season, gathered in quite a bit of experience as a result of some of the games, and Shy predicts that he will rank with Latourette and Cornell by the time he graduates.

These men have it in them to turn out one of the most successful teams that Oregon has ever had, Shy says, but to do it they will have to practice together consistently, not only next fall, but also this spring, and for that reason he made a special plea that all the men who could possibly come out, do so as only about an hour and a half will be taken up in the practice each night.

Field Day Program

9:00 A. M.—Baseball, athletic field, sophomores vs. freshmen.
10:30 A. M.—Tennis singles, cement courts.
Seniors vs. Sophomores.
Juniors vs. Freshmen.
11:30 A. M.—Canoeing, mill race.
Sophomores vs. Freshmen.
1:15 P. M.—Archery, drill field.
2:00 P. M.—Volley ball, outdoor gymnasium.
Seniors vs. Sophomores.
Juniors vs. Freshmen.
3:00 P. M.—Tennis, cement courts.
Finals, both singles and doubles.
4:00 P. M.—Awarding of Women's Athletic Association letters and trophies, Women's League rooms, by Margaret Russell, president of the association.

More than 50 women will receive letters for intramural sports this afternoon as the closing feature of the ninth annual Field Day program. The entire day, from 9 o'clock, when the sophomores will battle with the freshmen for the Hayward baseball cup, until 4 o'clock when the trophies and letters will be awarded in the Women's League room of the Woman's building, will be filled with class contests.

"This is Class day," said Miss Waterman, "and we hope that the members of the respective classes, both men and women, will turn out and support their teams."

The events of the day in which 68 girls will take part, will follow each other in rapid succession. At 10:30 will be the tennis singles, seniors vs. sophomores, and juniors vs. freshmen. The canoe race, scheduled for 11:30, promises to be as interesting as the sophomore and freshman teams, which have made the course within a few seconds of each other, can make it. Both canoes will go up the race together instead of having their time recorded as was done last year.

The archery contest in which two representatives from each class will take part, will be held at 1:15 and volley ball games between the classes are scheduled for 2 o'clock. At 3 o'clock the tennis finals, both singles and doubles, will be played off. This is the first year that interclass doubles have been played.

"The aim of the Women's Athletic association this year has been to interest a larger number of girls in sports, especially those who are not majoring in the physical education department," said Margaret Russell, president of the association. She also expressed herself as being well pleased with the results, for 71 letters will be awarded this afternoon and a cup will go to each class providing the freshmen take the baseball game this morning.

A number of girls have succeeded in capturing more than one letter and from the standpoint of letters won, Charlotte Howells and Helen King might be considered the best all-round athletes. Both girls will receive four letters. Mary Hathaway, Mildred Crain and Grace Sullivan will each receive three letters.

NEW TINTING FOR VILLARD

Assembly Room to Be Redecorated for
First Time in Several Years

The assembly room in Villard hall will be tinted and redecorated during the summer, according to a statement issued yesterday by W. K. Newell, the superintendent of properties. Mr. Newell was not able to say what colors would be used in retinting but announced that it would be a more attractive shade than that covering the walls and ceilings at present.

No one could be found on the campus yesterday who was able to recall the last time the assembly room was tinted. H. M. Fisher, who has been on the campus about 14 years, believes a coat of kalsomine was applied to the assembly room seven or eight years ago.

SIMPSON CHOSEN HEAD OF SENIORS; UNOPPOSED

Imogene Letcher Wins Vice-presidency
Over Leona Gregory; Class Barber Is Mabel Gilham

Hal Simpson was chosen senior president when the class of 1923 held elections yesterday from 11 to 2 o'clock in Villard hall. He had no opposition. Fifty-three votes were cast.

The only office for which there were two nominations was that of vice-president, which Imogene Letcher won from Leona Gregory with a vote of 38 to 19.

Margaret Scott won the secretary's position with 54 votes, and Ivan McKinney got the job of treasurer, also without opposition. George Gochnour was unanimously chosen sergeant-at-arms.

Mabel Gilham was chosen barber of the moustachioed members of the senior class. No one was put up for this important position when nominations were made last Tuesday, and as a consequence voters cast their ballots for barber according to their views. Miss Gilham was picked as the man for the job with her 24 votes. Leo Deffenbacher had 11 supporters in his race for the election, Warren Kays got four votes, Doc Furry two, John Palmer two, and James Bradway, George King, Nelson English, and Ruth Engstrom, one vote apiece.

There are 452 students in the junior class, according to the registrar's records, and only 54 voted for their next year's officers. The 400 were somewhere else.

