

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE FILM WILL BE SHOWN

First of Industrial Movies
to Be Thursday Night

The Baldwin Locomotive film which will be shown in the Commerce building on Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. will be the opening program of a weekly series of industrial films and lectures which will be given all during the term under the auspices of the University Chamber of Commerce.

The University of Oregon, according to Dean E. C. Robbins of the school of business administration, is the first school of its kind to offer industrial films as a means of teaching the technical processes for a given business. Until this time, Dean Robbins says, the theory of business management has been taught unaccompanied by any of the manufacturing details of the business, but that by instructing students with the technical processes of the business under study, general management, office management, labor management and the details of buying will be greatly simplified.

Dean Robbins stated that, although this is only an experiment, he felt safe in predicting that within five years all the leading schools of business administration in the country will be teaching technical processes by the film method.

The first film to be offered, which has been secured from the Baldwin Locomotive company, is, according to Fred Lorenz, president of the University Chamber of Commerce, one of the best, if not the best, industrial film in existence and has been shown before the Ad and Rotary clubs of the leading cities.

In addition to the films which will be shown at intervals of two weeks during the term, lectures will be given during alternating weeks by men who are experts in their lines. The first lecture, "Selling Yourself in Business," will be given on October 19 by W. C. Schuppell of the Oregon Life Insurance company who is, according to Dean Robbins, an efficiency expert and an excellent speaker.

The program for the entire term is as follows: October 12, Baldwin Locomotive film; October 19, "Selling Yourself in Business" by W. C. Schuppell, Oregon Life Insurance company; October 26, The Benefactor (film); November 2, "The Business Aspects of Meat Production," by C. C. Colt, First National bank, Portland; November 10, Conquest of the Forest; From Pelt to Welt (film); November 16, "Advertising in Business" by Joseph Garber, The Arcady Co., Portland; November 23, Silk Industry; Wickerware (film); December 7, "Efficiency in Business" by Irving Vining, an efficiency expert; December 14, Taken with a Grain of Salt; A Woolen Yarn (film).

FROSH TO SIT IN BALCONY AT WEEKLY ASSEMBLY

Freshmen Women and Faculty to Use
Same Entrance; Students Asked
Not to Use Alumni Hall

Some changes in order of entrance will be made in the weekly assembly which will be held in the Woman's building, Thursday morning. The juniors and seniors will go in at the west entrance and will sit in their usual places. The freshmen and sophomore men will use the east and north entrances; the freshmen will sit in the balcony and the sophomores will sit in the gymnasium proper. The freshmen women will go to the south entrance, through the sun room, and will sit back of the faculty. The faculty will use the same entrance as the freshmen women.

Students are asked not to use the alumni hall, and to enter and leave the building by the same entrance. These directions are given in order to relieve the congestion arising from too many students leaving from the west entrance.

sity, and the letter received says in part, "There are many young men in the senior classes who are recognized as natural leaders. These men should be approached on the subject of entering the army."

Any student or graduate desiring information on the system of appointments, or wishing to take the examinations October 23, are urged to call at the R. O. T. C. barracks, where knowledge of proper procedure will be cheerfully given.

Dead One Votes on Live Issue Skeleton Helps Dance Decision

The vote of a dead man helped to carry the decision that the junior dance, to be held in the men's gymnasium Saturday night, is to be ladies' choice.

When the idea came to a vote at class meeting last night, President Jimmie Meek was obliged to call for a standing vote as to whether or not the ladies choice part of the dance arrangements would be put through. The count looked close until the bony form of a skeleton arose from a front bench with its hand raised in favor of the motion. Such a furor was created that the negative voters withdrew their hostile ballots and it was decided to hold the dance as proposed.

The property skeleton was brought by a group of junior men and during the meeting the class had a chance to see a dead man vote on a live question or two that were brought up for discussion.

The girls, a little frightened by the prospect of calling up gentlemen friends and possibly "secret sorrows" held a mass meeting after the main gathering and voted that while they would support the plan in calling the men that they would insist that the men call for them on the night of the party.

It was decided that the men will wear corduroy trousers and white shirts to the dance and the junior girls are to array themselves in nothing more gala than school dresses, according to the edict of the class.

Bill McBride's orchestra has been engaged to play for the affair.

The junior jazz junk: will be held during the last few weeks of the fall term and the following were put on the committee to have charge of the affair: Marcus Youngs, chairman; Harold Potter, Elsie Skoog, Alfred Erickson, Douglas Wright, Hildegard Repinen, Velma Farnham, Helen Ball.

A special stunt committee was appointed and will consist of Eddie Edlund, chairman, Ray Harlan, Miriam Swartz and Henryetta Lawrence.

PROFESSOR IMPRESSED

thy feature of President Campbell's administration is the interest which he takes in his teachers. The standards of Oregon's faculty are high. I am especially pleased with the high standards set by Dean Hale of the law school." The dean and Professor Carpenter are old friends, having been on the faculty of the University of Illinois at the same time.

Professor Carpenter's activities cover many fields. After taking the B. A. and M. A. degree, at the University of Kansas he finished his studies at the Harvard Law school, graduating in 1905. Since then he has been principal of a high school in Kansas, has been professor of law in the University of North Dakota, professor at the University of Illinois, was dean of the law school of Washburn College, Kansas, has practiced law in Boston, Mass., and spent a year in France doing war service.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TO ELECT

Appointment of Officers to Take Place;
Dr. Conklin Will Give Address

The annual election of officers of the Hawthorne club will be held in the men's lounging room in the Woman's building, Wednesday evening at 7:30. Miss Florence Riddle was appointed acting chairman at the time of the annual elections last summer when the date of elections was changed.

After the business session Dr. E. S. Conklin of the psychology department will speak on "The New Method of Research in Genetic Psychology." This is a method the department has been using and perfecting in the past year and it promises remarkable results.

The Western Psychological association has been agitating for an affiliation of the Hawthorne club with similar clubs in Berkeley and Stanford. It is hoped his step will be taken for the national support it may afford.
