Only Three Weeks Left

"This will undoubtedly be the greatest Homecoming yet," said Leith Abbott, general chairman. Abbott has appointed committees and plans are well under way to make the affair the most successful in history. More alumni have written saying that they will return to watch the varsity battle the Cougars on November 11, than ever before.

But the committees and the general chairman cannot do all the planning and all of the work and if Homecoming is to be put across it must become the concern of every member of the student body. In the three weeks which remain every graduate of this institution and every former student must be urged to come home. Letters have been sent out by the alumni organization, but those which are most effective are personal letters. Write to all of the alumni you know and tell them that the University wants them on November 11.

With every Homecoming comes the necessity for greater organization and more efficiency. Every Homecoming has been larger than the last. If we are to keep our alumni interested in the University we must bring them back every year and must show them that they really are welcome and that we don't forget them as soon as they receive their diplomas. There will be more activities this year than ever before. There will be more work to be done. Let's start in right now to put it over big!

Can't We Keep Him?

It is with extreme regret that The Emerald learns that Professor Wilkie Nelson Collins does not plan to remain at the University after this term. His work in the English department has been exceptional and students who have become associated with him will be sorry to see him leave.

Professor Collins is the type of instructor which excites the admiration of the average student. With a wide background of reading, he makes his lectures interesting and sparkling. He thinks in big ideas and he knows how to convey his ideas to his students. His class discussions are never commonplace and the members seem to go away with a feeling of freshness. If anything can be done to keep Professor Collins, it should be done.

COMMUNICATION

"THE PIONEER" IS SUGGESTED

The Editor of the Emerald;

I was gratified to read your editorial endorsing the suggestion that we should adopt a name for our athletic and other teams. But I have been disappointed that there has been no other comment. Surely the idea is of sufficient consequence to evoke other opinions. I have hoped, too, that some opposition would develop—just for the sake of the amusement there might be in meeting it.

But if nobody cares very much, the only thing I can do is to go ahead with the suggestion of the name I have in mind. That name is the PIONEERS.

I believe that the PIONEERS meets every requirement of an effective name, except that it may prove a little unwieldy for newspaper headlines. It is strong, dignified, distinctive. Oregon has been a pioneer state in many ways, and ours has been, and still is, a pioneer university. The name symbolizes all that is vigorous and courageous in our ancestry. It links the present with the past and breathes the hardihood and resoluteness of those who made the University of Oregon possible.

Moreover, we have on the campus that noble and enduring figure of the Pioneer, which may so fittingly serve as a symbol of the qualities that animate the teams of Oregon.

I submit the name the PIONEERS to the forum of student opinion. I believe it is a good name—one of which we may always be proud. I believe the time has come when we should adopt a name. I hope that THE PIONEERS may be adopted.

W. F. G. THACHER.

STUDENTS MUST REGISTER

County Clerk Notifies Those of Voting Age to Prepare for Nov. 7

Students of the University who are 21 years of age and plan on voting in the coming election November 7 must be sure that they have their certificates of registration from their county clerk, says R. T. Bryson, clerk of Lane county. In cases of students who live outside of Lane county who have not registered, the only recourse for them is

New Arrival Learns English From Sisters

Down in the wilds of Nicaragua, where the good get bad and the bad get worse, Pollyanna shrieked and gurgled from the top of a bamboo tree or hurled vile epithets in Castillian whenever some Nicaraguan brigand happened by her neck of the woods.

In her native haunts Pollyanna ruffled her yellow and green plumage and thought very little of a college education. In fact she knew very little about the college curriculum.

The bamboo tree no longer knows the benign presence of Pollyanna, for the bird hath flown and in pursuit of higher education and she picked the place where the standards are high so that she may perch upon them.

To make the story short Pollyanna is among us and she is domiciled at Alpha Delta house on the hill. The sorority sisters are trying to teach Pollyanna the rudiments of English, but every now and then when her ham and eggs are cold Pollyanna reverts to her native tongue, Espanol, and says naughty things about the chefs in the land of high learning.

The wearers of the green derby note: When passing the house on the hill look sharp. If you see Pollyanna swinging on her perch on the sun porch, remember that she is the incarnation of the Oregon spirit, for her colors are the lemon-yellow. Salute her, freshmen, and ask her if she would partake of a soda. If she breaks out in Castillian profanity, shrivel up and die away in the distance.

We hope that friend Pollyanna masters our language in due time.

EPISCOPAL BANQUET WILL BE NEXT WEEK

Agnes Hall, National Secretary, to Be Honored; Plans Made for Regular Meeting

All active Episcopal church students and those who attend or prefer the Episcopal church are cordially invited to attend a banquet at the Anchorage Thursday evening of next week at 7:30 in honor of Miss Agnes Hall, national secretary of the Council of Episcopal Students.

The National Council of Episcopal Students is an organization of growing power. The unit at the University of Oregon was formed in March last year. The Episcopal club which is essentially a campus organization since 170 students enrolled when it was organized, has many promising plans for the coming year. The president, Mr. Albert Langrell, of Sigma Chi fraternity, called the first regular meeting last Wednesday night and those present displayed keen enthusiasm for the year's work.

The club plans to have two regular meetings each month, probably one social and one business. Corporate communion will also be held once each month for the students.

All students interested are urged to meet Miss Hall, who is said to be a most inspiring speaker, at the banquet Thursday night and hear from her about the work and aims of the council.

NUCLEUS OF BUSINESS STAFF NAMED BY JANZ

Three Veterans from Force of Last Year Selected by Emerald Manager

First appointments to the business staff of the Emerald were made yesterday by Lyle Janz, business manager. Three of the men who will serve in managerial positions this year are veterans of the 1921-22 staff. These three are Leo Munly, advertising assistant last year; Gibson Wright, who served as circulation manager during the latter part of last year; and Randolph Kuhn, advertising manager for a term and a half last season. The two new members of the staff are Kenneth Stephenson and Maurice Warnock.