FINAL JURY DAY MONDAY

NOTED NORTHWEST ARCHITECTS
COMING TO SEE EXHIBITS

Art Critics of State Will Decide on Winners; Banquet to Follow
Prize Awarding

Monday, May 29, will be the biggest day in the year in the school of architecture and allied arts, for at that time all announcements of prize winners in the various departments will be made and the awards for all the work of the students will be judged by a special jury of artists and architects who will be guests on the campus for the occasion. At the end of the day a banquet will be held under the auspices of the students' allied arts league and at this time all awards and prizes for the year will be presented.

This last jury day coincides with the occasion of the formal presentation of the Warner memorial collection to the University and for that reason numerous guests from cities throughout the state will see the exhibits of the work in the departments of the school as well as the judges, most of whom are from Portland. Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school, has asked a number of the most prominent architects in the northwest to act as members of the jury for the department of architecture. Those who are expected to be here are W. G. Holford, Joseph Jacobberger, John Bennes, A. E. Doyle, William Purcell and Carl Linde, of Portland; George Gove, of Tacoma; Carl Gould, head of the school of architecture at the University of Washington, and B. Weaver, head of the same department at Washington State college. Three former students of the University and graduates of the school of architecture who are also expected are John McGuire of Tacoma and Glen Stanton and Irving Smith of Portland.

These judges will arrive on the campus early on Monday and it is hoped that all judging will be over by noon in order that they may attend the program at the Woman's building in the afternoon.

For the department of fine and normal arts, the following prominent art critics of the state have been asked

Seniors at Sigma Nu Bust Hold Forth in Gay Revel Last Night

Myriads of stars—silent sentinels of the vastness of space—which coursed across the unclouded skies of Eugene last night, have for many years twinkled above the tent of the desert nomad, the vessel of the pifering pirate, the sheltering hut of the Red Cross nurse, the limousine of the man dressed in "fish and soup," the home of the country maid, but not very often have these scintillating fires of the firmament cast their radiance over such a caravanserai as was the Sigma Nu house last night. Variety, 'tis said, is the spice of life, and the seniors in their annual bust were immersed in spicy incense.

Fearfully, an Emerald news extractor stole into the Sigma Nu house late yesterday evening in quest of the Sheik of the seniors, Leith Abbott. Leaning over the balustrade of the airway, a painted pirate, with his head encircled

THRONGS EXPECTED FOR PRESENTATION OF ART COLLECTION

Over 1000 Invitations Sent;
Olcott and Churchill to Be Among Visitors

JUDGE CAREY IS SPEAKER

Orchestra and Both Glee Clubs
Included in Program for Monday Afternoon

Men and women of prominence throughout the state have announced their intentions of coming to the University next Monday, May 29, to attend the formal presentation of the Murray Warner art collection which will take place on that day. More than a thousand invitations have been sent out to people in the state, inviting them to come to the University at this time. Judge Charles H. Carey, well known Portland attorney and friend of the University, has been secured to deliver the presentation address for the occasion. Judge Carey is known as a very learned man and is particularly interested in art and antiques as well as the history of such.

Two others from Portland who have sent in their acceptances to Dean Elizabeth Fox are J. K. Gill and Dr. Thomas L. Elliot. Mr. Gill is well known to University students. He has spoken before them several times and has often expressed his interest in the welfare of the institution. Dr. Elliot has been long prominent as a friend of young people and a promoter of education. He is a member of the board of regents of Reed college, Portland.

Governor to Come

Other visitors will be Governor Ben W. Olcott and J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools. Acceptances have also been received from several women of Portland and the outside who are interested in the Woman's building.

The occasion is considered one of importance in furthering a general interest in art among the students. For this reason quite an extensive program is being prepared. Both students and faculty will participate.

The Murray Warner collection will be exhibited in the room in the Woman's building directly across the hall from the Women's League rooms. It is here that the dedication will take place. May 29 is the first time that the public will be allowed to view the wonderful oriental collection. After this date it will be open for public inspection each day from 2 to 4 p. m.

Program Is Given

The program which has been arranged for the dedication ceremony is as follows:

Selection—University Orchestra.
Read Underwood, director.
Address—President P. L. Campbell.
Selection—University of Oregon Girls' Glee club. John Stark Evans, director.

Presentation—Judge Charles H. Carey.
Selection—University of Oregon Men's Glee club. John Stark Evans, director.

Acceptance—Mrs. George Gerlinger, of the Board of Regents.

Classes Not Dismissed

Some student yet to be selected will give a talk of appreciation on behalf of the students. The program will take place promptly at 2:30 o'clock Monday. School will not be dismissed for the
