The Show Card Responsibility

Oregon needs no traveling salesman to exploit the quality of the wares offered in the way of higher education at this University. The student is the show card for what may be found within, and every student must know and feel that individual responsibility when he or she steps into the coming vacation period.

But the show cards must in this case carry a little more than a tabulation of what can be gleaned in the way of higher education from the courses at the State University. A little preparedness now may go a long way toward bringing the desirable students to Oregon another year, from the many preparatory schools throughout this State and the northwest. Preparedness in this case does not mean a comparison with other institutions, it does mean, however, a thorough knowledge of the distinctive kind of courses offered here.

"Our kind of University," the term used by the dean of the college in an address before a student assembly the first of the year, has submitted splendidly to a raising of standards, and the benefits have been of untold value. "The talking of college activities out in the State to the exclusion of courses of study" was pointed out by him to be a "particularly efficacious way" of holding back the University.

Oregon has much to offer. Activities play their part in the moulding of character of men and women, but they are held in just proportion in the college curriculum. Those on the outside must know that as well as the ones who are within. To "know your University" is highly desirable when the questions are asked by the prospective student or his parents, and as a part of the duties of every student to the University the preparedness should not be overlooked.

A Matter of Interpretation

The oft-repeated accusation that the University tends to develop "a lot of bolsheviks," merely because students and professors have deviated from the set lines of application in many branches of study and have encouraged free thought and speech in discussing economic and sociological problems, sometimes reaches a serious stage. Recently such a remark was addressed to a student, a direct attack upon the liberal principles of instruction in vogue at this University.

It is true that Oregon does allow students and professors a very desirable laxity in discussing all vital problems. Must these students and professors be equipped with blinders that they should not be able to analyze intelligently the problems of life? Methods of instruction must continue to encourage research and discussion on the part of individuals, lest education defeat its own ends in the University. There is nothing under the sun which will offset bolshevism and radicalism more quickly than an ability to carefully analyze and weigh the arguments as they are put forth.

With eight more days of class work left in the school year there is still time by diligent effort to pull a course out of the fire. The torrid weather of summer has not been conducive to the best results in scholastic achievement, but while there is life there is more or less hope.

BALLS BREAK WINDOWS

Tennis Players Shatter Five Panes in Commerce Building

About five panes of glass have been broken in the Commerce building by tennis balls this spring, according to N. H. Litherland, janitor. This is a small number considering that there are 20 double windows, none of which have screens, on the east side of the building next to the varsity court. The windows on the two lower floors of the library directly opposite are screened and, according to W. A. White, janitor, no windows have been broken in the library by tennis players. The last accident of this nature in the Commerce building occurred about a month ago. Mr. Netherland, upon going to an upstairs room one morning, found the glass shattered on the floor. No attempt is made to check up on those responsible as the few accidents are not enough to warrant such action. Mr. Litherland states that he had much trouble with such accidents in the high school building at Buckley, Washington, where he was janitor for 12 years before coming to Eugene.

BIG YEAR AHEAD FOR Y; MAY HAVE NEW BUILDING

Organization of Much Benefit to Students

With plans developing for a new building to house the activities of the organization, in cooperation with the Y. W. C. A., and with L. P. Putnam, one of the best known public service workers in the country, in charge, next year's prospects for the campus Y. M. C. A. are brighter than at any time in the history of the organization, according to Webster Ruble, student president.

During the year just past one of the important services of the "Y" has been its employment service, over $20,000.00 in jobs having been given out to more than 100 worthy students, through the kindly efforts of Mrs. C. R. Donnelly, Hut mother. The emergency loan fund has been established through her office and scores of students have been enabled to remain in the University as a result.

Early in the year the Y. M. C. A. was of considerable service to new students in an advisory capacity, printing the student handbook and enabling new students to obtain boarding places and work.

Bible Classes Well Attended

The outstanding accomplishment of the winter term was the church Bible class promotion campaign, which resulted in attendance of 300 students in Eugene Bible study classes. A complete social program for foreign students was also organized and parties were given for those students who did not care to attend student body dances. Nine general socials were given with a total attendance of over 2800 students. Cooperating with Rev. Bruce Giffin, Presbyterian student pastor, the Y. M. C. A. promoted seven different classes and discussion groups in Bible study, which were well attended and received enthusiastically by an interested group of students.

The organization accomplished much along the line of religious education. Delegates from the campus Y. M. C. A. attended conferences at Seabeck, Washington, and Asilomar, California. Many noted lecturers were brought to the "Y" hut. Religious meetings and Bible classes were held at regular intervals. The Friendship council which met in the hut, has done much to develop Christian leadership.

The University association cooperates with the city organization in enlisting and training student leaders for the many boys' groups and clubs which exist in the city. Much valuable service is gained by those boys who participate in this service.

Some officers and committee chairmen of the campus Y. M. C. A. have been named, but the list is not quite complete. Some important places are yet to be filled by appointment of the president. Following is the list given out:

President, Webster Ruble; vice-president, Floyd Wright; secretary A. Lot Beatie; social committee, John Anderson; religious meetings committee, Bruce McConnell; new student work, Don Zimmerman; Bible study, Henry Karpenstein; finances, George McIntyre; employment, Wolcott Buren; Hut activities, Dell Tedrow; church cooperation general chairman, Bill Purdy; Y. W. Y. M. mix, Charles Lamb; stag mix, George King.

Plans for a delegation of 20 men from the Oregon "Y" to attend the intercollegiate conference for the colleges of the Northwest at Seabeck, are working out well. Eight or ten men are already making their plans to go and many others have the matter under serious consideration. The delegation will start June 15.

University Florist's Flower Girl

Her commencement flowers are as important as her frock

On the Commencement Day let the threshold of her life be strewn with flowers. They will add a touch of charm to her costume and one little rose may be laid away—perhaps in the hope chest, and you'll never know the secret of it until some time has flown. Buy her flowers—it's a most pleasing thing to do.

Every event is an occasion for flowers.

pine Islands," will be debated in Villard Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Felipe Gamboa and Romulo Avila, who are members of the campus Filipino club, will support the affirmative side of the question, while Samuel Levy and Rupert Bullivant support the negative. Both teams are said to be well prepared for the verbal contest. Judges have not yet been chosen. Music given by a stringed band composed of members of the Filipino club will precede the debate.

ANIMAL CIRCUS SATURDAY

"Howe's Great London Circus," at prices which are said to be those of pre-war days, will be seen in Eugene Saturday, June 3, by all circus-loving University students as well as townspeople. Two performances, afternoon and evening, as well as a parade in the morning, will be given. Special features of the show, which is accompanied by Van Amberg's trained wild animals, are the many trained performers, clowns, animals, feature acts, and many thrills and novelties as are promised by flaming posters and bills that have been distributed over town.

Which will next year's captain wear?

IT DOESN'T need much wisdom to predict that next year's nine will be captained by a '23 man or maybe a '24 man.

This is no affront to underclassmen. Years of steady plugging must go before you can handle the man-sized responsibility of running a team.

That this is just, seniors will be the first to assert. They have seen how well it works for team and college. Then let the seniors keep this point of view, for soon they will find how closely the principle applies to themselves in the business world.

Captains of industry are not made overnight. Don't expect to step into a managership right away. Before you can lead, you've got to serve in the ranks awhile.

This is best for your organization and best for you. The time and energy you put in working up from the bottom, taking the bitter with the sweet, getting the upperhand over your job, will stand you in good stead when you have won through to executive position.

When you have learned how to handle detail work, you can begin intelligently to direct other men to do it, and thus free yourself for creative planning.

You who intend to be captains, have patience. Your year will come and so will your chance.