According to Janz, the men named yesterday will be the nucleus of the business force, but several positions are yet to be filled. Several men are trying out for places, but men for vacancies are yet needed.

Leo Munly was named associate manager; Randolph Kuhn will serve as advertising service editor; Gibson Wright has been named circulation manager; Kenneth Stephenson will be assistant circulation manager, and Maurice Warnock was appointed by Janz as advertising assistant.

A feature of the Emerald business staff this year will be the advertising service, in charge of Randolph Kuhn. Students taking advertising in the school for journalism will design copy for the Eugene stores.

OREGON CLUB WINS FROM A.T.O. SQUAD

Phi Delt's Run Up Score of 22 to 11 on Sigma Chi; Games Good

In a fast and clean-cut contest, the Oregon club defeated the Alpha Tau Omega quintet 26 to 24. Both squads exhibited clever passing ability and the checking on both sides was unusually good.

The Alpha Taus were leading up to the middle of the second half when the Clubmen spurred and tied the score. With one minute to play, it looked as though the contest would require an extra period. Carson, the midget forward for the losers, made a desperate try for a basket, only to have the ball roll out of the hoop. The Oregon club secured the ball with barely 30 seconds to go. Murray pinged one from the center of the floor, ruttng the game on ice.

Murray and Gunther starred for the winners with 12 and 10 points respectively. Carson of the Alpha Taus scored 18 of his team's counters and gave the opposing guards plenty to do to keep him in sight. He is bound to give the other forwards a run for the all-star berth at the end of the season, if he keeps up his present gait. Along with Carson, Rosenberg and Gillenwaters starred for the losers. The score: Oregon Club—26 Alpha Tau Omega—24 Sutton 2.....F..... Carson 18 Murray 12.....F..... Hempy 2 Gunther 10.....C..... Rosenberg 4 Stein 2.....G..... MacGregor Taylor.....G..... Gillenwaters Nelson.....S..... Blakley

Referee—Zimmerman.

The Phi Delt's defeated the Sigma Chi 22 to 11 in the second game of the afternoon. The first half resembled a basketball game, both squads displaying teamwork. In the last canto science was thrown to the winds and the result was more like a bag rush. In this period several personal fouls were called by referee Zimmerman. Slade and Wright looked best for the winners, the former scoring 8 of his team's points. Palmer, Ringle and McCabe shone for the Sigma Chi. The score:

Phi Delta Theta—22 Sigma Chi—11 Slade 8.....F..... Palmer 8 Hobson 6.....F..... Sorsby 3 Dunn.....C..... McCabe Wright 4.....G..... Ringle Watson 4.....G..... W. Peck

Referee—Zimmerman.

Monday the Oregon Club and Friendly Hall tangle at 4:00 and Sigma Chi plays Alpha Beta Chi at 5:00.

LABORATORY FEES ARE DUE

Fine of One Dollar Due after Oct. 30; May Be Expelled after Nov. 2

With one week gone of the 15 days allowed for the payment of laboratory fees, only a small percentage have been paid, and according to Comptroller Johnson, unless greater speed is shown by the students next week many will be unable to make their payments in time.

October 30 is the last day upon which regular payments may be made. The windows will close at 3 o'clock exactly, and those who are left in line must return on the morrow with an additional dollar. Following the 30th, two days will be allowed in which fees may be paid with a fine of one dollar. Any fees which remain unpaid after that date will be considered by the University officials as sufficient grounds for expulsion from school of the delinquent student.

A special appeal has been issued by the comptroller, that, in order to save themselves expense and the University officials an excessive amount of work on the final day, all students who have not paid their laboratory fees do so immediately.

Latin Book 400 Years Old Owned by Member of Faculty

More than 400 years ago a book was published at Tubingen, Germany, in the Latin peculiar to that time. This book was a copy of "Quintus Curtius on the Life and Exploits of Alexander the Great" and has evidently passed through many hands before it reached the present owner, Professor F. S. Dunn of the Latin department of the University.

The vellum backs, which it undoubtedly possessed originally, are gone; the title page is missing; and about half an inch has been cut away from the margins. Now at last, poor old "Quintus Curtius" has a respite from his adventures and wanderings, for the old book has been tenderly cared for by Professor Dunn during the past 25 years.

On the margins of the book there are notes, written in a coarse German script with a different kind of ink. There are also markings in faded red ink.

An interesting thing concerning all the notes is that they are not continued beyond the first quarter of the book. This indicates that even the readers of Latin in the 16th century failed to penetrate very far into its mysteries. However, the present owner reports that the volume is quite interesting and even fascinating. He reads this, and other books of that age, with great enjoyment.

The book was purchased by the professor in 1896. It was listed in a catalogue of second-hand books, sent to Professor Dunn from Paris. The price was very small, according to the professor, owing to the mutilated condition of the copy. It is not a first edition but was published near the date of the first edition, probably 1471. The preface was written in 1494.

At one time the book was a part of the private library of one Quilemi Wagner, according to a stamp found inside its pages. Later it was sold for nearly nothing in Paris. Other "who's" and "why's" about the book must be left to the imagination.

Professor Dunn has two other books, both Latin, which though not so old as the "Quintus Curtius" are old enough to be very interesting. One is a treatise on geography by Pomponius Mela, printed in Basle, Switzerland, about 1540. The other is "Flores, Roman History," printed in Leyden, Holland, probably in 1657. The latter is an "Elzevir book," the "Elzevirs" being a large family of great publishers. The professor reports that the publication makes many amusing and quaint mistakes in regard to geography.
